Poetry Series

Amanda Wilson

- poems -

Publication Date:

September 2008

Publisher:

PoemHunter.Com - The World's Poetry Archive

Poems are the property of their respective owners. This e-book was created by Amanda Wilson on www.poemhunter.com. For the procedures of publishing, duplicating, distributing and listing of the poems published on PoemHunter.Com in any other media, US copyright laws, international copyright agreements and other relevant legislation are applicable. Such procedures may require the permission of the individuals holding the legal publishing rights of the poems.

Amanda Wilson

I have been writing poetry since the age of 14. A form of self-therapy.

I write about what I see; pictures of life often from a light-hearted point of view.

As a Christian it is a way of expressing my faith and the Gospel in a way that any one from any persuasion can (I hope) relate to.

My prayer is that you'll be richly blessed by what you read. That way it'll make it all worth while!

I love you! ! !

When I see you my heart skips a beet. My blood stars to race I can't speak a word. All I want is your touch and your sweet embracing kiss that I love so much.

by: Amanda Wilson

Amanda Wilson

let the rain fall

Rain falls upon the ground. I look up at the syk filld with gray. I stand there wet and could but I don't move. I stand waiting for the storm to past. Rain still falling on the ground and I smile and begin to laugh as I remember all the good times we had in this rain. And as the rain falls I look to the sky once more and smile then I say good by in tell next time. Then I trun and walk away and leave the rain to it's job.

By: Amanda Wilson

Amanda Wilson