A Kiss On The Lips

A kiss on the lips
sparks a smile
the smile sparks happiness happiness sparks one less scare all of this sparked by one simple kiss kiss me now take a future scare away from my wrist

Gone

Memories fall from my eyes Your voice rings in my ears to think you are gone the words you last spoke are now simply scares they are scares that shall always be there to remind me of you I know you're gone goodbye came to soon the day we say hello once more is a day I yearn for you're not gone only out of sight

Sometimes

Sometimes I think
Sometimes I wonder What death would be Sometimes I think
Sometimes I wonder
If life is what we all seek Sometimes I think
Sometimes I wonder
If death is simply a relive
Sometimes I think
Sometimes I wonder
Where I can be me

Unanswered Questions

We are all soldiers
Waiting to die on the front lines Desiring a death of meaning With love and had hater
One day will we all rest
With unanswered questions
But is it really rest
If questions still remain
How will we rest
With sorrowful souls
And our heads hung low Could it be true rest
Is death the answer
To questions unanswerable

Unanswered Questions (Spanish)

Todos somos soldados Esperando a morir en la primera línea Deseando una muerte de significado Con amor y tenía hater
Un día haré que todo resto
Con preguntas sin respuesta ¿Pero es realmente resto
Si aún hay preguntas ¿Cómo vamos a descansar
Con las almas tristes
Y nuestras cabezas colgaban ¿Podría ser el verdadero descanso ¿Es la muerte la respuesta
Para preguntas sin respuesta
