Clover Ravenclaw Sunstar()

I'm not published or anything, but I love to write and i thought I would put up a few of my poems.

Gone

So far gone
You can't even see
What I tell you in every look, every smile
I show you in everyway I can and still you don't see
Just how much you have come to mean to me

Imaginary

I can't trust anyone because of what you have done to me.
I want to believe that what he says is true, but I can't let myself.
My mind knows he would never lie to me, but because of you, my heart can't.
I know he will always be there, the way you weren't.
You promised me forever and gave me nothing.
You said you would come back, and I guess you did.
Just not for me.
Like you said you would.

I've given him my heart, but I can't accept his, because I could never hurt someone the way you hurt me.
I want him close, yet I have to push him away.
You swore that you would come back for me,
and I almost wish you hadn't.
But, then I would have been waiting for something that would never happen.
I guess I have to thank you for atleast letting me know you never loved me, and not to wait.
Because you would never love me like I needed you to.
Like he does, but I can't take his love.

What if I hurt him? I could never forgive myself.
If I put someone through the pain that you put me through,
and all the tears I shed for you.
You changed so much and I don't even know who you are anymore.
I don't miss this you, I miss who you used to be and who you can't be again.
I miss someone I can never see again.
I don't want you anymore, I have him and that's all I need.
All I want.
I just have to know you're still in there,
That I didn't give three years of my life to a shadow.
To someone who I had made myself see, someone who I had invented to hide behind,
because I thought you had loved me.
Because you told me you did.

You lied to me over and over and it destroyed me.
You made me feel worthless and unwanted.
You made me think I was worth something and then you took it away.

You can't miss something you never knew, and you let me in,
If only for a second, to know what I was missing.
then you took it all away and left me to miss the imaginary person you had given me, if only for an instant.

Just when I think I'm finally done with you, that I can let myself move on and stop blaming myself for not being good enough for you.

You pop back and make myself question who I am all over again.

I love him, and I don't deserve him.

If I wasn't good enough for you, how can I be good enough for someone who is obviously

so much better than you are?

I can't take back what I thought you had taken from me, because you didn't really take it, you just confirmed what I had always thought.

Before, I could trick myself into believing I was worth something.

But you took even that small comfort from me.

Therefore, he can't change what I have known all my life.

what I have been shone I was worth for as long as I can remeber.

Which is nothing.

The imaginary person you gave me, took everything I had.

You couldn't even bother to be yourself.

You just lied and told me I was all you wanted.

Then showed me that I was never going to be enough for you.

You lied and said you loved me, but that wasn't you.

That was who you wanted me to think you were.

I wasn't enought even for the shadow I thought you were.

How can I even start to be worth something to him?

Lies

I never saw
how much I did to make you mine
Those little lies Fog my mind, I can't remember
The happiness we left behind those lies we told, ourselves and all to keep us from the deathly fall Truth be told,
I still can't see past the mask I've made for me
Secrets told and pathways end.
Never to be found again
Then we fall
ourselves be damned
Past the call to go again
a circle they say, a circle it is round and round child's play
a game of life, a game of death
a maze that no one lives to see the light beyond the path

Ordinary

I'll walk as long as it takes to reach you.
I'll do whatever I have to so you know I'm always here.
I know this is it, as ordinary as it sounds,
this is the farthest you can get from ordinary.
It feels so new, yet so familiar.
Like I knew this once and lost it.
Somehow you found a way to give it back to me.
I love this feeling. like I finally have a reason to go on walking.
Finally something to prove, finally someone to see.

Worth

In one glance
you tell me all I need to know Your eyes say that all my pessimistic thoughts are null
and all doubts void.
They tell me that I will never be alone
That even though I may not feel it someone, somewhere loves me
As I go to leave,
no matter how short our time apart may be
I see that all my misgivings about your reasons and truth are incorrect and all you've told me void.
My doubts will make reappearances, I'm sure, but now I will have this moment to look back on and know that no matter what my mind tells me I am worth
You will always manage to find something in me that gives me my worth.
