

Poetry Series

Debra Deb Graves
- poems -

Publication Date:
2006

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Debra Deb Graves()

I come from Ohio and now reside in Florida. Have always loved reading poetry as a kid, just started writing poems. Hope you enjoy reading my poems and I'm sure I will enjoy reading yours.

Nice to meet everyone.

Debbie Graves

Lesson Learned

Holidays are here
Loved one's are far but feel so near
Though much time has passed
The day of giving thanks here at last
Loved thought lost hearts gates high
Phone call made with a cry
Tears shed heart elated
Walls of my heart un-gated
Loving voice in my ear
With tears of joy I lost my fear
A heart once filled with sorrow and pain
Will stand tall with no shame
Precious time lost this past year
Forgetting friends and family always near
Lesson to all thinking life is unfair
Remember loved ones will always be here

Debbie Graves

Debra Deb Graves

Loving Hearts

Loving Hearts

As the year has gone by there's been many changes
With heart felt choices there could be no rearranging.
Struggling within myself to do the right thing.
Has brought my heart tremendous pain.
Thinking of the ones I had to give up.
Missing the love you gave as you were growing up.
Cherishing the memories that will never fade.
As God as my witness my love will always remain.
Be true to your new owners and there will come the day.
We all will run once again and romp and play.
Goodbye for now have fun in this life.
For I will be waiting for you in the after life.
Remembering one thing that is true.
Always loved you from my heart see you soon.

Debra Deb Graves