

Poetry Series

Emad A. Ghani
- poems -

Publication Date:
2014

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Emad A. Ghani()

A Dying Bee

Flowers are lamenting a dying bee
Who lost her little wings in vain
Illusions made her dreams free
Around her wings, broke the chain
Flew far away where she should be
Winds returned her to her hive again
Beautiful dreams drowned in a dark sea
Nothing left, but regret to gain
As a blind man has not eyes to see
But a sad heart to feel the pain

Emad A. Ghani

A Little Boy

A boy was left behind walls
Counting his days and years
Tried to sing with his little soul
To comfort his frightened tears
Rhythm disappeared in silence falls
Lost in the depth of his own fears
Lived and died in a closed hall
Where walls were his dears

Emad A. Ghani

Another World

I have been lost
In the darkness of your hair
Where beautiful fairies
Prayed and said
'Come, live with us,
Forget your world,
In our paradise stay'
I could say nothing but
'I am yours, I am a sparrow
Flying in your heaven,
Although your love is insane,
To me, your world is fair'

Emad A. Ghani

Heal My Heart

Heal My Heart by Emad A. Ghani.

Heal my heart and go
Where no one has reached before
And steal the dreams we saw
That night, on the dreams shore

Heal my heart and leave
The beautiful memories behind
And throw them in a dark cave
Where sighted lovers become blind

Heal my heart or kill
Every promise you gave Whatever you do, it is your will
But; be the only flower on my grave

Emad A. Ghani

I And My Dear Death

I and my dear death by Emad A. Ghani

I and my dear death
Were two close friends
Who promised each other
To be together to the last breath

And to lose love's depth
In the dark ocean's breadth
And to kill the life of its life
And thus we lived our epic myth

Till the day when Autumn came
And killed the life of my death
Now I live in a mysterious earth
Without my dear death.

Emad A. Ghani

I Gave You My Heart

I gave you my heart by Emad A. Ghani

I gave you my heart
And the smiles I used to hide
I gave you the beautiful words
That I never said to my mind

I gave you the happy moments
That I never lived before
I gave you what I had
And what I hadn't and more

I gave you my forbidden heaven
And my hopeless will
When there was nothing left to give
You left me alone in your hell

Emad A. Ghani

I Live Between Heaven And Hell

I live between heaven and hell
Stand there since a long time
A dead body without will
A soul sings songs without rhyme
Paradise calls my right to its garden
Fire pulls my left into its line
But I am in a city which is forbidden
And the choice will never be mine

Emad A. Ghani

I Traveled For Years

I traveled for years

Through your eyes

Sailed with no fears

Under the dark skies

In the mysterious sea

Winds took my soul away

Waves lost love, you and me

No words the storm left to say

I will find a new, beautiful land

Where Birds will hold hope through rain

Together we will Build my ship on sands

But I will never sail in your sea again.

Emad A. Ghani

Once Upon A Time

You had my heart
When birds were in their nests
And happiness was young
In our eyes

Once upon a time
You were my soul
When oceans were blue
And trees had green leaves

Once upon a time
We were lovers' poem
When nights had shining stars
And fields had beautiful feelings

The years went by
We became memories
Written on yellow papers
Thrown into the river of forgetfulness

Emad A. Ghani

The Star

She was a star on summer's night dancing to rhythm of the darkness
My heart was stolen by her light
Drowned him in lovers' madness
Clouds came obscuring the sight
Hid her with a shadow of sadness
The storm traveled and stole her bright
Left the dying heart hopeless

Emad A. Ghani