

Poetry Series

Emily Prescott
- poems -

Publication Date:
2010

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Emily Prescott(19th May 1998)

I am 12 years old and love writing poetry. I have recently started to produce many paintings as well and am in the process of illustrating my poems on canvas. I will soon be creating a website on which to display my artwork and poems.

I would be grateful for comments about my poems, feel free to leave me messages please!

Flowers For Grandma (Forget-Me-Not)

Pale and bright,
Dainty and bold,
Beautifully placed
For us to behold.

Roses and violets,
Daisies and daffodils,
Scattered wonderfully
On meadows and hills.

Forget not,
The forget-me-not,
Tiny and blue,
I love you.

Forget-me-not,
The greatest flower of all.

I wrote this poem in 2008 in memory of my Grandma whose favorite flower was the forget-me-not.

Emily Prescott