

Poetry Series

Evy Hignight
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Evynight(May)

This is a place where I can express my inner self. So if any poems get a little weird that's just me expressing myself. I keep my emotions locked inside bottled up so I can't go berserk. I come from a family that is held pretty well, so I don't know why I have these weird little thoughts? ? Well I hope you enjoy my poems they will get better.

Alone

Here I stand alone
Showing the world
That I am not a stone
I can make something out of myself
I can accomplish something without any help
I stood there and stared at all my demons, fears, lies, and past times
In the face
I take in air and slowly let it out
Opening my mouth I yell
AWAY With you I don't need you to make myself feel better
They laughed and over took me
Slowly I fell into the darkness
Over comed by evil
Here I stand
Shunning myself
Smirking and staring down
At the dropp below
The people that love me
yelling for me to stop
All I can do is fall

Evyy Hignight

Fear

Fear is the one thing that controls me

Fear is what puts me in gear

Please stop the pain I want out

But fear is the thing that hides the truth about me

Evy Hignight

Here I Lay

Here I lay alone and afraid of what might come and take me away
The life I had was all a lie, for now I pay
The price of coming into the light
HELP! I scream but all that is heard
Is the laughter of others
As they walk away from my screaming and bleeding

Evyn Hignight

The Light Shines

Tho the light shines
I still can't find the reason
I started in the first place
I struggled for an escape and found my pain

Evyn Hignight

Things I Have To Tell You

There are things I have to tell you
There are things that are on my mind
There are things I have to tell you
I just can't seem to find the right time
The things that I have to tell
Are much more powerfull then the things I have shed
So sit and listen as I tell you things that need to be said

Evy Hignight

Your Cries

I heard your cries
With my tries
I couldn't come back
There was crack after crack
But the pain was to much to feel I wish
I could have just heeled
I stopped breathing and the cries died down
My friend I wish your life is filled with love and joy
I hope with all my heart that you live longer than I did

Evy Hignight