A Twilight Poem

His white face stares back at me
I feel I'm meant to fear
But I can't help but think
That this was way too clear
His harsh black eyes stare back at mine
My soft brown eyes can't handle
I feel my body begin to shake
Like wind blowing a candle
How can he do this
To little ordinary me?
He turned my world upside down
So I can no longer see
What's meant to be clear
What's meant to be right
So I will no longer fight
And I will let him take me
To a place where all is night
His eyes turn to a topaz gold
I feel like I can't breathe
I try to move my feet
But I can no longer leave
A smile spreads across his face
And up into his eyes
He's messing with my head now
They're filled with senseless lies
His eyes are turning red now
I have a feeling of dread
His smile is turning menacing
As he starts to lower his head
My heart is beating faster
My breath catches in my throat
I feel the blood run down my neck
Eternal night, Hello
CLICKY THE BUBBLE....BEFORE IT POPS!
Feed back would be great guys! Love you all!

Skittelz..(Poem I'M Working On. Not Done)

skilttelz worked for Mrs. Allen on the hill outside of town..
Used to be a booming farm been a long time going down.
Mr. Allen he turned 84
just the other day
He's been taking care of his wife
For 20 years this May.
she's crippled and she's younger but she can't walk or stand Ginger comes so Mr Allen can get out from under her hand...
Now skilttelz sits 12 hours at the table in a chair
beside Mrs Allen
close to her wheel chair.. she's up and down, up and down to the pot and back too many times..
Cause Mr's Allen thinks 6 dollars a hour is robbing her blind..
