A Zombie (Stop deleteing it..!!)

God come on man ease my pain
I don't deserve this i ain't to blame
What the hell did i do
Nothing makes sense no more not even you

Theres no place for me on this earth
So hit me up with your worst
Make it fast or slow you can choose
Burn my outer shell and feed the fire with boose

No pain or pressure can even amount To everything I've been through, i lost count Numb from the inside out Cutting me up not able to shout

This earth has nothing to give to me So why would i even want to be Walking around on my cold feet I don't even feel my heart beat

As a matter of fact i think its dead Everything i see is black or red I stopped listening a long time ago Ive gotten so sluggish and slow

Sitting down not thinking about life
Is the best way to keep me away from the knife
My soul slowly draining away
Theres nothing left for me to say

No one knows who i truly am I don't even know who i am, damn Why did you choose me and my soul I didn't sign up for this role

Its too rough and I'm too weak So just let my blood leak Out of my heart onto the floor My life is no more

Its better of if you don't know me Everything gets corrupted when they see What I truly am to be A Zombie

Back Ally Death

There was this one guy
Which he had never lied
To this one girl
That had his heart in a twirl

You know it started off great His heart to her heart were sealed fate Nothing ever got in the way Not one single thing anyone could say

You know why this is so true They never let the color blue Slip up into their relationship Never once did either heart rip

The base of their love and mirage Couldn't be broken by any barrage They always stayed trustworthy and true Never ran away and always stuck through

Any little fights that they got in Running away is the biggest sin That you can commit when in a little fight Think about it, calm down, then make it right

Thats what they did and it worked out
They thought and thought all the time about
This one very day being their last
They treated time with each other so slow, not fast

Made everything seem precious and kind Appreciated every last dime Everything give and take Always giving each other breaks

Never letting go no matter what Nothing could break them not even the sharpest cut More solid then the ground we stand on Loving more and more as they were drawn

Closer and closer to each other Every day brought yet another Warm and loving memory Always made them count don't you see

This was important for them to be Together through every moment because he No longer than a week later to that day Was walking along on his way

Back home from work down the street All of a sudden he couldn't see

He couldn't even move or react Before he knew it he got attacked

Beat down by some back alley crew Just because they were told to Find anyone to make them fear So they wouldn't go out of style that year

As he was getting beat down and tossed aside All he could think of was his wife as he cried He didn't want it to end this way Never thought that it would to this day

He could not believe as he felt his chest He had been stabbed right through his vest Blood pouring out on the floor Screaming for help and just before

He was about to give up he heard a yell It was his wife's voice as his vision swelled He was no longer able to speak As his wife ran up to him and brushed his cheek

Yelled at him to stay alive She needed him so they could both strive Right on through life the way they were Without him everything would be a blur

As she is holding him in her hands Down on her knees dirt and sand She sees the savior car Gets off her knees and goes bizarre

Yells to the ambulance that she needs their help Up on the stretcher he went as she yelped In so much pain she almost passed out She didn't know what this was about

Why did he get chosen on this day
To be some random crews prey
Arrived at the emergency tomb
Was told to wait outside in the waiting room

That was the worst feeling in the world Her not knowing if his life simply curled Up into a little ball Thrown away no longer standing tall

So as she sat out there and prayed She said none ever on this earth could say The right things at the right times like he did Always was there and never hid

No matter how tough the times were He always was there for her Never once left her side Working hard just to get them by

Then the doctor came out with a look on his face Said he didn't make it through the race Just then she screamed out in tears Never once through all these years

Has it ever been this painful for her Everything going so fast, a mental blur So as she was going through this hell She was driven back to her dwell

Then as she sat outside alone on the stairs Staring up into the sky through the cold air She saw about two hundred shooting stars Tried not to think about her mental scars

Just then in the sky
There was the face of this one guy
That had always been there in any stir
Promised he would watch over her

So thats exactly what he did Never held back and never hid Just because she knew that he Wanted her to be the best she could be

So you know that even though They are apart it goes to show That if you truly love and care Always be there and always share

Every moment make it slow not fast You never know when it might be your last Don't grudge or mourn with that said Or you might be the one wound up dead

Just appreciate your partner for what they are Make them feel like the only star Always get over the stupid fights Never let your love out of your heights

Always have her close enough in your reach So when she needs to give a speech About what she is feeling and whats going on You can be there to help her so don't you pawn

Your love or anything that is giving to you

For anything in the world, because its true Nothing is more precious than loyalty and trust So stay together happier than ever thats a must

Can you trust me

The thing that really grinds my gears Is the truth that they don't see If a guy truly cares Then the problem must be me

They know me well enough to judge So please go ahead to that If you do not like my love Then lay me right out flat

I wish that they could simply see That i would never harm I only want some time To hold her in my arms

Think long and hard about what you do Before it is to late I beg you please before you choose Think deeply before debate

I know she is your daughter and all Protect her with all your might You know me for who I am Think about it twice

I don't see what she did wrong So why put it on her I don't see what I did wrong So please explain to me sir

I don't know how it came to be What it is right now But i will sit here waiting to see If she will ever come back

If not then you win inside However my feelings will not die I will always truly care For her no matter what

So theres no killing that feeling i have Unless you end my life If you really want that to happen Then please do end my strife

Because with the thought that you don't like Me to be around her Makes me wonder if you think That i am not good enough for your daughter

The same girl i would give anything to The same girl i would do anything for The same girl that i would love to see However the decision is up to thee

I will forever wait For her to come to come to me If she decides not to come Then thats her choice to be

Cancer

The black plague inside of you Is eating you up right on through As every second goes by night and day I just wish this cancer would go away

I never wanted to see you like this Wish i could take it from you and dismiss This evil curse that the devil made Once again he has betrayed

The one that I have loved the most Just so this thing has a host You see it only grows inside the best So that it can put them to their final rest

It is not fair the way it works
Why couldn't it be one of the jerks
No of course it has to be you
Just stay strong and ill hold you right on through

All of the pain that it has caused It Put my life at a stop, instantly paused Only because it is killing me too Although not infected like you

This evil black plague that I speak of Has caused others discomfort and loss of love For all the victims of this curse I will pray for you to get better not worse

Do me a favor look up into the sky Have you ever just thought and wondered why If we are gods children indeed Why wouldn't he help when in need

You see we are put here to face our fears We were meant to shed those tears Everything in life happens for a reason So please, take it with treason

It might not be easy this I know
But there is yet another time to show
You will miss them oh so much
They will always be there with that heavenly touch

Why do you think on those saddest days
That one special song just plays and plays
It is their sign to show you they care
They may not be physically but they are mentally there

Looking down upon you watching what you do Making sure that you stay true

True to your family and your friends Don't go crazy cause in the end

I promise you this, even if things get out of line You will not ever be left behind They will always remember you Just like you will always remember them too

When your time comes you will know Just live your life to the fullest to show That you have beaten this wicked curse Now put your life in fast forward not reverse

Think ahead in your life instead Of putting yourself down with a frown Never let go and never give in In the end you will always Win

Darkness or Light

Darkness seeps right into the ground Light from the holy sky shines down The two paths that you can choose We are right in the middle, win or lose

So fall into the dark hole With the devil and sell your soul Do things wrong and hurt others You will meet the devils brothers

They are always walking around In human form not making a sound Until they have the chance to strike Then they do it and make it right

They will take the warmest of hearts
Tie them up and then throw the darts straight into their heart, thats their goal
Leaving only pain and hatred in their soul

So when the devil takes over your mother Cleanse her soul, let him take another Keep him out of your reach So that he can not even get close to teach

All of his evil plans
So that he can take over earth and man
You want to be a slave to him
Choose the path of dark and sin

Then there is the path of light Choose this one and you chose right God always has a trick up his sleeves Just wait and see don't disbelieve

He is there just waiting to strike In human form protecting our rights Never gives up on our righteous souls After all he is the creator of goals

So choose the right way to lead Don't follow those that choose with speed Think about it before you act You must at least try before your attacked

By the devils minions when god can't help Blocked out by the barrier even when you yelp He can't hear your call way up there Because the devil is trying to make you hear

Everything that is evil and pure Everything that has to do with war He wants us all to fight against Each other as if the only test

Is to see who is the better of all We are all humans so stand up tall Fight as one against his force I promise you wont ever feel remorse

For choosing to fight all together No one separated in any weather Help each other out is what god would do So please take that to your mind to brew

Now that i have told you of dark and light Will you keep peace or will you fight God or the devil take your pick Don't choose wrong but be slick

dear God,

Give me the courage to do what I want Give me the strength to take on life's taunt Give me the heart for true love Give me the freedom of a dove

Give me the wisdom to live a good life Give me the armor to get through any strife Give me the drugs to ease the pain Give me the anger to put enemies to shame

Give me the power to make things right Give me the fists to take on any fight Give me the eyes to see through fake Give me the blood to keep me awake

Give me the energy to strive to perfection Give me the immunity to any infection Give me the agility to dodge the bad Give me the laughter to keep from sad

Give me the chance to make things work Give me the stealth to hide and lurk Give me the girl that will treat me right Give me the body weight and height

Give me the emotions so I can care Give me the thrust to get through this year Give me the time to do things right Give me the good dreams every night

Give me a sign that you are there Give me a taste of the heavenly air Give me a soul that can't be sold Give me a life thats never on hold

I give you the thanks for my life
I give you the thanks for my wife
I give you the thanks for helping me survive
Someday I will meet you in the heavenly skies

Death by Hours

As every hour goes by Another person is yet to die Just think about who it will be It is random don't you see

The odds are against the ones that sin Yes its true sometimes they win The good ones that die on the other hand You ask yourself why, you don't understand

Well this is how life is its cruel We are nothing but gods creations and tools Everyone is here for a reason you see If its to give glory or cause misery

Life is just a waiting game
There is really only one true aim
To have the best time you can
So don't mourn but I'm telling you man

Look to the dark vast blue skies Forget all of those little lies They are up there waiting for you Your family, friends, and pets too

They are here with you to guide you through Make some decisions that will lead you to Have a happier life than they ever did Your quardian angels is what keeps you from sin

So please keep your head up high Tough times will come and then they will fly You will get through this life happy as can be Just need to think of the positive and stay off your knees

I'm waiting for that day when i say bye to you When i float up into the sky oh so blue You know when that day comes to be Please don't get sad but keep all the memories

I want you to be able to look back
I want you to be able to laugh
I want you to see everything clear
I don't want you to shed one single tear

Please stay strong in this world of confusion Please put yourself in a happy illusion Make every moment from now on count Just stay happy and alive no matter the amount

Of pain and pressure that you go through You can make it, i have always believed in you You know i love you and it will never change Dont forget that but keep it in vein Joshua Thomas Gage

Distance Myself

Every time I try or even care about someone Something happens that kills my love Every time I try to get close Something stops my wanting to go

Every time I try to help out It only ends in screams and shouts As much as I care it never matters Its their very loved ones that always shatter

The smile that I wear on my face
The very smile they always seem to erase
I feel like I need to distance myself
From anyone that I want to help

Sometimes I wish I could just run far away Somewhere that I would not have to deal with the days I wish that it was that easy to do I wish that someone else could see through my views

If you have not a clue Sit back and listen ill show you You know that feeling you get deep down inside When someone leaves your life by surprise

Well picture that feeling that you get Add the thought that your the reason they are upset The catch is you did nothing wrong You feel the hurt as if it was you all along

All you did was try to care
All you did was try to share
Share your heart with someone else
Their loved ones didn't like it so you fell

Guilt running throughout your mind Wishing you could make it better instead of leaving it behind Knowing that the only thing that you can do Is to put distance between you two

Still feeling the same love for this person Loving them no matter if your life worsens Just hopeing and praying the best happens to her Life was clear, now a mental blurr

Never knowing what it could of been
The darker side wins again
I guess the only thing to do
Is to distance myself from anything that moves

To a place alone where theres noone i can hurt No family, No friends, just me and work Working my life away day after day Never being able to tell her and say

I miss the way that she smilled at me I miss the way that things used to be I miss feeling of her arms hugging me tight I miss talking to her every night

I wish I didnt give up on her I just didnt want things to get worse for her Well with all that said, if you want shoot me dead Forever holding her memories in the back of my head

Dreams

Keep your dreams locked in tight Hold them close with all your might Never let them go and you will see How easy it will come to be

There will be different things in life
That try to stop you like a straight edged knife
You just have to push them aside
Do what you gotta do just don't sit back and hide

In order to get to what you want You must overcome every taunt Never go down and fall to your knees Always stand up high and always be

Up on the very tips of your toes Be ready in case something blows Right up in your own face Don't go down but stand up like you just won a marathon race

I'm telling you the happier you are
Will determine how fast and how far
You will go in life with your goals
Help people around you up don't dig them holes

So now i hope you can see That you need to follow your dreams and come to be Someone that makes a difference and does their part Just take in love and warm it in your heart

Don't let any one experience ruin it for you Everyone is different so treat them good and stay true The only people you don't need in life Is those that make you stuck in a strife

God's Fallen Angel

I am here from God's eyes
I have fallen from the sky
He sent me to stick by your side
Help you out of any rough ride

Stand next to you no matter the cost If anyone fu*ks with you they best get lost God sent me to you for a reason So take it in with treason

Appreciate what i can give Because you never know how long we'll live Its sad to think yes i know Thats just how it has to be, it blows

I will hold you tightly next to me Never let go cant you see I am here now just for you Nothing has ever felt this true

Please give me a chance and you will see No other guy in the world is like me Loyal and trustworthy is what they say He made me like that so that on this day

When we met you could see That i was the one sent to be Your protector and friend through your life Ill help you out of any strife

Stay right here with me and fight I have your back and i will use all my might Nothing can stop an impenetrable force As long as i can keep you on course

I would not be standing right here
If i did not even care
The fact is that my purpose is for you
Thats why he let me come down, yeah its true

Don't hide your emotions from me Tell me everything so that i can see What you are dealing with on this day No time will be waisted just passing away

You can talk to me about anything Its love and friendship that I bring Drama is straight from the devils heart I will rip it and his own soul apart

If you have something on your mind Please come talk to me to unwind

I will do anything that you need Just don't give into the devils greed Joshua Thomas Gage

Heaven or Hell

Why is this life so hard Filled with pressure and scars Living just to go through All this bullshit that leads you to

Eventually break down and cry
No one to help you wondering why
You were giving this blessing or curse
Thinking for the better but it only gets worse

Look ahead to your life and see That your future is to simply be In either a casket or a urn This pain should not be my concern

I just want to pass time by Get through every day alive Find someone to push me along Have that one heart warming song

To share with that one very special girl For some reason I can only curl My heart up in an iron cage Every year I see my age

Grow higher and higher to the sky No going back now just forward to die So much going through my mind I just wish sometimes I could rewind

Spending more time with people I love The ones that are no longer here, but above I don't know how to deal with this strife It has me wanting to end my life

Have you ever thought of that Just ending something without combat No fighting and no fussing along Just sitting there as you hear the bomb

Ticking away in your head Your mind is suddenly fed With all of the memories and good times That you were about to leave behind

You see we all self destruct Eventually you will feel sucked Right into the twisted mind That i am feeling right now behind

My cold and shallow outer shell Thats all I'm judged for isn't it now No one ever looks at whats inside Well pain and agony is whats left to reside

Inside of my heart and soul So leave me forever, alone Let me go and never speak again Now with this letter i will also end

A life that was giving to me Such strife as i look down from this tree All i can think of is all my friends My family, the love of my life when

She actually cared about me
If she ever did don't you see
So many people are fake these days
Act yourself don't act your age

Now I'm going a little off subject Heres my note and now its time to collect My soul and my empty mind Heaven or hell.. YOU DECIDE

Help me find the meaning

You see the truth that is inside my mind I cant bear it any more no matter how hard i try Life itself tell me the meaning Please guide me through the seasons

I cant deal with this everyday stress
I need something to get it of my chest
Please bring me something that will help me out
I need it off my mind before i scream and shout

Theres nothing in this world for me Work and pain is all i see Nothing in my mind will ever be complete Every thought seems to slowly deplete

I'm going through so much Not even the lightest touch Could lift me from the ditch i lay Here it seems i will forever stay

Just out of reach of anyones sight Alone by myself every single night Never knowing what it feels like inside The love that everyone talks about all the time

I have no clue what it feels like to be loved My family is the only thing i can truly say i love No matter the amount of pressure or pain They are always behind my back keeping me sane

Its just not the same feeling as being able to hold One special girl knowing shes more precious than gold I guess i wont ever find her at this rate My heart getting more fragile every time i date

Every time i look into my past
Its the girls that made the impressions last
Those are the ones that i miss the most
I wish i could just fade, simply become a ghost

My existance is not needed on this earth I'm stuck with my thoughts and my curse Wanting to just curl over and die As i sit there by day always wanting to cry

Looking out the window wondering where to go So many places to look as you know I just want someone to love me for me Not simply what they can see

Please spare my heart if you are not her I simply am sick of this pain with no cure

Always willing and always outgoing What if I already found her without knowing

They say that you only have one soul mate I just wish that something would lead me such as fate What if she was the one for me Sitting here far away over the seas

Waiting to hear her voice again
I replay it over and over in my head
Its not the same as hearing it from her lips
I wish i could go back, I cant believe i missed

My only opportunity to stay by her side Appreciate her no matter how hard the ride What if she is with some asshole right now I will never know because she moved towns

She never calls me anymore where did she go Wondering if she is having the time of her life Wishing i could just hold her tightly in my arms I think i loved her thats why it did so much harm

To my heart, mind, body, and soul This is where i left off so long ago Now this is why i lay where i am Never wanting to deal with the day

Wishing that she would come to me I would throw it all away just to see Her for one last day so i can simply say I love her -

Hold Them Down

Its those people in life that make the impressions
The ones that are there to help you through depression
Have the best time in the world while they are there
You never know one day they might just disappear

They could be involved in a drive by You don't even have the chance to say goodbye They could simply fall asleep At the wheel and go off a cliff oh so steep

Their heart could just stop at any time Would not even know but you would of given every dime Just to cure that heart attack Nothing is more important than getting that person back

You know thats why you need to grasp them tight Never let them go out of your sight Keep them close in your heart Especially when they seem further apart

You know nothing is worth fighting about So just suck it up and forgive them, don't pout There will be times that you will get mad Do me a favor, smile and stay glad

You know why you must do this When they are gone you will truly miss Everything that you have done and all of those times It kills inside as if your heart got covered in poison slime

Theres nothing in life that feels like this Losing a loved one that you once had kissed Cherish the moments that you spend every day Don't push them but keep them closer so they will stay

Deep down in your warm blooded heart So that you don't grow in any way apart You see eventually everyone has to die So make the moments count and last thats why

So i will tell you for the very last time Please take my words and make a lemon out of lime Hold them in your arms and never let go One of these days it will come to show

That you treated them the best that you could They are now looking down on you and understood You did your best for them and thats what counts Never left them behind no matter the amount

Of trouble you got into, didn't even care All you wanted was them to be there

Right next to you in the passengers seat Holding them down from head to feet Joshua Thomas Gage

How Precious?

I wish you could see into my mind
To hear me out just this one time
It's thoughts like these that I wish i could share
To all of those people that truly care

We as humans are used to taking things on slow Piece by piece blow by blow So when something happens right then and there Such as a loved one that simply disappears

Your mind and body becomes filled with hate No longer believing in life or fate Nothing is meant to happen so quick We are not emotionally built for that shit

Life is full of pain and stress
The worst always happens to the best
Im not even sure if there is a heaven or hell
Only time will be able to tell

Heaven and Hell is what they say
The two places of afterlife where you will stay
How do you know this was not made up in the past
Passed down generation to generation so very fast

Have you ever taken the time to think about that These two places in your mind holding you back What happens if you never take a chance A leap of faith, or a devilish dance

All I'm saying is to live your life the best you can Do everything you want to do before your time plan Has expired with no more time on your soul Nothing is yours but its all borrowed

I say that because life is not promised on any day Make sure you don't ever leave loved ones stranded at bay Cherish every moment that you get Make it count and never forget

Memories and times that you will make You see those are the only things that will never break Its the only thing that gets you through Every single day you think of them

You think of how they would want you to live You think of things you did they could never forgive Now you wish that you could rewind time back Just to get your life back on track

Too bad once you make a choice your stuck with it When something happens so quick

You have nothing that you can say or do Feeling so useless, get in the cue

Because its not only you that feels that way You see like i said in the beginning to this day No one ever thinks about absolute things in their heart Well change that now its time to start

How precious are your loved ones to you? How precious would your time be if you knew The exact second that you were going to die Would you spend your time differently or even try

To do things differently and make less enemies To cherish the time that you get To live life to your fullest with no regret - LIVE IT DOWN, or Don't Live it at all-

I need

I need to see her smile I need to see her face I need to see her eyes Glisten on her face

I need to hear her voice I need to hear her laugh I need to hear her walk Right behind my back

I need to feel her touch I need to feel her hug I need to feel her kiss So heavenly above

I need to know if she loves me I need to know if she cares I need to know if she wants to be With me for the following years

I miss her I need her I think of her Because she is.1

In My Mind

Do me a favor and take the time To read these thoughts of mine Please take them all to heart They are all tearing me apart

I need some guidance from above I am lost and confused, have no more love For anyone or anything Only hanging on by a string

I am working so hard just to get by Fighting to live not to die Guess what though thats not true Everything I fight for will die too

Sooner than you would think Time flies by so fast, don't blink I feel like everything i do Is as useless as my own view

Through my eyes I can only see so far Through the brain you can see beyond the stars So I do just that and think only the real Agony, suffering, and pain is all i can feel

So many people around me every day Yet I feel like I'm alone with nothing to say Always lost and always confused Mistreated, bruised, and misused

No one cares about what I have to say What I think about anything to this day My words and thoughts go in your ear Then right back out the other just to disappear

I wish someone would listen to me just one time Take me seriously in this rhyme I want you to take off your shoes Put on mine and look around through my views

I would like to see how you get by Sitting there every day getting high Think that will pass the day Then before bed at night sit and pray

Pray for the loved ones that you have close Never let them drift away like a ghost This is how I treat all the others I get nothing in return as it smothers

My heart getting dull with no more feeling Find myself down and never healing

From these scars that are internal Forever burning like a corrupted infernal

Finding myself getting less sleep every night Don't worry about me ill be alright Thats what I will tell you if you ask Only because you don't need this tedious task

To help me though all of my struggles They are mine not yours to juggle If i am to give up or fail Please don't try to follow my trail

You need to keep on going strong
This is my fate don't get me wrong
Just hear me out and see through my mask
Don't ever hesitate to ask

If you have something on your mind Spit it out because you can never rewind You can never go back and fix mistakes Only going forward to more and more aches

This is how I feel
This is me, This is real
Theres nothing I can say or do
To change how I grew

Into this cold and lonely state Not ever being able to see straight There is way too much weight I have to carry along on my plate

So as I hold all this stress up high Waiting for it to pass me by Everything that i get Puts me deeper into debt

Nothing in life is promised on any day Life goes so fast theres never a delay Getting older by the hour Falling apart like the two towers

That the government always lies about Twisting our minds there is no doubt All the news that we take in You believe that crap? I can't even begin

To explain my thoughts about all that Why are we still over there in combat? Uncle Sam wants your blood for oil Fighting over in the desert soils

Why are we even fighting at that? Why did the towers fall down flat? We are all of the same kind Born onto this earth gifted with a mind

That can shift and shape anything around All living on the same ground Stop acting like selfish pricks Lets all work together before time ticks

Down to its last seconds when the sun burns out Then were all fucked theres no doubt We need to look to the bigger issues Wipe up the smaller ones with tissues

No need to fight over money and greed Thats exactly why we all lead The life that we do rich or poor Every day trying to find the cure

To unknown diseases that people get
The world itself is the biggest threat
The bacteria and natural corruption
Is what we need to worry about without interruption

Now you know most of how I think
They come to me in thick blank ink
I don't know how or why
Take what i said in vein or leave it to die

Its your choice on what you do
Its your life not mine to choose
Just don't mess up, theres no going back
Once you are lost you stay off track

Iraqi Guy

There once was a guy that you knew He did everything you wanted him to One day you pushed him away Just so another guy could stay

You knew he was a great guy indeed He always put others in front of his need For some strange reason you let him go You pushed him away threw him in the snow

What happens from now on is what you chose to be When you walked with that other guy don't you see What you did was you shot him dead Why did you choose the other guy instead

So yes your happy for now So when are you planning on making your vow This new guy that you think is the one Guess what babe hes already won

You know those late nights when he goes out Yeah you know what thats all about It don't have to do with work Once a jerk, always a jerk

Now when you find out what will you do Will you kick him to the curb too? Thats what you should do But the other guy is no longer there with you

You sit back on your couch and think of those times Those times where he gave you everything and a dime He took you out to places all around the world Took you in his arms gave you a twirl

Well now your sitting alone on your couch Thinking of where this man is about Just then you turn on the t.v About to change the channel but then you see

That there was another bomb that went off in Iraq Some suicidal guy why would he do that? Then you hear the dreaded name That made you want to go insane

That guy that you once let slip out of your hands Was said to be found dead in the Iraqi sands Just when you heard that you turned blue Fell to your knees as if you could not breathe

Just when you thought your heart was dead You heard a knock on your door as if a angel had sent

Some sort of messenger to you Then you open the door and no longer are blue

The guy that it said was dead in Iraq Somehow managed to make it back He promised me he would always be there Well somehow he is standing in the door right here

So you jump into his arms and hug him so tight Tell him to never again leave your sight So with that said he takes you back Says everyone deserves a second chance to get things on track

So that one guy came back to you Only because he knew you two Should of been together that whole time Never once separated in his eyes

Don't you see he never left you He loved you all along yes its true He cherished those times you both had Together which made him so very glad

So now that you two are back theres much to teach Don't ever let him go out of your reach Keep her close to you as well You really never can tell

When one of you will randomly go
Just for natural causes or something random you know
Life is the biggest obstacle that you will face
You cant beat it but can run with it as if a race

Just do me a favor and don't leave anyone behind The ones you love count more than anything in your mind Tightly held up inside of your heart You two will never again be apart

It's My Life

This is my life don't tell me what to do If you can't respect that then fuck you No one is going to stop me now Get on your knees and start to bow

I'm so hot up on this block No pussy here just balls and co*k Best get on my good side If not I suggest you run and hide

I am not fucking around anymore Don't even think to cross me or I will bring my iron fists Guess who will be on the top of my list

You think your tough with your glock Come on man grow a co*k Any bitch can pull a trigger Any bitch can bring his niggas

It takes a man to do it right
So pull out your fists and then lets fight
Your the one that started it all
Now it is your time to fall

If you decide to use a glock
Ill snap your trigger finger in six different spots
Before you can get off the shot
Ill snap your neck and leave you to rot

So you best think twice Here ill give you some advice If you don't like what I do You might want to think it through

Before you say something about me The devil lays within don't you see? God never responded when I went to him Even back before when I never sinned

You will know what lies deep down inside
If you look straight into my eyes
You will feel the discomfort and pain
Everything i have been through is sleet and rain

Always being hurt inside Never once did I hide So you see I work on fame Keeping it real through every vein

Its Your Life

Yeah just do what they said Smoke that shit till your dead Is that what you want your life to be? I don't know about you but thats too much for me

I do what i want whenever i feel
Its really not hard to say no, don't keep it inside you sealed
Let your voice be heard by every single soul
Just keep to your own life and reach your goals

Why would you even think of that Mine as well meet your head with the full swing from a baseball bat If they are telling you what to do Now seriously, think of who is the fool

You follow their ways and their very footsteps
Just to fit into this world even when distressed
I'm telling you this here and now
Not everyone is friendly so don't make your vow

You will notice in life there are good and bad Those that want to take you to make you glad There are also those ones that are corrupt from the start Those are the bastards that will get you shot dead in the heart

They will make it seem like they have your back
They are the ones that always yell attack
When you are ready to go in and fight
For the loyalty of that so called friend with all your might

As you get beat down to the floor You know what he does? runs for the door Now who do you really call for The ones you left behind way before?

The ones that let you speak your mind
The ones that let you stay behind
The ones that led you through your life
The ones that made you smile, even when in the greatest strife

So this is what you have to do Don't let them get anywhere near you Just do me a favor and live your life the way you want Don't let them get to you, not even their taunts

Just push them far far away
If they don't let you say
What you want to when you do
Cause if they don't you are in for a true

Hell like place full of mistakes Only because you followed them and picked up that rake You took it and put it to use Now you murdered a guy, good game you lose

That is why you must say goodbye To anyone that wont let you speak out and try Doing things on your own is good As long as you know why and its understood

So live your life to the fullest extent Don't take your life and make a big dent Right in the center of your warm bloody heart Next time turn away, come on be smart

Let it Happen

Let the rain pour down on me The tears of the loved ones you no longer see Let the thunder roar through the skies Angels angered because this worlds full of lies

Let the snow fall faster than ever before Ashes of loved ones kill at war Let the lightning strike harder every day To show us that life is easily taken away

Let the earthquakes shake up the nation Bringing together the worlds population Let the fires burn fast and bright Reminding us its mother nature that we fight

Let the ocean crash against the shore Slowing eroding what will eventually be no more Let the tornado's blow everything away Rebuilding it all better than it was that day

Let the wind howl into your ears Like voices of loved ones that never disappear Let the sun shine down hotter then ever Cheering everyone up and making life better

Life, Friends, and Happiness

You know they say life has a reason Well spill it out and remind me each season Why i am here to share this life Is it to make some kids with my future wife?

Just to pass on my genes so they can live on The dominant one is that right? or wrong? They said i wouldn't make it in life Only because i was always in a strife

Ive been called many things in the book Never broke me down, here take a look For every time you said i wouldn't make it I took those words and made some sort of motivation shit

There were those times i wanted to break and tear Every time i just said ill make it through this year Guess what i made it and you didn't help Now who's going to come to your rescue when you yelp

Naw i wouldn't leave you hanging down there You see im a better person, i live above despair Pain and reckoning is just to plain Why live your life with that when you just go insane

You know all the shit that i have been through If I came out ok then you can too You know, don't push yourself too hard You might just snap, so play your card

Don't let any other person tell you what to do
If they try it, tell them its your life and you stay true
True to yourself, family, and friends
The ones that aren't accounted for well leave them at rend

Just always be willing to give a hand in need For every thing thats good you get back a good deed You know, they say its impossible to have a good world Theres always something missing as if corrupt and twirled

You know we are the ones that effect everything So just stop for a moment and try to bring Something good thats happened in life back to your head That way it refreshes itself and don't go dead

You know when your upset on those lonely nights well do me a favor stay smart and don't take a fight With your family or friends, anger all in your head Let it collect in your hand and release strand by strand

Think of something happy inside Everyone has something, its not to hide You know if you take these words to true heart You will never fall apart..

Look Beyond

You have to look beyond the outer shell
That is the only way you are going to tell
If they are there for you all the way
Or if they are looking for a new someone every day

I admit its hard to tell Sometimes I wonder if she came from hell The nights that we sit there and fight about Anything that comes to might no doubt

You know this is not what i need I have not come because of greed I am willing to give it all Just so that we will not fall

All the way down to where we started We climbed the ladder both true hearted Now we are at the top Stumbling to stay up, lets just stop

We are supposed to be here for each other Instead of fighting with one another Our love is strong and intertwined Lets not let it make us blind

We need to keep our vision clear
Of what we are doing now and here
Please for the love of us
Lets stop fighting and be a couple without the fuss

Ill give you my word straight from my heart I will stay here for you till death due us part No matter how mad you might get me I will never leave you at sea

All alone to fend for yourself You see your in my heart on the very top shelf No one could ever take you down So baby please don't ever frown

I'm here to help you with anything you need I would do anything for you even bleed You do know that i have never felt Anything like this, it makes me melt

Every time you are with me All i see is your very beauty As i gaze deep down into your eyes Its as if theres no such thing as demise

I just wish i could keep it just me and you Baby do me a favor and stay true

Don't do anything that i wouldn't do And forever we will be without the color blue

The sadness that others have in their life We don't need that strife So with that said i will say I love you now, always, and forever ok

Patience

You do know i am here for you
Just need to try a little harder, yeah you do
I have tried to talk to you
Never worked out so i said I'm through

We were good for a long time you know Nothing came in between us head to toe You left that behind you don't you see Ever since you started talking to me

I have done nothing but try and try Sometimes it even made me cry The times i think back to when we talked When we held hands and when we walked

Side by side as if the best Nothing could stop us or the hard beating in our chests Ever since we broke apart You do know you tore my heart

Right down the center didn't you see? Or you did? Just didn't care to be With me anymore for some strange reason I never caused you harm through the seasons

I would try this again for you Put my heart up for another split in two You see I'm better than discomfort and grudge People change, grow up, just need a little nudge

From something in their life to change the way They look at things to this day You see that little nudge had hit me when i was 7 Now those people reside in heaven

You know how i think of things now I am not only living my life for me but i made a vow That i would live this to the fullest extent If you try to get in my way, two words get bent

I leave my heart open for a reason
I know one day i will find with treason
That one girl that wont leave me behind
The one girl that was destined from in my mind

You know i have the urge to find her now Patience my friend and it will allow You to find out who you are Before you try to find your star

That way when you find it oh so bright You will hold her like nothing before, breathtaking tight

That way you are all ready To keep this relationship that was meant to go steady Joshua Thomas Gage

Perfect

Its about that point where you take the time To think of why were here Take this glass and fill it with wine To this pain that we can not bare

The lies and the hatred in this world Are things that you can't ignore Every day ripped and twirled You try harder to stay on shore

You don't want to drift away
From anyone that truly cares
So thats why you must always stay
Closer even through all these tears

You only get one chance at life
Do what you want and make things right
When you are in any strife
Never give up but always fight

In the end you will see That everything will be ok Get up on your feet and off your knees You are no longer a stray

I will take you in as a friend Never letting this happen again Those cuts and wounds I will mend Even the heart aches from other men

If you can accept what I give You will come to see That I am here to fully live Letting others know theres no one like me

So take my hand and hold on tight Ill take you for a ride No more pain and no more fights Theres nothing you have to hide

Before I go back up high
Tell me one more thing
Would you ever be interested in this guy
Would you appreciate what I bring

Although I dropped straight down from above No one is perfect on this earth If you can just promise to show me some love I will make every bit of it worth

Your time and the space in your heart I wont ever bring you down

You don't have to worry about being ripped apart Baby ill make sure you don't frown

Holding you tightly in my hands Never letting go Meeting all your needs and demands If this don't come to show

That you are my only star That I see in the dark sky No matter where you are Your perfect for this guy

I don't want anyone else
To be with me in the end
You always will be on my top shelf
Until it is time for me to attend

To gods sanctuary way up high Even then I will love You with every moment that goes by Ill always watch over you from above

Playground

Do you remember that feeling you once had When you ran about joyful and glad Mostly the young ones find themselves lost Sometimes you gotta pay a little cost

Hanging from your hands looking up at the sky Wondering if heaven is up there and how high You can feel the wind blowing across your hair Sometimes wishing you were the only one there

Suddenly you dropp and fall to your knees Get up right away so you don't get laughed at or teased Someday you will conquer gliding your hands across bars For now you just simply wonder as you look at the stars

Just starting to come out
Then you think how time flies about
Pretty soon you will soar out of this place
Yet another kid will come try to follow your pace

As you run through the brown pieces of wood Trying to be the first up to the slide as if you could There is always someone bigger than you Awaiting at the top to laugh, oh its so true

You know what you must do
Wait it out till he leaves with his crew
So you go over to that big silver pole
Not the average pole, but this one has a tole

You look down and your eyes open up wide You think to yourself you cant do it inside Seems always that kid behind you to taunt you to go He laughs, he snorts, no doubt he knows

You are just trying to have fun Everything so big out there and so much room to run So you grasp the pole like never before Then you let out a yell and with that said no more

Your feet are no longer on the ground Instead wrapped around a pole oh so round Just then you look down and close your eyes tight Then take off down that pole as if it was the longest flight

Down to the ground where your feet touch Then you feel the relief leave your body and such Just then you let out the biggest smile As if you have accomplished the biggest thing in a while

You remember that mighty feeling you had When you first accomplished something, felt so bad

Yes you do, u cant even say you don't Well that feeling is always there in the back of your throat

Didn't you love that feeling you had Well where has it been now that you have grown a tad Do you miss that feeling in your throat Well do me a favor and release it as if the fastest speed boat

Just took off with you on it running away
From the bad guys that want your ass to this day
Are you going to let them torment you forever
Well let me tell you, fight them if you want them to sever

You know you cant always run from your fears If its that bully then do me a favor wear and tear Make him feel what you did just for a day Make him want to run away

Anyone that tries to change you by making you fear You must fight it before they make you disappear Well I'm just trying to say that in order to stay In your place you might have to race

Around the playground or in this case life Even if it causes you the biggest strife You must come to face your fears If you want to stay in your place right here

R.I.P - Xavier

So heres my story of my best friend
That broke me down so far my heart wont mend
I should not be sitting here tonight
Having these thoughts of recite

It never ends the pain I feel
The torture is so unreal
I would give my life if you would come back
I miss you man and so don't our pack

Nothing in this world could heal me today This scar that is there everyday I can still see you in my mind Man you were seriously one of a kind

When I got that phone call from your mom My heart stopped like a defused bomb I could not believe that my best friend Was leaving me today to attend

The afterlife if there is such a thing
If there is i bet you already have your wings
Man there isn't one person I know
That could even come close to you bro

Some nights I sit here and cry
Think to myself and wonder why
You never did anything to deserve what you got Never thought you would die on the spot

Bro i miss you please come back down here Show me a sign that you are there You won't ever fade from my thoughts The good times and the times we fought

Man all of this don't make sense Its left me hanging by myself all tense It just sucks that I couldn't save you Now I'm sitting here crying right on through

Standing over your grave is so hard Every time it brings more mental scars You know what though I am trying to stay strong Cause i know your up there cheering me on

Rain drops fall from heaven

Tears swelling up in my eyes every night Rain drops fall from heaven Simply a walking disguise in the light Rain drops fall from heaven

Wondering when i will be alright Rain drops fall from heaven Growing so weak no energy to fight Rain drops fall from heaven

Losing all hope in my mind Rain drops fall from heaven Wishing that i could simply unwind Rain drops fall from heaven

As time goes love makes me blind Rain drops fall from heaven Wishing i didn't have to leave her behind Rain drops fall from heaven

Wanting to make everything right Rain drops fall from heaven Wishing i could could see her in sight Rain drops fall from heaven

Wishing I had the strength to fight Rain drops fall from heaven Wishing i could hold her tight Rain drops fall from heaven

Never knowing if she remembers me Rain drops fall from heaven Never know if we were meant to be Rain drops fall from heaven

Wishing i had more time to see Rain drops fall from heaven My family that always loved me Rain drops fall from heaven

Thinking back to the times we had Rain drops fall from heaven Smiles and laughter but yet so sad Rain drops fall from heaven

Just sitting here all alone Rain drops fall from heaven Wishing i was way back home Rain drops fall from heaven

Now the only thing that is on my mind Rain drops fall from heaven

Is the memories i have way back in time Rain drops fall from heaven

The tears from my eyes and deep inside Rain drops fall from heaven Matches the drops that come from the sky Rain drops fall from heaven

If you could even begin to wonder why Rain drops fall from heaven It is simply those tears from lies Rain drops fall from heaven

Every time it rains i stare to the clouds Rain drops fall from heaven Hoping one day she will simply fall Rain drops fall from heaven

Right into my arms where she belongs Rain drops fall from heaven So that i can sing her a song Rain drops fall from heaven

A song that tells her how i feel Rain drops fall from heaven A song that is nothing but real Rain drops fall from heaven

That will be the day that will bring me joy Rain drops fall from heaven Too bad it wont happen to this boy Rain drops fall from my eyes 24/7

Run Away

Lets run far away Ill come with you Lets do it today Come on get your shoes

Hurry up before they get back I don't want them to know That we are making our own path Me and you together just to show

That we can do anything we want Nothing can get in our way Lets take on life's selfish taunts Together until the day

That my soul is ripped apart Into the sky it will float Never again will my heart Be available for anyone else's vote

You have me here Never leaving your side So lets do this dear Lets go run and hide

She Changes

Have you ever noticed People change with time Every now and then She will act sublime

When you get to know her As the time flies by You will see that she has Changed within your eyes

As you look at her now All that you saw before Has now changed into new The old walked out the door

Thinking through your head now Why she changed so much Nothing that you can give Will ever bring her touch

Right back where you started Trying to impress With her fancy talk and fancy walk White ribbons on her dress

Just wishing she would change back Knowing it will never come true The girl that you saw before Disappeared into the blue

Thats why it is hard To trust anyone The person you first date Is not the same one

You will see come out With time and only that They will get meaner Treat you like crap

I just want to find her The one that is herself Never putting on an act To get to my top shelf

Sitting Here

Sitting here not knowing what to do All I can think about is you Stuck here wishing I could hold you If only you had the slightest clue

Wishing I could be there right by your side Holding you tightly to provide The warm feeling hiding deep down Behind your cold gloomy frown

This kills me to see
That this is how it is to be
You won't let me know whats wrong
As I sit here hoping you stay strong

Sitting here all confused Feeling misplace and misused Nothing in this world means more Then seeing your smile that I adore

wipe your tears and get off your knees Don't cry, don't mourn, don't accept defeat I know you are hurting deep down inside You know everyday I have tried

To help you out with anything you need This is what we had agreed That if anything ripping you apart You would tell me straight from the heart

I'm not Mr.Perfect but I will try
Just give a chance to this guy
I am sorry for what ever you are going through
Just stay strong and i promise boo

You will be ok in the end This phase will pass my friend I will just tell you one more time I am here for you and i will climb

Any mountain and any obstacle thats in my way Just to push the sadness away Ill wipe away your river of tears Comfort you and push away your fears

Never letting you slip down on your face Always keep you up in first place You know i put no one above Those who treat me with respect and love

Spitting The Truth

This is for all the children in Iraq Lost in the sands, never to come back This is for the soldiers fighting for the government Fighting for nothing, getting killed because of it

This is for the families that have lost loved ones That are now looking down on you from above This is for all the people living on the streets Straight from the heart, here come the beats

This is for Bush that should be locked in a cell Your the fucking criminal, I'll see you in hell This is for the news channels, telling us the governments lies While the government sits back and hides

This is for the sick that have no bills
The ones that can't afford a doctor, or the pills
This is for the people working on minimum wage
Getting older as their insides fill with rage

Sitting at home watching the news station Listening to the propaganda they feed our nation I wish these weak motherfuckers would speak the truth No longer trying to brain wash the youth

Theres much bigger problems then Iraq
Bush you fucking thief give their oil back
Do something good for our nation
Like helping to advance in technology and education

There are lots of smart people that are out there Who can't afford to go to college living off welfare For every year that passes us on by The government gets richer as poor people die

Yet you sit there and wonder why People have to rob and steal to supply Food, shelter, and clothes for their kids Looked at as criminals that you will never forgive

Locked up in a cell never knowing How your children are doing, never showing Your face or affection to your kids As their hatred grows for you because of what you did

As for the cops don't get me started I am not saying they are all cold hearted It is their job to keep people in line The only problem is they can shoot you with a nine

Then get rewarded even if they started it The same power over us as the government

Harassing the people when they want Just like the spirits that will forever haunt

The Nazi's for bringing on the Holocaust Following orders not knowing they were brain washed As everyone else sat back and waited Never thinking to themselves or even debating

The conspiracy that was going on then The new world order is about to begin Your sitting back not getting involved This is our problem as one, to solve

So don't just sit there and get stepped on Think for yourself, you can't ever be wrong Don't listen to Chaney during his speech The guy is the biggest fucking leech

Yeah go ahead and tell them your plans Wanting to build those pipelines through Afghanistan To steal the oil from Iraq You didn't even get an education as a matter of fact

Who needs enemies when they have friends like you Shooting them in the face when hunting to make quail stew Then he apologizes for you shooting him What kind of mind control shit are you using to win

The friends that you have in tact You have Bush on puppet strings controlling his every act 'I do it for the children's' man give me a break How did someone that stupid get to take

The role of our presidency Gore would of been better, believe me This shit set up to rip us apart New world order, heres the start

That Girl

When I look into her eyes
I can see the vast blue skies
Not only is she beautiful
Her personality shines right on through

Her head covered in silky fire She satisfies every need and desire I could not wish for anymore Makes me happy just to be around her

Her smile is nothing i have seen before It makes me adore her that much more You can feel the warm summer air When around her even when winters here

This girl i am talking about Has never once made me shout When i am with her all my problems disappear Right into very thin air

I just think its kind of weird
That someone this good just appears
Why was she picked to work right here
Right next to me on this very year

If you are just sitting there think about this How you met and come to your first kiss Not many people these days do Take people for granite which is not good for you

Cherish and adore what they do for you One day they could be gone, sad but true Anything could happen on any day So don't let your thoughts take you away

You must focus on the important things Not the foolish ones that time may bring I wont ever do anything to harm Forever I would hold her in my arms

There is just one more thing to say You must let her speak her mind ok? Your supposed to make her life better Make all the heavy shit feel like feathers

Help her when she needs someone there Stay by her side and wipe her tears Most of us guys are ignorant fools Treat her with respect, she isn't a tool

Put yourself in her shoes Try to help her when she has the blues If you truly like her and really care You wont ever hurt her or simply disappear

So hold the person that you love closely if they are next to you The one you love not the one that simply has sex with you Appreciate them to the fullest extent and beyond Because you never really know what you got till its gone

Love can not be bought as you know But sex can be found from any back ally hoe So make sure the love is there for you Count and last between the two

Times like these

Its times like these when I'm all alone
Its times like these when the wind blows cold
Its times like these when i cant see straight
Its times like these when i run out of fate

The times that i sit here and cry Just thinking to myself and wondering why Why i let things bring me down Driving aimlessly all around town

Wishing someone was here to hold me tight Looking all around but no one in sight Wondering if she can see through the disguise Never showing the emotions i internally hide

Always smiling no matter how hard things get Just trying to live life with no regret Life itself as i know it to be Just another hell add in your friends and your family

I guess this struggle is mine to hold So i will try my best till my soul is sold To the god above or the devil down low Maybe neither of them, who knows?

Until that time comes for me I can only continue to be The very best as i hide the rest Hoping one day she will see

That i would do anything to hold her That i would do anything just to know her So please give me the chance i deserve I promise I will keep my word

My word that i will love her forever My word that i would never want anyone else I just want her forever On my top shelf

True America

Always awake even in bed Never fully sleeping but instead All i can think of every night Is their faces filled with fright

When they see us marching along Man I don't believe this, it's all wrong There is no reason we have, to stay The industries greed grows more every day

It's no longer about the terrorists attacks Its all about the government's crack The oil and the power is what they see This is not how America is supposed to be

Don't get me wrong I love where I live Just the people in charge I could never forgive All the propaganda planted in our minds Cutting our nation in two with time

Weapons of mass destruction, Bush is looking for We sold them that shit way back when that whore Ronald Regan was elected for President Of course they have them over there you stupid shit

Bush is the leader of this new world order He has gone way past the legal borders Once you go so far over the line Theres no turning back in time

You remember those bombs on the George Washington bridge Yeah you remember them don't you kids Well it was all over the news, four non Arabs arrested Then suddenly it disappeared permanently, never protested

Its that type of control that makes me wonder What the government is hiding under The lies and bullshit that they feed Every day taking action upon the greed

So take this to mind when you are told All the bullshit that the government throws Into all of the young American minds Think for yourself don't follow behind

The footsteps of any other person
Or you will be feeding off lies worse than Bush, the government, and the News
Lead your own path of thoughts and you won't lose

The true meaning of an American Is Freedom, Courage, and Intellect within

No matter your race, shape, or size You will be a true American in Gods eyes

Trusted You

In hope and trust i gave you a try
Now all i can think to myself is why
I thought you were trustworthy thats what you said
I guess u lied again, and that lie shot me dead

Laying down on the floor
A bloody mess just like a fucking whore
I'm done with you and all of your games
I'm fed up with this and taking the blame

For all of your actions that you said was me I'm not in your head you choose them you see You are the one that led me away Now i don't want no part of you understand? good.. ok

I gave up a good amount to try for you Now look what you put me through I don't care how many times you say sorry I'm not excepting you back so don't worry

You don't have to have anything to do with me Someone in the future will want to be With this guy that you threw on the street The one that you lied to although he would meet

You anywhere on the planet just to see you Give the last breath even choose you over crew If a guy is that loyal to thee Why did you hang his neck high from a tree

Walked away with another guy
Just to see your priorities fly
Now you are focused on him realize it or not, the one in the tree is hurt out and in

And you know what that one you left in the tree In the future is going to be so oh happy He is going to find someone that treats him like gold So bye bye to you this man is sold

Wrong Path

Deep down inside of him you cant see All he wants and all he needs Is right there laying in your heart Got to know you from the start

Never gave him a chance cause you were scared Scared through all of these plain years Well guess what now he is gone out of your reach Look back to your mistake and let it teach

Everyone else that has a try
At that one very different guy
You know no one you find will ever be like him
So why didn't you give him a chance it wasn't a sin

Even if it didn't work out for you You should of tried between the two I'm sure if it didn't work out He would love to be your friend so don't pout

That all went down the drain
All because you were stuck on someone else in vein
Thats ok i guess but don't you see
Your all he ever wanted to be

In his arms looking high into the sky All the bright stars wondering why You gave him that chance and not someone else So he takes your heart and puts it on his top shelf

As hes holding you tight you hear him say No one will get between us i promise ok? Nothing can ever break me from you As long as you also promise me to stay true

Never lie and never cheat Never run and never meet Any other guy that will try to take What you have, tear and break

All of that could of been yours Not only that but much much more You blew it though don't you see Hes now in Iraq fighting for the freedom of the Red, White, and Blue America's true Thats all he ever was meant to do Everyone has a destiny at every path So choose yours and make it last

Don't mess up and don't be scared To take chances through all these years

You must give to get in return So don't even start to mourn

Over anything that you have lost Because in the end it will all cost You many of your experiences you could make But instead sit there all sad, so it takes

Away from your life and what you do Get out there you freaking fool Go find this guy that you once had I'm sure if you find him he will be glad

To see you again and hear your voice again Thats what he loved so much was when You and him would sit there at night Just laughing and talking about your random sights

Thinking of how random life is Why things happen, and why things live Why things die, and when they do Why it was meant for life to be cruel

Don't you ever look back at those times When that one guy you remember never did you crime Always was there holding you down Even when you got him in trouble when he was around

Don't you see he never cared All he wanted to do was share Every single second he could get with you Make sure that everything was good right on through

If you ever had a problem he was there If you ever shed a tear If you ever sat down all alone If you ever wanted to talk on the phone

Thats right he was there Right there and couldn't bare That you were not seeing this All he wanted was your heart in twist

With his for the rest of his life Holding you down, you as his wife Now you chose your path nothing he can do Alone on his own is how he flew

Thats ok though because you know why He impacted your life before you said bye He made you think of things differently Thinking of why life was meant to be

So hard and such a maze
Its a simple test not a phase
You know if you pass you go up high
Into the heavenly sky

Right where he said he would meet you again Just to see you and begin All of the things that you have lost If you pick wrong it will cost

A lot of memories torn away That could of been there to stay A better life possibly Who would know, don't ask me

You Don't Know

You don't even know How much i love you so Please stay close to me Tell them boys to leave you be

I admit i get jealous of them all I am truly sorry but i don't want to fall You can tell me when somethings wrong Believe me baby that problem wont last long

I would do anything for you Baby just tell me what to do I will give you the world In your hands tightly curled

This poem might just be words to you But i am speaking from my heart so true I lay here in bed tonight Only thing on my mind is you, thats right

I don't see you as much as they do Thats why I worry sometimes about you I do my best to be with you when I can Baby please I hope you understand

Please take this serious word for word I wouldn't ever let you go thats assured Once again I am sorry i worry Sometimes things just get very blurry

Thats when I need you the most Its when i feel invisible like a ghost Ill cry with you when you need me to Baby theres nothing i would rather do

Then spend time with you can we please start talking more I know sometimes it hard, but those times adored When we always talked no matter where we were

I am not saying spend all your time on me I would just like to hear your voice don't you see That is part of the reason why I get by Some of those days that make me want to break and cry

I will take you to Paris
I will take you to Rome
Baby i promise to comfort you
When you are all alone

So one last time let me remind you I am always here to help you through

Please baby speak your mind I will listen closely as if the world has no time

I love you so much Let me end with this I love you so so much Now ends with a goodnight kiss
