Absorbing This Pain

This piece is called: Absorbing this pain....a Leasha Lewis original Absorbing this pain.....some people think I ought to hide my true face in vain.....they say that I should be ashamed of this pain.....as it rains through my veins.....there in no sham in this game called life.....please let theses words cut through your brain like hot butter through a knife.....although I could never understand most people in this life..... how some can kill, steal an lay with a different mans husband or wife every night.....an still scream out in each church help me Jesus Christ.....is it the vanity..... all I do no is that is not of the lords humanity.....

As dark souls walk upon this fish bowl we call a world..... to take the love, shine, an innocent from the eyes of every boy and girl..... dark hearts earn a referral threw sin.....Now let me run that shit back for you again.....loyalty is taken away for each an every family tree....you see....most sins are like honey to a bee....The day I was born my grandmother told God the Devil and the Holy spirit that this wouldn't effect me.....that the universe an my third eye would always protect me.....but I am not Jesus Christ so do think you gonna crucify an resirect me.....although I still have many guns, bibles, birth and death charts build inside me to protect me.....but as the mother of these lost, forgotten & broken hearted children your gonna dam sure learn to respect.....because my true name is the only thing that protects thee.....Universal soldiers

I Came To This Club To Chill With My Girls

Some men ask me about my dedication.....well that depends on the situation.....is this ghetto nation so filled with frustration that before you ask my name..... your mind is on sexual penetration.....just use your hand to resolve that situation.....Because last time that I check I was not born a sperm bank or waste station
