

Poetry Series

Manisha O. Sharma
- poems -

Publication Date:

2011

Publisher:

Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Manisha O. Sharma(March 20,1989)

Sometimes, the words I use to express my thoughts, imaginations, anger or depression, ... are collectively called as 'poems' by the people around me..! ! Before I could know it, I had become a poet for them. I believe, there is a science hidden into the language of a poem, and deep inside a research finding, you will find an incredible rhythm of an invisible poetry! ! !

Keep Going

When sight of the shore appeared nowhere and terribly opposite winds were blowing
Hope exclaimed, with each passing wave
Just keep going on keep on going

When the life was lonely, days were lost
Night was ghastly n mind became frost
In my heart the Faith was glowing i did keep going on did keep on going

When Time seems tough n path is rough Hold hope high, and give it a try
Don't ever give up, don't give-up moving
Just keep going on keep on going

Manisha O. Sharma