Savior

I have strange dreams, dreams in which I woke up wondering if they just happened, nightmares that felt so real i wake up and find myself sweating profusely, the problem in all this is that they almost always comes true, this is no lie, this is no sudden excuse, but a sad and disturbing realization that there is nothing I can do to stop the coming downfall, atrophy and bane, you are my Eave, my better half, my savior, all I can do is hope that you will realize and come to my rescue
