Blooded Soaked Tears

as a lost soul wakes ashes lay around her as she looks up the sun has turned silver while the rain doesn't stop a memory floods back while her heart aches tears tremble down her face as a lullaby plays around her child hood comes to mind with the yelling echos through the walls around as the lullaby plays around her goes silent as she opens the door broken bottles lay on the floor her eyes look around her seeing a blade as she screams that could chill anyone's bones around as the silence finally breaks with shaking knees she lose her strength as her sanity finally breaks while the tears dry up that day a smile fades just like the wind with the same smell of ashes around her tears turns dry once more as she walks through a grave yard alone all around all that can be seen are crows other then a little boy with a twisted smile within sparkles in his eyes that faded just like her smile on that night as his laugh echoes around while the moonlight shines over them they finally fade like his sanity and smile leaving just a memory of ashes and screams after this night a curse uproots as the girls parents wake one night to see around them silver fire around all they can smell are ashes and blood they survive this night but in the morning lays their daughters body covered in cuts but she wasn't scared on her face their was a twisted smile of satisfaction as they wonder this night what went wrong

Cherry Blossom Melody

as the moon turns scarlet cherry blossoms fall like rain with the sound of a lullaby a tear trickles down as the maiden sings her song with each note that plays her voice fills in the silence as all who hears her sleep away within sweet dreams with a tear and a smile on this night as her song is heard within the light from scarlet moon shining as her fingers strung each string the harp becomes a part of her as it sounds like an choir of angels while only one sits beside her a lonely boy that never smiles with a smile on his face as tears trickle down his cheek to his mind he try's to find the words so he can describe this night and the maiden who song stole his heart and soul every time the image of a rose comes to him to explain the light of the moon shining reflecting in her blue eyes as she sang as he falls asleep on her lap just smiling the maiden falls asleep as the raven perch's on the cherry blossom tree the maiden and the boy sleep in peace as her song echo's in the distance smiles didn't fade as cherry blossoms fell as the raven flew away the harp finally stopped within silence came no one was awoken as the maiden and the boy slept under the cherry blossom tree that night

Crystal Nightmare

on a frost lit night a moon shines bright as a lost little girl wonders not knowing where she is or how she got there this night within this frozen crystal forest where around lays howls and hoots from nearby owls from the corner of her eye she sees a raven with white feathers that look like a spectral fiend more than a ghostly raven from afar as he flutters his wings and lands her shoulder she sees that he is far kinder than he looks as a requiem plays in the distance she can't stand to smile and dance to it as the moon light reflects off the crystal trees around looks like northern lights above but nearby she smells something that makes her freeze so scared like the last thing she remembers till now the smell of blood and decay that lays around as she sees a bird slowly dying covered in blood with a crystal shard stuck in its neck as she cry's golden tears tremble down her chest as she wakes up she realizes it was all a twisted dream at least that is what she thought in till next to her lays the silver raven on the bust of iris next to her on that night she finally snapped from this fear as her sanity breaks this is where the story ends

Frozen Crystal Abyss

within a frozen world a little girl lives alone lost within time itself in till one day to her surprise she comes across a silver raven his eyes as scarlet as blood but to her their beautiful as she smiles to his surprise he sings to her each night to help warm her heart each night from this cold timeless place trapped within a crystal castle filled with anything most would want as he wonders if she had a family but to afraid to ask at all one day she tells him a tale of a girl that survived a raid where everyone but her died that night with scarlet blood and flames all around as a lullaby played that invoked chaos her favorite lullaby the only one around as he hears it he loves it as well then he sees what happened in his eyes shocked and silent within a frozen world looking at a girl with tears trembling down just screaming calling for her brother to come as her life was turned to blood and ashes with one last act taking the crystal blade on the ground and cutting her own throat open leaving no survivors as it all makes sense to the silver raven after that the little girl is afraid that he will leave now but he decides to stay to keep her company till the end just to see her smile and shining eyes as they play and sing within the frozen world it is thought that they faded away all together but if you believe the legend told to children they lived their for eternity a little girl and the faithful silver raven by her side

Muses Song

within a starlight sky scarlet rose petals rain down as an angel sings the moon shine violet as it shines over the muses lake her lost soul awakes as she rises from the depths her eyes peer through looking as dark as the ravens feather the lake reflects the silver stars above hope beckons as the angel song plays the lullaby breaks the silence as the lost muse sings along with the words flows clearly as scarlet roses fall from above silver light shines bringing lost hope that once hidden shows tonight within the silver moon light resonates as the muse holds a scarlet rose looking above as memory flows through she sings before she sleeps once more as the fae and animals sleep around her lake she goes back to slumber once more the story goes as moonlight nights that happens once each 50 years the muse rises once more to sing she wonders if she will see the poet once more will the story end the night the poet returns but some think a new story will begin that night

Shattered Sanity

as a violin plays ghosts arise around within the morning mist crows lay in waiting around a silver tree as a boy sits silent scared and afraid as a ghostly violin plays tears trickle down his cheek as his smile fades away he looks up at the stars wondering if any are for him if he is just alone now other then the crows around as his tears stop falling his sanity slowly fly's away like the wings of a raven as dark as the midnight sky no where to be found within his broken eyes lays a million tears as the violin stops playing he sees dead bodies around covered in scarlet blood he shatters at the sight as insanity grasp his soul he starts to laugh at the sight while he sees a blood soaked blade he holds it to the moon with a twisted smile on his face his laugh echos within the valley as the violet moons light shines the crows fly away one by one just like that boys tears and sanity within crimson flames he burns turning to ashes like the rest the last thing to be heard that night was the twisted laugh of a shattered boy that ended his life that night when he shattered the sight and set the forest ablaze in crimson fire they say you can still hear his twisted laugh even his scared screams as tears trickle down the very moment his sanity shattered the story ended as the violin plays one last time as the mist fades a story goes you can see a ghost with a twisted smile some think he just takes a form of a boy each time but if the story is true he stays their waiting for the crows as he laughs his twisted laugh with tears slowly falling down

Starless Lullaby

a lake shimmers a tainted star shines within the forest noise shatters into silence as the sun sets down rose petals fall around over a unmarked grace as a music box plays from within the silver coffin like a spark of life awakening piercing through the silence as a little girls hears it as she into a grove of roses around her roses as red as scarlet the same color as her long hair as she looks up at the moon the lyrics to this lullaby comes as it resonates with her heart tears tremble down as she looks at the moon light lake with her emerald colored eyes she hymns the lullaby as it reaches to the end of the forest all the animals around fall asleep one by one as they hear her voice smiling as there nightmares fade away even on this starless nights the forests beauty shines bright as she falls asleep that night under the moon wolves gather to keep her safe as she sleeps peacefully on this starless night the night beauty is shown

Storm Requiem

within fury filled wind lays a banshees echo as she screams out this night thunder clashes around as lightning echos in the distances but as the sunlight fades this night a storm surrounds her this night around lays the smell of blood caught within the black wind around as she sings are last requiem all banshees in the distance weep as the last note plays her life ends leaving only a echo of her requiem with the storm gone the smell of blood stains the ground around lays only her ashes all that remains of her now is the echo of her requiem that plays on each blood moon night over where she sang her last song

The Lone Valkyrie

as a spear lays chipped and rusty as it rains this night on a forgotten Valkyries grave with each drop that falls down the sword never leaves it spot sturdy like the ones beneath it heart as a little boy sits down admiring it the spirit of a armored maiden appears the spirit tells him her name is Isabella he replies by saying his name is Adam on this night he listens to any of her tales as the first one starts his his shine like stars the first one starts on a silver grass meadow where she first tasted battle surprised at the sight as blades clashed and blood stained the roses with weak knees she stood up and grabbed the spear as it plunged in she didnt feel fear but her blood rushing nearby a valkyrie was passing by to her surprised six bandits lay dead around a little girl no less then seven covered in their blood not knowing how to react but she didnt let go off the spear gripping it like her own heart so she asked the women her name with just a smile the answer she got is my name is Joan and after that day she traveled and train along side Joan in till she was ready to go on her on but not soon after that day a tragedy struck she would die in the next battle she fought and she knew it but Isabella fought it and tuck down everyone around her and the villagers she saved that night dug this grave as Adam saw them putting flowers on it each night to respect the Valkyrie that protected them so long ago Adam made his house right next to Isabella's grave so that she could have a friend to talk to each day and this is where this story but a legend goes that when he passed away Adam and Isabella passed on where they spend their lives together in peace

Timeless Lullaby

by scarlet sky's time seems frozen in a haunting light a lullaby resonates from the strings of a silver violin a eclipse stands still when a voice breaks the silence the beasts wakes once more to see a world frozen in time as sounds echo through wind as it resonate a child laughs the sound unfreezes time up above a silver light shines as it looks like a illusion this night in till a young banshee with scarlet hair smiles along side a elve with black hair and a violin as they leave this night a story is born about star cross sisters that time freezes for so all can hear their lullaby each night and this is how this story begins and ends

Twilight Forest

as times collide a mirror shatters within it lies a place of harmony a forest lost in time where fairy's dance as wolves howl their songs under a violet moon this night a miracle happens a little girl barely age five as she stumbles this night right into the frozen forest the fairy queen greets her to her surprise both are smiling when she asks for her name the little girl says Annabel then she sings along this night with the fairy's and wolves then they lay stunned smiling when she sings a new song so beautiful each of them cry but with the truest smiles as the moonlight shines making them looking wonderful as the queen asks her this night if the little one would become princess she says yes with a smile on her face then the queen asks her why she said yes to her surprise she was a orphan and to her she just found her family among theses fairy's and wolves that is where this tale ends what happens after stays in the frozen forest

Unlikely Family

as dawn sways in the light lingers till it fades within the forest a small boy lays as he wakes with no memories he wonder how he ended up their but the moment he sees the wolves around he forgets all about it as he smiles somehow able to understand each one as they wake and gather around him all they see is a heartfelt smile but not all of them feel the same as the packs mistress finally wakes her smile is purer but her eyes exposes it that she wonders if the little boy ran here to get out of a troubled life to be with wolves or if he was just forgotten and abandoned soon after he grew up and the story goes that she bit him and he changed into them a new story starts as she feel in love with him so it is said that he stayed with him in till his dying breath it was found out that he was forgotten and abandoned left alone within the dark forest to wonder onward in till he came across a family that most would fear so with this the tale ends with a happy ending
