

Poetry Series

Nicole Watts
- poems -

Publication Date:

2007

Publisher:

Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Nicole Watts()

I love to figure skate. and i write poems as my life discovers to require them.

Death Calling You Home

Wake up screaming in the middle of the night,
You can't catch your breath.
You are falling and you have lost your sight,
Only one thing will keep away death.

Voices are calling you home,
But you resist, continuing to scream.
You are so close to that phone,
You pause and all of it was just a dream.

Nicole Watts

Love Of My Life

His name shall remain unnamed,
His laugh will always stay the same,
His smile will continue to pull me in
If i leave him now it will be a sin.

I love him so much
And I will always miss his sweet touch.
I continue to cry
When I was the one to say, Good-bye.

Nicole Watts