

Classic Poetry Series

Sheikh Fazlul Karim
- poems -

Publication Date:

2012

Publisher:

Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Sheikh Fazlul Karim(1882 – 28 September 1936)

Sheikh Fazlul Karim or Fazlul Karim Sahityabisharad (Fazlul Karim the Expert on Literature), was a Bangladeshi poet and writer.

Karim, Sheikh Fazlul was born in the village of Kakina in Rangpur district. Fazlul Karim began work in a jute mill at the age of nineteen. After working there for seven years, he left to start a printing press named Sahabia Printing Works. From here he published the journal Basana, for about two years.

Fazlul Karim wrote his first book at the age of eleven, entitled 'Sarol Paddo Bikash'. From this point on, the remainder of his life was devoted to literature. He was famous for both his prose and edited the monthly BASANA. Fazlul Karim's writing is marked by a profound simplicity. He worked for Hindu-Muslim friendship. Lalmonir hat, Bangladesh. His literary works have been included in school curriculum, in both secondary and higher secondary Bengali Literature in Bangladesh.

He was acceptable to all communities for his broad and objective literary attitude. In 1919 the Nadia Sahitya Sabha awarded him the title 'Sahitya Visharad' and the title of 'Kavya Ratnakar' in 1922. He was also venerated by the title 'Niti Bhusan'.

Shorgo O Norok

Sheikh Fazlul Karim

Tulona

Sheikh Fazlul Karim