

Poetry Series

Takiya Marcano
- poems -

Publication Date:
2014

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Takiya Marcano()

One Day

One day I'll see you again and pass you straight because I wouldn't care anymore

One day I hope you feel like how I felt but just a little more

One day I hope to see you on your knees begging for mercy from her

And I know it'll happen just a matter of time because it always has karma

And am laughing at myself 'cause it's funny how the person you'll die for is the one that's killing you

And the person you'll take a bullet for is the one pulling the trigger

The more you beg for them is the more they run away

And the more they cheat on you is the more your still going to stay

And am laughing now but before I cry every night

Even though sometimes you were near me it felt like you're out of sight

You broke me and what's broken can't be fixed

If only I had knew everything you said was from a bag of tricks

Blinded by the idea of love my eyes were deceived now you have my heart and the question is how can it be retrieve?

So one day I hope I'll see you again and pass you straight because I wouldn't care anymore

One day I hope all my love for you would walk out the door.

Takiya Marcano