

Poetry Series

zhiqing wei
- poems -

Publication Date:

2012

Publisher:

Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

zhiqing wei()

Dangerous Thoughts

Dangerous thoughts hide in the flowers

His sword waiting for a snake

The snake cannot hold the weapon

Gifts it to a man

The man is king, the man is evil

zhiqing wei

Do Not Blame Me

I am sing what I'm sing
Do not blame me for nothing

zhiqing wei

The Pain

A lover's kiss in the bloom
Shed the man of gloom
The mist fades away
Disappear into the forest of unknown
Leaves the clearness alone
But, the thunder with jealousy
Brings a cold rain
Freeze the man with pain

zhiqing wei

Traveler

Traveler, Traveler
You've always been travelling forward
When do you come home

He says, I walk around the earth
after a loop
I'll be home

zhiqing wei

With A Song

A naked boy on the ground with no shy
The sky stares at him with no shame
I peer at a bird with a little sorrow
The bird flies away with a song

zhiqing wei