Lured

I'm lured to love by a single smile of illumination of a queen glowing like a stream that mirrors the moon at night,

I'm covered by tranquility like to wallow and feel the touch of the cold grass and gravels beneath the morning blue sky,

I'm trapped in your love gleam like in the night sky to be held by the flare of beauty inflaming around the celestial,

I'm Surrounded by the thoughts of this atypical alluring queen fascinated by the limbic system within me,

Make me the steward to calm the rapid Battling beat within the castle of your cardiovascular system,

Persevere to alleviate my quiver of love infliction by brightening my heart with your love glamor like the sun off the surface in every angle of reflection,

Be my course and I'll be your source.
