I'm just a girl learning the ins and outs of life and love.

Answers

Ailing body, heart, and mind
Make the answers hard to find
You look, and look, and look, and look
But the answers aren't in a book
Hiding from the naked eye
The answers all lay inside
Search a little deeper for me
Then you'll see it all clearly
Although it's difficult right now
I promise they are screaming loud
Breaking out to get to you
Answers, just as bad as the flu
You drink them in, One, Two, Three None of the answers stream from me
I'll try to stop it if I can Just promise me you'll be a man
I know it crushed all of our old toys
But those were all for little boys
Screaming through the night so dark
The evil dog lets out a bark
It reaches all the way down your spine
And just like that you're feeling fine
For if you think for a minute or two You'll see the answers were inside of you.

Baby, It's Fact

Those words don't mean as much as they used to
Not that we say them anymore
I know how you feel from your actions
But I just can't always be sure

You seem so happy we're together
But we hide it all from the world
What good is a love undercover
When no one knows I'm your girl

Baby I'm in so deep for you
You have something I don't wanna lose
But this shit we're doing is stupid
And I'm starting to feel kind of used

You hold a double standard
It's different for me than for you
You can flirt and say sexy things
But if I do it, I'm doomed

I want you to know that I love you
My feelings will never change
But our relationship is different
It's really kind of strange

I'm tired of living behind a veil
Where life is two different fights
My parents, my job, my priorities
And wanting to be in your life

I want to scream it out loud
I don't care how they react
It's OUR life we're living
Baby, That's a fact

Bearer Of Bad News

Once again I've placed myself
In a hard place to stay
I want to be here for them
But I want to get away
Too many thoughts are swarming
Through my tired brain
If I stay here I'm a zombie
I have to break the chain
So here I come to tell you
As the bearer of bad news
You ask me for some details
But I honestly have no clue
I just know I cannot stay here
Enveloped in all this pain
And I know that in the long run
I'll lose more than I'll gain
So this is my apology
My never ending sigh
I'm leaving here for now
Without a real goodbye.

Amy Lynn

Best Friend

I know this is hard for you
I just didn't give a damn
I found my feelings more important
But that's not how I am
I really care about you deep inside
I wish you didn't hurt so bad.
I want to be able to have my cake..
But if I eat it what do I have?
You're like the best friend I've made
No matter my choice, you're the same
I've loved and lied, and I have left
And I never took the blame.
How do you do this?
How can you cope with the pain?
Why don't you ever leave me,
When all I bring is rain?

Amy Lynn

Broken Promises

You're just another broken promise
You make another rainy day
I can hardly remember when
You would take all that away
You used to make me laugh
Make me happy, add a smile
Now you make me wanna cry
I'm hiding like a child

It's not fair to me
That you can break your promises
It's not right to be Another cloud in my world of grey
I wish you could see
The damage you created here
I have to leave
There's nothing left that you can say

You're just another empty bottle
You're adding to my world of pain
Another sleepless night I find
As I am trying to break away
You're just another hurtful boy to add
Into my broken heart
I thought i loved you but I was wrong
You betrayed me from the start!

Amy Lynn

Don'T Ask, Don'T Tell

Don't ask what's wrong
Don't ask why I'm crying
I'm alone here waiting
Where i have been for so long

Waiting to be rescued
Waiting for you to say sorry
It's begun to rain and it's getting dark
I know a storm is brewing

You know I'm head over heels for you
So why can't I have friends?
You have so many, fake or not
But I have so few, only 3 or 4

And you despise them all
How fair is that? I never get out
I'm always the third wheel
I want to be free, have some fun

But you'll get mad, you always do
So, don't worry about me
The tears will subside
Don't ask me what's my problem...

And I won't tell you that it's you.

Amy Lynn

Dreams About You

The dreams I have about you, I rarely understand
I feel like little Alice, lost in wonderland
But all the rabbit tells me, Is not he has to go
Just that you are here, But I already know

The more I think about you, The less I seem to care
About the pain inside, I'm hiding under there
Just below my laugh, And my little smile
You made them disappear, For just a little while

Barely long enough to notice, hardly long enough to see
The person who was hiding, scared, broken, little me
And I long so just to see you, let you hold my heart
But then again I realize, you've held it from the start.

Amy Lynn

Go On Then, Get Out

I thought the rain outside would stop you
I thought the tears I cried would slow you down
I guess the only thing that matters now
Is you don't want to be around

But I didn't tell you not to go
I didn't say you were a cheater
All I said was it was sketchy
That I'd be at work when you go see her

I want to know why I'm not good enough
Why I don't deserve your love
It'd be different if it didn't repeat
But I know, it always does

I thought you would be different
I thought you had finally learned
But I saw what you are hiding now
And I promise that it burned

And there's a hole in my heart you can't patch
An ache in my soul that won't stop
And I know that you think it gets better
It won't get better for me 'til I drop

So go ahead and storm out in a rage
Leave me here wondering what to do
Go meet up with the girl you have plans with
I hope she walks all over you.

Amy Lynn

Going Down

I've gone astray, far from the path you set for me
I've been destructive, burning bridges all the way
But I can't undo, all the bad things I have done
And I can't win, all these fights I have today

But I can try, And I can dream these things
And on my route, I can detour and change the path
But what I want, And all the things I need They're so small, when compared to what I have

I shouldn't cry, I should be happy at the least
I have great friends, And all the love I could ever need
But someone calls, And their voice it taunts
And it makes me fall, And commit bad deeds

So I'll go away, far from the destination planned for me
I'll hide away, until I lose my sanity
And I'll destroy, all the love you had for me
And you'll learn, To trust the truth, not what you see.

Amy Lynn

Hiding Inside

Every time you yell at me
With every lie you tell
You break a piece of light away
And darkness starts to swell
Every time you glare my way
With every promise that you break
I start to fall back out of love
And it's more than I can take.
But you can't see the hidden tears
This bleeding in my heart
All you see is what you want
And that's not me so far
I'm sorry I don't play guitar
Or have the coolest hair
That doesn't mean to sneak and flirt
With that girl over there
I don't care if it's innocent
Or all part of some game
My heart is breaking silently
Unleashing hatred I can't tame
I want so bad to tell you
To let you see the pain
But you'll run and hide from everything
And I'll be alone again.

Amy Lynn

I Have None

I found the door, but I lost the keys
I have no strength, left inside of me
I have no crutch, no place to lean
No where to hide, when the world gets mean.

No more love, to fill my heart
Only these tears, to fill my eyes
I have no smiles, to hide the pain
And no beginnings, for this goodbye.

Amy Lynn

I Knew

I knew it was stupid, knew it was wrong
I knew he'd still hurt me, all along
His intentions were pure, have been from the start
But still he has left me, all alone in the dark
I wanted to love him, to show him I care
But how can I do that, if he just isn't there?

Amy Lynn

Icy Or Not?

Every time I run from you
I also run from the truth
I don't know what I'm supposed to do
How should I live out my youth

If I watched it once
I've watched it twice
These roads I'm on
Are covered in ice

I slip and fall
I cry for days
I lose it all
In a matter of ways

And in this poem
This wonderful rhyme
I lose all connections
All feeling of time

So Ill just take a stand
And get out of the race
I'll do my best to stay
In this forbidden place

But now the road is melting Defrosting, if you will
My breath's no longer visible
It's easy to stand still

Soon I'll be uncomfortable
For soon it will be hot
I'll pray for ice in this heat
And everything there's not

No longer do you guide me
No longer hold my hand
I'm so sad and lonely
My feet warm in the sand

The iciness has left me
A warmth is in it's place
But in this crowd I'm looking
For your beautiful face

I find it in a window
I'm too late cause you've moved on
The iciness refills me
My chance has come and gone

The sand has changed
It's turned to snow
I lost the sun
And its warm glow

I realize now
As I'm filled with sorrow
For us there is
No more tomorrow.

If I Wrote You A Poem

If I wrote you a poem today
Would you read it or throw it away?
Would you know it was from the heart
Or be speechless with no place to start?
Would you take it all wrong
Or think that it was way too long?
Too many words to tell how I think
Never knowing when I'm on the brink
Edging on sadness, anger and hate
Not ready to win this everlasting debate
If I wrote you a poem right now
Would you read it or try to avoid it somehow?
Would you decide you don't have the time
To get lost in a page with a rhyme?
Or would you bite your tongue and sit?
Take a time out for a bit
To let me know you care
And that you'll always be there
If I wrote you a poem today
I know you'd read it right away.

Amy Lynn

Kmc

You threw it all away
You tossed it out the door
You never looked back
At me breaking on the floor
I called you for help
When I needed support
But the last time that we talked
The conversation was cut short
I was there for you
When you couldn't decide
You said that was 'different'
That I should say 'goodbye'
I wanted to do that
So we could still be friends
But real friends don't make choices
They're there until the end
So no, we haven't spoken in weeks
And you missed my birthday
There is nothing left to harbor
I've got nothing left to say
I still love you KMC
And I know I always will
I wish that I could talk to you
To see if you love me still..

Love's Lesson

It's like a bullet through my heart to see you standing here tonight
The life draining from your face as I recall to you the fight
And you know how it will end the story coming from my voice
How she had to be the one and she didn't have a choice
So, you cannot go back home until we know the area is clear
I'm sorry to bear this news
I know you don't wanna hear
But at least you didn't see her strewn about the floor
The weapon by the bed frame, her broken smile by the door
We swear we'll find the killer but for now you need to rest
It's too late to be out wandering please do as I request
Now I know this isn't easy especially for you
We know how much you loved her and what this put you through But you need to stop and think who the killer really was
It wasn't a simple person, see the killer was your love
It smothered her to pieces inside she was breaking down Until she couldn't stand it and her smile became a frown
And while there were nicer ways to do it she had her mind set on this one Because the last thing that you fought about was that stupid gun
You said it was for protection, to keep you safe at night
She thought maybe this way, you'd know that she was right

But it's too late to fix it, as the body's wheeled away
Your loved one's proved her point, and you'll never be the same
Just remember what she taught you, and treat each day as your last
So next time you're in love, you won't lose it way too fast.

October Third

No matter what happens
I'll never forget
And I know when I'm old
I'll never regret
Homecoming night
All alone in the room
Together we sat
Our hearts made the tune

I was scared
I was dumb
You kissed me
I went numb
I wanted you
You wanted me
Blinded by lust
We just couldn't see

I was learning
As you taught me
20 seconds
My mind fought me
You begged please
I said no
It wasn't bad
But I didn't know

As we lay
In each other's heat
Our bodies shivered
On top of the sheet
It started to get hot
And we started to sweat
And you told me things
That I just didn't get

But it was okay
Or so you said
As we lay there

On the guest bed
I still felt so dumb
Like it was all wrong
But you liked the feeling
You got all along

But then they came home
And we were found out
I ran to the bathroom
And I wanted to shout
I felt so dumb
As I searched all around
For something that I Never even found

But I couldn't speak
Couldn't find not a word
To explain how I felt
On October third

Picture Of Us

Just found a picture of us
It took my breath away
I can't believe how much has changed
How far I've gone astray
Back when they took it
I was so in love with you
That was when it was still fresh
The relationship was new

But we broke apart slowly
So far from where we start
That happiness is shattered
Just like our broken hearts
And to see our smiling faces
Captured that warm fall day
Makes me think of the past
And how I forgot to say

That I really, really love you
And I know I always will
But the happiness is gone for us
Hasn't returned and never will.

Amy Lynn

Shattered

When I thought it was all over
Love had finally gotten it's way
You decided to return
To take all the darkness away
But then you became ruthless
And shattered my hopes into dust
One day you told me you loved me
I found out then it was lust
So I retreated from the world
To hide the shame in my mind
So if you come back to haunt me
Emptiness is what you'll find

Amy Lynn

So Alone

Another day is going by Dragging my heels on the concrete
Walking so fast just to think
And I end up at your street
What would it take to walk to your door?
What would I say if you answered?
Why is the curb so menacing?
Why do I harbour all this hurt?
This day is pulling to a close
It's time for me to get home
How am I supposed to go on
When I feel so alone?

Amy Lynn

That Place

Every day is my reminder
Of what I have done wrong
And I know soon you will find her
And she'll be your song
But I can't stand to see it happen
When I know how I feel
I'm lost in an old daydream
That I wish would be real

And as these other people hurt you
I just want to scream so loud
When I see what they do
I just wish they remain unfound
But you'll do what you want
I just hope that it is worth it
And I'll close my eyes and go
To the one place everything is perfect ;

Amy Lynn

The Break Up

I don't want to know you, I don't want to hold your hand.
I thought you would be different, I thought you were a man.
All you are is a child, an immature little boy
You run around here laughing, but its my heart that you destroy.
And it kills me that I've done this, I went behind your back
I felt the warmth of a different love, I pushed you off the track
And to think I wanted more, I wanted to feel something brand new I wanted to fall head over heels, and feel it just for you.
And I long so just to tell you, but I fear I'll make myself cry
So instead I'm writing this poem, and in a way this is goodbye

Amy Lynn

You

You were the one that I trusted
The only one who was always there
You were the one that I needed
The only one I'd never share

But then you had to ruin this
And take my love for granted
And you had to scar my heart
Leaving seeds unplanted

You were the one I believed in
The only one that would never lie
You were the one I could confide in
The only one that didn't say goodbye
