

Poetry Series

Ashley Williams
- poems -

Publication Date:
2007

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Ashley Willams(april 7 1988)

i am different now

Coming Back To You

I still remember all the time you've hurt me and made me cry
But i still love you I know you moved on without me
But i still want a chance with you Because i miss you beside me
I remember when you hugged me and said i will love you forever
When it was never

Ashley Willams

Dark Room

i'm broken in the inside and dead in my thoughts everything i once wanted torn in to pieces my world is fadeing to black here in my cold heart i wish i could just get away to stay here in this black room i call my home if you only knew me for once but you say you do but i dont think so so here is what i am take me or not this is what i'm always will be

Ashley Willams

Dreaming Of Her

I can't sleep without dreaming of you (but you dont feel the same) i keep thinking of a happy ending (but thing are not the same) Don't try to hind the way you feel (in your dreams are nightmares) after i've cryed for you to love me again (but i was the one you could have had)
I guess she made you happy (all i want was to love you) i guess you found your way without me (after all i know)

I WAS NEVER THE ONE TO OPEN UP YOUR EYES
I LOVE THE DARKNESS WITHOUT YOU! ! ! ! !

Ashley Willams

I Found Happyness

Ive found happyness in my religion and my life personally i love to live all of my dark days are gone forever my religion defines who i am i am a Muslim and my religion is Islam.

i am a different person now my whole life has changed this will be my last poem forever

Ashley Willams