My Beautiful Daughter

I felt my life began the day she was born My beautiful little girl...the day i found out i was pregnant with her i cried Of shock because i didnt think i could have children
As she grew in my belly, it was a feeling of love i could not explain from That day on i knew my life would change, as she grew bigger my belly Did too. it became harder to do common things around the house or to even walk.
All throughout my pregnancy i didnt find out what the sex of my baby Was because its feet were crossed in my ribs
She was a suprise!
The pain that followed being induced was EXTREMELY! pianful NO DRUGS comepletely natural, she was a natural birth.
When the doctor told me i had a girl...i cried! of excitment...she was so BEAUTIFUL...my little Aryona Sue Mommy loves you!
