

Poetry Series

Brittney Griffin
- poems -

Publication Date:
2006

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Brittney Griffin(January 7,1989)

Brittney Griffin has been a poet for the past 3 years. She is a student at Northern Kentucky University. Poetry to her is more than rhyming words, but a way to escape fear and let your real feelings come out through pen and paper. She hopes to on day write several books showing her talent in writing poetry as well as plays.

A Child's Plea

Mommy please don't make daddy mad,
because it's not fair to me.
He acts real wild and crazy,
especially when you can not see.
Because I'm small,
and he's real tall,
I walk around in fear.
For what he just might do,
when you can't see or hear.
I'm scared when he creeps up on me at night,
then when we are out of sight.
He puts his hands on me,
when I can't put up the fight.
I guess he'll think that I'll forget,
so he'll never quit.
And now when he comes around,
I start to feel real sick.
And I'm afraid of my room,
because of what he might do.
And I see all the tears you cry,
When I try to tell you.
Mommy don't cry,
He can leave,
You'll always have me.
And in life sometimes,
Your kids are all you really need.
But mommy please,
please don't wait,
until it's way to late.
Then you'll have to deal with the fact,
that its your fault my life was put at stake.
For men will come,
and so will their love.
And just like it came it will go.
But if you wait on me,
In time.
Our love.
Will grow.

Brittney Griffin

Judgement

Dear God,
What am i to do?
I'm judged by others while still i await the day to be judged by you.
I know your judgement is the only one that counts,
So i try to keep the demonds out of my house.
But somehow they find a whole or a crack,
and surely but easily find a way back.
To the place where my head lays.
The same spot that on my knees i pray.
That you heal my body and capture my soul.
And send me blessings so that everyone will know.
That you are the one and only that shall ever judge my life.
So never ever shall i worry about being judged twice.
But stand and await to start my new life standing beside you as the sun shines bright.
AMEN

Brittney Griffin

Love Me Now

Love Me Now

Even though I haven't always been the one,
that you thought you could love.

Love Me Now

Before my hair turns grey,
and I waste away.

Love Me Now

For who knows what the morning will bring.
And we both know that forever,
we won't be the same.

Love Me Now

And we will look to see brighter days.
Filled with sunshine,
and less rain.

No sorrows.

No pains.

No put-downs.

No mistakes.

Just Love Me Now.

Brittney Griffin

Over-Ride

Around you sometimes I change the real me.
I smile alot,
but not too much.
I joke alot,
but not too much.
My hearts racing,
I can't think straight.
My feelings are in over-ride.
Want to touch you first,
but scared of what you might be thinking.
I want to feel you,
or at least your touch.
I don't call this feeling lust.
But i need you so much.
Anticipating your next move,
the decision is all up to you.
Needing to feel love.
But I've never felt it like this before.
My heart is sore,
as if it was torn.
But i've been waiting for this kind of love anyways.
Only a little pain is what my heart can sustain.
Feelings like these are hard to find now a days.
I'm sort of in a daze.
Your love has me hypmotized.
I believe my love is in Over-Ride.

Brittney Griffin