

Poetry Series

Damian Spriggs
- poems -

Publication Date:
2012

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Damian Spriggs(July 27 1996)

Who I am is simple. I'm just another misunderstood teen with a need to be heard. I believe that everybody in this world deserves a voice in this world and through my poetry I speak out about my life as a teen growing up in today's rough standards. It's not easy. But what can you say, nobody ever said that life was easy.

1000 Feet

One Thousand feet i've fallen for you
But do you even care
I've tried my best, intentions true
And stil has not been fair

One Thousand feet, bounding for you
And yet i still press on
My love for you, It still holds ture
But my hope is almost gone

One Thousand chance I've given you
And even still you fail
Here I say, you know it's true
Love lost without a trail

One Thousand step to get to you
Seems an awful long way
Until I get up, and gain the pride
To try another day

Damian Spriggs

Encounter

Knees weak

Mouth Dry

Stomach in

Chest High

Bodies meet

Hearts race

For your touch

For your taste

A magical feeling

So unique

Toe to toe

Cheek to cheek

Together as one

You keep me sane

Together forever

And forever remain

Damian Spriggs

In The Moment

A feeling like no other
A way to break the mold
Unshelling from my inner self
My story must be told

Here, I watch you grin at me
And much to my surprise
Your body seems but equally matched
To the fire in your eyes

Your figure presses up to mine
And the situation flips
Nothing can compare you see
To the soft touch of your lips

Now the sky is getting dark
It's time to say goodbye
I want so bad to hold onto you
But our time tonight grows nie

And even the the bond of time
Has seemingly broke us apart
I watch her go, so gracefully
The other half of my heart

Damian Spriggs

Innocence

Clear your mind, breathe deep, Now realise who you are Search for it up close, and search for it afar
Your innocent, individual, but most importantly your you
This world will push you till the end, but until your chance stay true

Follow your heart, when your brain over thinks
And follow your gut, as fast as you blink
When faced with a choice and you have to choose i hope you'll choose to win, and never to lose

Be who you are, not who they want to be
Dont be afraid, for now to break free
Show them a side, thats never been seen
Stand from the crowd and show how you gleam

Clear your mind, breathe deep, now realise who you'll be Don't be just another one for all the rest to see
And when the innocence around you begins to fade away
Stay true to yourself and remain another day

Damian Spriggs

Missed Opportunity

A shimmer of hope
Amid the dark night
Passed by once more
And fades out of sight

Once more I fall victim
To this desolate trend
But without a beginning
Can their still be an end

And what if that shimmer
Was again, never seem
And only came out
At night in my dreams

Then dreams would be life
And life would be dreams
I'd breathe just to chace it
And oh how it gleams

I reach out to grab it
But never hold on
Their is no point in trying
When all hope is gone

A shimmer of hope
For now fades away
Until I build the pride
To try another day

Damian Spriggs

On The Inside

When it comes to beauty
She knows what it's about
Because she has all the qualities
I couldn't live without

She always knows the perfect way
To make my crack a smile
Her angelic grace and flawless charm
Keep me laughing all the while

And when it comes to loving me
She knows just where to start
She always knows the perfect way
To melt away my heart

I love that perfect feeling
To know she's always mine
As every tender kiss
Is sending shivers up my spine

Still when it comes to beauty
She knows what it's about
Because beauty is a virtue
On the inside, not the out

Damian Spriggs

Rust

Our love is like a broken bridge
Decaying down without repair
Cracking wood grows stiff and cold
Though increasing amount of wear

What was once a perfect structure
In a simpler thriving form
When the decks were lived with people
And a following to keep them warm

Perfectly painted framing
Taking years of pain and scorn
Every hole in that bitter bridge
Is a hole in my heart you've torn

Heavy winds, soon tear away
Any of the hope left here
A final tear had splashed below
Knowing now the end is near

Finally all strength had gone
As nature will hold true
Tender wood has crashed below
Showing all you've put me through

A picture of that broken bridge becomes an upward growing trend
If so much good had come of you
Why must it feel so cold in the end

Damian Spriggs

Slip Away

Back then you and I
Were never apart
We were like twins
Conjoined at the heart

We shared the same life
We breathed the same air
We felt the same worries
You showed me you care

To sum it all up
The best of best friends
But we never imagined
Perfection could end

But when it came time
For you to go free
The lump in my throat
Kept the words inside me

And so it remains
Two souls are left broken
Neither utters the words
Forever unspoken

Damian Spriggs

The Image

You are an Image
A tattoo inked on my brain
What was once there of you
Will always remain

Damian Spriggs

Together

Seemingly different, And beautifully pure
And all of the qualities, Continue to lure

Me, to the sight of your angelic grace
Crafted with love, From your toes to your face

I want now to grasp you, I yearn to hang on Never seeing the sight, Of you to be gone

Never before imagined, But a bond now runs deep
We are still the same people, With a bond now to keep

Damian Spriggs