

Poetry Series

Daphne Osman
- poems -

Publication Date:
2007

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Daphne Osman()

I am a young girl still in school. I have always dreamed of seeing my work on the internet. Then I found this site and could not resist joining. Thus, I am able to show what I can do in writing poems. My mom has always loved my poems and has always spent her time to read what I wrote. I hope that she will always read my writing.

As for everyone else who likes to spend their time reading beautifully woven lines, enjoy what I write if you like my style. If not, don't feel bad. Everyone has different likes in writing and I can't change anyone's mind.

You are welcome to comment on my poems and I accept criticism as well as compliments and suggestions. Please do not hesitate in saying something. Go ahead and type away because I am open to what you have to say.

Birds' Eye

What we see if we flew?

Would we see lines as rivers?

Would we see people and animals?

Would there be details to the mountains, rivers and streams?

I say that we can fly.

And we will see what we want to see.

Just close your eyes and let your mind wander.

You will see what you would see from a birds' eye view.

Daphne Osman