

Poetry Series

DONOVAN WRIGHT
- poems -

Publication Date:
2006

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

DONOVAN WRIGHT(5 SEPTEMBER 1967)

Donovan Wright currently writing his dissertation for an Ed.D. in Instructional Technology and Distance Education he received his M.S. in the same subject area, from Nova Southeastern University of Ft. Lauderdale Florida, B.T. and a B.S. in Aircraft Maintenance and Aircraft Maintenance Management from College of Aeronautics, La Guardia Airport New York. He is currently an active duty soldier with the US Army.

How Should You Lead?

How should you lead?

When around you see, the same old breed

I ask myself this question, do they think their attitudes are fine

When I see leadership on a constant decline

Leadership these days, is so much about me

Why not the people around you see

Leadership should be an example

And most importantly leaders, about the people

What is a leader without the LEAD?

Without whom leadership is DEAD

Where did those examples of leaders go, Gandhi and Luther

Are these examples lost forever?

DONOVAN WRIGHT

My Share Of Wisdom

Imbedded in the hearts of men is the view that to be happy is to be rich.
But to me happiness is love and purity of hearts, this is happiness, ask yourself which.

It is often accepted that money and the vain things of life comes before the love of our fellow man.

Sometimes a husband cherishes his money, car and in fact he overlooks his family and loving his woman.

Silver and gold, not forgetting the riches men value in life, will vanish away, and true love and devotion will never decay.

The love GOD has for us has always been the same and be assured it will never stray.

Stand up; be a man realizing that what you are is in you and not in the world.

And with this in mind be willing to submit yourself to GOD and then to man in love, pure as it will be if not shared with the vain things of life.

DONOVAN WRIGHT

That Day

To everything there is a beginning
For that once per year we keep longing

Every day in the sky we see the cloud
Let your life be worth saying at that time I am proud

As a seed in the depth of the earth we sowed
Day by day we watched as it grew, it's everlasting beauty showed

You are that example of love, caring, sharing, what sensitivity
An outstanding monument there year to year as proof of GOD's creativity

To everything there is a time we view them in the past
Here is to hoping that this special day will not be the last

DONOVAN WRIGHT

The Army

What is the Army?

Was it instituted to drive people mad and crazy?

Or is it there to secure the well being of the people of this country

It all starts with Basic Training

Through Hardships and rough roads we get the meaning

Yet this builds mental and physical endurance

Confident when we tackle our tasks, success will be an assurance

They put us down in the Front Leaning Rest

To build stature so we can pass the test

Everyday in the morn we rise

To see the rising sun, the beauty we ignored to realize

All dressed up for the morning drill

The joy and laughter fades as we are still

All above us get their due respect

Their skill and knowledge makes them select

Will the Army for a lifetime yet prevail?

So peace and equality in the World may avail.....

DONOVAN WRIGHT