The Last Moment

The time has reached me
My mortal life is now
Going behind the curtains of time
My mind, the diary of my life
For the last time opens to me

Yes the end of my life
The end of my cache life
The last minute I feel, I wish
To write my life in a page

But I feel the pages in front of me
Not enough to write my life
I feel that darkness spreading
All over me as the vision fades

I can hear the sound, the buzz
That cuts off the silence around me
The last minute I wish to live
I wish to live, to live in this world

The sound, the buzz, it slows down and slows down that silence spreads
The life started, many years passed
Each moment I live my life as

I lived in the world to defeat him
The death who has come to me
As he reaches to me I feared for a second
But my heart became bold

And my eyes became bright and
With a smile I welcomed him.....
