

Poetry Series

hannah mccartney
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

hannah mccartney()

!! Love Struck! !

we were in love
you were my heart
i gave you the key
you made it a dart
i was your target
you often threw it
it hit me so hard
i barely knew it
now i cry alone
with no one to hold
my heart so cold
but my body so bold
i used to have bruises
but now they all fade
not like the lies
that you often made

hannah mccartney

Look's Don'T Matter All The Time

i was yur girl
but you made me hurl
it hurt me so bad to say yur a fag
but i might just love you for the things that you do i just love the way that you make my day but you'll have to pay for making me say that i might just love you: D

hannah mccartney