

Poetry Series

Hera Deep
- poems -

Publication Date:
2013

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Hera Deep(22 July 1994)

Inspired by harsh reality and bitter life my poems are a gateway into my deep thoughts, a window into my soul that only a few have grown enough height to peek through.

Actions Of Depression

Every night
I fade into the darkness and camouflage in the silence
Engulfed by the shadows
Soul torn apart by the tears I caused when I doubled my sweet lavos

I am only Human
By the False promises heart is wounded
I have changed to an animal seeking revenge and acceptance at the same time
No longer a Woman
I reduce the pain by giving my love to two men

What have I become?
Is this what I am now
A crying infant in an adult's body
Who confuses love with the sensation of being horny
'At least I don't do it for money'
Words that play in my mind when the bedroom doors are open and I am lonely
Naked he may have saw me
But my heart is dressed in all colors of pain and even glowing

These are just lifeless acts my heart is not in it
Place your hand on my chest, can you feel it?
My face plain and soul chained to pain
Looking for excuses, Where can I shift the blame

I'm not alive
I'm not dead
I'm just sad
Depressed, Yes

I breathe death
and live sadness
all my actions are just temporary madness

Its a shame
Misunderstood
I know when Im gone

One of you will say.. I wish I knew

Hera Deep

Don'T Go

As my nostrils dilated and I inhaled your every scent
My heart pounding and sounding like it was counting
The amount of minutes you held me
Time stood still as I was lost in your dreamy eyes
Trying to find a way to walk away
What was I to say?
You don't have to go
My cheeks felt cold and I was numb to even notice the tears that had rolled
You don't have to go
I will be good this time
I'm sorry I'm a Monster..
Misunderstood and alone..
The pains of the earth have gotten me old
Don't go I can change
I will be good this time
I don't want anyone else
I only fought to try bring you near
But it turns out I was just like a Monstrous Bear
Don't go I still care

10 October '13

Hera Deep

I Was Foolish

I loved you then
Back then when....
Your actions were sincere

I was foolish
Such Nonsense of Constant Wrongness
I though you were making love to my heart
You lied and said we would never part

You left my heart raped and naked
I thought you were real but all you did was fake it
I was foolish
Love is nonsense

I constantly dream of you
How could an angel grow horns so quickly
My eyes grow weak and sickly
I want you near me and again I want you far.. Baby

Even though I can hear every crash as my heart breaks
Every loud thud as my heart shakes
Even though I still yearn for you..
I was foolish to believe such nonsense

10 October '13

Hera Deep