Rather than lectures in class rooms.

are The Old Wise?

Wisdom grows with the age, said some wise men.
Old people are now bigger narcissists,
Hyper sensitive and demands to be heard.
Education must have stiffened their ego.

Lesbian and gays necessarily
Have sex in 69 positions.
Lesbian tongues works as male organs
And mouths of gays, as female organs.
Heterosexual too find a thrill
In having sex in 69 position,
Unlike the usual pq position,
As only there a feeling surrender
Is experienced by both partners.

A Bad Guy

Decent women married gentlemen,
And still shivers to be held by a bad man,
Who alone could be naughty in bed.

A Bad Match

What is that your woman wants?
What does she look for in a man?
Even Sigmund Freud was helpless.
Man must be rich, successful, loving,
Caring, sensitive, ambitious,
Daring, providing and intelligent.
Beside these or more than these,
She wants to sway on who she gets
And next to it, to have her way.
Man and woman, famous, are a bad match.

A Bearing Tree

On hearing her say she loved me,
I felt like a thousand watts bulb
When all she meant in saying it
Was that a bearing tree is sought.

A Beauty Likes A Fool

Wise men know what monsters
The beauty queens could make them.
Fools only are fit to beauties
And could be as hen pecked.

A Beauty Queen

A beauty queen is the one who loves with a stone heart, treats men as slave,
feeds in men flames of jealousy
and drive them to feel insecure.
Yet men are after such women.

A Beauty’s End

Many men became my friends
For my looks and hospitality.
None could stay as my friend
When their motives failed to click.
No one loved me less my flesh.
I am without man at my death bed.

A Bed Of Rose And Thorns

Without giving troubles, you cannot live.
Without getting troubles you cannot live.
You have to pluck and to be plucked in turn.
Life is the bed of rose studded with thorns.

A Beggar I Am.

I show my fake smiles
To those I seek,
To those I cling to
To those I fear
And to those I trap.
Aren’t I a beggar?

A Beggar Needs No God.

The rich are the ones earning by cunning.
They want the God to guard their earnings.
They want the God to forgive their sinning.
A beggar needs no God for his living.

A Bitter Feeling

When I grieved, you were with me.
When I was ill, you were with me.
When I was sad, you were with me.
Does it mean there is a problem
Whenever you are with me, dear?

A Bogus Goal

Most religions profess eternity
As the goal of life to their followers.
Eternity means being in Heaven.
Being in Heaven means no rebirth since.

This birth is a curse as every birth is.
With no rebirth, one suffers no more.
Then why not to terminate this birth?
Is suicide not the best option to do?

Is a rebirth a guaranteed process?
Is there anyone who wants to end his birth?
The highest hope till end if one has got
It's nothing but survival at any cost.

A Bolt Will Have A Nut To Fit.

We write, with a certain readers in mind.
The targeted audience determines
The tone and the contents of the writing.
The standard of writing might differs.
If a bolt is unfit to a certain nut,
It doesn’t mean it’ll be fit to none.
A horse has a taker; so does an ass.
I have no right to brand yours as bad.

A Burden.

Devotion to God is met by many ways.
Sing or hear songs made in praise of God.
Attend discourses; undertake pilgrimage.
Visit temples and worship the deities.
Attend festivals and perform rituals.
Do penance and pretence in public.
Select a seer and go after him.
The profound faith you repose in Him
Will take you to the mount of happiness.
The salvation assured from devotion
Will take you to the valley of quietness.
Of course, you forgot to work for your bread,
Or live on the hoarded or borrowed wealth.
As a burden to the population.

A Car Is A Woman.

A car is a temptress.
She is seen for her body.
She improves on painting.
A new one is in demand.

Expensive she might be;
Unpredictable and Undependable is she.
Yet she is sought by men.

It's hard to get along
Without a car's service.
It's hard to get along
Without a wife as well.

A Centenarian, A Curse.

A woman centenarian lives or struggles.
She witnessed many deaths
In her son, son-in-law and daughter-in-law,
Lost the love of her children,
Not to say children’s children,
Lost the awe of women at home,
And passes like an abject of neglect,
Amidst utter loneliness,
With no companion at all to talk to,
Without sleep and without engagement,
With weak limbs and weak mind,
Without teeth and with out sight.
All hail, she lives a hundred years!

A Changed Man

She was a lady of passion;
He was a man of position.
A perfect couple they had been.
The middle age brought monotony.

His confident became her friend.
Far young in age, he was a friend
With easy access to her company.
Proximity brought affinity.

He coveted her, angled for her,
Ached for her and longed for her,
By virtue of her forbidden state
And formidable position.

Irresistible they became
To each other arousal.
An elopement was not a thing,
Either of them hadn't thought of.

She went a widow abruptly
And bent to think liberally.
He sent a signal not truly
As passionate as it must be.

Whether the obstacle had been
The source of love or as a widow,
She bore less attractive look,
His feelings for her declined

So soon from the incandescence
To a tepid civility.

Their union didn't materialize.
Thank God! No elopement, he thought.

A Coach Can Only Teach.

A coach is not a match to his players.
Stamina matters.
A teacher cannot match his students;
Memory matters.

A husband cannot match his cuckold;
Curiosity matters.

A Convention Was An Invention.

Religion is a matter of faith
And faith is based and built on beliefs,
Which cannot be questioned by rationalists
Nor is the need to answer such queries

Can religious practices be unjust
And beyond the constitutional says?
Can it be practised with vested interests?
Can tradition be insulated from changes?

Law has clashed with traditions in the past.
Sati was abolished against protests.
Dalits' entrance to temples was granted
Against stiff opposition of high castes.

The Hindu Code Bill and the Hindu Marriage Act
Had been passed amongst vehement protests.
The ban on woman's entry was lifted
To the Hajji Ali Mosque though opposed.

Non entry to Sabarimala shrine
Of women of all ages isn't age old.
Maharani of Travancore (1948) visited it.
The ex-minister Jayamala (1986) and others too;

Why must then the Apex Court's order be Defied and fought by the Kerala Hindus

Who are the custodians of Ayappa tradition?
Every convention was an invention.

A Courtesan Promotion

For a woman to become a harlot,
Her mother must have been precedence
Or penury condition must be the cause
Or she must be the victim of coercion.

I had been forced into prostitution
By my father's enemy as a revenge,
When he abducted me in my teens
And sold me to a brothel house for a sum.

I knew my home I had been brought from.
It could be no task to flee the whore house
And trace out the path to reach my parents.
But it was not before I was outraged.

Whether they would get me as their daughter
When I have been robbed of my modesty
Did not obsess me more than did the thought
That they should not know that I was abused.

Decades have passed; I am a courtesan.
I have grown up in arts, dance and poetry.
I've kept lords with my skills rather than looks.
I am at ease my parents could be no more.

A Culprit Is Over Taxed.

I did some fraud that came out.
I was held a culprit for it.
Then there is a surge all around
To implicate me in every deal

I bought pieces of land from some
By paying more than the market price
And sold them as a unit twice higher.
Now they complain that I’d cheated.

I did favours to some women,
Who granted me intimacy
And exploited my weakness.
Now they complain that I’d raped.

A Curse To The Mother

One invalid begs and the other scavenges.
One dies in an arson, hailing his leader’s name
And the other dies as a suicide bomber.
One commits suicide and one is a prostitute.
How happy and with what dreams their mothers
Would have been when they gave birth to these children?
Where are they now? If they live it is a curse.

A Divide

Each one has a drive to belong to some.
The need to belong to some ones creates
The other category as a result.
The need to identify with some ones
Form the other category to stay.
Each inside you make will leave an outside.
Each circle you form will carve one outside.
Otherwise also you carve yourself from the rest.
Family, regions, caste, and religions
Are the circles you make and get stuck to them.
We all stand unfailingly on the spectrum
Of Belonging versus Otherness, a divide.

A Doe Eyed Bengali Beauty

Sonali Dasgupta then
And Sonali Rossellini now
Passed away this week all alone,
At the age of eighty four in Rome.

It was in nineteen fifty seven.
A scandal broke of an affair
Between Sonali,27
And Roberto Rossellini,57.

The occurrence was in Bombay.
Blitz and Film India flashed the news.
To elope with Roberto Rossellini.

They flew to Paris and then Rome.
She took her second son, one year,
Leaving the other with her husband,
Harisadhan Dasgupta, a filmmaker.

A doe eyed Bengal beauty was she.
An aspirant of an actress was she.
She led a humdrum existence,
Playing a second fiddle to her spouse.

Her husband deputed her to assist
Roberto Rossellini, a celebrate
Film maker of Italy, in script writing
In his documentary of India.

Discomfited and yet flattened
By the attention Rossellini lavished,
She,5'8&quot;, succumbed to his charm
And slipped into her arm and then bed.

She had to desert her family
And elope with no other way left
As she had conceived illicitly.
She gave birth to a female child.
All the fifty years while she lived in Rome,
She dressed in saris and looked Indian.
She lived with elegance and grace.
Her estranged husband has later died.

Her second son died and daughter fled,
Having converted to Islam.
Her first husband died in penury.
She died alone, aloof; who knows how?

A Fool Not To Love

Falling in love does you chemical changes.
Wooing, courtship and flirtation be on.
Sexual hormones surge up as the result.
Glands are squeezed and hormones spill over.
Besides sensations are there other rewards.

You feel great, thanks to Dopomine in brain.
You're in verve, thanks to adrenaline.
You feel smart, the brain builds up new cells.
You feel young, thanks to Oxytacin.
You live long, stress hormones under check.

Loving matters rather than whom you love.
The love subtle, mute, one sided too matters.
Physical intimacy need not be the goal.
Writing and feeling romantically matters.
Not a fool in love but a fool not to love.

She was sent back, not to call back.

A Grain Of Sand

A man sinks himself in a woman's esteem
When he bothers her with his love in haste,
An ordinary woman though she's been,
And she gains a great strength to dismiss him.

This privilege does not belong to her.
She has got this privilege granted by him
From his weakness for her love and figure.
It took much toll for him to understand.

When she kicked him out, ignoring his helps,
He felt his male ego maimed ruthlessly.
He dropped his claim on her and left for his wife.
Binodini was a grain of sand in all eyes.

As many interests as there are Members in the group and also
An interest the group represents.

Members’ growth isn’t the group’s growth.
The group’s growth is the relation
Among the members governed by
Equity, justice and equality.

A Half-Night Stand

Human sexual acts last a few minutes
And often is as less as two minutes.
What will the pair do in the rest of nights
When one night stand is sought with outsiders?

The one night stand gives way for half night trend.
Woman calls the shot now and go to bed
With a man she likes just for half a day
And stays committed to love her husband.

Love and sex are made two identities.
Love is long standing, and sex, variety bound.
Sex can live without prejudice to love.
The couple must learn to cope with the trend.

A Happy Couple

A man and a woman,
Hitherto unknown, were made known
By a hand pollination,
More by convention than conviction.
The hungry wolf was on the prey
As the cage was bolted in.
The cage was bolted out too
When they yielded their calves.
Lured by the identity
They endured the differences
And preserved the unity.
They remained like that
For the need of companionship
And the want of dependence.
People brand them a loving couple.

A Harlot-Hound

My penchant for woman and their intimacy
Is unconditional and indiscriminate.
It had blossomed before I blossomed
And hasn’t withered yet in my autumn.
I would instantly fall in love with Every woman I come in contact with,
Their facial vibes and bosomy waves
Promising a pneumatic bliss,
With which to cuddle my erotic memories.
I would resign and feel myself in the extent
Of indefinitely unconsummated love
By longing, musing, pining and bereavement.
Still I am better than a harlot-hound.

A Love Letter By Miss. Paula

You have an itch to tell me ‘I love you.’
You want me to tell you that I love you.
Why must this phrase be precious for lovers?
Sans this verbal, can’t love and care exist?

You and I are friends; it goes for sometimes.
You must have ascertained my sentiments
And discovered my inclination towards you.
What more do you want at this juncture?

Must you be adamant in your insistence
On my confession of passion for you?
Instead of pressing a lady on this,
You must see from her conceal her love for you.

You must help her develop her interest
Before she perceives your interest-
By hiding her from her observation
And letting her desire to take root in.

Can there be any situation, sir,
More charming than that of perceiving
A woman in love without herself being
Conscious of depth of her interest?

Isn’t a triumph to rejoice in secret
Over what she has yet to recognize?
She herself discovering her interest
For you will hasten acceptance of you.

Women labour under great difficulties;
A declaration of love is always
A mortifying experience to us.
Man may not know at what cost it must come.

It is woman’s instinct to retain power
Of obliging a man to hope, fear, pray
And beseech as long as they deem fit
Till before she confesses to her love.
How I would behave towards you now on
May not add to regard you have for me.
“I can promise you that you’ll not like me
Less upon knowing me better.” Assure!

A Love Of Two Sexes.

A man and a woman were in love
In spirit, by mind and with soul.
Now she is gone off the earth.
Her presence had soothed his soul.
The remembrance of her burnt his sap.
Her vision gave light to his eyes.
Her absence torched his eyes.
The world was nothing to them.
Were they in turn to the world?
No roads could reach them.
No eyes could catch them either.
They whispered in each other’s ears,
Perspired in the exchanges of glances.
Now she is dead and put on fire.
The flame left her alive, him dead.

So is man, who is vehement in it.
It is for management of their resources.
It is this which puts a man against a man.
Territory consciousness led to groups.

Kingdom came and started defying religion.
Religions and kingdoms maintain boundaries.

Religion has groomed civilization;
Religion has laid down morals to follow.
Kingdom has taken over these functions.
So religion is promising after-life.

Religion is genetically programmed
Among sects to hotly vie each other.
Religion is used to do more harm than good.

A Painful Passage

I wept and wept, endlessly wept,
Like of which I have never wept
Save at the time of my mother’s death,
While some sequences I read
Off the book ‘The Blind Assassin’
Of Ms Margaret Atwild, wherein
A little girl, by name, Griffen
Watches speechless the gaze of the mother,
Who is in sick bed, the little sister
Being away at play, quite unaware,
And the mother in her feeble voice
Beseeching her to take care of her sister,
To which she assuredly nods and weeps
At the impending end of her mother,
Without thinking who is there to take
Her own care or that what is in store.

I wept and wept, endlessly wept
As the two little sisters resembled
My two granddaughters, me their mother,
As though their mother is in death bed,
With fear of death looming over my head.

I wept and wept, recurrently wept
When I read, wrote and rewrote
The above passage many a time.

A pious man had gone to Burma
From where he came as a destitute,
Ran a petty shop on borrowed money,
Made to marry in late thirties to go bankrupt,
Bore two sons and a daughter
From his equally poor but virulent wife,
Became invalid in money and mind,
Lost his wife to his brother in celibacy,
Added one more daughter from him,
Lost the second son in electric shock,
Wandered and laboured for food,
Reaped every kind of humiliation,
And then died, later to be followed
By his wife, leaving the children
To be grown by the remaining father,
Who too died with children spreading
Under different shelters to live
And get married.
I shed my tears thinking that pious man,
Who gave me sweets when I was
Twelve, who begged of me with his Eyes
For money when I started earning.

A Tribute To M. Karunanithi

You stood for Tamil and for Tamils.
You did well for them a long while.
In you runs Tamil blood, not an Aryan’s.
You are who made Tamil to its throne.
You are who weeded Tamil clean.
Paradoxically you are out thrown.
Who can beat you in oratory skill?
You are a caste-less, religion-less jewel.

The one who weeded Tamil was weeded of Tamils.
The presence of mind is out of presence.
Once you were thrown for an intruder.
Now you are thrown for an invader.
You were not thrown for misdeeds.
You were thrown by caste and creed.
You were not shut for ineptitude.
Then why had you been an outright reject?

Sheep do not want a sheep as their master.
Slaves do not want a brethren as their master.
Sheep mind not the master slaughtering.

How can you expect their granary?

Emotion rides where the rational slides.
If a bone is given, the tail is shown.

And is content with him without a wavering mind.
A man seeks as many women as he can reach

A Woman’s Arm

A woman young and lean,
With skin fair and lovely,
Stood by me in a bus stop,
Her lateral view in my focus.
How graceful she was!
How more so her arm was!
Especially the upper one in the sleeveless!
Watch the curve of the hand;
The flesh that slides down
Back from the shoulder mount,
Spreading behind the arm pit
And sloping down to the firm elbow,
With a contrast of the shallow concave
Formed in front below the color bone,
By which it sends the profile of the chest
More protruding as if falling.

A Writer

Out of what, does a writer write?
Out of hatred, out of denial,
Out of failure, out of perversion,
Out of insult or out of neglect.

Why does a writer write?
To vent his anger, anguish and agony.
To bend his feelings in catharsis.

From what does he write?
From borrowings, being inspired,
Or pouring old wine into a new bottle.

For what purpose does he write?
For an applause, to show his skills
And to earn a place and money.

Why at all must he write?
For an idler, what else can he do?

What lacks in one’s writing?
His concern for you lacks.
Your vow to pursue it lacks.

He writes and forgets
You read and forget.
When you are gone and when he is gone
The relevance to his writings is gone.
Bubbles are formed and burst.

A.P.J. Abdul Kalam, Our Last Respects

Abdul Kalam, ex-president of India,
Had claimed up his lofty ladder himself
By his dedication and humaneness,
Not by money or political power.

But for he being a Muslim Statesman,
He might not have been chosen for the post
Of President of India by the B.J.P,
That silenced the National Congress’ voice.

He enhanced the post he was elected to.
He was the first Bharat Ratna of India
To become the President of India.
After that he grew equal to a Saint.

The good that he did will not be interred
With his bones in the soil of Rameshwaram,
But will float in the air to inspire the people
Across the world, crossing barriers.

Only can mould a child to become good.
They must be role models to the children.

Abetment To Suicide

Is suicide a crime and doer a criminal?
The victim is a loser and mostly sufferer.
Suicide affects none other than himself.
Punish not suicide and take pity for it.

Is abetment to the suicide a crime?
Abetment to suicide is assistance to suicide,
And can someone's action, considered the base for suicide, be taken as abetment?

Farmers commit suicide. Who is the cause?
Losing court case one might commit suicide.
Scolded by the teacher one may commit it.
Ignored by the lover, the girl may do it.

One can bounce back and be resilient.
One can tide over negativity.
This stage will pass as every stage did.
Skip suicide, to feel that thank God, i didn't.

Actions On Idea And Ideals

Wants demand actions; fears demand actions.
Idea and ideals set actions.
One acts so as to be what one wants to.
What one has and what one wants set the goal.

A gulf is between idea and action.
If one is not rich, one acts towards it.
If one is not safe, one acts towards it.
To bridge the gap, comes all kinds of action.

The basis for an action is reward
Or fear of loss or fear of punishment.
Such actions are self-evolving ones.
Mankind needs more than that, the ideal.

The ideals are set to become great.
To become good, helpful and generous
Which one is not, is the ideal pursuits.
Action on ideals is real action.

Add Assets To The Society

Competitive but not accommodating,
Energetic but not sympathetic,
Prosperous but not generous,
And aggressive but not considerate
You make your children at all cost.
You beam with their growth and your worth.
They would orphan you at a later stage
And orphan each other among themselves
Foe want of qualities you have ignored
To inculcate in their characters.

Add Me To Pair.

There are you, only you,
who for I long. Tell me, what is with me wrong?

I love you, only you,
which is not a crush.
Nor a truce, but real.
Can’t you grant my wish?

Maybe one,
someone, is in your way.
In a better way I can sway.
Heed can you pay?

Sweet and sour, one likes.
Moon and stars, one likes.
Kids and kitten, one likes.

If not sweet, be I a soar;
If not a moon, be I a star,
If not a kid, be I a kitten,

To you, dear.
Take me too, with you,
along with them.
Then I am not wrecked.
A pair of eyes,
A pair of limbs
And a pair of breasts,
all in pair you have.
Take me, to pair with the other.

I can’t retreat. Upbeat is my heart, that will repeat,
will not subside, or recede.
Don’t put me aside.

There are you.
Only you who for I live.
Show me, please,
show me that you lull me to trance.

Adhi Yogi

The Svetasvetara Upanished
Is the earliest text that alludes to Shive
As the Parama Purush, the Supreme.
'Since the Rudra is one, the knowers of Brahm
Know of no other deity.' it declared.
It is an evocative exposition
For the Saivait sect and philosophy,
Which circles the enigmatic Shiva.

Shiva is known as Adhi Yogi.
He is untouched by Maya he created.
He is bound by law that he set to roll.
A great dancer, known as Nataraja,
He has inspired the world by his dancing.
He is the dancer of the subatomic
Particles that the scientists have found out.
He's the centre of being and becoming.

Tell me the truth once in your life.

How many son-in-laws did you change
Before you set her in a wealthy lord?

Tell me the truth once in your life

Having built your fort on illicit bricks.
Admit the truth at least only once.

A woman may leave her man found bitter.

Affinity makes attraction.
Peer attraction is born of it.
Sexual attraction is a half.
Paternal attraction is a half.

Water droplets attract each other.

The bait of paternal ranks deepest.

Albert Camus And Absurdity

Sisyphus, the evil king of Greece
Condemned to death by gods of Greece,
Escaped the death by treachery, to be
Mortified again to a stupendous task:
To roll a boulder over a hill top
To have it roll back to the hill bottom;
He was cursed to repeat the task for long.
Knowing it futile, he undertook the task.

Life is devoid of its intrinsic meaning.
We give it a value from an illusion.
Inventions and artificers are beauticians.
The absurd hero takes no refuges
In illusion, arts, crafts and religions,
And despairs not to face absurdity,
Which he escapes not but embrace.
Absurdity is life that he is aware.

Life is meaningless; life is purposeless.
Absurdity is the core of living.
Uncertainty is the norm of life.
To repose faith in God brings no relief.
Suicide is an escape to be condemned.
Acceptance to the life's futility
Is the route left for the people to tread
Like Sisyphus on the task assigned to him.

All Are Braggarts

We boast about knowledge got, position
Held, laurels conferred and places visited.
We display our photos in social media.
Others must know about us and hold high.

Sometime we brag about something not true;
Often we brag about things in exaggeration.
Also we make self-deprecating statements
To draw attentions to the things of our pride.

Bragging is done to have a feel good mind.
Listeners often loath excess bragging.
Bragging does no good in a real sense.
What you are now to them only matters.

In the shining armour,
Who will come on a galloping horse

And walk with her into the sunset.

Who will wait for him in the parlour
And find him way to reach her

Every growth that takes place vibrates.
There's a force which causes this vibration.
This force we call Prana is universal.

Prana is invisible to senses.
Prana is the moving force of the body,

Humility before God is Islam's faith.

Altruism For Medical Students

Medicine is the most competitive

Medicine is the most essential
And life saving field to the mankind.
The altruistic aptitude must rank high

Aptitude test for courage is a must
For the entry to the defence service.
Aptitude for leadership is a must
For the entry to the management course.

To earn status coupled with high income
Has been the propeller for the aspirants.
Studying medicine is made expensive,
Affluence has been the source providing.

A survey finds only one third of pupils
Have got a high altruistic tendency,
Thanks neither to the sermons and scripture
Nor to the schooling but to their parents..

A doctor must be service oriented.
Lack of service must not cost patient's life.
Want of money must not cost the patient's life.

Fatality plays the major role in life.
Men are the puppets in the hand of Fate.
The tale of princess Amaravathy
And poet Ambikapathy can vouch for it.
The events date back to 12th century.
The scent set was the kingdom of Chozha.
The presiding King was Kulothunkan.
Amaravathy was the king's daughter.

Kamban was a renowned poet in Tamil.
It was he who wrote the epic Ramayana,
Which surpassed the literary merit
Of the original text in Sanskrit.
He had a son named Ambikapathy,
Who genetically turned to a poet and became exemplary in the art thanks to the able guidance of father.

To feed Amaravathy's aestheti sense,
The king hired Kamban to teach her poetry.
Imbued with beauty and intelligence,
Amaravathy excelled in learning.
In the absence of his father on tour,
Ambikabathy, quite young and handsome,
Was entrusted with the job of teaching.
He inspired her and she enlivened him.

Proximity is the conspiracy.
The princess cheerfully underwent
The tuition, drawn by the youth's charisma.
Ambikapathy was excited to teach her.
In the course of time love in both blossomed.
Father came back and sensed his son's passion
For the princess and understood the danger.
Love was blind and it was proven in them.

Ottakkoothar was the Royal Poet
In the kingdom of Kulothungan Chozhan,
And nurtured intellectual antipathy
Against Poet Kamban to his ignorance.
Ambikapathy's passion for the princess
And her response got Ottakooother's ears.
No need to say that it got the king's ears.
Alarmed, the king wanted to find the truth.

The king invited the father and the son
For a feast with him and the lovelorn daughter
And the first hand experience told the king
That it was too hard to break their affection.
Without hurting his daughter's sentiment,
He wanted to wean Ambikapathy
Away by putting a tougher challenge
For him to face and get the princess' hand.

Ambikavathy shall sing a hundred songs,
All shall be extempore, all shall extol
The Devine Bliss and none be on mortal
To get her hand or to get beheaded.
Ambikapathy accepted the challenge,
Which seemed quite handy for his caliber.
Amaravathy welcomed the challenge
With her faith in her lover's confidence.

The scene was set in the court of the king.
Ambikapathy was to sing on the stage
With Ottakkoother to supervise it.
Amaravathy was to sit behind
The screen to count and signal when over.
She mistakenly counted as the part of the hundred poems the invocation song
And came out to signal on ninety-ninth.

He assumed that he had sung hundredth song.
Seeing the excitement of the princess,
To celebrate his success in the battle,
He sang a song in praise of his beloved,
With which actual hundredth song was over.
Ottakooother pointed out the folly.
The king had Ambikapathy beheaded.
Reaching the scene, Amaravathy fell dead.

An Uneven Lot

My hands are uneven;
The one that seeks is long
And the other that lends is short.

My eyes are uneven;
The one for women is wide
And the other for the poor is weak.

My ears are uneven;
The one for applause is sharp
And the other for critics is weak.

My heart too is uneven;
The left half is fat for lust
And the right is thin for concern.
Everyone has turned like me;
The fabric is loosening
And selfishness brings ruins.

An Upright Soul

Thoughts must conform to words
And words to deeds to give peace.
Good thoughts and bad words: one is raw.
Bad thoughts and good words: one is a cheat.
Good words and bad deeds: one is cruel.
Bad words and good deeds: one is a barker.
Thoughts, words and deeds must not be
In conflicts to ensure an upright soul.

The fictional tale of Anakali
And Salim has been adopted into arts,
Literature and cinema in India
From the late seventeenth century onwards.
The love story of Anarkali-Salim
Is the story every lover would know
And is invoked to refer to the love
For its intensity and purity. 1

Nar Ud Din Mohammad Salim to be known
By his imperial name as Jahangir,
The son of Akbar, Mughal emperor
During 16th century in India.
Anarkali, born as Sharif un-Nissa
And also known as Nadira Begum
Was a courtesan from Lahore region.
Anarkali means pomegranate blossom. 2

Anarkali was the renowned beauty
And the talented courtesan in dance.
Salim was the man of passion in art
And the man of sensitivity for women.
He fell in love with her for her beauty,
And discounted her birth as courtesan.
She knows that their romance was forbidden
In the eyes of Mughal Emperor Akbar. 3

Salim could not hold himself from her charm.
Anarkali could not hold him away.
The emperor could not digest the fact
That a prince was in love with a courtesan.
He sent words to her to stop the romance.
He threatened her with dire consequences.
The prince revolted against his father
But was defeated and sentenced to death.4

Sensing the trend, Anarkali renounced
Her love to save her lover from the death.
Yet she was entombed alive for her love.
The love episode was in their teenage.
The heart broken Salim lived to be the king
In the year sixteen five and later married
Nur Jahan after seeing her widowhood.
Salim built a rich tomb for Anarkali.5

The audacity to be in love
And the pain that is endured in the journey
Of it is special and relatable
To everyone who have ever loved someone.
The love that fears and has inhibitions
Is not love but it is lust and is a sin.
Love destroys the life and lovers are known
Only when they are dead, so be they dead. 6

Andal, The Mystic

Andal is on literature, music and dance. Andal is on drama, cinema and Margali. Andal to Vishnu as Meera to Krishna; Andal belongs to eighth century though.

Her unique hairdo is Andal Kondai. Her massive garland is Andal maalai. The parrot in her hand is Andal parrot. Srivilliputtur is known for Andal.

Vaijayanthimala gave her a shape. Ariyakkudi gave her verses a tune. Vasanthakumari lent her a voice. Andal is the pride of vaishnavites.

Parents unknown, Srivalli is revered. Parents unknown, Sita is revered. Parents unknown, Andal is revered. They were made to be incarnations. 28.01.2018

Andal's Love

The only woman among twelve Alwars,
Vaishnavite saints of South India, Andal
Had lived in the 8th (9th)century AD.
Andal, also Kodai, was found as a baby
By Perialwar, under the shrub of basil.
The brahmin priest had her as his daughter.
She would deck herself with the garlands made
By him for the Vishnu Idol, to his frown.1

The girl grew up as madly devoted
To Ranganatha (Vishnu)and resolved to marry
None other than Him lying on His serpent
In the Srirangam Temple, and as bidden
In the dream, she was taken by palanquin
From Srivilliputtur to Trichinopoly,
Where, when she stepped out and went to the temple,
She disappeared, having joined her Lord.2

Andal sang thirty stanzas, putting them
Into the mouths of milkmaids, as rousing
Lazy lie-abeds to come out and bathe
In the cold mornings and after the bath
To go to the temple and rouse Krishna
Sleeping there. They are the Thiruppauvai.
They are lyrical and dramatic in tone,
Chiding her maids and appealing Krishna. 3

'Favouring Margazhi's Full Moon is here——
Maidens bejewelled, keen on bathing, come out!
Darling girls of the cowherd clan, wake up.'
'Narayana himself has offered
His gracious drum all for us to sing
His praise and gain the world's of his.'
Thus, Andal calls her maid friends to wake up
So as, on bathing, to rouse Krishna.4

'If we, all clean, adore him with flowers,
Sing full—throated: give him our minds,
Our sins both past and yet to come
Will all be burnt like cotton in the fire!
With this assurance, she called her maids.
Reaching, she pleaded in many words with
Nappinna, the beloved of Krishna,
To let them have the vision of Krishna.

'For ever and ever, your slaves praising you,
We have come today for your grace, Krishna,
Won't you relent?', Andal addresses Him
And insists Him to remove their sorrows.
'But you must take us in your own employ.
Not only for today do we seek your drum
But for ever and ever, seven times seven births!
Would be one with you, work only for you—'

Andal's erotic composition comes
As Nachiar Thirumozhi in fourteen sets,
Ranging from little girls building sand castles
To a woman much frustrated in love,
Calling her lover with all bitterness
To account him for having led her on
And betrayed her. Her womanly passion
For lover is classic and erotic.

'If I should meet that Govardhan
Who cares not if she lives or is dead,
Who inly melts and is worn out
All for that mischievous bandit's love
I shall pluck my useless breasts
From their roots and fling them
On his chest, and so put out
The raging fire of my love.'

In all her frenzied love of Krishna,
Andal does not lose sight of the external world
Around her - the clouds, the birds, trees and flowers.
Only, all of them are related, or made
To relate to her and her passion in all.
Her love born of her libido is strong
And in disguise diverted and directed Towards her mentor, Lord Ranganatha.
'O Manmatha, I worship you with tender rice!
Grant that I get fame on earth as the one
Whose splendid belly and breasts were caressed
With love by Lord who thrice measured the world.
Take note of the penance I undergo———
My body unwashed, hair unbound, one meal a day.
That my womanhood may not be a waste. Grant me this,
My life's aim, that I become Kesava's maid. 10

O Kama, I have shown on that wall your ancestry;
From my childhood I have dedicated
My surging breasts to the Lord of Dwaraka
Alone— Join my destiny quickly with his.
Kama, I will not live If, as an offering
Set apart for the gods is seized by a Jackal,
My broad breasts surging, set apart for him
Are noised about as meant for a man. 11

O rogue, Kesava, don't you have any eyes?
With small white sand we have made these houses
Even if you destroy them, though our hearts will break
And melt, won't be filled with anger against you!
Must you enter our courtyard unbidden,
And break not only our houses, also our hearts?
What will those around us say if they saw us?
Don't ruin our sand-houses; don't ruin our hearts. 12

Before the cock could wake us up, we came
To plunge in this pool.0 you have humbled us,
Made us your beggars—- We shall not come here-
My friend and I will raise our hands, Give us back our clothes.
We will never consent to that, Child, you must wait.
If our mothers should see this, they won't let us in.
Perched on that tree you don't think of the scandal
We will give you all you want—- Give us our clothes. 13

If I'll have the fortune to touch and fondle
The feet of the God whom many pure devotees
Worship with raised hands, if he'll run to me
And take my hand with a fond embrace, and
If he will come who from of old is the Vedas'
Essence, the lovely one embedded
In the hearts of pretty milkmaids,
I draw, come out aright and show my luck. 14

'The Spotless One, conch in hand, will enter me,
Watch my woe and lead me an endless dance.
Bones melted, spear-long eyes unsheathed
These many days plunged in a sea of sorrow
I struggle for lack of the Vaikuntham.
My two eyes like carp—fish at war won't close
Because I yearn to see his golden feet
Which stay stuck in Villiputtur', longs she. 15

'I have lost the beauty of my pearly smile,
Of my red mouth and breasts because of the cruel Heart Thief' Andal points out Krishna to Koel,
'Through my greed to embrace the one on the milky sea,
My surging breasts in their ecstasy melt
And distress my soul. What do you gain, Koel?
If you coo and bring to me the one with the conch
And mace, you will get a place in heaven. 16

'My friend, I dreamt that Naranan, ' says she,
'With a thousand elephants came in a procession,
That tomorrow being fixed as my wedding day,
And entered like a bull to take my hand.
That numerous priests brought water for sprinkling
From the four corners and raising Vedic chants,
Knotted the guardian string round my wrist 17

That I may wed Kannan the pure. And he,
An elephant in must, took my hand in his
And we both walked around that holy fire.
Naranan caught hold of my foot and put it
With his lovely hand on the grinding—stone.
I dreamt I was smeared with sandal and saffron paste,
And the two of us taken on an elephant
Through decorated streets in a procession. 18

'That the tears from my eyes should drown these hills,
My breasts! Does it become his greatness to kill
A woman’s essence thus? ', she asks of clouds
She asks the clouds to tell Venkatam's Lord,
That day after day ‘I yearn that my own body
With its young breasts should clasp his body bright
My humble plea— let him enter me but one day
And wipe away my breasts' saffron, and I will live.19

‘Have a look at these breasts of mine meant
For Govinda alone, which will not look at anyone's face
But his with the fliscus in hand.', assures she.
Andal believes He alone can cure her love sickness.
‘My changed complexion, depressed mind, pale lips
And shamelessness, ‘No taste for food and sunken
Spirits will be cured when the sea—hued one crowns me
With a Chaplet of cool basil.', says she. 20

'To the sight of that black god called Kannan
I'm an addict; Don't stand aside and mock
Me pouring acid on my wound; Take from the room
Of that great Lord to whom a woman's woe is nothing.'
'I was caught in the net of that great Lord
Who slept on a banyan leaf; Don't drill holes in me
With a spear by saying whatever you please;
With green basil, deck my soft hair on fire! '21

'My parrot in its cage cries, Govinda!
It wants it to be taken to Dwaraka.'
'If through secret service now 1 can't gain
Govinda's love and quench the ardour of my breasts
What use of future penance? ' has she asked.
'Bind my pair of innocent breasts to his shoulders
Palm tree—like so that the guilt of his betraya1
By that bondage is atoned.', demands she. 22

Why don't you, rain, come crowding and pour him
Into me so that I may embrace him
Caught for ever in my heart to adore?
Sea,0 sea, tell him who entered you,
Churned and took your nectar away,
That he entered my body as well
To stir, churn and deprive me.
Can you carry all my sorrows To Him? 23
The lord of Srirangam, where the Cauvery flows.
Has taken all my goods and now my body too!
With his lovely hair, his lovely mouth
His lovely eyes and the lovely lotus
From his belly button—‘— My husband
Has my loose bangle made me lose indeed!
He has made his possessions Now complete
With the bangle which I wore on my hand!24

Who in this world is there to console me
Unstrung and broken by that black bull
Of the cattle-yard, who lorded it over all?
Bring the nectar which never sates from his mouth:
Don't let it go dry,0 feed me with it,
And make me get well. Bind my innocent breasts
To his shoulders so that the guilt of his Betrayal by that bondage is atoned.25

"Did you see the god who caught with his eye
in a raincloud me, poor fish, to play and twirl
And drag me along wherever he goes"?
"Did you see that mischievous wretch
Who does not know propriety, brows lovely bent
Like his own bow, his nature never consistent"?
Where else other than in Brindavan can he be?
Thus, Andal's libido met its catharsis.28

Anekanta: Two Extremes

Matter defines existence of objects.
An object has an origin and an end.
A pot is born and dead but clay remains.
It's clay before and after the pot's life.

Five fundamental substances are known
As Puncha Astikayas in Jainism.
Dharma Astikaya: medium of action.
Adharma Astikaya: medium of rest.

Akash Astikaya: space that has Loka
The Universe and Aloka, the outside.
Jiva Astikaya: soul the life force
And Pudugal Astikaya: the body.

Soul is knower; body is unknower.
Soul is permanent but body is not.
The unnoticed aspect of an object
Is attested by the noticed aspect.

Light is known from dark and sound, from silence.
Existence of the opposite in all
Is the principle of Anekanda.
Love and hate merge in a common pool.

Each object has got many attributes
But one of them manifests at a time.
Truth is a multidimensional one
And as a whole cannot be comprehended.

Apology Must Repair.

Apology asked, one dresses one's quilt.
Apology taken, one dresses one's bruise.
It is a repairing mechanism,
Sincerity is the skill needed for it.

Apology is the owning the act.
It must spring from the remorse undergone.
Undergoing humiliation is the punishment.
Displaying m magnanimity is the reward.

A bad apology tendered is worse
Than no apology. When a strong one
Apologizes to a weak one
That apology carries immense weight.

When you are struck with a woman’s apparent beauty
You lose interest in it if not coped with her latent beauty.
If you are moved by a woman’s latent beauty

Applause

People will grow
More with applause
Than with rich food.

People will die
More for applause
Than for rich food.

People will die
More from applause
Than from rich food.

People forgo,
To get applause,
Their food in time.

People will spend
More for applause
Than for rich food.

Applause will do
What alcohol
Will, to people.

Applause denied,
Or food denied,
The body will wilt.

Applause is earned
To gather people
And select mates.

Applause feeds ego
And food keeps body.
Body is for ego.

Apples Cast Off

The tucked in apples were cut and cast.
The focused apples were cut and cast.
The craved apples were thrown as waste.
The coveted apples were thrown as waste.

The boys were sorry more than the gardener.
The boys were sore more than the gardener.
Before their decay, they have been thrown out.
Before their term, they have been cast away.

Breasts are the assets for any woman.
They serve as two way traffic of passion.
Without them stays not femininity.
To forgo them is an act of bravery.

They have been cut off by a surgery.
She has done it, before their expiry,
To cut the risk of cancer, a bold act.
Her grace is not lost but high in the mast.

Atavistic Fear Of Girls

Sex assaults have been institutionalized
In film industries and corporate fields.
Ladders, luxuries and money are baits.
Executives and business magnets are honey pot.

The silencing, the abuse of power,
Privilege, the system of protecting
Or rescuing predators and rapists
Sees that fallen women do not have voice.

Girls ambitious go ruthless in their goals.
They dispose themselves to cooperate
With bosses, directors, producers
Or imposing actors in their chambers.

Sex like bribe is grudgingly given.
It is customary in film industries.
It has spread to other lucrative fields.
Givers make no complaints and get their way.

Girls are an easy prey with slippery sense.
Situations lend them vulnerable
And they succumb to the trap awaiting,
More from the atavistic fear than desire.

Aura sheaths Body.

Thus,
Rig, Yajur, Sama and Atherwa sum up.

Body includes brain.
Brain includes intellect,
And Consciousness.
So Body and Energy
Are the two parts
That join to make Life.

Thus,
Science approves of.

We deny not both statements,
one by subconscious mind
and the other by conscious mind.

That is why
Religion and Science coexist.

Atonement Ceremony

Atonement does not atone for the offence
Done by one until one's made atonement
Direct, personal, to the one offended
And until the offended is prepared
To forgive the offender in response
To compensations and repentance made.
Atonement demands no ceremony.
Feel the tone of it; you get atonement.

Attraction Is Something Deeper

Temples were built by the mighty,
Some with golden towers,
Some with golden domes,
And some with golden podiums
To lure and summon.

Amarnath is a stone of a cave,
With no ornaments, no pavements
And yet attracts braving crowds
Much against all its odds,
For its sway of power.

There are women, very common,
With no ornaments to adorn,
Whom men throng for their bounty
As against women for their beauty

Aum Comes In Four Dimensions

AUM is three syllabi word: As, Uu and Mm.
Aa is jagart, the waking consciousness;
Uu is swapna, the dreaming consciousness;
Mm is sushupta, the sleeping consciousness.

The silence between two successive sums
Is the fourth dimension of consciousness, Turia,
Which is the base of all sounds and gives support
To the other three dimensional consciousness.

In the waking, mind and senses are active.
In the dreaming, mind and senses are inactive.
In the sleeping, mind and senses are suspended
And the self sinks below subconscious level.

Here the soul is well in proximity
To the cosmic consciousness and returns
Recharged and revived for the next cycle.
Pronounce AUM to realize all four stages.

Aum For Tranquility

AUM is not a word but a symbol.
It contains three transcending sounds.
A, U, M is pronounced each at a length,
With pran (air)raising from the belly
With A, travelling through the throat with U
And oozing out from the nostrils with M.
To spell AUM is to sing a music sound.
It is the unifying sound that binds
Soul and body or matter and energy
Or the manifest and the unmanifest.
Say AUM for sometime in squatting posture
And experience tranquility within.

Authenticity

History is which says about events
As they are seen or heard.
Literature is which says about events
As they are desired or supposed.
Epics differ from histories.
Art is which depicts objects

Authenticity is not Art.
Reality as such is not Art.
Art should highlight something
From the remaining in shape.
Art should pinpoint something
From the remaining in acts.

Narration of occurrence
And rendering of incidence
In authenticity
Without any artificial twists
Will render the Art
Lifeless and spiritless.

A cartoon is a perfect art.
It differs vast from the real
And yet reminds of the real.
Imaginary is an art.
Romanticism is an art.

Awareness Acts As Intransitive

Awareness differs from consciousness.
Consciousness is on contact with some;
A reflection against a surface.
Awareness is absolute itself.
It needs no contact with some to exist.
Consciousness bridges the object with the subject.
Awareness lingers in the subject.
Consciousness comes from perception.
Awareness comes from idea of thinking.

Azhaki [the Beautiful], A Movie

I heard that she was ill fated
To be knotted to a drunkard,
Who, being poor, stripped her of charm.
I was helpless to lend my arm.
I was strained.

I helped her husband earn
And send her money to keep her.
Not to last, he left once for all.
She’s left to earn as coolly.
I was pained.

I brought her to be a housemaid
To give her a safe livelihood.
The humility that she had
For her and the son made me soar.
I was wounded.

I brought her to help our household.
My wife’s innocence was her hold.
There, too, happiness short-lived
As our past story unfolded.
I was shattered.

Next day, once for all she had left.
Her son’s study was lost. I’m lost.
I wandered as a vagabond
In search of her without any end.
I was ripped.

The script that she left when she left
Cleared the dust of my wife’s eyes
And made her repent her ill doubt
About her modesty and the loss.
I was mutilated.

I found her son in an orphanage.
Now he lives with us in prestige.
I love him more than I love my child.
It is a tribute I give her.
I am soothed.

One loses one’s peace,
When one finds her ex-lover
In ill fated condition,
And does all to her,
To redeem her,
That he would not have done
That much
Had he made her as his wife.

Barrett And Browning In Love

Elizabeth Barrettwas a poetess
And Robert Browning, a renowned poet.
He fell in love with the poetry of her
And subsequently started loving her.

'I love your verses with all my heart.' Wrote he.
Her invalidation didn't deter his love.
He loved her when she was at thirty nine.
He loved her in spite of six year over age,

Her dark eyes and a large well shaped mouth
Were the features that attracted Browning.
'When you came, you never went away.'
She wrote to him after his first visit.

She declined his proposal for marriage.
Her invalidation might ruin his life.
When she recovered, she eloped with him,
Fearing the wrath of her tyrant father.

They lived for sixteen years in Italy,
Both writing and living happily.
She died in 1886, leaning on his chest,
She had made a poem about her love for him,

'I love thee to the depth, breadth and height
My soul could reach. .......................
........................... and if God chooses,
I shall but love thee better after death.'

Be A Bud Anew

She stands over there a widow,
Aloof, like a barren meadow,
Having lost her stand and beauty,
And is flung to melancholy.
With the loss of solid mountain,
Went away the placid fountain,
Leaving abrupt her cup empty
Of love and sweet, once aplenty.

Her presence is now a bad omen.
Her sari, the rainbow, turned white.
She went graceless lest she must excite.
Is she lust-less, to be sexless?
Ere wedding, was there she alone;
Even now, as a widow, she’s alone.
Once a solitary mansion,
Now she is a lonely grave.

She is set to lament and mourn
Ever-long, without a happy end,
Though in no way can it lighten
The loss of her pair. Why, then, to pretend?
Which widow, save corrupt one, unwept
Over the fate to which she was put,
With choked lust having no outlet,
Other than duress she went through?

Youth in prime, charm is still unshed.
Lust to brim, thirst is still unfed.
Hard would be she to stay the wicked
Were she destined to never re-wed.
Women’s eyes upon her conduct,
Men’s spicy eyes upon her neglects,
If she is to rebel, men will spurn;
If she is to yield, men will ride.

There comes spring to trees, when leaf-less.
Also comes monsoon to grass, when list-less.
None comes to her, who went mate-less,
And was thrown an orphan, name-less.
When a pot is lost another is bought.
When a hut is lost one more is built.
While a mate is lost no one is sought
To tender her lust, otherwise a beast.

A widow is not a left-over,
As a poem read is not leftover.
A portrait is fresh to everyone.
A mother’s breast is alike to her next child.
She is unlike the one as had deserted
Her husband, as furtively flirted,
Or as had her child by him fostered:
A lived villa, not a spit apple.

Over years virgins married widowers.
Without tears they lived in fervour.
For her cheers, let her get the same favour from a man of choice to restore her flavour.
No animals keep their spouses in widowhood.
Why is, then, this invention on womanhood?
She better be sanctified before having erred
So that she could lead a life, unblurred.

Let her wed, anew,
‘as though a rose shut and be a bud, again’

Be A Guest On The Earth

Zen Master Bank ie founded no school,
Left no scripture and made no disciples.
Like a flight of a bird across the sky,
He wanted to exit, leaving no trace of him.

The burning desire is to make one's presence
Felt where one lives and to be remembered
When one leaves; be it anyplace or the earth.
Prophets and messiahs aren't exempted.

'Man knows not that once he leaves,
He will be lost in the ocean of oblivion.'
No image however big you leave behind
Will last nor do you know that it lasts.

We all encumber the earth
By our very existence.
Who dies as if he hadn't lived
Is the noblest of all men..

Be A Mirror And Mirror.

“He who sees the whole world in him
And sees himself in the whole world,
Because of this, will hate no one,”
Ishavasya Upanished propounds.

Hatred is not absence of love.
Hatred is to destroy others.
Hatred brews for those who betray us,
Who block us and who deprive us.

For whom the world is a mirror
And who for the world is a mirror
To dispel hatred is feasible.
Hatred breeds hatred but love wets.

Start the practice with your siblings,
Which is to widen to mankind,
To animals, plants and the inanimate.
How far you can, that far you serve.

Be A Poet, Not A Poetry Writer.

A poet is more than a poetry writer.
He writes a lot and adheres to a form
Of convention or a standard he's set.
He abstracts for universal appeals.

It is from outside that a poet works,
Taking a step back for observation.
He writes to unburden himself in verses,
And make readers unburden themselves.

Fight or flight is the signal you will get
From your sympathetic nervous system
When you are helpless and at your wit's end.
If you feel either of these will worsen
The situation you have been caught in,
The third option is total surrender
To the unknown and be resigned to it.

Be Around ‘now’.

The past and the future
Can be marked in time frame.
The present is the ‘now’,
Which overlaps the both.

The now can be a year,
A month, a day or an hour.
Even a minute or second
Can have past and future.

Mind is always engaged
To think of past and future.
Memories of the past haunt;
Hopes of future worry.

Memory is a fantasy;
Dream is a luxury.
Focus on what is now.
Derive what you can from it.

Nature gets equilibrium
With all forces around
In a given time, with changes
To warrant any time.

Work while you work
And love while you love
Pigeonhole the past.

Be Equation H+d+m= India

India is a democracy,
Where a simple majority rules.
It has three divisions in vote banks.

Hindus, which means the high caste;
Dalits, which includes the most backward;
Muslims, which means all minorities.

None of the three commands
Absolute majority on its own
To rule the country for a term.

Most of the period D and M joins
To keep away H from ruling.
D and M appease themselves.

When H manage to rule
It likes to compensate
The loss of its hold in culture.

H stands to uphold the culture.
D and M stand to get their hold.
H and D and M settle the score.

The equation must be
H + D + M = I
But politics make it D + M > H

A truth left unsaid is a lie uttered.
An adulterated truth does more harm

The lie said would misguide the listeners,

Be More Than A Pet

In love with my pet, I did many acts,
Sensing that it liked each of my acts.
It was not to condemn but ready to amend,
When it disapproved of any of my acts,

As I hold you, dear, as more than a pet
Can you ditch me for any shortfall?
Is not it a fault of your closed mindedness?

Be superior to, and kinder than, a pet.

Unless in bare needs;

That should not be a debt.
Your pay out should not be

Tethered by the past, enslaved by routines,
Battered by the struggle of the living
And a victim of conditioning imposed
By the society, man is a caged beast.

Human is bound by hard mentality
As the pack evokes safety and compromise.
There is a descending force at work,
Moulding the personality of a man.

One needs to give oneself to this force.
If one is open, this force can function,
Going deeply into his nervous cell,
Which one can consciously experience.

There is a process of inner alignment.

With persistence, and the wholeness develops,

Be Wise

Desire is inborn;
Fear is implanted;
Both at loggerheads.

Desire defies not;
Fear concedes not.

Desire goes stealthily;
Fear rules steadily;
Passion oozes wisely.

Desire dies slowly;
Fear echoes proudly;
Life lies listless.

One lives only once.
Next whence?
Why this pretence?

‘Eat, drink, and be merry! ’.
Charvaka says.

‘Annihilate the desire,
Pray, slave and repent
Till you die’,
Moral teaches us.

It is left to you to choose

Before The Sunset

Who said that you are aged?
Why should you fear being caged?
You may be not in prime age
Nor on the verge of bearing age.
The mid-day sun is not yet set.
The browsing cow is still to retreat.
The gooseberry ripens not in haste.
Why should you be steadfast?

With deft hands as you work,
With nimble feet as you dart,
And in soft voice as you talk,
Often with laugh, woven with sparks
Of white teeth, in rhythmic pitch,
You look younger, belying your age.
Friendly nature and sportive posture
Are your treasure, that shade your age.

Past teenage, no more a tendril.
Past twenties, no more a sapling.
A growing tree is as suppler
To a tusker, if not to rabbits or goats.
Five and thirty, still you a beauty,
With sturdy frame and firm cheeks,
Hued with bravado, to the men of choice,
Which you don’t know that you know.

No cosmetics, still striking,
No glamour, yet pleasing,
No vanity, nevertheless modern,
No pomposity, but with simplicity,
You put me blind to your age.
Woman of standing that you are,
A woman outstanding that you are,
It alone is enough to eclipse your age.

‘What can a man do for me,
Other than giving me a kid?
What, if he turns out to be bad?’
Obsessed and haunted with, you are.
If not to conceive, why’d a flower
Open its lips and exert its nectar?
What for must you stray out?
What, if you lament, when too late?

To a frog heaven is the well
Till it comes out of the well.
Mum is dear only till man takes over.
After mum, if nor him, who’s there?
To a tree, ripe fruits never cling.
As a woman you can’t play a doll
That you had failed to, as a girl.
Sans motherhood, what is womanhood?

Dear, before sunset, step in.
Here, our son is waiting.

Being Two Is Not A Hindrance

You and I are two, made by love as twins,
But not as one that every lover claims.
If we are two, as someone ridicule,
Let we be so as one’s legs too are two.
Legs are two, a pair, and not separate,
But joined at base for a common purpose.
We aren’t two but a pair for a cause,
Joined by a knot like the wedding rings.
By two, legs are stable for the body.
Lovers be two to balance their affairs.
Let us remain two; let the souls walk out.
And join to keep us a pair of love.
As long as two souls are one by a knot,
Being two is not a hindrance for love.

Beings Are Of Five Sheaths

Human beings are made of five layers.
Human is more than sensory organs,
More than mind and more than intelligence.
Knowing each layer is nearing Brahman.

Annamaya
All beings that exist on the earth
Are born of food; from food all are born,
Having been born, they grow by food.
Each is other's food, on death becomes food.

Pranamaya
All beings that exist on the earth breathe.
Pranamaya is the life force inside,
Identified by and dependent on breaths.
Those who worship prana live a full span.

Manamaya
Manamay is mind, characterised
By thought, will, wish and striving for better.
It forms as the inner sheath of pranamaya.
Knowing mind is the third knowledge.

Vijnanamaya
Vijnanamaya refers to intelligence,
Known by knowledge, ethics and reasoning.
It is characterised by faith, truth, justice
And power to perceive and reason.

Anandamaya
It is the deepest hidden layer.
It is characterised by love, joy and bliss
In ananamaya one realizes
The empirical and the spiritual worlds.

'Bliss is Brahman;
from bliss beings are born;
by bliss, when born, they live;
into bliss they enter at their death'
Birth and death are of the Annamaya-Kosa.
Hunger and thirst are of Pranamaya-Kosa.
Delusion and grief are of the Manomaya Kosa.
Atman is ever pure and unattached.

The Annamaya kosa is of the physical body.
The Pranamaya kosa, the Manmaya kosa
And the Vijnanamay kosa are of the subtle body
The Anandamaya is of the causal body.

Peeling each layer is knowing the self.
Absolute consciousness itself has become
The multiple consciousness in gross bodies,
Which are subsumed in pure consciousness.

Beings Sensual Is Sacred.

Desire sensual is not bad.
Desire acquisitive is bad.
Desire for romance is not bad.
Desire filled with greed is bad.

Desire is the seed of creation.
Desire is the drive of existence.
Without desire man is a robot.
Without desire the life has no life.

Andal and Mirabai fell in love for Krishna.
Rabia and St. Terasa fell in Love for their gods.
They wrote verses filled with ecstasy
And charged with erotic emotion.

Andal in deep love for Krishna begs Him,
"My surging breasts in their ecstasy
Melt and distress my soul. What do
You gain by hiding yourself?"

Mirabai: Come to my pavilion, O my king(Krishna),
I have spread a bed made of Delicately selected buds and blossoms
And have arrayed myself in bridal garb

Rabia al Basri pours her love for Him,
"And my beloved is with me always,
For His love I find no substitute
And His love is the test for me among mortal beings."

St Teresa of Avila pours, "If a kiss
Implies peace and friendship, why do not souls Beg of You to ratify it with them?
Grant me this peace with a kiss of Your mouth."

In cosmology of Tantra,
Sexuality is explicit
With Lingham and Yoni
As Devine Sex to be worshiped.
The sensual is as much sacred
As any devotion to gods is.
In physical outpouring
Of energy, total surrender takes place.

Belief In God Stays.

Brain is active when you think, feel and do.
It records experiences through senses
In the form of memory in the brain.
It influences perceptions and reactions.

Brain is the platform for all these actions.
Memory influences your perceptions,
Interpretations and reactions too.
Brain is only an eye witness for these acts.

Fear, passion, anger and belief are traits
Born with the brain in the lymphatic system
And are not learnt from experiences.
Belief is thus inherited through births.

Tendency to believe is the human trait.
Human brain predisposes us to believe
In the unknown, mystery and miracles.
Religions, gods and ghosts will not go away.

Burst out their lust
For their unavailable Queens
In their refined Classics.
Pity! Their words were never heard by their Queens.

In my outburst verses.

In ejaculation of their cries.
In me the solace is the ocean
For my cries reached the destination..

Ejaculation of desire is

Birth Is A Charger.

Life consists of body and mind,
Evolving from Life Energy.
Life energy is a current
Like the electrical current,
Running through appliances,
Animating the appliances,
And without being affected by them.
Birth is where recharging takes place..

Birth Is Not In Its Hand.

The birth is at the mercy of the death.
The life is a battle where the birth wages war.
Fears eat desires; losses cut profits;
Failures chase successes; sorrows kill joys.
Anxieties are the custodian of peace.
Threats come from rivals and enemies.
Threats come from unexpected quarters.
Each birth realizes that birth is a curse.
It's not in its hand but in its parents'.

Events and people existing
Before the birth and after the death

From sufferings and happiness.

Bitter Truths Are Buried

Down a stream came a woman, partly clothed, fully drenched.

By lonely stream strolled the woman;
no one at sight, she freely emoted.

Upon a rock by a brook fell she flat to bathe in sun.

Arms under nape, thighs wide apart,
she lay bare, charging her part.

She was caught from behind,
her twin hills under iron palms.

Though startled, not at all wild
as she was swayed heavily by impulses.

She minded not who the man was:
a lovely prince or a lowly brute.

She resisted not as she was sure
no one was there to bear a witness.

Willingly yielded and succumbed
she had, to the pleasure inflicted.

She was alone; so was she naked.
She was alone; so she granted.

Suffered the chastity before the secrecy.
A bitter truth and a hidden truth.

Black Holes Course Us.

Space-Time is a sheath with four dimensions
With Time as the fourth to length, width and breadth.
A massive object causes curvature
The way a rock does in a rubber sheet.
The bigger the mass, the more the depression.
If the massive object accelerated,
It would produce gravitational waves
The way a speed boat makes wake in water.

Black holes orbit one another, circles,
Come closer, speed up, spiral in, and colloid
With a huge burst of energy released.
The effect is the gravitational waves.
These waves penetrate any in the path.
The Gravity itself is the effect of
The curved geometry of Space-Time.
Waves from black holes course us on the earth.

Black Holes, The God's Weapon

Black holes are cosmic objects, mysterious;
Neither light nor matter can escape from it.
It resembles the eye of Sauron, a smoke ring
With a one way portal to eternity.

A black hole 55 million light years
Away from the earth has been photographed-
A bright ring enclosing a trapping black hole,
The seductive dragons of the universe.

Outwardly quiescent yet violent at the heart,
Black holes are uncanny, hostile, primeval.
They're emitting negative radiance
That gobble up light and matter coming close.

Black holes are strange monsters in galaxy.
For them creation is destruction,
Death is life and chaos is the order
Black holes are the God's ultimate weapon.

Brahmanin Taittiriya Upanishads

The dialogue between Varuna and Bhrigu
In the Taittiriya Upanishads
Is the first dissection of the concept
Of Brahman through five fold theories.

Creations are from food and become food.
Physicality of food pervades life
And is physical manifestation
Of Brahman as in Annamaya Kosha.

The vitality behind the body
Is Prana(Breathing) , which is like electrify
That runs through the wire to generate power.
This is known as Pranamaya Kosha.

Beneath prana, lies mind that is the cause
Of sensual knowledge, and characterised
By the power to will, wish and desire.
This is known as Manamaya Kosha.

More subtle than mind is cognitive skill,
The intellect, characterised by faith,
Justice and power to perceive and reason.
This is known as Vijnanamaya Kosha.

This layer is the innermost realm, Brahman.
It is characterised by no hate, no fear.
Atman-Brahman is the bliss that is he.
This stage is known as Anandamaya Kosha.

Bhrigu, the student is initiated
By Varuna, the teacher and Bhrigu
In each course of tapas realizes
Each of five theories to get enlightened.

Knowing Brahman will not bring you bliss.
Realizing Brahman can put you on bliss.
Being hateless and fearless is realization.
All the five sheaths are Brahman's manifestation.
"Bliss is Brahman; from bliss beings are born; by bliss, when born, they live; into bliss they enter at their death."

Brahmavihara is a Buddhist technique.
In which one meditates on four states of mind.
Maîtri is the universal kindness.
Karuna is the universal pity.
Mudita is the happiness one feels
In others' prosperity and well being.
Upeksha is having indifference
To any preferential treatment of any.

Maîtri bids loving all sentient beings.
It antidotes evolving enmity.
Karuna bids showing compassion to all.
It antidotes developing selfishness.
Mudita bids taking altruistic joy.
It antidotes nurturing jealousy.
Upeksha bids being indifferent.
It antidotes forming biased attitude.

Meditation in Buddhism is meant
For attaining Nirvana, the enlightening.
Meditation is taming of the mind.
It makes the one hatred-less, unselfish,
Jealous-less and unbiased in relations.
The four fold purification of mind
Makes the individual calm and serene
And gives him the effect of Nirvana.

Brain, Mind And Soul

Where is mind and where is soul? A mystery;
Brain is not mind and not its seat either.
Brain is creation, subject to decay.
Soul and mind aren't creations to die.

Brain is piano and mind is its music.
Piano cannot understand music played.
Brain cannot understand mind's display.
Mind is operative, through not by, brain.

Soul like mind is not creation unlike brain.
Soul, the musician, is innate in all cells.
Mind is active through brain because of soul.
Soul plays brain to project mind of thinking.

Intelligence is reflection of brain.
Healthy mind is not from intelligence.
Piano is not responsible for concord music.
It is soul, who from perceptions, play the tune.

Branches Of Love

Dear Lady!
Love branches three ways.
Love for one’s mate springs
From the feeling of security.
Love for one’s kids springs
For a hold in posterity.
Love for pets like sorts
Is for one’s supremacy.
No clashes! No rivals!
I long for your supremacy.
From mate and kids
There will be no clashes.
So grant me asylum.

Branching Looks Away

Who can you rely on and when?
Your brothers and sisters
Till they are married off.
Your own siblings too
Till they are married off.
Your parents only when
You are the lone child.
Identity separates;
Plurals discriminate.

Bravery Defined

What is bravery?
To hunt a tiger,
To win a battle,
To kill an enemy
Or to face a danger?

The bravery is
To confess the truth,
To repent for the sin,
To accept the ignorance
And to reap punishment.

The bravery is
To win within
And not to win without.

Braving Shame

Starved of love in the childhood,
Married as raw in the teenage,
And put up by raw masculinity,
A woman, however chaste,
Lets herself fall vulnerable,
Her floodgates of romance thrown
Open to a new comer
At an appropriate time
And she elopes, braving shame
And deserting the family.

The plaited hair gave way for a chignon;
The low neck blouse is made a close neck one.
A plain silk sari in the place the voile;

It's the reward for her whole-time sacrifice
To the queen and she claimed it for herself.
The knights were in attention and gave way.

Change The Pair To Get Flair.

The rays of sun fall on the blades of leaves.
The leaves are excited, and undergo
Chemical changes with warmth of the sun.
Yesterday, and before, it happened.
Those rays were different, though of the Sun.
The rays of each day feel they are the first
And woo the leaves to the guile of the leaves.
As though the leaves are virgin

The law of diminishing utility
Does not operate in love making
When the pair is altered and instead,
Ensures optimum eroticism.

Chaste Still They Are.

Stigma attached to infidelity
Is fizzling out with guilt feeling lying low,
Among the middle aged couples,
With easy access from modern devices.

Marriage is still valid for the child care,
Identity and property transfer.
Transcendence in sex is sought to regain Thrills that they miss from their partners gone stale.

For a night stand, for a fling or for intimacy
Partners give each other moving spaces
With tacit understanding for crossing floors,

Chastity In India

Chastity for woman will come to play
Only when she's been wedded to a man.
It is a pledge a woman makes to a man
At marriage that she is faithful to him till death.

Premarital love had and aborted
Will not affect her post marriage status.

The time is not far for Indians,
For the virginity to lose its value,
For the divorcée to have social respect

Adultery is a sport of courage.
Women are on the march to polygamy.

Chastity, A Myth

A prey of the pursuit
Or a pawn of the assault
Though one may fall,
The one is not unchaste.

A victim of the molestation
Or a ruin of the rape
Though one is made,
The one is not unchaste.

A model, a nude
Or love embrace on stage,
Though one may do,
The one is not unchaste.

Enough to be a coquette,
No need of adultery,
One practices infidelity.
Tumbles down the chastity.

Never in nakedness,
Never in sexy touch,
But only secret relation,
Chastity is tarnished.

Seduction of mind,
Followed or not by
Seduction of body
Tells upon ones chastity.

Whoever lived
That has lived not
Without the seduction of mind?
Then where is the chastity?

Chastity is a myth
Without a pith.

Chittore Rani Padmini (14th Century)

The legend of cute Queen Padmavati
Is a tale of lust and war, the tragic.
The epic poem of Padmavati was written
By Malik Muhammad Jayasi far back
In the early sixteenth century.
There are many versions of the epic
But all spoke of the beauty of the queen,
Lust of the Sultan and the glory of Rajput.

Padmavati, also known as Padmini,
Was the second wife by swayamvara
Of King Rawal Ratan Singh, who had ruled
Chittorgarh, also known as Chittore.
Padmavati is known for her beauty.
She was the daughter of king Hamir Sank,
The Chauhan ruler from Shingala kingdom.
Chittor Rani Padmini she has become.

Alauddin Khilji, the Sultan of Delhi,
Who ruled in the thirteenth century,
Heard of the beauty of Padmavati
From Raghav, a brahmin musician,
Who took refuge with the Delhi Sultan,
After he was banished from Chittore fort
For his indulgence in sorcery act.
He sang the queen's beauty, to settle his score.

Intrigued by the description of Padmini,
Alauddin marched with army to Chittorgarh.
Camping outside the fort, he sent a word
About his wish to see the beauty of the queen.
Not to upset the Sultan and invite his wrath,
Ratan Singh relented to the Sultan's wish,
Which Rani Padmini declined from modesty.
Rajput queens cannot be seen by strangers.

Rani was coaxed to let her reflection
From a mirror be seen by Alauddin.
Smitten by the beauty from the mirror,
He decided to have her as his own.
Her husband was kidnapped when he saw off
The Sultan outside his fort and Padmavati
Was bargained for exchange of the king.
Gora and Badal came to the queen's rescue. 5

In the name of Padmavati and her aids,
A hundred palanquins carrying soldiers
In disguise led by Gora and Badal
Reached Delhi and brought the king back.
Alauddin Khilji's rage went out of bound.
Meanwhile, Ratan Singh was killed in a duel
With Devpal, the king of Kumbhalner,
Who also was enamoured with Padmini.6

The Sultan army, unable to break the fort,
Laid siege on Chittor, cutting off supplies.
Many events took place and the fort fell.
Men dying in the battle, sensing the defeat,
Women in the fort, led by Padmavati
And Nagmati, the queens, committed jauhar,
By jumping into the huge fire pit set.
Alauddin got empty fort and the charred queen.

Cleopatra And Padmavathi

Cleopatra had been Egypt's queen.
No historical evidences lie.
Many versions of her tale circulate.
In all versions she is shown as beauty.

She has been dignified by Shakespeare
In his play, Antony and Cleopatra.
She has been on satire by Bernard Shaw
In his play, Caesar and Cleopatra.

Both plays were welcome and read all over.
The pride of Egypt was not held at stake.
The literary merit was taken into account.
The cultured Hindus stall Padmavathy's release.

Cleopatra’s Glory

Cleopatra was the queen of Egypt;
Cleopatra was the queen of beauty.
She came to the throne at her eighteen
The first century BC witnessed it.

To get back her Egypt from her brother,
She sought the hand of Julius Caesar,
The mighty one Rome had ever seen,
And set to sell her asset of beauty.

While in exile, she was able to reach
Caesar when he chanced to visit Egypt,
By getting her smuggled in to his room,
Rolled up in a carpet sent as a gift

Cleopatra emerging from the roll,
Caesar was stunned and fell for her in love.
He made her queen of Egypt in no time
And made her his consort with all respects.

Bound by her charm, grace and wit together,
Caesar clued to her and bore her a son.
He brought her home to be adored by Rome.
They led a life, each proud of the other.

The rise of Caesar was the cause of his fall.
His rise in power and love for Egypt
Were good enough for his conspirators
To rise and annihilate him unaware.

Cleopatra with her son fled to Egypt
And Mark Antony succeeded the throne.
No wonder, her beauty arrested him.
No wonder, his valour imprisioned her.

The Rome emperor and the Egyptian queen
Loved, like of which no pair ever did.
The spring sprang, love spurted, and the passion flowed.
She was all and she was the world for him.
He took to Egypt and slept with the queen.
His rivals from Rome used his weakness
And invaded the Egyptian sea.
War broke; Antony woke and fought but lost.

The majestic queen became the captive.
False news spread that she was killed. Shocked,
Antony killed himself with the sword he wore.
She sought to bury him with state honour.

She heard she would be taken to Rome,
To be chained and drawn in Rome she adorned.
Romans took care that she killed not herself
And so kept her ss safe amidst water.

She had serpents brought in the fruit basket
And had them sting her to join her lover.
She loved Caesar and lived a royal wife.
She loved Antony and lived a loyal wife.

A woman can love as much in succession.
Widowhood is not an impediment
And the land after the harvest is not waste.
Cleopatra is a perfect example.

‘Age cannot wither her, not custom stale
Her infinite variety; other women cloy
The appetites they feed, but she makes hungry
Where most she satisfies.’ Shakespeare

Coherent Breathing Exercise

The autonomic nerves system runs
The automatic functions of organs.
Respiration process has an effect on these.
We can impact it involuntary though.

The autonomic nerves system shifts
Itself between two states in respiration.
Sympathetic state: fight or flight mood.
Parasympathetic state: calm and relaxation.

Inhalation activates sympathetic state.
Energizing is the productivity.
Exhalation effects parasympathetic state.
Calmness is the consolidation.

With breathing technique we can manipulate
Emotional and psychological states.
With the slow and deep breathing exercise
We can heighten productivity with less stress.

Inhale and exhale longer and deeper
Without holding breaths. Be it five full breaths
A minute for five minutes in a relaxed mood,
With eyes shut, to enjoy realization.

Come Out Of Religion

Religion comes from Latin word ‘re-ligere’
Meaning ‘to bind’. So all religions bind.
Religions have been thriving all the years
Because they have organised to find the mass.

Individuals are more vulnerable
Than the collective and hence religion.
The closer the bonds more the rituals.
The more the rituals more the bonds.

Religion is an army that derives
Its strength from the discipline it enforces.
Each religion brain washes its people
On the efficacy of that religion.

The oneness is premised on the otherness.
To each religion others are inferior.
Rivalry and conflicts are the history.
Blood-sheds and massacre are the legacy.

To unbind oneself from the bondages
Of the organized religion is good.
Walk alone. To walk alone is the start up
To the spiritual journey sans religion.

Shedding of the blinkers of religion
Is the first step of the solitary walk.
Unidentified with any religion
You are free to emulate religions.

Comparing Is A Devil

Sensing the evilness of comparing.

Comparing with others in their success,

One wastes one's energy otherwise at hand.

The antidote to making comparison

Adults give birth to new ones and will die.
The new ones grow to adults and give births.
The adult protrudes its mass and energy
While it itself dissolves into the earth.

Formless consciousness takes variant forms,
Which are, however, impermanent.
Body, senses and mind make human form.
Human form is made of fluent energy.

The energy is undying and unborn.
The life energy manifest in forms
Dies not when the form disintegrates
And only extends when new one develops.

ugam Chettiar.
Consciousness Is The Soul.

What is Soul? Consciousness is.
Where is it? In the brain radiating.
Consciousness is life energy
That activate like electricity.

What is death? The death of the brain.
With this, dead is the consciousness,
Which spells out the death of the soul.
There is no exit of souls from deaths.

Consciousness transmits to a new one
Through gamete cells that fuse
To form a zygote to an embryo.
The parents' consciousness later dies.

Consciousness is off at death
As electricity is off when fuse goes off.
The body dead is the organic feed
Transformed to salts by worms and germs.

Consensual Sex

Sexual adultery is consensual sex;
Yet men are alert to punish it out
As they see in other women their wives
And in men paramours, from jealousy

How can you indulge
That I couldn’t myself?

Consensual Sex Clarified

Woman's consent for sex with a person
Is not a mere acceptance to the deal
But must be ridden with passion for him.

Consensual sex encountered by her
For material gratification,
From submission or obligation
Is neither consensual sex nor rape.

Contentment Is Happiness.

Contentment leads to your satisfaction.
Satisfaction leads to your happiness.
Contentment is a neuro-hormonal Complex in the brain that controls your greed.

Greed is a primal desire regulated
By a neurological centre
Formed of neurons in the ventral portion
Of the hypothalamus in the brain.

These neurons set programme that determines
The quantum for gratification.
The programme is set with input drawn
From the database of the past memories.

How greedy you are is governed by brain.
You are the victim of the programme set.
Unbridled lust and insatiable hunger
Can be the resultant factors for creed.

Memories of the past provide input
To the programme operative in the brain.
It determines the level of one’s greed
In accordance to the unfulfilled desires.

Contentment is opposite to greed.
Greed must come down to attain happiness.
Programme must be reset with new input
Powered by the will and the discretion.

Contentment is an interaction
Between the consumer and the consumed.
Bliss is the realization effects
From interaction of subject and object.

Thus, Vedic religion becomes the Hindu Religion.
Islam did conversion in replacing the Vedic gods.
Christianity did conversion through service.

Could Be A Cruel Mother

My husband’s mother loved,
Cared and nursed my son,
More than she did her son,
Pouring her sweats and time.

Someone caring my son
Must be a source of pride
To me beside a relief.
Yet I felt most perturbed.

The child grew under her care;
The child found a good time
To be found near her
With its back towards me.

The lady must exit.
She did as I planned.
The child fell sick and felt
Bad about her absence.

I’ve been much relieved.
The child has much grieved.
I became much spirited
And the child, dispirited.

The welfare of the child
Was not my concern, ho!
My sole concern was that
It was under my spell.

Tired of five kids, she refused to have another.
Unsecured still was I, with her charm still tormenting.
Helpless, I saw her go to balls to move with lords.

With out any regret that, to make her barren
I have gone for an intensive cultivation.

Cry Of The Man

Not that I had none
Or that bad is mine,
I want your toy.

Not that mine is broken
Or that it is slackened,
I want your toy.

Not that yours is rare
Or that it is super,
I want your toy.

That yours is strange
And in your range,
I want your toy.

Not for an exchange
But for a change,
I want your toy.

Lest you should covet
I shall keep a vigil
Over my own toy.

I can’t elope with yours.
I can’t abduct it.
Yet I want your toy.

You won’t spare it.
You won’t sell it.
Still I want your toy.

Let me play behind.
You lost no joy.
You lost no toy.

It is the cry of man
in ethics ridden clan.

Cry Out

Shedding of tears is a safety valve.
Wanting to cry but unable to
And wanting to cry but refusing to
Are equally bad to soul and body.
You must cry and come to terms with yourself.
You must cry and feel calm after a storm.
It is not futile to cry over the spilt milk
If it demands a cry from your heart.

Over a period of time and accumulate
Along with things bought and kept in the house.

You don't set out to steal things. It happens
And you're an accidental plagiarist.

Each one consoles himself feeling

Cursing for the self denial.

It is like snatching, of violence.

Death And Birth

Death leads to birth rather than birth, to death.
Birth is close to death and not vice versa.
Every birth is at the result of a death.
Death to birth, not birth to death, is the path.

The death of clay is the birth of a pot;
The death of the pot is the birth of clay.
Ice melts to water and water forms ice.
In each conversion, occur death and birth.

The death of a night is the birth of a day;
The death of a day is the birth of a night.
New Year means the death of the old year too.
In each transition, takes place death and birth.

The death of a seed is the birth of a plant;
The death of gametes is the birth of an embryo.
Salts die to form cells; cells die to form salts.
In each growth, form death and birth of matter.

The so called death and birth is nothing but
Deaths and births of forms made of matter.
The matter itself does not die to be born
But is converted to different forms.

Elements disappear to form plants.
Plants as food add to the animals’ flesh.
Plants and animals on death liberate
As elements, serving through worms and germs.

When a child is born, there’s no birth of life.
The embryo transforms into a child.
When a man dies, there is no death of life.
The body disintegrates to salts.

Matter, energy and life have no death
They have got one birth since when they’ve been.
They interact and come different stages
In which the pattern is death and birth.

Who is the male: the soul or the body?

Death proves about uncertainty of life.

Death Is Not The Harvest Of Life

Swami Ramona Maharishi!
He lived a humble, holy life.
He blessed a lot; he cured a lot.
He lived without stress, without strains.

He suffered a terrible end.
Not yet ripe, he developed cancer,
Suffered repeated surgery
And died after two year agony.

Sri Sathya Sai Baba, His Highness!
A God incarnation, he claimed.
He healed all by super power.
He predicted the time of his death.

He died a decade earlier.
He suffered a horrible death
After two months intensive care,
When acute pain ruled him throughout..

Their way of life does not deserve
The type of end they were to get.
Their sufferings must have been worse
Than the most of their devotees.

What does it mean and signify?
Death is not the harvest of life.
Because you live a worthy life
You can’t ensure a painless death.

Death Means Death Of Memory

Death is a stage no one wants to reach
Though is a stage no one can escape.
No rivalry, no bribery to get it
Tough it is the highest reliever.
Death is dreaded by one and all in life
Because by it one’ memory is lost.

Death, A Reliever

Death is certain to every birth.
Death is not alike to every birth.
It varies in the time and the manner.
Death, the relief, terminates birth, the curse.

The end of a year leads to a New Year.
Death and birth merge on the New Year day.
Death is the dawn that beckons a new era,
Where there shall be no suffering, no joy.

A slap to follow a kiss if you give
Will a child like it and long for a kiss?
Death without rebirth is heaven assured
For which man can't work but contemplate.

To work for no-rebirth is as futile
As working for an instant death in life.
No good deeds done give guarantee for both.
Preparedness for death is death made easy.

Death, Be Not Proud!

Death, don’t think that you are the great.
Can you defy the suicides?
You are slave to many masters.
The king orders punishment.
Chance and accident take their toll.
Murders and war cause many deaths.
When a snake bites or a beast gulps,
Death occur; the pest too eats up.
They all happen not at your wills.
Fate kills the youth and poor maidens.
Death, don’t boast that you are the great.
Be calm; you are slave to the God.
Of course I fear you, not the God,
For you are merciless unlike the God..

De-Cluttering Is To Lighten

Your living room is cluttered when the mess
Is around you by way of things not needed,
Not in use, out of use and for future use,
That the space is not enough to contain.

Your mind is cluttered when you are burdened
With pending tasks, procreation effects,
Commitments and accumulated promises
That the time permits not to dispose of.

To purge out things is to tidy the room.
To purge out works is to tidy the mind.
There's a link between the mess around you
And the burden of pendency in your mind.

It is the urge of your subconscious plea
To set you free yourselves from the burden,
That prompts you to clean the mind and the room.
The need to purge is a psychological need.

Black hair, black skin, black eyes,

Emotion ridden and industrious.
The latter is grass-eating, lust tamed,

Of my air-sacs,

And is the vibes
Of my nerves,

Whether or not
You echo my aspiration,
Whether or not
You perceive my perspiration,
You cannot deny
That it is I
Who made you know
Your beauty,
Who made you grow
Younger and younger,
Who made you glow
Brighter and brighter,
And who uncovered
Your buried passion.

How could it be
That you’re ungrateful,
That you’re heartless,
Pity-less and unrelenting,
Notwithstanding
The affected heart,
The disturbed mind,
And the fragile frame?
How can you be
What you are?

My unbent ego
Is bent before you
And bent on you.
My unsoiled image
Is at stake
For your sake.
Going on kicking
Is also foolery.
bearing its kicking
Ever long is equally foolery.

My empathy for you
Is total and categorical.
Your sympathy for me
Is vital and crucial.
Your apathy towards me
Is brutal and fatal.

Show me
That you have relented.
Show me

Is it due to shy or fright?

Or denied action
Resulting at

Election empowers those who can vote

A sense of belonging to the elected ones
Gives the voters a sense of security.

The need for power is born out of fear.

The Hindu philosophy advocates
Detachment from worldly things and people
As the means to march towards God's Kingdom,

Detachment demands removal of desire.

With desire, comes the purpose of life.

Devastating Hindu Stalwarts

Andal was from Devadsi, some said.
Hindu pundits rose with rage, words and awords.
Devadasi is a community
That held arts and cultures alive till now.

Stalwarts in music, vocals and dance were they.
Bharatha natyam monopolized
By Brahmins had been their Sadhir.
Every kingdom respects its artisans.

A question is put to Hindu pundits.
Do you consider low that community
As you did adivasis and hill settlers?
Do you brand devadasis as prostitutes?

Mind that when you hold it an insult
To Andal as linked with devadasi lineage
You are denigrating a community
And insulting it with indignity.

An illusion; a product of ignorance.

The objects are seen in the Sunlight.
Seeing the object is not the proof of the Sun.
It's not that a thing is not existent
Simply because no one has perceived it.

When you start telling a loved one
What he or she would like to hear
Rather than what you wish to say,
You are losing your dignity.

A yearning for one’s dignity
Is the strongest of all desires.
It must be the last sacrifice
One must be willing to make.

What you can give up to maintain
Dignity will make your self-worth.
What you can receive at the cost
Of dignity will mar the self-worth.

To set aside your self esteem
So as to give in to demands,
Would help you setting a pattern
You’ll be expected to repeat.

True love presupposes trust
And not surrendering dignity.
Trust is built upon honesty,
Which is spoilt by greediness.

Under coercions, one would do great wrongs.
Hoping for an escape, caught in impulsion,
Or out of revenge, one might do some wrongs.
Be causes any, outcome is irksome.

What about the people doing much wrong
As a sport or an adventure through out
Or the ones who do wrongs with preparedness
To undergo the punishment of any range?
They're diseased, need treatment, not punishment.

If you fix the target,
You will miss the process.
If you fix the time frame,

Forget about targets;

Why must she have then her name?

Dopamine, The Neuro- Chemical

A word of praise, you strive for.
A nod of love, you long for.
To seek or work for a reward
Is due to a neuro-chemical,
Dopamine, present in the brain.
Giving up the reward itself
Is a reward. In sacrifice
Of parents, it can be found.
One’s motivation to progress
Depends on the quantum of
Dopamine and the amount released
From the pull of the object.

Doubt Is Faith's Shade.

Doubt is the precursor to faith.
Doubt is the base for certainty.
Doubts in faith, hopes in failure
And fear in success are their shadows.

On rocks of doubt and to the ground
Of faith he leaps with no thinking.

'Down to the town to get some hay.
Will you come with me? ' 'No, not I'

I met a cobbler as I went walking.
We got talking, he and I.
'Where are you now going to, brother? '
'Down to the town to buy some leather.

Will you come with me? ' ' No, not I'

'I shall come with you.' Said I and went.

Dr Rm Alagappa Chettiar

It is rare to find any where a man
Who is eager to part with his money.
It is rare also to find any man
Who wants to earn in order to part with.
Dr. RM Alagappa Chettiar
Of Chettinad is such one, who had lived
In the early twentieth century,
With a limited life of forty eight years.

His reputation as a great donor
Cannot be excelled by any person
But only by his own reputation
As an astute industrial magnet.
He established colleges in his place
Where and when there were none in existence,
Not as a source for making huge money
But as a means to educate the common.

He donated to universities,
And brought a Central Research Institute
To his place against the adversaries,
Offering vast land and lavish money.
He rubbed his shoulder with Jawhar Lal,
Made company with C P Ramswamy,
And R K Shanmugam chetti and got
Love of Lakshmana swami Mudhaliar.

An intellectual, an entrepreneur,
An eminent personality
And an unparallel philanthropist
He had been in his short period of life.
That he had lost his parents at young age,
That his daughter lost his mother at her two
And that he lost his health to skin disease
Did not deter him in his endeavours.

As a student of his, I bow to him
With all humility and devotion.
But for his vision, the pupils like us
Could not have come what we are today.

Democracy

And for the people.

Eco-democracy
Is of the people, by the people
And for all the lives.

In democracy
There is no room for others:
Animals, plants and the one celled.

From democracy
Breeds other species extinctions.
Pollution and weather change follow.

It is time for change.
Prune man's growth and give space to plants,
Animals and germs to grow and balance.

Education has armed women with freedom.
It has clothed them with pride too.
She is free to mingle but hard to crack.
You can be with her in liberty
Without taking her liberty.
Conscious of her looks and passion,
She is there for you to admire
And only in wait to perspire.
She can grant you every thing
Even her heart but not herself.
Having men conquer her body
Seems to her as being trapped.
Well guarding self, she spares
Her husband all anxieties.

Edwina Mountbatten (1900 - 60)

Edwina was patrilineally descended
From the Earls of Shaftesbury.
When Lord Louis Mountbatten met Edwina,
She was a leading member of London
Society and their marriage, which was held
In nineteen twenty-two, attracted crowds
Of the royal family with prime heads.
It was dubbed then 'the wedding of the year.'1

Edwina was one of the most beautiful
Women In England, said Drew Pearson.
She was known to have affairs all her life
And did little to hide it from her husband,
She herself being ten times richer than him.
A disgruntled wife took Edwina to court
For her indulgence with the married men.
Hugh and Laddie were her serious lovers. 2

Edwina's interests in India's
Freedom struggles pushed her into the arms
Of Jawaharlal Nehru, a person
Of charismatic personality.
A man of passion and sensitivity,
Nehru found in her a kind of solace
That he hadn't got from his deceased wife.
Edwin-Nehru love blossomed in forty-five.3

It was from the hand of Lord Mountbatten
That the freedom of India was delivered.
Edwin was instrumental for its happening,
Which was because her crush on Nehru.
Both of them were remarkable people
Needing each other with high intellect.
The volumes of letters Nehru wrote her
With love were preserved by Mountbatten.

Edwina had the chance of privacy
With Nehru when he visited London
Two years after India's freedom.
She maintained live contact with India
In order to have Nehru's company.
Whenever Nehru visited London
He stayed with Edwina and Mountbatten.
She often came to India to stay with him.

It was in sixty and Nehru was past seventy.
He invited Edwin the Republic Day.
She had privacy with him during the stay.
It was her last meeting with Jawahar.
She left him without telling about her health.
Edwina's death came soon and shocked the world.
Hearing it, Nehru was a broken man.
Homage was paid to her in the both houses.

Mountbatten knew that Edwin loved Nehru.
Indira knew that her father found a soul.
Vijaya Laxmi Pandit complimented her
Saying Edwin came to her brother's life
When he had no wife and fulfilled the void.
'The God or some fairy gave you beauty,
Intelligence, grace and vitality- great gifts.'
Nehru told her, recognizing her greatness.

Effect Is Cause

Cause and effect theory is at work,
By which one event leads to another.
Cause gives effect and effect turns a cause.
Impermanence is inevitable.
Inter-dependence is indispensable.
Suffering is due to the mistaken

You’re not the sole cause of the outcome.

Her honesty speaks; her country's standard tells.
It happened in a developed country.
If that culture spreads to the weak areas
Then it is called globalization.

Emotional Quotient For Leadership

E.Q. is the scale based on mind;
I.Q. is the scale based on brain.
Both are more hereditary than acquired.
I.Q. is needed to accomplish things.
E.Q. is needed to deal with humans.
Education can sharpen one's I.Q..
Interaction can better one's E.Q.
E.Q. demands no high level learning.

To be a leader, to be a ruler
Or to be a successful business man
A high level the prime need.
To lead a team, to captain a crew
Or to run any organization
A high level E.Q is pronounced.
I.Q. can earn you a good position.
E.Q. must you have to retain it.

Leaders are born and not made; the one made
Would help the body lose its fabrics.
A drop out can employ many managers.
To risk and not to shirk responsibilities,
To have a tough mind in adversities
And to be fearless to face opponents
Are the basic straits for a peak E.Q

An M.B.A. will not earn you
Any leadership quality
Unless you are well supported
By a high level E.Q., ho.
Indira Gandhi was not good
In study but with high E.Q.
Ruled India with iron hand.
Her son Rajive wasn't a leader.

Empathy Is Pillars

If someone has been hostile to us
We brood on it and repay it to him.
If someone has made us victims
We take it to make others victims.
If someone has been beneficent,
We get no adequate drive to repay it.
If someone has helped us in distress
We don’t go forward to help others.
Sword for sword but not bread for bread;
Such trend grows at the cost of empathy.
Unless parents become role models
And put a check, the pillars will crack.

Empowerment Of Women

How can we arm the one who is already armed?
How can women empower themselves,
while already in power?
Her flesh is the ground and her love, the goal.
Every man’s aim is to play and earn her, the goal.
Her sex rules men. She, the ruler, makes men slave.
Battles were won and lost by men over women.
Men were dead for the women and by the women.
Women know they are rulers and men are cringers
Women are the cause of tussle; else peace will rule.
Sexuality and hedonism betoken woman’s power.

Energy Consists Of Ibido

To live and to leave the copies,
Energy is stored and spent
In every organism.

Through meristem, growth and seeds
And through cambium, thickening
And repairs take place in all plants.

Equal to meristem are sperms
And ovum, and to cambium
Are somatic cells in animals.

Energy in man is stored
To spend in metabolism
And in sexual orientation.

Curb not sexual activities.
Spurn not consensual sex.
Don't forbid sex in media.

Watching love scenes is an escape.
Watching porn is an escape.
Libido must find way to leak.

Entities Of Shiva

Shiva Siddhartha is not an offshoot
Of Vedanta but an entity
Different in their metaphysics
And preexists to Aryan's Vedanta.

Proto Shiva in the pasupathi seal
Found from Mohenjo daro excavation,
A civilization of five thousand year old,
Stands as a testimony to its era.

Pasu-Pathi-Pasam, which will translate
To Soul-God-Bondage is the principle.
To reach God, the Soul must rip the Bondage:
The mala of Anava, Karma and Maya.

Anava, the egoism or individuality,
Karma the actions that have consequences,
And Maya, the delusion, are impurities
That bind souls from reaching the Almighty.

Soul is many unlike one in Vedanta.
Maya is not illusion as in Vedanta.
The Supreme and the souls are distinct
Unlike Vedanta that sees them as one.

Shiva is Mahakaal: Controller of Time;
Shiva is Rudra: God of Wild beasts;
Shiva is Yogeshwara: the Supreme.
The three eternal entities of God.

Epics Are For The Weak.

A hero is the one, who steps out of door,
Leads for a cause and braves the dangers,
Fight fearless, destroys evils and achieves
The benefits to the community he led.

Epics will have a hero, a sub-hero
And an antihero in the story
With an emperor to adjudicate
Or exercise it in his absence.

In the Ramayana of Valmihi,
Rama was the hero and Lakshmana,
The sub-hero with Ravan, antihero,
The emperor being an absentee.

In the Mahabharata of Sage Vyas,
Arjun was the hero and Yudhister,
The sub-hero with Duryadan, antihero,
The emperor being Lord Krishna.

The oppressed and deprived communities
Watch the epics, assume themselves as heroes,
And experience catharsis in the process
To be back to their occupied positions.

Equilibrium Of Life

'Life is an equilibrium state
Between synthesis of protein
And degradation of protein.'
As long as vital organs are
In equilibrium there is life.
Synthesis implies creation;
Degradation means annihilation.
Both are an ongoing process.

They together can contribute
To equilibrium in one's life.
Creation consumes energy,
By which the system is taken
To a non-equilibrium state.
Degradations lower energy,
By which the system is brought
To equilibrium state again.

Equilibrium in matter
Is tilted by the force around.
Equilibrium of a person

From the bed of rose, he thought of thorn.

She ekes out; He weeps out.
She is coolly; He is gloomy
As a maid, she is hit, he doubly.
As her son is denied food,
He resolves to forgo his food.
She is more than his wife.
Her son is more than his.
Her humiliation is his humiliation.

As a widow, she is undisturbed
As a lover, he is perturbed.
He is not an ex-lover to her
But she is so, to him.
Her identity unfolds.
As his wife sulks
She flees their home.
He is upset.
Doubts are cleared.
His wife is reconciled.

He finds her son back
The son is backing home.
He is his foster father.
He cannot be the foster husband.
Her son and his daughter
Grow together
He could not live for her.
He wanted to live for her son.

His love for her
Is subtly sublimated on her son.
He does it with the hope

Extra Power Shown Is Magic.

Spirituality is associated
With acquiring some extra power
To predict future and cures disease,
And to be a beckon to the people.

The Hindu traditions recognize this.
Mythologies, Histories and epics

Saints and seers the people had become,

Faith And Its Role

There are two kinds of faith people live with:
Faith in lordship and faith in fellowship;
The first is that someone will do for you
And the second is others won't fail you.

With faith in the shepherd, the sheep follow.
With faith in the fellow sheep, the sheep feed.
Without faith in system, you can't follow.
Without faith in others, you can't transact.

Faith in God, faith in fate and faith in luck
Would weaken the faith you have in yourself.
Faith in love, faith in trade and faith in helps
Would slacken the cognizance you possess.

Faith can't be dispensed with altogether.
Faith in the unknown has no guarantee.
Faith in the known has no certainty
But can strengthen their faithfulness to you.

Faith in parents and faith in teachers,
Faith in doctors and faith in medicine
And faith in judges and in justice
Denounced altogether, one cannot exist.

Faith in spouses and faith in children,
Faith in siblings and faith in servants
And faith in professional ethics
Abandoned altogether, one cannot thrive.

Without faith, promises bear no meanings.
Without faith, guarantees have no bearings.
Without faith, investments will have no life.
Only with faith could life be felt secure.

Faith might crack when it is misplaced.
Faith might break when it's sabotaged.
Faith might crash when it's blindfolded.
Yet, one has to vouch for faith in life.
Faith comes from ignorance of things.
Faith comes from lack of influence.
Faith comes in helpless conditions.
Faith exercises no control yet.

Have faith in you and accept the outcome.
Have faith in others and give allowance.
Have faith in future and shelve the distress.
Faith vacated, worries will occupy.

Faith And Language

A religion is born from a language,
And grows amongst the people who speak it,
Taking the people's costume and customs
As its own and with it, it migrates.
Converts embrace more the costume and rites
Than the faith to show their solidarity.
Commune with the God is the language
Original not understood by the mass.
The languages major religions were born in
Are dead and kept, like mummy, for prayer.

Faith And Reason

Knowledge is memory renewed
From perception and experience
Put to the test of reasoning,
Inference and some conviction.

Faith refers to a strong belief
That lacks reason and evidence.
It rests on inspiration
Intuition and revelation.

Knowledge is built also on faith,
The faith on the perception,
The faith on the gathered knowledge
Inference and hypothesis.

Whether or not we could explain
Our beliefs that we hold all along,
We associate with the believers
And pursue the faith, with blind eyes.

Faith comes through non-reasoning means-
The subtle influence of others,
The feelings from the happenings
And the cause and effect connects.

Faith cannot be wiped by reason.

Faith In God

Hope is alive till its result is out.
Belief exists till the proof has come out.
Faith, not different from both, follows suit.
Faith in God, unproven, is immortal.

Man’s faith in God is unassailable.
With that faith he lives; with that faith he dies.
Man comes and man goes but faith in God flows.
Faith in God, unproven, stands immortal

Faith In Judiciary

Why is there punishment-
In the court or outside?

An act of revenge to the victim’s behalf?
As a deterrent to the offender?
As a discouragement to others?
To uphold the law of the land?

What, if wrongly punished?
What, if wrongly acquitted?
What of inordinate delay?
What of seeming connivance?

A child drops a glass wear that breaks.
Mother gets angry and beat the child.
A lesson to it and its siblings as well.
Her anger gets an outlet to cool down.
What, if she beats it after one month?

When delay is endemic in courts,
What good the courts do to subjects.
Misrule provokes revolution.
Faith in judiciary must not be shaken.

Faith In Luck

Is luck different from chance and fortune?
Is luck a demand-able commodity?
It, like a chance, comes unasked and un-timed.
It, like fortune, selects one with blind eyes.

Luck rules in gambles and in lotteries.
To be born with a silver spoon is luck.
To beget one who’s got the crown is luck.
To get more than the efforts put is luck.

Luck favours who dares, though not all the time.
Luck is there but not under your control.
Resilience when put in adversities
Is a positive way of countering luck.

To get what you deserve is to be luck
In that it has prevented any lapses.
An amount of luck, good or bad, is there
In what happen to us, unexpected.

Faith is the boat
By which one sails.
It is the same boat
By which one sinks, too.

With which one retreats.

When to have faith
And when to not have it
Is mere a chance
Beyond one’s prediction.

Family Deity

It is my family God, made of stone,
Standing aloof away from my village.
What cult He belongs to, none of us knows.
He is not the one who has made the world.

Generation after generation,
We worship and propitiate to him,
A a warrior to ward off evils,
To fulfill boons and meet our curses.

Other gods we would change from time to time
And space to space according to fashion
But not He whom we more fear than love.
He is in our gene, no matter where we live.

In spite of tragedy we encounter,
Suffering and sorrow we undergo,
Still we believe in His efficacy,
And do tonsuring to each child born.

Lest we invite His wrath and cost our lives.

The world is beyond one's comprehension.
We have no clue to many of happenings.
We discover how things are performing
With no answer as to why they do so.
Why must the sun burn, the earth revolve
And rotate and living things come into being?
We are, therefore, left to perceive the world
Only through a frame of references.

Fate, Free Will and God are the chief three frames
Through which we see all manifestations.
We are left no choice but to withdraw
To our constructed realities
With inherent limitation explained
Away by myth and Mythology.
No wonder, we believe the mythology
As we do in Fate, Free Will and God.

Fear And Its Role

Fear is an apprehension of events.
Fear is a warning of repercussion.
An alarm bell of scarcity of needs,
Impending dangers or any phobia;

Fear is a problem of mind, internal.
To reason it out can lessen the fear.
Faith is a solicitor against fear.
Fight or flight is an option to face it.

Anger and anxiety are its products.
Blushing and shyness are its silver line.
Love and hate are its manifestation.
Fear fears shame; fear fears one's reputation.

Fear is the brake to desires unbridled.
Fear is the reins to evil tendencies.
Fear is a mind awakening process.
Fear is the nature of the insecure mind.

Risk is fear's opponent component.
Greed is fear's compulsive controller.
Honour blinds fear; love and sex blind fear.
Sans fear, one is ignorant or mad.

Fear And Lust, Co Born.

Fear: that you can’t tear.
It has come with you from womb
When you were thrown out
To air medium from water medium.

Lust: that you can’t burst.
It is there in your gene,
In a form from the zygote,
To rule till end in your domain.

Fear that you can’t tear
Till you succumb to the fear.
Lust that you can’t burst
Till you succumb to death.

Fear Can Rule The Tendency To Rape

Man robs from hunger; otherwise also.
With mind sick, he does; as a sport he does.
Man rapes from hunger; otherwise also.
With mind sick, he does; as a sport he does.

Having sex is a sin, or an offense,
Man's possessiveness over woman,
And men acting as moral policing
Will help illicit or forceful sex.

Rape is as controllable as murder.
Both haven't been eliminated ever since.
Both are impulsive and calculative.
Self education is most essential.

Both occur as hit and run, unnoticed
And unpredictably, with lust or revenge.
Without fear for sure, harsh punishment,
Tendency to do these will not come down.

ugam Chettiar.
Fear Complex

Love and hate are born of fear.
Fight or flight is the effect of fear.
The more you fear the more you please.
The more you fear the more you hate.
All attributes, good or bad,
Stem from the feeling of fear.
Fear was brought in with us.
It will go only when we go.

Fear of revenge or repercussions,
Fear of falling a victim,

Ahalya was turned into a stone
For her lecherous thought of Indra,
Though she was tired of her old man
In preference to the sky god.

For her sexual desire for him,
As if it were a heinous crime.

On seeing a man taking bath
In the river while she fetched water.

Sati is the mythic term used
For a woman who is so chaste
That she obtains magical power
Even to withstand heat of fire.

Eve defied God and ate the fruit
Forbidden and she was punished
And made answerable to Adam-

Mary gave birth to Jesus Christ,

Flaw In The Law

God made woman a temptress
And man, a hungry wolf for her.
Hence, polygamy was in vogue.
Is it a flaw in God's law?

ugam Chettiar.
Flaws In The Laws

To rape is severer than to murder one,
With a penalty of capital punishment,
Thanks to the revised law in the parliament,
At the wake of raping and killing victims.

Accusation can act as a sole proof.
Anonymity of accuser is kept.
Anyone on a complaint can be booked,
Locked up, tried and sent to prison to rot.

To rape is a non-bailable offence.
Rape includes attempts to rape or molest,
Stalking and any suggesting comments,
Not to say about impulsive signals.

Flaws in laws come on what all are raping.
Grouping all types of sexual attempts as rape
And put men in lock up and then to jail,
That causes them a civil death, is cruel.

Lust and anger, both impulsive, come unasked.
Attempt to flirt is not attempt to rape.
To settle her personal score with a man
The revised law is handy for a woman.

No one wants to hire women for a job.
No male coach or guide to women aspirants.
No one knows from where, when and in what form
Will come an attack, and all men are scared.

Cooperation into guarded hostility
Is the result of friendships across the sex.
Segregation between sexes is set.
Isolation of women from men is bought.

Flirt, To Be Young

Flirting Gets Approval

Men are always in searching mood.
Women are in selecting mood.
Contacts between man and woman
Are liable to spark sexual love.

It must be man who initiates.
The first clue must be eye contacts.
Be his moves not a creeping way;
Be she not made in discomfort.

Respect the freedom of woman
And acknowledge her boundaries.
To manage a woman to like
And engage her in love is an art.

To flirt makes both feel of their worth.
In absence of sanction of sex,
Mere flirt is a sublimation
To address one's sexuality.

Be moves as if incidental.
Be touches to seam casual.
Woman buys time to gather courage.
Be intimacy her option.

As long as secrecy guarded
And the woman not embarrassed,
Flirting could be kept well alive
With passion drawn in high voltage.

No flirt is to prolong forever.
To keep it as long as possible
Is the aim of the game engaged.
Flirtation is not adultery.

For Salvation

Knowledge is the cause of liberation.
Knowledge is the light of ignorance.
Karma is powerless to destroy ignorance
As it is not in conflict with ignorance.

The self can be seen only through knowledge.
The phenomenal world is the mental work.
Meditation can take you to a higher plane.
Karma has nothing to do for salvation.

For Some Respite

The world is a web; things are connected,
Animate and inanimate, into it.

No suffering is exclusive to one.
No God comes to rescue to anyone.
Localized species wise mutual
Relationships can provide some respite.

Later that name itself is wiped.

Forbidden Kisses [adult]

Woman's lower lip is more sensuous.
Clamp your lips around it and press it lightly.
She would melt against you and cling to you.
Clamp your teeth around it and pull it gently.
She would yield against you and embrace you.
She'd fasten her teeth over your top lip.
Groaning, you would thrust your tongue to meet hers.
Both tongues clinging, dancing and quarreling,
You both would feel a doing of coitus,
With your tongue as the proxy of your part
And her mouth as the proxy of her part.
Forbidden pairs are content with kisses.

Forbidden, Not Forgotten

Under a roof we were, growing to know each other;
I was right in her yard
that she nodded in concord;
Both were drawn in closely and in perfect consonance.

We grew a little thicker and felt for each other;
There came a Lakshmana Rekha
That she drew between us
From her guilt complex, to keep herself away from
The test of fidelity,
I, not crossing her threshold,
And she, not abandoning the threshold,
yet, both reverberating.
Forbidden and hence still in born is our love, but still with breath.

Slated for slaughter is a hostile act.
Ecology disturbed, life is threatened.

The tiger dies without forests.
The forest die without tigers.
The tiger protects the forest.

Sitting at the bark of a tree
Is handy and convenient,
Which is why Buddha and Mahavira
Gave their discourses under the tree.
Even schools were run under the tree.
The arboreal atmosphere
Was conducive to better learning
In the back drop of open space.

Swimming in summer is welcome.
Sun bath in winter is welcome.
Forest bath by visiting the wood
In all seasons must be welcome.
Sit under a tree for an hour,
Spending time to read or observe.
Released of stress you will return.
Fresh in mind and body you grow.

Spending sometime in the grove
Is the good time that you have spent.
Fresh air to breathe is possible.
Cool air experience is feasible.
Phytonicidessis the compound
That some trees release to defend Insect pests and microbes, by which
Your immunity will strengthen.

You and I bathed in the same pool.
There were many flashes and splashes.
I remember and you may have forgot.

Hide and seek that we have played many.
There were delights: no matter who won.
I remember and you may have forgot.

Heaven or Hell, both had been the same
When you lay on my arms, facing me
I remember and you may have forgot.

You were later shown a rosy branch
To perch on and you did it at a stretch.
I remember and you may have forgot

To have you back, the branch must die.
To leave you in peace, I must leave.
Let me go and you forget me not.

Forgiveness Antidotes Revenge.

Anger comes from provocation;
It can go out of proportion
Unlike the bounce that a ball gives,
Limited to its throw the wall.

Anger settles with revenge,
Which may go out of proportion.
It invites retaliation,
Which might go out of proportion.

Forgiveness antidotes revenge,
And mends the relationships,
With bitterness being erased
And the pain of revenge removed.

Forgiveness be voluntary.
The capacity of love lies
In its ability to forgive.
Act like mother, the best forgiver.

'Forgive me as I forgave others.,'
Appealed to Lord, Jesus Christ.
To put forth similar appeal,
You must have forgiven others.

In forgiving you're forgiven.
You must forgive to cross the bridge
So as to be forgiven of sins.
Done, you've done the hardest task.

'Forgiveness is the fragrance
That a sweet smelling flower
Like a rose or violet leaves
O the heel that has just crushed it.'

Forgiveness Has Three Stages.

Forgiveness completes in three stages:
Forgiveness; Reconciliation; Healing;

Forgiveness is accepting offenders
As a damage control exercise.

Reconciliation is rebuilding
Relationship that was strained or broken.

Healing is the resultant harmony
Total physically and mentally.

Human beings are relational beings.
To be human is to be inter-human.

It is human to beg for one’s pardon;
It is more human to offer pardon.

Forgiveness Is An Effort

Retaliation comes in spurts;
Forgiveness is brought with efforts.
If you don't forgive kin or friends
You will break the bridge made for them.
If you don't forgive a stranger
You will miss a bridge he would make.
Forgiveness maintains harmony;
Retaliation will break it.

ugam Chettiar.
Forgiving And Pardoning

To forgive, you must feel you have been hit.
To pardon, you must feel you have been hurt.
When you are hit or hurt if you don’t feel so
You surpass forgivers and pardoners.
Debts can be written off but not gift.
18.01.2010

Four Way Life (India)

Artha, Kama, Dharma and Moksha
Are the four fold ways of Hinduism.
Jainism and Budhism aren't different.
Dharma must govern artha and kama.

Kama, the enjoyment, is the purpose.
Artha, the wealth, is the means for it.
Dharma, the right conduct, is the controller.
Moksha, the liberation, is the end of life.

Kama must be scrutinized by Dharma.
Control five senses; covet not others'
Artha must be scrutinized by Dharma.
Earn not out of way; exploit not others.

Dharma is the society regulator.
To lie, to steal, to drink, to kill also
To covet others' are sins, Dharma bids.
Tolerance and compassion, Dharma bids.

Prosperity can bring you happiness.
Prosperity cannot ensure safety
Unless Dharma is practised by one and all.
Without dharma, Moksha is not at sight.

Freedom Is Bliss.

Freedom is the bliss.
To do what you like
Is not real freedom.
Being not answerable
Is not real freedom.
The real freedom is
That you get no need
To impress others.
No king can have it;
No saint can have it.
A lowly beggar
Can have it and the bliss.

Freedom Of Arts

Poetry and art are never chaste.
Be them forbidden to the ignorant.
Be them formidable to innocents.
Choice to read them rests the readers.

They can read or leave them as they chose.
They have no right to ban any works.
They have no right to attack authors.
The state should not be a spectator.

Limited to the ignorance

Freedom from the cell results
In bondage outside the cell.
Freedom from anger that

Raman is friendly with Rahman,
Who in turn friendly with Raman.

Do you know from what place men go from here?
Do you know how they return here again?
What are two paths through which soul ascends?
Do you know why that world never overflows?
Why in the fifth libation is water made Man?
King Pravahana Gaivali asked
Brahmin boy Svetaketu Aruneya in the court.
None of the questions could he answer.
The Shatrika tells the Brahmin thus:

The altar is cosmos, where the fuel is sun,
From where arose the moon.

The altar is clouds, where the fuel is air,
From where rises rain.

The altar is the earth, where the fuel is time(year) ,
From which rises food. (crop)

The Altar is man, where the fuel is speech,
From where rises semen (water)

The altar is woman, where the fuel is sex,
From where forms foetus.
(Water in fifth oblation is called man)

The germ in the womb in ten months comes.
On death it goes to fire, whence it came.

Two paths through which soul ascends
Are Devayana and Pitrayana.

Through Devayana, those who enters Vanaprastha, and know truth go to heaven never to return.

Through Pitrayana, those who do rituals, service
And sacrifice go to forefathers and return.

Tat Tvam Asi is the chant of Chhandogya:
Each of us comes from and are that Shelf,
The Atman, nothing less.

The first oblation to Prana (up-breathing)
The second oblation to Vyana (back-breathing)
The third oblation to Apana (down-breathing)
The fourth oblation to Samana (on-breathing)
The fifth oblation to Udana (out-breathing)

Beyond the sense is mind.
Beyond the mind is brain (Intuition)
Beyond that is Atman (the soul)
Beyond that is Avyakta (the supreme)
Above that is Purusha (the all pervading Atman)
Thus says Katha Upanishad.

Be aware beyond the sense.
Be aware beyond the mind.
Be aware beyond the brain.
Realize the presence of Atman.
Contemplate on Avyakta.
Forget about Purusha.

The more you go unshackled.

Genes And Memes

Religion is pest and human is host. It multiplies in the host and infects hosts. It cares little about the hosts' condition And sometimes weaken the hosts or kill them.

Religion make hosts ready to lay their lives In defending it or propagating it. Sometimes it turn virus and cripple men, Who succumb to the cultural injuries.

Organic evolution is based On the replication of the genes. Cultural evolution is based On the replication of the memes.

It is energy that manifests itself
In all things; be it living or nonliving.
Nothing is good or evil among them.

It’s life energy that manifests itself
In all organisms: plants and animals.
No organism is good or evil.

The energy itself is transforming
To some other energy by some means,
Like electricity to heat by the heater.

Mental energy is a kind of means
By which a thing or a place is made good
Or bad and dealt with accordingly.

A thing found divine or a place, serene
Will find you in positive energy.

Gift Be Subjective.

A gift is a sign of love or gratitude.
Receivers are happy; so are givers.
The giver binds the receiver by it
And puts him under an obligation.

The receiver is no less than a slave.
To expect gifts is to be a beggar.
To offer gifts is to make a bigger.
It is applicable to gifting gods.

How is then love and gratitude expressed?
To be a well wisher is to express love.
To speak well of them is show gratitude.
To think of them in prayer is gratefulness.

Giving And Receiving

Is giving good or receiving?
Is giver noble or receiver?

In giving, ego gets a boost
And sets to lead to arrogance.
In receiving, ego gets a bead

In giving, possessiveness dilutes.

On stage as actress or dancers those days.

In movies, and progressing step by step,
Now they are coming in revealing clothes,

And pose in semi naked or naked.

Women use their body to the fullest
To get maximum out of life, which is
No more than the using of intelligence
Or the artistic skills to the fullest
To get maximum with people's sanction.
Being in glamour is a profession.
Having sex as a reward is a tactic.
The society started accepting them.

For the murder of their teenage daughter.

Millions and millions of soldiers now and then
Over three to four decades march ahead and die
Except one or two, fortunate to pair on the way.

One per month over three decades come to the stage
The princess but all went empty hand to die
Except one or two, destined to meet their pair.

Thousands and thousands of seeds escaped
Out of pods year after year but one or two grow,
The rest dying in decay with no one to rescue.

To give life to a few,
Gametes and embryos
In billions die.
Where is God to rescue?

Gratitude

Gratitude is an aptitude
Of affinity adopted
By one towards those who helped one
In one’s walks of life in some way.

Favours done to us by someone
Might invoke other’s displeasures.
To please cats is to displease rats.
To choose one is to displease others.

To show gratitude is a duty.
To give helps too is a duty.
Because pupils don’t listen,
Teachers mustn’t abandon teaching.

When compared with the efforts stuck
To the favours that were done to us,
Efforts needed to show gratitude
Will be mere a fraction of it.

Even then if we don’t show it
What is to say about ourselves?
Then the tendency to give helps
Will die and we will starve for helps.

Gratitude Is The Harvest.

Gratitude is spontaneous thankfulness
To someone who has benefited you.
Gratitude is much more than thankfulness:
Being keen to return as much as you can.

Ingratitude needs no extra effect.
King Lear has suffered filial ingratitude
At the hand of his two daughters in the end.
To be ungrateful is an easy path.

Jesus with divine power cured lepers.
All left at once merrily except one,
Who waited for Jesus to offer thanks.
'Don’t thank me; it is He who did it through me.'

Express gratitude; expect no gratitude.
Gratitude is the minimum harvest
Expected of the service done by some.
Harvest must encourage cultivation.

Waiting to return helps is gratitude.
Even a beggar can exercise it.

Look to me a mockery now indeed.

Greetings

Time runs fast.
Space limit is short.
Desire span is vast.
Hope must last.

Hope is the journey,
That makes one happy,
Regardless of the end,

Greetings Of The Beloved

Aware of my birthday
On Bhrani of Mithnam,
You came to me,
Shedding the built up shyness
Arising from the guilt of love,
And wished me as if casual.
It will keep me in rhythm
Till the next birthday.
Every year here after
Can you grant me this inam?

Grief Gauges Love

How deep you were in love with
A woman can be discerned well
By the strength and the length of grief
That her departure affected you.

Grief Is Unlearned

Funerals are thinly attended.
Mourning is shallow and for a day.
Death comes as a relief to inmates.

Grief Makes The Beloved Proud.

You were taken off my embrace.
I grieve and deeply grieve on your loss.
In grief, I experience solace.
It soothes me like your grace.
How proud you can be to notice!
As you are alive, taken of me,
I shall let you know this.
The dead are grieved over by survivors.
The dead have no recourse to surmise.
But you can. A gift to you, my beloved.

Groom The Blushing

Blushing is the sign of beauty.
Shyness promises a good harvest,
The aged women and actress lack it.
Modern women lost their shyness

Crow, for what I abhor you:

Ass, for what I abhor you:

Grooming For Frolics

Horses and bullocks were long ago bred

He is lazy unlike the horse.

No matter how you are made,
You can make yourself lovable.

Do it like growing grass in a lawn,
Not like growing corn in a farm

The pleasant mind grown out of the helps given
Need not be painted with bitterness
By putting to the test the one you helped.

Pran is not mere air that you breathe.
It fills each cell of body and beyond.
Its roots lie in the base of bowl.
It’s not alike in all bodies.
It varies in strength.

Love and infatuation strengthen it.
Sexual indulgence and anger weaken it.

Growing Weeds

I sowed seeds, numerous,
In the minds of multitudes,
In the form of benevolent deeds,
Some tiny, some giant,
And a few most precious,
With the hope of a good harvest.

Some never sprouted or rooted;
Some were infant mortals.
Some fell on rocks or in desert,
Or were prey to the pests,
With the rest managing to grow
And bore fruits,
Which were either sour or stolen
Or were left rotten.
Yet, with the solace I go
That the bio-mass that I made
Is very much in need
To serve as a mulch to the folks.

Growth Eats Faith.

Progress is growth; everyone must grow.
Schools must grow, hospitals must grow;
Business must grow; producers must grow.
To grow means to eat; growth means eating things.
Growth has no concern for things it feeds on.
Cows would grow fat eating grass a lot.
Cows would have no concern for the grass they eat.

Guilt Is Not So To The Guilty

The one who married as second or second time,
The one having a concubine or is cuckolding.

Happiness is the ratio
Of number of desires fulfilled
Divided by the total ones.
It is good to have less desires.

Happiness is got in the phase
Of quietitude between the one
Desire fulfilled and another
Desire that crops up in future.

The desired one can be a person
Or an object or an event.
Desire creates restlessness;
The effect is satisfaction.

The desired one can be in the form
Of relief, which ends restlessness.
Getting rid of any burden
Is the source of satisfaction.

Love and longing are of desires.

Happiness And Its Truth

Is happiness opposite of unhappiness?
Is happiness genetic or inventive?
Do joy and anger pass when they're vented?
Can we prolong happiness for some time?

The brain has a spot for joy and pleasure.
Euphoria comes out from this system.
Positive feelings are programmed the way
Capacity to speak is, at the time of birth.

The brain changes as learning continues.
The changes are triggered by thoughts and skills.
Wisdom of thoughts gained and positive feelings
From environments can promote happiness.

Happiness will double, shared with others.
Sorrow will dilute, when shared with others.
Happiness sustains, seen with content mind.
The sense for relativity anchors it.

Happiness, though momentary, can prolong.
Hopes, beliefs and recollection are their tools.
Happy ones will act altruistically.
To make others happy is the happiest.

Happiness is much sought after.
Happiness is the life's purpose.

To feed the senses gives happiness.
To feed ego gives happiness.
To spend libido gives happiness.
To feel safe also is happiness.

Let them come without prejudice
To the interest of others.
Discard such happiness that fails

And doing voluntary helps
Is higher as comes from goodwill.

The woman you are in love with
Can harass you in many ways.
She might woo other guys as well.
She might sulk to frivolous things
And cause you dropp your preference.
She might hire you for flattery
Or for getting free lifts and bills paid.
She might withdraw intimacy
For want of total chivalry.
She might engage in love with you
As a stop gap arrangement.
Counting on her feminine wiles,
She’d convince you to shell out
Dearly for her libation.
She’d humiliate you enough
By not picking calls you make.
She won’t hesitate to betray you
Should situations warrant so.
She would switch over for better
And enjoy your love-lorn sorrow.
Yet you are desperate in search
Of women to woo, court and flirt with.

Hard To Get Is Dear To Win.

Nay, why should you mock me with your eyes,
Which are warm afar and cold amidst others?
Why should you, dear, peck me with your nose,
Neither high, nor sharp but is only coarse?
Why should you torment me with your lips,
Which are my sole lust, albeit its oddity?
Skin, dull as coffee and bust without contours,
Why should you haunt me with them?
Of no grace in walk, of no romance in talk,
Why should you still shake me, when present?
Or why should I hound you, heads on heels,
Against all odds, for a trespass?
Is it due to my conquest of you, your
Modesty, and you, the forbidden fruit?

Rare to get and hard to win
as it is, it grows dear, to win.

Hard To Lure Women

A very few women look out for sex.
Only one third women get excited
By handsome men in pictures or person.
Others enjoy sex in sublimation
Of works acceptable to the society.
Seeing porn or being interested
In erotic picture or novels is rare.
With two third women out of the bracket
Of attaining climax with their partners,
Sex is not a hot cake to them unlike men.

‘It is there! Very much there!
Go and catch the mare

[ a hare was told]

‘How can you dare

You can’t get me bare’.
[a rabbit retorted]

‘No hunter can hear the consent of a hare before he goes to snare’.

‘No hunter is held dear,
I am a hare neither.
I shall drive you thither’.

‘If I were not a hunter,
will come some hunter,
who will, you the whole, plunder’.

‘I shall put across a barrier, will soon seek some warrior
in whose arm to slither.’

‘Then why not am I that lad?
I shall make you glad

Helen Of Troy

A mythological beauty, she had been;
A legendary beauty, she had grown.
Who is it other than Helen of Troy,
The epitome of seductive beauty?

A symbol of man’s erotic desires,
From the other women, Helen differs
In that she never employed her charms
To gain power of self-aggrandizement.

Her era dates back to fifth century B.C.
The fairest of women had been the one
Whom all women should hate and yet envy,
And all men should fear and yet desire.

No wonder, men were captive of her charm,
But not was she captive of any man..
She had admirers; none did she admire.
Her fairness deserved more than what she got.

A puppet she was in the heavenly battle,
Where Greek Gods and Goddesses had sported.
As such, she must be absolved of the taints
She was attached with, sadistically.

Helen was the daughter of Zeus and Leda,
The Greek God and Goddess. Born of an egg,
And brought up by a shepherd, she became
The prince of Sparta, a kingdom’f the Greek.

At her age ten, Helen was kidnapped
By an Athenian Hero for her charm
And was, however, brought back unscathed
By her brother; so famous she became.

At Helen’s wedding, numerous suitors
From far and wide came to claim her fair hand.
They were made to swear an oath to defend
The chosen husband in the event of
A rival attempting to abduct Helen,
The beauty who bred danger where she trod.
The oath assumed a greater importance
In the development of the Trojan War.

Helen was married to Menelaus,
A warrior, on his highest offerings.
On king’s death, he became the king of Sparta.
Helen bore a daughter; nine years rolled.

Paris, a Trojan Prince, came to Sparta
To marry Helen, whom he had been promised
By Aphrodite, after he had chosen her
As the fairest of all the goddesses

So that she could claim the golden apple
Thrown by the Goddess, Eris, from anger
Of not being invited by King Peleus
For his marriage to Sea Nymph Thetis.

Once Paris arrived in the house,
And Menelaus was fated to leave it,
Helen eloped with Paris to Trojan.
The war broke, all suitors participated

The war lasting for over nine years,
Helen lived these years as a willing captive,
More to the design of Aphrodite.
It is unfair to brand her as unfaithful..

The end of the war was brought about
Through the Trojan horse built and left ashore,
With their heroes hidden in it. The foes
Drew the horse into the fort for their fate.

The heroes sacked the city and captured
And caged the fairest queen to her shame.
The Greeks and the Trojans despised her alike.
No woman of her status could be that worst.

Menelaus was to slay his faithless wife.
As he raised his sword, she dropped her robe
From her shoulders, revealing her assets.
It made him let the sword drop from his hand.

Helen defied Aphrodite to remain
With Paris, who was soon to meet his death.
Her woes about her hasty decision
To leave Sparta and her spouse crippled her.

‘I will not serve his bed since the Trojan women
Hereafter would laugh at me, all, and my heart
Even now is confused with sorrow’
Helen lamented thus to Aphrodite.

Helen returned as the queen of Sparta.
Chastity, outraged, could be recovered;
Women are resilient, given a chance.
Helen is a proof for all men to note.

How Helen looked, no clues;
Yet her name has power
To inflame men’s heart, ho!

Heloise (1079-1142) and Abelard (1101-1164) in Love

Peter Abelard was a French philosopher. Heloise was the niece of Fulbert, a canon. He was born in ten thousand seventy-nine and she was twenty years younger to him. He was teaching philosophy in Paris. She was aspiring to learn philosophy. Abelard must be 40 when he met her. Heloise must be in her 20 to see him.

Heloise, of no mean beauty, stood out above all by reason of her knowledge, which was abundant, as much as her charm. He wanted to teach; she wanted to learn. Her beauty attracted him to teach her. His reputation drew her towards him. He wanted to have her so he taught her. Fulbert consented his stay with them.

Proximity is a culprit for passion. Their corporal presence in study paved the way for him to advance upon her and exploit her passion for having sex. 'All men are under a necessity of paying tribute at sometime or other to LOVE, and it's vain to strive to avoid it.' He wrote in his correspondence about her.

He wrote, 'Charming Heloise, said I, blushing, if you know yourself, you'll not be surprised with the passion you have inspired me with. There was a most happy understanding between us; the same house united us. We improved the time with the sweet of love.' Love is incapable of being concealed. Abelard was obliged to leave her and the house.

He could not live without seeing Heloise. He entreated her servant to help him for money but attractive as she was,
She wanted him to have her his mistress.
So entirely did he love his Heloise
That he turned her desire down and left her.
Heloise's singing master helped their meet.
Both had an ardent meeting in her garden.

The first news she acquainted with him plunged
Him into a distraction. She must be Delivered of a burden she was feeling.
She was soon shifted to her sister's house
In Brittany. It is a robbery, he felt,
Which love had made him commit and it was
A sort of treason. Next step he did was Asking Fulfert's pardon with confession.

He further offered to marry her in secret.
'Will it not be more agreeable to me
To see myself your mistress than your wife.
And will not love have more power than marriage
To keep our heart firmly united? ' she told.
However, marriage took place in secret.
A boy was born and entrusted to his sister.
To hide marriage, she was sent to nunnery.

It was Abelard who kindled in her love.
It was Heloise who watered in her love.
'I have your picture in my room and never
Pass it without stopping to look at it.
If a picture can give me such a pleasure,
What cannot letters inspire? ' she wrote,
'I shall read that you are my husband
And you shall see me sign myself your wife.'

'You can only relieve me with tears and words.
I will still love you with all the tenderness
Of my soul till the last moment of my life.'
She wrote and reasoned against marrying,
'The name of wife is houorable in the world
Yet the name of your mistress had greater charms.
In marriage I am necessitated
To love always one who loves me or not.'
Heloise is considered the first woman
In 12th century on feminist philosophy.
'Happiness is the union of two persons
Who love each other with perfect liberty,
Who are united by an inclination
And satisfied with each other merit.'
She preferred to be known as mistress
Rather than wife and enjoyed that liberty. 10

He spent his time with monks. Fulbert mistook
Abelard to have abandoned Heloise as a nun
And got him castrated through his servants.
After castration, filled with shame from this,
Abélard became a monk, without retaliation.
It was at this time that they have exchanged
Their famous letters having literary merit.
They convey the remembrance of lost love. 11

Hinduism In Plurality

The Hinduism has no boundaries,
No founder and no single scripture.
It consists of collective wisdom
Gathered from many centuries.

The Hinduism incorporates all forms
Of beliefs without mandating
Any particular belief
Nor eliminating other beliefs.

The Hinduism is an eclectic one
Representing a variety
Of gods, dogmas, metaphysics
And faiths handed down over years.

The Hinduism is not the Vedic
Alone and go beyond the Vedic.
The shaivam and the Vaisnavam
Stand out, though within the Vedic.

The Jainism and the Buddhism
Are only the off shoots of the Hinduism.
God Jagannath, a tribal god

It thrives for its plurality.
Blasphemy is beyond its scope.

It has only the past which’s not exact.

History is a story with some facts.

History is written by the winners.
History is disputed and rewritten.
More truths are buried than lies are exposed.
There is no other way to know the past.

Sometimes stories grow into histories.

History Is Polluted

History is written by the winners.
History is written by the royals.
Contributory factors are taken in.
Inconvenient factors are left out.

Epics are made to project history.
Mythologies are made to form history.
Fictitious novels and films based on history
Do more damage than good to history.

Cleopatra is known as is pictured
By Shakespeare in Antony and Cleopatra
With her real account into oblivion.
Fictitious history overrides history.

Sites in the internet are filled with news,
False, distorted, exaggerated or half cooked.
A tea stall of recent origin is shown
As the one where Narendra Modi sold tea.

Health advice without evidence spreads out.
False news are floating about personalities.
Skullduggery stands as if authentic
Facts are polluted to remain no fact.

Karna tolerated Dduryodhana
And stood by him in all deeds of evil
As Duryodhana made him his equal
And a king from a mere charioteer’s son.

Actress Rosanna Arquette:

He took me to his room for a massage.
I was in youth; I was at this mortified.

Actress Angelina Jolie:
He made an unwanted advance on me
That I thwarted in a private meeting
As I had had a bad experience in youth
When I worked for him in a production.

Actress Heather Graham:
He propositioned me,
Offering me a role in a movie
By saying his wife has let him
Sleep with other women outdoor.

Actress Lea Saydoux:
Weinstein's lurid behaviour
That i wrote in first person
Along with my bitter experience
Fell on deaf ears in Hollywood.

Cara Delevingne:
He is a ruthless sexual predator.
He sought on one occasion
To engage an actress in a threesome
With another woman shamelessly.

Ashley Judd:
He in a hotel room asked me
To watch him shower
And repeatedly suggested
With unwanted contacts to me.
Rose McGowan:
Following an encounter with him
In a hotel room during a film festival,
I reached a settlement with him.
Some others too reached settlement.

Lucia Evans:
In 2004, at his Miramax office
He was in the room alone,
And forced me to perform oral sex on him.
She said no but was overpowered.

Producer Harvey Weinstein:

On a nonconsensual sex basis.
I haven't retaliated against the ones
When they have rejected my advances.

To demand sex in exchange of one's wants
Is sex exploitation and hence harmful.

Homage To His Old Lady, Lakshmi.

Long back, lived a lady aged ninety
And her maternal great grand son.
He loved her; she loved him.
No one loved him that much.
No one he loved that much.
At her age, no purpose for such love.
At his age, no reason for such love.
She was poor, alone, lived away.
He knows her as sunken, skinny, utter black,
With so much love, with no one to share with,
With no one to tend or care her.

She had unfailing power of reciting
Mile long mythological verses
That she got by hearing and not reading.
Herself starving, she took pain
To have come to him to feed him
With poorly made cakes and snacks.

She reproduced many, who, in turn, many, who, in turn, many.
None came by when she went insane.
He never saw her first son’s son
Ever see, love or care her at any stage,
With her eldest son dead young.
And with no respite with her youngest son,
Who was the constant tormentor.

She had a sad death, a miserable death.
Even now, after half a century,
He pities her, mourns her death.
Even now, he weeps for her.
Long live her parental grand children,
None of whom is in prosperity,

Honey is sweet to any one to taste
But its confinement, alas, is its fate.
Others, suited, are forbidden to taste.

Otherwise, it may turn sour in neglect,
Or may dry out in long disuse,
Or, perhaps, lies bare for someone’s abuse.

Honey, when orphaned by the host,
Be reclaimed by any one worth it,
Before it is too late, and thus be it blest.

With the same flow.

And hunting animals that lived and bred
Without any human intervention
For more than two million years past.

Homo erectus, Homo ergasters
And Neanderthal had been only forgers
Without knowing where the plants would take root
And in which meadow a herd of sheep should graze.

Homo sapiens too continued as forgers,
Hunting animals and gathering fruits
Till ten thousand years ago when they began
Growing animals and planting species.

Transition to agriculture began
By nine thousand years ago in Asia
And only by five thousand years ago
Many plants and animals were domesticated.

Settlements began; languages began;
Worships began; territory began;
Religions began; nations began.
Civilizations are five thousand years old.

Scientific revolution has set in
Barely by five hundred years ago
When the population was five hundred
Million as against present seven billion.

The planet and disturb the ecology.

Hunting When In Teen.

That was the age of nineteen,
The age for searching for the queen.
Many were spotted on line,
None of whom was to my design.

I sighted her on the bank
Of a tank on a dusky night,
With her two sisters to flank.
It was a temple festive feat.

She was fatter than the sisters.
She was darker than the sisters.
She only pulled me to her side
By her freshness and youngness.

Can I pull her? – A challenge,
Her formidability threw to me
To test how best I can stand
To win over a woman’s hand.

If beaten and beaten, even
A rock can be well shaken.
By repeatedly seen, the rock
Was moved. I was in peak.

I found her home and family,
Which was on my way luckily.
Her clan was just one step away.
That was the block in my way.

I won her vision every morning
And evening, from her balcony.
I won her consent in picking
My letters, thrown from bicycle.

I won her presence in a tryst
That she planned in a lone house.
With her maid, she gave audience
And urged me for an alliance.
She was there so near me as fire.
I stood there bare as tinder.
No touch, no kiss, I was perfect.
I wanted to earn her respect.

Badly I buried my lust
To stand high in her estimate.
Sadly I hurried to exit
As a noble, missing a feast.

Her stepbrother was my teacher,
A smooth friendly character.
He took my proposal as dry
And sent me out high and dry.

I can have her by inter caste;
Her child will then suffer great
To choose her a suitable mate.
Therefore, he was against my act.

She gave pose from balcony.
I got it from down below, cycling.
Twice a day, there were many.
To our love there was no blow.

Later her brother came down
From his stand and made it known
That I could get her hand
If my parents gave their hand.

That stand he should have taken
By the pressure she had given.
A clear indication of her,
That she was keen for our tie.

I averred to my revered mother
In alluded way. No use.
With no job, no money, to muster
Strength is in vain. I stood aloof.

Days rolled. There was no courage.
Study was over. Time parted us.
I cursed my cowardliness.
All ended in tragic senses.

I lost my love without guts.
I lost a bird without a hunt.
A tragic note then I wrote-
All are well that began well.

No more love had blossomed.
By now, forty years rolled.
Where is she? Whether she lives?.
To see her once is my bliss.

I Am His Tormentor

He spent on my funeral more
Than he had spent on my treatment.
He shed on my body his tears
That he withheld when I was held.
He got mine with no gratitude.
In my death anniversary,
He feasted like of which I didn’t eat.
He remembers with reverence
To nullify the contempt shown.
I am in his thought, in the form of guilt.
It’ll be slit by his son’s action later.

I Am O.K. You Are O.K.

‘I lost my pen’
‘Don’t worry, I shall get you one’
A child like question
And an expected parental reply.
I am o.k., you are o.k.

‘I lost my pen’
‘I know you will do only that’
Parent reply belied the question.
I am o.k. You are not o.k.

‘I lost my pen’
‘You can borrow from me’
A child-like question.
An adult like answer.
I am o.k. You are o.k.

‘Is the bus late?’
‘Which bus comes in time?’
An adult seeking an adult
But received a parent reply.
I am o.k. You are not.

‘Is the bus late?’
‘Yes, heard only ten minutes’
Both responded as adults.
I am o.k. You are o.k.

‘Let us play hide and seek’
‘Yes, let me hide first’
A child sought from a child
And received it.
I am o.k. You are o.k.

‘Let us play hide and seek’
‘No, this is not the time’
The reply is parental
And belied the question.
I am o.k. You are not.
‘Let us play hide and seek’
‘Yes. Then we should read’
A child and an adult reaction
I am o.k. You are o.k.

‘You should not smoke’
‘Yes. I shall cut it’
A parental question.
An adult reply.
I am o.k. You are o.k.

‘You should not smoke’
‘First, you cut your chewing’
A parental question
Seeking a child answer
But was belied.
I am o.k. You are not.

‘She should be taught a lesson’
‘Yes, otherwise she will worsen’
A parent seeking a parent and got.
I am o.k. You are o.k.

‘I love you.’
‘I can’t forget you.’
Both are adult,
Expecting and receiving
As adults. I and you are o.k.

‘I love you’
‘Shh.. Others may watch”
A child’s reply to a child
Both are o.k.

‘I love you’
‘Bitch! Go to hell; I’ll report’
A parental reply, instead.
I am o.k. You are not.

‘I love you.’
'I think you misunderstood.'
Both behaved as adults.
I am o.k. You are o.k.

You be the way you are expected.
You are then o.k. to others.
When others fail to be the way
You expected, you reason for it.
Others will be o.k. to you.
Then where is the individuality?

I Got One To Lose The Other

In the course of my journey
I entered a kingdom.
I invaded an enclave,
Where I found a bird,
Quite unlike mine,
So fresh, so strange.
I wished I had had her,
I went to capture the bird,
With the bird, her nest,
With nest its branch,
with the branch the whole tree,
The soil that holds it,
The whole enclave
With its inhabitants,
Plants and animals,
Bees and pests and worms and snakes.
An avaricious act

No more journey.
No home returns either.

Who knows?
Maybe someone invaded.
Maybe someone captured.

Resentment of inmates made me leave home.
Sentiments didn’t dry to suit my age;
Hence I went to streets instead of kin’s home.
I didn’t bring with me any past glory.

The cold of contempt didn’t make me shiver;
The heat of humility didn’t make me seat.
Sans qualm, sans shame, I turned a useless straw,
And without pain, nor strain, I begged for food.

Now and then tears of curses washed my eyes
And stale food thrown in bins roughened my tongue.
Grandchildren were completely forgotten.
All possessions were thrown as ill gotten.

When I will die and who will burry me
Went out of my head, eloping with my
Fear of future, fear of vulture and of gods.
I will die with no wish to leave foot prints.

Identity and Rivalry
Are two demons that work in you.
You toil more than you have to.
You spend more than you need to.
Thus the demon, Identity, is kept.
You fight and exhaust redundantly.
You revenge and incur wrath.
Thus the demon, Rivalry, is kept.
Sacrifices you make go waste.
Edifices you make turn void.
It is your end when wisdom comes.

Identity Is A Trap.

Identity gives a meaning to life,
A sense of belonging in a society,
And helps one define oneself in oneself.
To lean this way is to go away from that.

Identity is a stake you cling to.
Identity is a mould you fix to.
Anything we think we are, becomes a trap,
A restriction to be something else.

You join a movement to share its force.
In the meanwhile, you lend it your force.
Subsequently you lose your independence
In judging and mortgage yourself to it.

Be in a set up not to be fanatic.
Being neither distantly isolated
Nor absolutely identified
With anything is freedom to enjoy.

Impotency Of Writing (India)

Writers are thinkers; they write with wisdom.
Writings get auras and writers get awes.
Strength of literature is direct response
That comes from the readers to the writing.

Shakespeare came to fame by his strength of pen.
Without any impediment to his fame,
His genius flowed from his pen and made him tall.
Writers didn’t write for any award or purse.

Writers wrote what they felt true without fear.
They didn’t face organized intolerance
In the name of religion, cast or language,
Which would lead to assault and battery.

Writers didn’t promote their books published
With aggressive marketing from huge sum,
Paid reviewers, paid news and canvassed award.
Writers had guts to say without hypocrisy.

Now sources of wealth and connections
Help anyone become a prolific writer.
Fearing assault, potential writers
Have settled down to write about the moon.

Purpose of the writer is to give voice
To the readers voiceless and receptive,
Which lacks now from faction ridden writers.
Impotency of writing is looming.

Happiness is a state of mind,
Active to external stimuli.
It is transient by nature,
With no control on things outside.

Happiness or unhappiness
Is the impression made on mind
By external events striking.

Improper Love

Love that ends in marriage makes home.
Love sneaking out since then breaks home.
Love proper and improper live
But improper love rises faster.

Sexual love defies all parameters.
The elders exploit the minors.
Proximity is the breeding ground.
Coaches and bosses get their prey.

Uncles to nieces is a threat.
Cousins misuse their positions.
Incest relation escape eyes.
Ethics in love has lost its shine.

Love for a night stand makes no guilt.
Love in work place become sportive.
Lesbians have no inhibition.
Gays shed shame to seek union.

Improper love gains momentum
And would soon turn a proper one
Unless self restrains put a stop
And save the families from a break.

Indians Are Immigrants

India has seen four major immigrations.
It took about sixty thousand years age
When the first world migration from Africa
Toward the South Asia and Australia
And toward the Central Asia as well.

The second one took nine thousand years ago
When the people moved from the Iran belt
Towards North West India and mixed
With the first Indians, the Harappan,
Who later moved to the South India region
And mixed with the locals to produce
The ancestry of the Dravidian race.

The third one was before 2000BC
When the people from the China heartland
Spread to South East Asia and East India.
They retain their Mongolian features.

The fourth one was before 1000 BC
When the Indus Valley Civilization
Collapsed with the influx of the pastoralists
From the Central Asia, to be called Aryans,
Who spoke Sanskrit and brought with them Vedas.

No major immigration since 100AD,
The indigenous populations were crystallized
As castes and bred only through the castes.
We are all Indians, some from the stalks
Of Ethiopia, some of the Middle East,
And some from the stalks of the Central Asia.

Infidelity Is Natural

Does a one night stand with a stranger count
Or an emotional entanglement
With a friend without a corporal touch?
Men more than a half and women less than a half
Nurture emotional affairs outside.
One fifth of either sex is having sex
With other than the spouse sometimes in life.
The wholesome bread winners are most likely to cheat their partners, be it he or she.
Men and women in external affairs
Are tolerant with their partner's transgression,
To protect their relationships on love.

However, being unfaithful to the spouse
Is an emotional burden to bear.
One falls for the other not that the one
Is more attractive than the one owned,
Not that there is no domestic harmony,
Not that there is no sexual eagerness.
To find self-worth in someone's acceptance
Is a thrill, with a license to be erotic.
Living with an attractive chaste partner,
Lovely kids, royal connections,
Status and financial security,
One still wants to risk them all for a fling.

The paramour may be inferior
To one's spouse in worth, status or caste
Or far younger or older age wise
And yet is desired, to have liberty
And thrill in having sex with such persons.
Adultery can be held as the revenge
Of the deserted one against one's spouse.
Monogamy entails polygamy.

Often people do not want to break home
On account of their external affairs.
Variety is spice and curiosity, a spike.
Cheating will stay forever as natural.

Innocence

To be enamoured of, be there someone;
Be it he or she, any rank or size,
And on any foot; it is all the same.
Be there someone to admire or cherish.

To be besotted with one who holds me,
To be captivated by one who reins me
And to have one as an apple of my eye
There must be some persons for me in life.

Innocence gives life roses and romance.
'Know better' takes away your 'feel better'.
Pursue innocence and leave strategy.
Seek curiosity rather than success.

Fear to do immoral turns a coward act.
Quilt, shame, stigma and qualm are put to shame.
Leisurely time to think and muse grows rare.
Too much things too soon to know tires me out.

To glorify one and to like hearing
Others glorify the one soothes my soul,
But is discarded from my pursuits
As it amounts to a hero worship.

The Instinct, the Emotional, and the Rational
Are the stages at which your mind functions,
Together or severally in variant degrees.

Hunger and survival: The Instinct springs.
Love and hate: The Emotional surges.
Right and wrong: The Rational decides.

In the game of chess, you are rational.
In the game of love, you are emotional.
In the game of sex, you are instinctual.

The Rational mind is your judge.
The Emotional mind is your advocate.
The Instinctual mind is your subject.

When judge fails, when advocate fails,
The subject spurts to save the self
Or feeds the self without fail.

The Rational abide by the codes.
The Emotional deviates from it.
The Instinct violates it.

The Rational decides how to face.
The Emotional positions the move.
But the Instinct accomplishes it.

Far sighted is the Rational.
Short sighted is the Emotional.
Blind is the Instinct.

The Instinct reaps under the Emotional.
The Emotional trails behind the Rational.
The Rational strives to manage them both.

The child is more under the Instinct.
The adult is more under the Emotional.
The old is more under the Rational.
The Rational lacks vigour.
The Emotional lacks balance.
The Instinct lacks prudence.

The Rational has distant motive.
The Emotional has immediate motive.
The Instinct has instant motive.

Intellectuals are rational.
Poets and lovers are emotional.
The ignorant are instinctual.

The Rational wages cold war.
The Emotional engages in verbal war.
The Instinctual commits physical war.

You are rational in forenoon.
You are emotional in afternoon.
You are instinctual at night.

The Instinctual is skillful.
The Emotional is forceful.
The Rational is careful.

A man and a woman in a tete-a-tete,
They are outwardly rational,
Inwardly emotional and deep instinctual.

In Cricket, a low catch at slip
Is well taken by Instinct and a
Lofty one in long-on, judged and missed.

The Instinct ignites the revolt.
The Emotion fuels it.
The Rational sedates it.

By Instinct you steal.
By Emotion, you weep and laugh.
By Rational, you criticize.

The Instinct feeds your senses.
The Emotion feeds your mind.
The Rational feed your ego.

Love for food and sex is the Instinct.
Love for arts and music is emotional.
Love for fame and name is the Rational.

A man or woman is all of three.
But they will vary in degree.

Interpretation Is Not Exact.

Brahma Sutra is the manual of Vedanta-
The quintessence of the Upanishads.
It was enunciated by Ved Vyasa,
Who spoke neither Advaita or Vishistavaita.

What Vyasa conveyed is Monothesm
That he has eloberated all along
In his Mahabhatat and Bhagavat.
Sutra is defenition made sharp.

Shankaracharya has commented on it.
Madhavacharya has commented on it.
Sri Ramnuja has commented on it.
Three blue prints of one reality.

A commentator while commenting
On a scripture, starting with its belief,
Would force his views onto the scripture
So as to make it consistent with his thoughts.

Having thus read one's commentary,
One will carry the view of the commentator,
Which may not be the writer's view,
And to that extent distortion takes place.

Is A Single Woman More Honest?

The single woman in the public life
Is held high as compared to married women.
Being a queen and not a king's consort,
The single woman is free of man's hold.

A woman without a family
Will not be corrupt or selfish at work.
However, there is zero evidence
Linking the family ties with corruption.

A woman without a family
Gives her whole time and attention to works.
However, there is zero evidence
Linking the family ties with negligence.

Man brings home earnings that woman receives.
Woman inherits hoarding tendencies.
It makes no difference if a woman
Is single or married for a honest rule.

Is Addyi A Boon To Woman?

A pill to enhance woman’s libido,
By name Addyi, is finally out.
Indian men are in queue to get it.
Why do they need it more than their women?

It contains a drug named Flibanserin,
That works in brain and makes chemical changes
Unlike Viagra that acts in blood stream
And physically help the erection.

Women are not as passionate as men
In sex and initiative, and enjoy wooing
And foreplay before coming to the heat,
For which men have no patience and hence pills.

Neither Viagra nor Addyi is the need
For a pramour of either sex in sex
Or for the couples who spat their spouses.
Monotony is the culprit of low libido.

Is Cheating In Order?

Cuddling is no more a cheating, some said.
Then even kisses and fervent touches
Will not amount to the cheating of partners.
Flirting and courting are no more cheating.

Is it a quick fix for monotony,
Or due to the enhanced self entitlement?
Is it due to the emboldened status,
Or stripped of shame the culture imposed?

The thrill of the snatched moments demands.
Thirst for discovery lies in the nerves.
Proximity to the other woman is the bait.
Who is not the victim of visual contacts?

To desire another is a cheating.
To develop contacts with another
With sexual intent amounts to cheating.
To carve friendships with sex in mind is cheating.

When you see the need to hide from the spouse
Any interaction with another,
You have begun cheating your partner.
Anyone can fall a victim of such act.

To cheat the spouse is not to hate the spouse.
One hides it so as to keep tie with the spouse.

Equality in wants and aptitude
Cannot be achieved to ensure freedom.

I'm at loss to abstract the things i feel.
What is happiness is an enigma.

Attainment of desire is happiness.
Extinction of pain is happiness.
Not a state of mind or body either,
Happiness Is inherent activities.

Happiness is not what we wish to get.
Forgoing it in a spirit of sacrifice
Is also ever lasting happiness.
Freedom of action leads to happiness.

Happiness is different from pleasure.
Pleasure is momentary and short lived.
It can be abandoned on its getting.
Happiness has no end nor is abandoned.

To eat, drink and be merry is happiness.

Is to live as a play singing and dancing
And making sacrifices for the dear.

Stigma for Homosexuality sheds.

Woman and woman do sex games

And yet have an extra passion
For the same gender by instincts.

And lesbians, only lesbians.

No age bar for attraction between them
Though the youth and the old bind is common.

Is Love Holy?

A girl next door is the nectar
For a boy who has no one sweeter.
For her, none is absolute viewer.
So I loved her to my heart. Did she?
No clue she shed either,
As to her pouring me her nectar.
Yet I sat on wait
As would a crane at a strait,
For a tryst,
Which is not easy in a tiny village,
Where even a cough is news.
There were many to love her,
Her ma, her pa and her peers,
But none could be a match
Like me to kindle her itch.
Love is God so, of her I was mad.
Loving one is neither bad.
‘Love neigbours.’
‘Love across cast and creed.’
‘Plants and animals are also Objects of love.’- all these
I learnt from scriptures and believed.
So loving her is right and a right too.
Close to winter, at sunset, one day,
I encountered her, alone, brisk in walk,
On a footpath leading to her door,
And waylaid her. ‘I love you dear’
A slap! An effect of her reflex act.
To put her to the shame for her ruthless act,
I showed her my left cheek,
Repeating ‘I love you’.
Another slap! She relented not.
Only consolation- I got her touch.
Her lotus fingers like betel tendrils
Cheered my cheeks and pained my jaws.
I went back straight, not to weep,
Not to revenge but to put on fire
All the scriptures and the teachings
That taught me in length about love,
And to proclaim my declaration,
‘Love every soul save a girl:
Love even a devil but not a girl.’

It is harassment
When man frequents advances

When man handles her body

To say that I'm raped is to say I'm spoiled.
It is a shame and woman goes invalid.
To say that I was sexually harassed
Is to say I'm not spoilt and came unscathed.

MeToo stands for victim of sexual advances.
It involves no shame but still costs future
If the accused has got power to deliver.
So women come with MeToo of the past.

MeToo allegation by women against men
Can be genuine, exaggerated or minimised
Depending upon how their relations stand.
To settle a score can be a chief motive.

The consent crossed, the favour belied,
The over exploitation and vengeance
Can be the cause for the affected ones
Who had wanted jobs, roles, crowns or favours.

It refers to suggestive words or lewd touch
Only once with no more force employed.

Is Moan In Bed Due To Climax? (A)

How and when does woman get her climax?
The notion is that she makes sound in bed.
Head thrown back, jaw hanging and lids shutting,
She would moan, having the time of her life.

Is moaning associated with orgasm?
It's become man's tendency to feel so.
Without making sound woman can get it.
Woman may make sound in bed to enjoy it.

Why must most of women make sound in bed?
To spur on their partners to reach climax,
To boost the self esteem of their partners
And from pain and fatigue, most women do.

Is her moaning in bed a kind of fake?
Adept foreplay can bring woman orgasm.
However, copulatory sounds do escape
Simultaneously with ejaculation.

Ishwaro Pranidhana

We don't respond to a person.
We respond to the reaction
That we feel within us for him/her.
It can be ardent love or bitter hate.
Thus we respond to our emotions
And suffer when emotion is bad.
Jealousy, hatred and anger
Are the traits that imprison us.

Ishwaro tenth niyama:
Let thy will be done - divine will.
To make yourself the recipient
Of the divine will is the highest
Order in the spiritual path.
Let go of the identification
With jealousy, hatred and anger.
No soul will seem bitter to you.

Listen to your inner voice.
Take a resolution to be good.
St. Francis has got his sainthood
For the vow he took of poverty-
From his luxury to poverty
And it was that which disciplined him
Be a service to human beings,
For which take a vow to receive God will.

When I was last with her under a roof.

A weak team can shock a strong team.
Who will win? Anybody’s guess;

To convert my rapport to love,
I got her a job in a school,
The head of which is my known guy.
I was on wait for the blossom.

That day I saw the school master,
Two decades senior to her,
Place his hand round her fleshy waist
When they walked down, to my dismay.

The intimacy between them
Had been brought about by myself
And who could I blame for my loss?
Must I have an interview with her?

The love in heart couldn’t be spelt.
The sight of her close to him seen
Could not be revealed either.

Jacqueline Lee Bouvier (Jackey) wrote a letter
To her fiancé John Husted insisting
To not give credence to the rumour
About her relationship with John Kennedy,
But she was wrong and had relationship
With John Fitzgerald Kennedy in whom
She found all she wanted to get in life:
Wealth and the heart to let her spend as she liked. 1

She broke the engagement with John Husted
Without remorse and gave him back his ring.
She had an uncanny foresight to hook
The right man from wooing two at a time.
She married John Kennedy in fifty-three
And became the first lady of US
In sixty when he became President.
With that came the pinnacle of her life. 2

Jackey became an international icon
For style, elegance, poise, and extravagance.
'Mr. President is worried about
My budget more than that of the US.'
Said Jackey, and John Kennedy once said,
'I am accompanying Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.'
On French Paper heading about her visit:
'The US first lady is beauty incarnate.' 3

Jackey came to India on a state visit
And charmed Indian PM. J. Nehru.
She too was impressed and drawn close to him.
She had acquaintance with Aristotle Onassis,
The Greek tycoon on his luxury yacht
To negotiate marriage of her sister Lee
To Onassis who found interest in her.
Onassis forgot Lee and fell for Jackey. 4

The president was assassinated
And fell on his wife lap in sixty-three.
She meanwhile bore for him a girl and a boy.
In her widowhood, Robert Kennedy,
For whom Marlin Monroe fell, though in vain,
Was the chief and close supporter for her.
Had he not been assassinated later,
Jackey would have remained as widow.5

Jackey married Onassis in sixty eight.
A sense of estrangement set on Onassis
From a leakage of her personal letters
Made to her former escort and lover,
Roswell Gilpatric in nineteen seventy.
Onassis was getting alienated from her,
And died in seventy five, for Jackey
To get second widowhood without regret.6

Jackey had several male companions.
And her quest for third husband was alive.
Maurice Templesman, a known associate,
Was her life companion when she celebrated
Her sixty first birthday in eight-nine.
She had kept herself remarkably young.
Jacqueline liked to forget all tragedies
And lived in peace, pleasure and opulence.7

Ten days festival Jain celebrates;
Self purification is the agenda.
Rededication to dharma is the goal.
Human is the incarnation of Atman.

The resolution made in the first day
Is to shun pride, which leads to immodesty.
The resolution in the second day
Is to observe honesty and righteousness.

The third day observed resolution
Is to be truthful to fellow beings.
The fourth day observed resolution
Is to obtain freedom from defilement.

On the fifth day the observation
Is to practice abstinence everyday.
On the sixth day, the observation
Is to do penance to grow a hermit.

The adoption made in the seventh day
Is to relinquish by way of charity.
The adoption made in the eighth day
Is to have limit on worldly possession.

Maintaining chaste and moral behavior
And forgiving and seeking forgiveness
Fall as ninth and tenth day deliberations.
Atman thus prepares to reach Nirvana.

Born in 1807, lady Jane Digby
Was as romantic as of adventure.
Even at sixteen she turned the nobles on.
Her parents had counted on her beauty.

Her marriage with Lord Ellenborough,
A rich, thirty year old widower, failed.
She bore him a boy to make him potent.
She waned away and was sought by lovers.

She fell in love with Prince Falix.
Neither of them buried their secret.
A marriage with him could not be made
As he, a catholic, cannot wed a divorcee.

'Jane Digby was'Prince Falix acknowledged,
'Among the greatest beauties of her time.
She had given up everything for him-
Fortune, reputation, friends, and family.'

Tired of being admired, desired and sought,
She set of to see the rest of the world.
She became mistress of King Ludwig,
Whom she was fond of but not in love with

'Without love feeling, life is a dreary void.
Loving and being loved is air to breathe.'
With is in mind she fell for the Baron,
A Bavarian noble man, young and handsome.

He proposed but she was hesitant,
Thinking about her love for Prince Falix.
'There exists something in a first passion
That no time can efface.' she felt and wrote.

The king helped her marry the Baron,
Suspecting the seed she carried as his.
But the child was the image of the Boran.
She bore him one more before she parted.
Count Theotoki, a Greek, was her next lover.
There were secret assignations with him.
She was required to choose between two men
Who wished to behave more nobly than the other.

'No woman will ever posses me, dear,
As you have possessed me. A mistress
I will have but i cannot have another Jane.,'
Wrote the Baron, accepting her parting.

She went to live and love Theotoki,
Saddened at pain she has caused to the Baron.
Getting divorced, she married Theotoki
And stalled it after several years.

At sixty plus, General Hadji Petros,
Was attractive to women and the queen.
At forty five, Jane became his mistress
And felt freer as mistress than as a wife.

Her last lover was Medjuei, an Arab.
He was fascinated by Jane from the first.
He presented to her a beautiful mare.
When he proposed she accepted instantly.

She discovered that he had all the qualities
She had sought in other men. She exclaimed,
'I'm forty seven and as much in love
As a young girl of fifteen years old. '

Jane and Medjuel married for thirty years.
It was a passionate relationship to the end.
'Had i in early life married the Sheikh
I could not have caused so much grief.'

In 1881 Jane died with him beside.
As the service in the cemetery over,
Astride Jane's Arab mare, his gift to her,
He galloped away, gazing the coffin.

For her love mattered, which she sought in men.

Jealousy Management

Jealousy is ugly and does evils.
The have-not get it for the have ones,
And build hatred towards the fortunate
With a brewing mind for a sabotage.

Jealousy blurs the vision and logic.
Downfalls are expected and then cheered.
Even a murder can be its outcome.
Proximity is the causality.

No jealousy for parents and children;
No jealousy for teachers and disciples.
Their progress and success are cheered,
Thanks to identity and affiliation.

Jealousy is felt from comparison,
Rivalry is the mild form of jealousy.
Means are flouted to land in the rat race.
Awareness of self-worth can beat jealousy.

Are you jealous of one who is above you?

Josephine Napoleon (1763 - 1814)

'You shall be crowned the Queen of France and sit
On the throne by the side your husband.'
Said the priest astrologer when she was seven.
Josephine was then just a maid servant,
And was borne by a maid servant to her master.
She was given away by her father
To a French noble Viscount Aleksander
Beauharnais, who married her in '79.1

Josephine in due course bore him a son
And a daughter. In French revolution
In '89, her husband was guillotined
And Josephine was thrown into prison.
Paul Barras, a French General fell for her,
Secured her release and made her his mistress.
However, she failed to be his trustworthy.
She received other Generals also. 2

Her eye fell on Napoleon Bonaparte,
A promising young man still unmarried.
The widow invited Napoleon for lunch,
Where he fell completely under her spell.
They became lovers and her attention
Was diverted from Barras to his relief.
She shed crocodile tears to Paul Barras
And married Napoleon in '96. 3

Josephine did not love Napoleon as much
As he loved her and it took her years
Before she warmed well to his affection.
He was mad of her and kept a picture
Of her in his pocket to kiss it now and then.
Not a beauty and well past her prime age,
If she bewitched him, it's her hypnotic charm.
His love letters to her are the world famous.4

While Napoleon languished in the battlefield,
Josephine lived in Paris, enjoying herself.
She wanted him for social recognition
And he wanted her for her hypnotic face.
He was in dark about her amorous
Escapades with her new lover Charles.
He realized that she had no love for him
And gathered himself to war and nation. 5

She was the first wife of Napoleon
And as well the first empress of French
When he became emperor in 1799.
Not trusted but loved, she was retained.
Napoleon made up his mind to divorce her
And marry a princess to bore him an heir.
He divorced her in the year eighteen nine
And married Marie Louise, who bore him a son.6

Josephine was let to leave the place
With dignity with all jewels and fortunes
That she kept in the tenure of queenship.
She was not disturbed from separation.
She lost the sympathy of her children
For her debauchery and self-centeredness.
Napoleon was dethroned and exiled.
Josephine died, uttering napoleon's name. 7

Judaism

God is only one as Jewish knows Him.
He takes no body, as free from matter.
To Him alone Jewish must go and pray.
Moses is their undisputed prophet.
Torah- the Hebrew Bible is their scripture.
God rewards and punishes the people.
Believe in Messiah, who may tarry
And there will be revival of the dead.

Judaism is three thousand years old,
Spread in the Middle East during the Bronze Age
And has now fourteen million adherents,
With a half of them confining to Israel
Judaism is an Abrahamic Religion,
From which descended Christianity,
Islam and the recent Baha'is Faith.
They spoke Hebrew, one of the most ancient.

God is in direct contact with mankind.
To follow the tradition of Judaism
Rather than to believe in God is the need.
Exodus of Egypt is the scar they bear.
Is God immanent or transcendent?
Are lives predetermined or with free will?
No answer; beaten by the challenges,
Jews have grown to the most viable tribe.

Judaism Advocates.

All living things are from the single soul.
Killing and saving affect the whole world.
The highly evolved man pursues two lives:
Inner life and outer life, not even though.

Life style and wealth reflect the outer life.
Virtue and compassion shows the inner life.
Consumption is the external affluence.
Atonement is the internal affluence.

Judge From Reaction

Man is seen from his action
And is known from his reaction.
He acts from the conscious mind
And react from the subconscious.
One's reaction betrays oneself.
Reaction reveals one's true colours.

Reaction is from spontaneity
And spontaneity yields reality.

Judging Age Disparity

She is his aunt, his age, at twenty-five, ,
Living with her rich husband, twice her age,
And is at liberty to entertain him
As her nephew in his frequent visits.

He misjudges her sexual appetite
And misbehaves with her in her kitchen, when alone, with his uncle away.
He misfires as she gets rage and holds him.

'What if your uncle is to know of this?
What if your father is to know of this?
What if your mother falls a victim of this?
Woman is not cheap to cheat on spouse. '

Her each word falls as a slap on his heart.
His misfired guess on account of age
And the retaliations of it make him
An adultery proof in all his life.

On whose wrapper your face at sixty,
With a stud on left nostril, the lock
Utter black by dye, in loose knot,
And lips as fleshy as your cheeks,
Stared at me, sultrier than any youth.
How sexier you must have been
A decade ago, two decades back
Or at your thirty, let alone twenty!
How fortunate those must have been,
Who revolved around you then!
How many wooed and how many were voyeurs!

Is it your exceptional intellect
That keeps you alluring?
Is it your matriarchal Clan
That keeps your eyes sensual?
Is it by your sensuous poems
That you look sensual
Or is it by your sensual and sensuous looks
Your writings came to be sensual?
I read your poems sensually
With your sexy figure in thought.
I read your face sensually
With your sexy poems in thoughts.

Is Karma Theory at work?
03.10.2018

ugam Chettiar.
Karma Is A Hypothesis.

No event will occur without a cause.
The law of cause and effect is the one
That governs all phenomena present.
To this law obey all forces of nature.

Under the sway of law of causation,
There is no room for accident or chance.
Chances and accidents are the products
Of some causes beyond our faculty.

Karma theory is born of this law.
One falls on its next, which falls on its next
And thus the effect passes on and on
And affects the one from whom it took off.

Karma theory is a hypothesis.
Yet it is a powerful weapon to wage
Against wrong doings in most religions.
Let us believe it and behave well.

Karma Of The Hindu

Karma is the law of cause and effect,
The third law of Newton in operation.
Every action has a reaction
But Karma is a little more than that.

Like deeds, one’s thoughts too have repercussions.
The effects cause subsequent reactions
That form a chin wherein one would be caught.
The one will get back what one has thrown.

If the theory is true or not, I don’t know.
It lends harmony, builds ethics and pride
And installs shame as a powerful weapon.
Fear Karma if not the god at least.

Kashmir Shaivism

Shiva is the Absolute Being,

According to Kashmir Shaivism,
Which dates back before Vedic era.

The absoluteness is spoken
In the sense that He depends on none

And that he's begin-less, endless.

Shiva is full of awareness.
Shiva is consciousness.
Shiva is self illuminating.
Shiva is all pervasive.

The dream world is not real.
It belongs to the dreamer.
The universe is not real.

I long for a hold,
A hold of your lean arm,
That you don’t withhold.
Else, I am out of form.

I long for a breath
On your nape and hairs,
That you better bequeath.
Else, it sends me to despair.

I long for a brush,
A mild one, of your lobe,
That you better slight.
Else, abate not my throbs.

I long for a pinch,
A pinch of your stern nose,
That you don’t retrench.
Else, my nerves go tense.

I long for a lift,
A lift of your blunt chin,
That you cannot but accept.
Else, my heart gets pain.
I long for a kiss,
A kiss on your lower lip,
That now you can’t dismiss.
Else, my soul would slip.

I long for your head
To lean on my breast,
That you no need to dread.
There lies your abode of rest.

I long for this unison,

That you can commission.
Else, I am lost in omission.

That control the pleasure in the brain

Lips unlocked, my tongue slipped in.
It darted through lips and about
Her mouth, touching her tongue on tip
Then at bottom and at corners,
Sucking the tongue and swallowing the juice
Till she got fire at her bottom.
Resistance gone, she surrendered.

Kissing is just a rehearsal.
Her mouth stands for her lower one.
Man's tongue stands for his under part.
The tongue signals the man's prowess.

Kissing’s Value

Kissing is an intimate expression
Enacted in any sexual encounter.
Kissing is an innate operation
Employed in all corporal intimacies.

Lip-locking and tongue plugging are the two
That distinguish themselves from others.
They connect the psyches of man and woman
And help them feel about their souls’ oneness.

Locked by their lips, plugged by their tongues,
The couple will derive a sensation
That sublimates the sensation they get
When they entangle themselves in mating.

When he thrusts open her lips and pierces
His tongue and when she gets hold of his tongue
He will his tongue as his organ
And she, her mouth as her lower mouth.

The kiss compensates the denial of sex.
The kiss promotes the interests of sex.
It gives instant satisfactions to the pairs
Who are forbidden to entertain sex.

The stigma attached to kissing gone
And its acceptability risen,
Liberality of kissing will take Care of perverts of sex in their void.

Guinevere was the wife of King Arthur,
The legendary ruler of Briton,
Who led the defense of Briton ably
Against Saxon invaders in the late
5th century and was hailed in folk songs.
Arthur married her, stung by her beauty,
In spite of a warning from his man Merlin
That Guinevere would be unfaithful to him. 1

Sir Lancelot was a knight belonging
To the Round Table and the most trusted
Knight of king Arthur in the battlefield. 2
He was known for his valour and posture.
When Guinevere was abducted by a design,
Arthur entrusted to Lancelot the job
Of undertaking a journey of hurdles
And fetching his queen safely from the spot. 2

Lancelot encountered many challenges.
He battled three axe bearing man squarely,
Lifted a heavy stone slab of a tomb,
Fought against an overly prideful knight
And crossed a bridge made with sharp swords.
He discovered Guinevere in the castle.
He fought men and broke into the tower.
He returned with her to reach King Arthur. 3

Guinevere acquainted with Lancelot,
Whose bravery and chivalry she was
An eyewitness to and was drawn to him.
A villainous and fatally flawed woman,
She was portrayed for the illicit love
She exhibited to the king's knight.
Lancelot and Guinevere loved each other
And gave themselves to each other heart and soul.4

Arthur took no notice of the growing
Attachments between the queen and Lancelot
In the very first, duly weighed by the trust.
The courtly love they ardently pursued
Lacked corporal lust and retained blushes.
The king accused his wife of adultery
And banished Lancelot, who left with heavy heart.
Eventually, the queen returned to the king.

Failing to produce an heir and unable
To be with her man, she went to depression.
Following the death of Arthur, the queen
Entered a convent and served as a nun.
The story of Guinevere was floated
Suggesting that women, the married ones,
Were expected to be high in moral
Than the men during medieval period.

Laws For Woman

Harassment over dowry is violence.
Rape is violence of the high order.
Marital rape is no way less in crime.
Violence free woman must be man's pride.

Dowry harassment law and rape law
Are so one-sided that a woman's complaint
Is enough to land man into lock up.
Nonviolence to woman must be man's pride.

Spousal violence is wide prevalence,
Not reported from stigma attached to it
And from lack of support in her family.
A law on marital rape is man's pride.

Dowry law has been misused at a will.
Men were scared and prefer live-in methods.
Rape law has been misused at a stroke.
Men are scared and distance themselves from love.

Law on marital rape will come to stay.
One more feather to her cap against men.
All the three laws must be in force, no doubt,
With dilution in blatant prosecution.

Layla And Majnun

It is a fictional tragic love story.
Qays ibn aL Mulawwah was just a boy
When he fell in love with Layla al Aamriya
In the Arab region in 7th century.
Layla was tender as a cypress tree.
She could slay the whole world with a flicker
Of her eye lashes with such a beauty.
She was known for her beauty in the school. 1

She was equipped with two lustrous eyes
And a mole on her cheek when she was born.
Whose heart would not have filled with longing
At the sight of the girl with such black hair?
Even the milk she drank has turned the colour
Of roses the skin on her lips and cheeks.
Qays was one of the best pupils in the class.
He fell for her and she, for him at once.2

Qays had given his heart to cute Layla
Before he understood of what he gave away.
They drank by day and dreamed by night all along.
Glances were the marks that they were scoring.
Like musk deer, love is betrayed by its scent.
Their eyes were blind and ears deaf to the world.
Everyone knew that he was mad of her
And her parents took her home and kept in.3

His heart fell ill, longing for his beloved.
Soon everyone knew that he was obsessed.
Qays had lost all chances to see her face.
Parents hid her away from his approach.
Layla hid her sorrow from her parents
And, when she was alone, shed lonely tears.
The separation from his beloved robbed
The youth of his home. He lost his balance. 4

At night he, when everyone was asleep,
Would steal his way to the tent of his girl,
Recite his poems of her and kiss the threshold
And would hasten back before the day dawned.
'East wind! Be gone early in the morning;
Caress her hair and whisper in her ear.'
'One who has sacrificed everything for you
Lay in the dust on his way to you dear.'

Layla was a lute and Majnun, a viola.
One day he stole her vision in her tent
At night in front of a candle burning.
She seemed a fairy, Majnun wondered.
He was a fairy torch, Layla exclaimed.
Parents were perturbed in son's madness.
They pleaded to the parents of Layla
To give her hand in marriage to his son.

'Your son is so obsessed of my daughter
That the people call him Majnun - mad man.
How can I take a mad man as her groom?'
Said her father and withheld his daughter.
Majnun left his parents and ran away.
He wandered in the wilderness with hair
Falling unkempt about his face in despair.
He noted neither reproach nor sympathy.

From a bud to a blossom Layla has grown.
Half of an enticing glance from her eyes
Would have been enough to conquer many kings.
She was in secret when she looked for Majnun.
She was also burnt in the fire of longing.
However, she was married to Ihn Salam,
Against her wish and disregarding her wish.
Hearing Layla's marriage, Majnun mourned.

His family eventually gave up hope
For his return and left food in the open.
Majnun was seen reciting poetry
To himself or writing it in the sand.
Some years later, Layla's husband died.
She was not free yet to join her lover
As she was to grieve for her husband's death.
They had been separated for lifetime.
Layla fell ill and died of broken heart.
News of Layla's death reached Majnun ears.
He reached the place where Layla was buried.
He wept and wept and surrendered to the grief
And died at the graveside of her beloved.
The love story of Layla and Majnun
Is a tragic love, termed Kuwara love-
The love that does not succeed to marriage.

'I pass by these walls, the walls of Layla
And kiss this wall and that wall.
It's not love of the house that has take my heart
But of the One who dwells in those houses.'

Driven by warmth of a young-becoming man,
She is like a cold candle set aflame.

No surgeon yet bringing relief,
No scalpel yet helping a heal,
In a moment, life might encapsulate
Its joys, yet life is not just a moment.

She lets go of her inhibition and collapses
Like surging waves falling on shores.
Simplistic in delineation, over simple in Solution;
It develops into a little more than nothing.
Blinded, she and he entangles.

Lent is a long session of forty days,
Leaving intervening Sundays, which begins
On Ash Wednesday and ends on Holy Saturday.
Jesus spent in wilderness for forty days.

Intervening Sundays are left out
As mini-Ester, not fit for sobriety.
Lent is a time of repentance, fast
And preparation for coming Ester.

Lent is a time of self denial;
Lent is a time of repentance;
Lent is for forsaking sinful acts.
Lent is for withdrawal of pleasure.

Lenten session is more than a fasting.
More than a prayer but a reformer.
Lenten session observation over,
Each soul is cleansed to attend Ester.

Leper

More than an orphan, as abandoned by his family,
Lower than a beggar, as unwanted at anybody’s doorstep,
Poorer than a pauper, as estranged by the society,
Weaker than a handicap, as found repelling the donors,
And lowlier than the once untouchable, as his presence irritaing,
Lives a leper, beaten with the devastating malady.
Coupled with old age, who else can be that much pitiable?

Let Love Be Seen, Read And Heard.

"Without Kama, there is no emotion
Between man and woman in relation.
Resuurect Kama, God of Love, you've burnt"
Goddess Parvathi pleaded with Shiva.

'Woman is fire; the phallus is fuel;
Her pubes are her smoke; her vulva is flame;
When a man penetrates her that is coal.
The ecstasy that she gets is her sparks.'

Thus a sacrificial fire is described
In the Brihadaranyaka Upanishad.
"Kama along with Dharma and Artha Leads to Moksha." says Vatsyayana.

The frolics Krishna had with the Gopis
In uninhibited love in Vrindavan
On the banks of Yamuna is pictured
In Bhagavat Purana, a thousand years old.

The love scenes between Radha and Krishna
Get an erotic touch from Jay Dev's
Writing in Gita Govind, widely read
In Eastern India in the same period.

Khajuraho and Konark display
Sculptures of sexual acts in all formats
That include fellatio and multiple sex,
In their temples, a thousand year old.

Basohli and Kangra witness paintings
Of various frolic acts of Krishana
With Gopis, especially Radha, far
In the north, in the eighteenth century.

Libido In Excess

Libido varies even in the same person
At different times, ages and partners.
Libido is high where intelligence is high.
Genius is invariably weak in sex.

A high sex drive person enjoys life most
As sexual pleasure is the peak of pleasures.
Though short lived, it's much sought after pleasure.
Libido suppressed, one behaves wildly.

A high sex drive man goes after women.
He prefers woman to man to work with.
He goes to movies, choosing heroines.
His eyes feed on women and their pictures.

A high sex drive man sublimates the drive
In arts, music, dance, sports and creations,
Also in reading and writing about love,
And in joining some spiritual movements.

He flirts with as many as he contacts.
He indulges in compulsive masturbation.
One night stand and going to prostitutes
And spending on women are other ways.

A high sex drive man is highly obsessed
Of attracting women and voyeurism.
One spends one's time in seeing porn,
And would indulge in exhibitionism

Sex addict is a high sex drive person
Whose sexual behaviours interfere
With the relationships of the opposite sex
And invites disapproval and reprimand.

Sex addict finds a piano's leg as woman's.
Though aware of and yet not bothered of Repercussions, a man would leer and stalk.
He may molest or rape woman of all sort.

Boys and girls abused by aunts and uncles
Go sex addict, having shed shame of sex.
Sex addicts are sometime from misfit partners.

Life And Matter

Things seen are made of matter.
It has a beginning and an end.
In between there’s a constant change.
Beyond this lies the imperishable,
Which has no beginning nor ending,
And which travels through matter.
Life energy is a kind of energy
That runs through organisms.

Life Converges In The Brain.

The gross body is there and visible;
The mind is there; the intellect is there;
The subtle ego and the soul are there;
All the four are non-visible in one;

The gross body consumes food and takes air
And grows to stay as a vehicle for four.
Mind stores, reacts, broods, muses and recalls
With love and hate and fear and anger.

Intellect reasons and takes decisions
And is often in conflict with the mind.
Ego is the captain, who sails or sinks
With fame or shame, in the vessel taken.

Soul, the God particle, omnipresent
In the body, is a piece of the life string
That runs through all living organisms,
Carrying DNA and giving awareness.

The brain acquaints itself with the body
And not the soul, and to that extent lives
In illusion, which is known as nescience,
And get agitated to that extent.

The brain, a part of the gross body,
Associates itself with mind, intellect,
And ego in function for the God particle,
Which stops functioning when the brain is dead.

Life: Comedy Or Tragedy?

The manner of death, like the time of death,
Is not in one's hand; one can't work for it.
A death without sufferings is one's wish,
Which can't be accomplished by one's will.

There is no life style that can ensure it.
No healthy living is a guarantee.
No religious path can take one to it.
The good deeds one did might fail to get it.

Many holy ones had horrible deaths.
Many noble ones had miserable deaths.
Death has been kind to many wicked ones.
Death has been kind to many selfish ones.

A god man can promise you a heaven;
A god man can assure you no rebirth.
He cannot promise you a painless death.
No god man says anything provable.

Sweet deaths and bitter deaths are ruled by Fate.
Fate is nothing but the outcome of fights
The life force wages with the outside forces.
The result determines the nature of death.

A play of comedy ends in happiness.
A play of tragedy ends in sorrow.
One's manner of death is the determiner
Of comedy or tragedy of life.

Momentary and temporary
Is the taste of the food that we eat.
The taste cannot be resurrected.

Happiness in focus,
If it means dumping your spouse
To attain it, so be it.

Pleasure in vision,
If it means dumping monogamy
To attain it, so be it.

Carnal desire tempting,
If a woman steals her friend’s husband,
Be it a truth not probed.

Variety in demand,
If a man cheats his friend of his wife,
Be it a truth not deducted.

An unfortunate lot in that
Another suitor would come.

Be the dumping decent,
Both splitting with heads high
So that they fetch suitable pairs.

The courtship serves that they know each other.
The marriage entails living together.
Marriages fail from successful courtships.
Living together cuts space for movements.

Divorce is a cumbersome exercise.
Sometimes, pounds of flesh are extracted.
To circumvent the divorce from marriage,
Live-in relationships have been brought in.

In live-in relation, man and woman
Live together, having conjugal love,
And beget children with all sanctity.
It may or not lead to marriage later.

In certain cases, living-in is had
As a stop gap arrangement for marriage,
Living-in is as good as a married life.
It can serve being a good test drive test.

To end marriage is to sell a house.
To end living-in is to end a lease.
Live-in relation is easy to break
Before marriage or later from staleness

'Till death do us part' has been outdated.
Living-in is a step before wedding,
Which is still preferred as it gives one joy
Of going public with the relationship.

With less commitment, live-in relation
Is easy to break and easy to acquire.
Change of partners drives out monotony.
After sexual life, isolation will set in.

Living As Single

Endowed with the flow of money,
Woman might think of living alone
With no need of a man's supports.
It looks fancy to live single.

Her preference for money comes
As unilaterally can
She deal with money
With no compromises called for.

In a company with a man,
Bilaterally she has to Deal with him, cutting the freedom
That she is enjoying as single.

She can't dispense with men outdoor
In profession and relations.
To be living single indoor
And not outdoor is a duel act.

She gets a personality
That impacts her integrity,
And questions her capacity
To deal with men in a circuit.

Sans emotional attachment,
Physical attachment with men
Will leave a woman high and dry
When she has lost her stickiness.

Loneliness

No one for you to love and
No one who loves you,
If you have, you are alone,
Not less than an orphan.

No one to share with and
No one who can share,
If you have, you are alone,
Not far from isolation.

No one to lean on and
No one who can lean,
If you have, you are alone,
Heading to ruin.

Privacy is a luxury
For one in demand.
It is poverty
For you as abandoned.

Unless you are loved,
Unless you are in love and
Unless it is in tune,
You hasten to exit.

Search and search for one,
Who can with you spend
And to whom you can lend.
Then sheds loneliness.

Loneliness is terrible,
Hopeless and deadly.

In a way, beggars are better than thieves.

It is easy to steal but hard to beg.
Give or not, don’t treat beggars with contempt.

Lord Buddha The Guide

He was born in Lumbin,
Delivered his first sermon in Saranath,
And shed his body in Kushinara,
The Lord Buddha, the Light of Asia.

He is
Siddhartha, the one who accomplishes,
Tathagata, the perfect one,
Bhudhisattva, the enlightened one,
Sakhyar Muni, the ascetic of Sakhya clan,
Goutama, the ascetic,
And Jina, the conqueror.

Truths are four:
The existence of sorrow;
There is cause for it;
Cessation of the cause;
The conquest.

Rules are five:
Abstinence from injury;
Abstinence from stealing;
Abstinence of wrongful indulgence;
Abstinence of falsehood;
Abstinence from intoxication.

Paths are eightfold:
Right understanding;
Right thoughts;
Right speech;
Right action;
Right living;
Right effort;
Right mindfulness;
Right contemplation

Self indulgence and
Self mortification,
Are two extreme steps;
Choose the middle path.

To eat and drink, to live
Is not evil.
To do to be merry is evil.
To nurse the health is not evil.
To do the opposite is evil.
The one who conquers the all
But not one’s self, conquers nil.

Religion cultivates faith in them.
It exists from the faith of them.

Love And Pardon

Friday is the day of crucifixion;
Sunday is the day of resurrection.
These two events observed with involvements
Are most characteristic of spirituality.

'Verily I say unto you that one
Of you shall betray me.' Prediction came true.
'Before the cock crows thou shall deny me
Thrice.', said Jesus and prediction came true.

Jesus performed thirty three miracles,
Exhibiting His supernatural power
And yet He didn't use it to save Himself
And not uttered any word in his defence.

'Love God with all thy heart, with all thy soul,
With all thy strength and with all thy mind
And love thy neighbours as thyself.', said He.
Christianity is founded on Love.

'Love your enemies, bless them that curse you,
Do good to them that hate you and pray for them
Which despitefully use you and prosecute you.'
Christianity is founded on Pardon.

Love and pardon stand for the world harmony.
Jesus commands you to follow these two.
Had He not been claimed by a religion
He would have been owned by everyone.

He eyed for her flesh and she, for his wallet;
They bartered. Hearts away

She longed for a lad and he for, a chance;

They wronged. Hearts unaffected

Still intact will be the marital love.

One out of five cheats on one's partner.

Man is the initiator in most of the cases.

Love And Sex, Different

To hold back your husband,
You let him know that you are in demand.
To have your freedom of movement,
You give him a long rope to move away.
To like someone is not to disown
Your own but to make you a fit one.
Love and sex are not one,
Nor is it two sides of one coin.
The latter cannot usurp the former.

No freedom of joy

Love As Though No Love

When I saw you, I fell in love.
I saw you often, you know why.
You didn't let me know you love me.
‘I love you’ comes from neither.

To love is a pleasure; I do.
Being love is a thrill; you do.
You don't want to confess your love
And don't want to me declare it so.

The undeclared love leaves no scar.
The mute love escapes qualm and guilt.
We can face our spouses fairly.
Let us love as though we don't love.

They join and settle with a bond.
Thus passes an erotic cycle.

In the phase of attraction, which is short,
One will find oneself drawn by another
And one finds interested in another.
This is from impetus of libido.

It is man’s lust and woman’s passion.
Visual interest in woman prods his lust.
His pursuit, intellect, wealth or power
Or other attributes kindle her passion.

In the phase of obsession, a long one
With high voltage, the pair is intense
In love, longing for seeing each other,
With the release of Dopamine and adrenaline.

Love and attachment is the third phase,
Where the couple settles for warm bonding,
Induced by the release of oxytocin
In the course of orgasm and child bearing.

Man is a half and woman is a half
And they have an itch to become a whole.
It is well in line with the Nature’s plan
Of progress and procreation of life.

All the flowers do not fertilize.
All the fruits do not germinate.
Falling in love may not lead to courtship.
Courtship may not lead to conjugation.
Consequent to the invention of marriage,
Man and woman go through a lone cycle,
Since when they remain together locked
By children, identity and dependence.

Love Is Barren With Out Memento

Many a script,
Many a gift,
Did I present to you.
You paid me nil.
Acceptance by you,
A forbidden soul,
Itself is the token

However, I want
From you a memento
To show to others
Your love for me,
Without which
What is love worth?

Give me your fallen hair.
Give me your bitten nail.

Woman has fear when in company of man
That he would make sexual advances.
Woman has fear when with man in the bed
That he might inflict pain in perversion.
Woman has fear when she lives as single

Man has fear when in company with woman

Love Is Costly To Have

Relationship with the spouse is vital.
So is it with the parents and children.
It'd cost you time, energy and money.
It'd demand you patience and tolerance.

Agitations and tribulations are
The part of the game in a family.
Failures of hopes would breed agony.
Absence of gratitude is a tragedy.

A beggar is blessed to be free of these.
He has none to love and none who loves him.
He has nothing to spend or to spend for.
The insecure cares for relationships.

Dear Nita, I love you hand in glove,
I am, for you, head over heals in love.
No one must have fallen, with you, in love,
No one but me, you must love, I resolve.

Farness eludes our proximity.
Family bond prevents our unity.
You are too shy to take chance, if any.
The mirage of love is my vanity.

How someone-else can or may love you, given
That I alone can or must love you any more?
None else do I love; none else should you, driven
By this fallacy, I run after you.

Your features were not the cause of my love.
You were not alone under the roof to choose from.
Yet I love you; it’s irrevocable, irreversible.
The inaccessibility of you did it all.

In my love for you, there’s no otherness.

’Cause love refuses to admit otherness.

My wife and son insist, not out of love,
But from her fear of losing half a pension

Love One, Not Possess.

To possess one is to forget to love one.

When you possess your wife it might happen
That you're vigilant and not jubilant.
You see that she seek not men's company
And that she is mute to love, denied by you.
Whether you love her or not, she must care you.

When you possess your husband it happens
That you're cautious but not accommodative.
You see that he befriend no co-woman
And is impervious to other women's love.

Better to possess not, so as to love.

Love Out Of Compassion

Love, materialistic, expects returns.
Love, physical, expects responses.
Love from compassion has no condition,
Where pleasure of loving is the reward.
To perpetuate only happiness
One must head towards love freedom compassion.

For others to be happy,
Practise compassion.
For you to be happy,
Practise compassion.
Love without compassion
Is body without life.

To get the impetus
To show compassion to one
Who is in expectation,
Imagine he would die soon,
And it would generate
In you enough pity.
Also imagine what would happen
When you were in his shoes.

The love one has for one’s mother.

We were known to each other.
You were wed to some other.
I didn’t let you know my desire.
You didn’t let me guess your desire.
Now you are a grandmother.
I want from you to know whether
You had for me then, a desire.
You nodded. I fell flat.
Yes, my love is fulfilled.
With that I shall ever live.
You are not mine, but were.
I cannot own you, but once.
By mind, though not by body.
Who wants body? I mind the mind.
To us, let others be blind.

Love To Free, Not To Freckle

No woman wants to be caged by her man
In the name of passion and protection.
No man wants to be chained by his woman
In the name of attention and attachment.

Love must nurture freedom, not stifle it.
Love must join lovers as a pair of wings
That can flutter at will in their directions.
Love is to free, not stifle, their movements.

Who are not questioning each other
And who aren’t answerable to each other
Find more independence in their life style,
Which free them from the stress of being bound.

Loving eyes must not turn to watchful eyes.
It is there, though not, if you doubt about it.
It’s not there, though is, if you don’t doubt it.

Husband and wife are in perfect harmony
When they are in job at different sites
Or frequently away of each other,
From where they get absolute privacy.

I spot her in a crowd and innocently conclude she is there for my heed.

I am desperate for her glance,
that fails to meet my eagerness.
I brand it as her coyness.

She talks to someone with smile,
that I conveniently interpret that it is meant for me to note.

She is engrossed in long chats, that gives me a clear cut signal that she grants me her vision.

She seems much uneasy to see
And blushes when accosted.
Yes, my current runs through her.

I can’t evidence to the public that she is in love with me.
I won’t betray her predicament.

She can’t manifest her love.
I don’t want for love a witness to tarnish her modesty and majesty.

Whether she shows her love or not,
I believe in her the mute love for me and in it find an erotic joy.

Lovers And Stalkers

Attracted to a woman acquaintance,
Feeling compelled to reach out to her,
A man may follow her as she goes out
And would be in the pursuit of her love.

He prefers watching her from a distance.
He only trails behind and says no love.
Unless he gets some positive response
He will not dare to tell her, 'I love you.'

In case the woman finds him attractive
And develops relationships with him,
He will be fuelled with passion for her
And feel elated, having captured her heart.

He will be mad of her and embarrass her.
In case she finds it as a mismatch
And rejects his love and disown him later
He may turn violent and would injure her.

Sick minded if he is, he may kill her.
To lose a woman is to lose the world.
Scared of such incidences women grow
Insecure to face or befriend men folk

Not to entertain any flirt from men.

Loyalists Get Crowns Or Thorns

Being loyal is like a child
Clinging fast to its mother's hand.
It is a survival instinct,
Which honesty cannot command.

One is loyal for a target.
Loyalty is task specific,
Time bound and space bound in approach.
In its place enters no mercy.

Being loyal undermines shame,
Defers logic, ignores justice
And works against one's conscience.
A loyalist might succeed or succumb.

Lust Has No Eyes

To my eyes, mind, heart and soul,
Her nose, a masculine one, is tormenting;
Her lips, uneven, are devastating;
Her lock, a thin plait, is overwhelming;
Her breasts, just a purse, are hurling;
Her fingers, un-manicured, are gambling;
Her bottom, not a convex, is stirring.
No word, she uttered to please,
Nor any deed conspicuous either.
Calls answered but not one made.
Letters received but not one sent.
Yet so much passion in her is visible.
Yet so much lust from her is discerned.
She is not a beauty, still is opium.
She is not feeding, still sates.
She stands as a proof that
It is not woman’s beauty one is after.

Lust Has No Shyness

The sipped syrup or the bitten dishes
Are the ones sullied by others’ tongues,
So I detest. But your very tongue,
To reach I am very much in anguish.
Why?

The rubbish decay or the rotten eggs
Are so much a repelling odour
So I detest. But your very armpit,
To inhale I am very much eager.
Why?

Hand is washed while private part
Is held, after the toilet.
But when at bed, her very part
One shies not manipulating.
Why?

Is it that lust has no eyes?
Or that it alone has eyes
To discriminate the bliss
And to retrieve one to the sense?
Latter must be.

What to the rational is dirty
Is to sex pretty;
What to the sensible is foul
Is to sex agreeable;
What to mind is ugly
Is to sex holy.

Lust is felt when a woman is in thought.
It gives you kicks. You feel such kicks till death.
Lust is spelt in touch, kiss and embrace.
It charges you; you feel such touch even as old.
Lust is spit in insertion and emission.
You can have it till you lose potency.
Lust by any form is set till you last.

As a lad I set my eyes upon girls
With radiant faces. For a kiss?

As a youth I cast my eyes on damsels,

Growing old, still I was drawn to their

Lust Less Is Listless

Lust is born with the embryo
With-in the mother’s womb,
To grow with it as basic instincts.

Conscience is born with the birth of psycho
With-out the mother’s womb,
To grow as many-fold ethics.

Lust strives to quench the thirst
For food, water and, most the sex,
Never ending till the last.

Conscience strides to uphold Ego,
With search for love, name and safety,
Often putting down the Lust.

When fed, Lust brings cheer.
When fed, Ethic quells fear.
Who dares, gets cheer.

Too much under the sway of Ethic
One ends up one’s life sans cheer;
Suppressed is the Lust.

Lust, when maimed or chopped,
Its root is never cut, nor dead.
Rather it deranges or spearheads.

Which is why Lust sneaks out its head,
When thwarted, to get fed
And breeds cheers behind the door.

Erotic pleasure has no equals.
Forgo it not, by being ethical.

Lust Versus Ethics

Lust never rests
Between two souls
But tends to crossfire.

She drew to me closer
While at work we were.
There were under-currents
Deep in the placid ocean.

She feigned her presence
Propelled by Lust,
But refrained from advance,
Repelled by Ethics.

Be merry, Lust lured;
Be virtuous, Ethics warned.
Is she to give in or not?
Lust and Ethics were at war.

I felt her and smelt her
But bent not to taste her,
Yet it is as much worth
As if she was tasted.

A flower when smelt
Is not spoilt but is, when plucked.
So she is not abducted.
Lust and Ethics were at par.

Religion is Truth that lies in everyone,

'What is nation? ', Gandhi asked of himself.

Nation is not defined by language, creed,

Nation is where a common humanity
Must override political connection.

'What is politics? ', Gandhi asked of himself.

Politics is bred with disagreement.
How to manage conflicts is much crucial.
Nonviolence is the answer to conflicts.
Conversion, not coercion, is remedy.

'What is living? ', Gandhi asked of himself.

Maqbool Fida Husain, 95, is no more.
A controversial Indian painter is no more.

His infatuation with Madhuri Dixit,

He made a film to have her act in it.

He had thick friendship with Kamna Prasad,

Maitri Bhavana Of Buddhism

To realize others' concern as ours
And come forward to help them in their sour
Is the essence of Maitri Bhavana,
A philosophy Buddhism has given.

Neglects fetch neglects; sucours fetch sucours.
Everyone knows it and yet ignores it.
Ensuring own needs and ignoring others,
One enjoys life and ignores rainy days.

Maitri Bhavana practiced, one gets Equanimity, a non-judgmental
Attitude in a given situation,
Which'll block the tendencies for selfishness.

Probe the person you have got hatred for.
Probe the people you are in conflict with.
You may find why they are so to you
And a way will be born for a patch up.

Without concern for others, one cannot live.
With a deaf ear to others, one can't buy peace.
Mutual helps are a panacea to the stress.

Malady Of Man

To wander, to seek, to spot,
To know, to get attention,
To have talks and company,
To think, visualize and recollect,
To help, to earn good will,
And to live on bundles of memories
Are harmless pleasures,
Each man derives from woman.
Woman is the net earner.

Malavika And Agnimitra

King Agnimitra of Vidisha
Was the Shunga Dynasty
To have ruled Magadha Kingdom
Around 152 BCE.
He was in love with Malavika,
A maid to the chief Queen Dharini.
His childhood friend Gautam
Was his partner in crime.

Malavika was a student of Guru Ganadas.
And one of his best proteges.
His rival was Hardatt, in the field of dance
Both wanted to know who was the good mentor.
King Agnimitra was besotted
By the portrait of pretty Malavika,
A chambermaid, who stood next to the queen
Dharini in a royal painting.

Gautam was Agnimitra's childhood friend
And, aware of his king's infatuation,
Set up a contest between the two gurus
With the hope that Ganadas sponsor
Malavika to dance in front of the king.
Guru Ganadas had chosen Malavika
To perform as his chief disciple.
Malavika danced to the king's delight.

'My heart suspected in her portrait
Some forgery of beauty but now I think
The painter dozed and failed in his duty.'
This was king's first impression of her beauty.
'Her long eyes, moon glow face, arms curving
Gently from her shoulders, a delicate chest
With firm high breasts, her hips ample yet hands
Could encompass her waist.' The king observed.

Her voice was sweet and innocent like her looks.
She sang the part of a beloved yearning
For her lover. The King felt as if she was Calling out to him. The feat came to an end. Malavika smiled at the king when she left. A glimpse of her teeth and shy eyes did the trick. He saw Malavika for real. No more Contest was he interested in and left.

It became evident that the king had an eye For Malavika and the queen took note of it. As her feet hurt after a fall from the swing, The chief queen deputed Malavika to perform Dohada dance underneath the Ashoka tree, Which act can induce the buds flower soon. If the tree blossom with in the short time, The queen promised to grant a wish of her.

The queen's maid adorned Malavika's feet
Gautam conveyed king's love message to her.
The younger queen Iravati invited
King Agnimitra to the royal garden
To welcome the spring by sharing a ride
With her on the swing. She waited for him.
The king was reluctant to meet Iravati
Lest she should find out his shifted passion.

'From a weapon made of hope comes a pain
That crushes hearts! Is your flowered arrow,
Love, both cruel and tender, sweet and harsh?'
The king was desperate to secure Malavika.
'Broad hipped, slender-waisted, bosom full and bold.'
The king seeing her behind exclaimed.
Malavika was pleased in knowing the king's love
But was worried how the queen would take it.

The king said to himself, 'How charming
The amorous vexation of a young woman!
When he tried to embrace Malavika,
She avoiding the king with a gesture.
Her arms became a shield for her breasts,
Pressed in his hot embrace; to his wishes
Her turning away and such moves would form
In passion's charming game to her lover.
The king's feelings for maid Malavika
Was conveyed by Iravati to Dharini.
Malavika with her friend maid was kept
In the dungeon with an order to set free
Them on production of the queen snake ring.
Gautam helped the King to set free Malavika
He feigned a snake-bite. To invalidate the bite
The physician wanted a snake mark talisman.

Dharini gave her ring with an image of a snake
Innocently, to be misused to get
Malavika released from the dungeon.
The Ashoka tree was in bloom in five days.
Malavika to get her wish from the queen.
The King of Vidarbha had surrendered.
The two dance maids brought from Vidarbh desh
Recognized Malavika as their princess.

Malavika was not a maid as presumed.
The queen was happy to know that the love
Her husband had was that of royal blood.
The queen fulfilled the wish of Malavika
By getting her married to Agnimitra.
'A great river conveys to the mighty ocean
The waters of lesser streams.; the faithful wife
Doesn't refuse her lord the rival he esteems.'

A woman wants a chest to rest on
For her nest that she gets ample

Man Is Not Whole, Sans Woman

Body sans soul is a corpse.
Soul sans body is ether.
Man is the corpse.
Woman is the soul.
Both together make life.
The corpse deteriorates.
But the ether exists.
Sans woman, man decays;
Sans man, woman stays.

Woman qua volunteer to Gandhiji,
woman qua adopted daughter to A.B. Vajpoyee, woman qua daughter to Pandit Nshru
lent to respective men the soul.

Man Must Behave Himself

Remaining as a daughter, a sister,
And becoming a wife and a mother,
A woman stood as a person to man.
Otherwise, she was an object in his eyes.

Women who were dancers, courtesans,
Singers and actresses were seen as objects.
Menaka and Oorvasi are beauties
That fed men's lust from the mythology..

Her face is the moon; her eyes, the faun's.
She stoops a little, burdened by her breasts.
Her heels sink deeper, burdened by her back.
In writing and reading, sex was drunk by men.

Woman wants no more to be an object.
With self esteem, she denies man access.
Man must see her as an individual,
Not a person, nor an object, and behave.

Man’s Service To Woman

Woman! I’m happy when you make me happy,
But happier when I make you happy.
I am happy when you kiss me
But happier when I kiss you.
I am fed when I feed on your body
But more fed when I see your body writhe.
Man’s service to woman is his food.

Man’s Success

Man’ success is the success with woman.
An expert teller of stories and wit;
An associate since a woman’s childhood;
One in prime youth with robust health;
One who has gained a woman’s confidence
Through games and other amusements;
A doer of what she likes or desires;
A former messenger of another lover;
A knower of her vulnerability;
One sought after by women in rank;
One secretly involved with a girl friend;
One who grew up with her in a household;
A pleasure loving next door man;
A sexy servant or an attendant;
The husband of a maid or of her girl friend;
A generous spender with resource;
Someone like a bull, brave and daring;
One who surpasses a woman’s husband
In looks, skills, status, virtues or love;
Such men get access and success with women.

Man’s Suspicion

Man is not as sure that a woman
Can love more than one without prejudice

As that man can love more than a woman

And hence is his intolerance to her stray.

Man’s Technique

Excitement is the first stage through which
A woman passes in man’s foreplay,
Her sexual glands being stimulated.
Plateau is the second stage to which
She sails with the fast heart beats together
With breasts swellings and bottom wetting,
In the course of man’s motion upon her.
Orgasm is the third stage on which
She claims following the sustained action
When her vaginal and pelvic muscles
Grow tense and subsequently contract.
Resolution is the final stage
When her heat subsides, her heart beats slow down
And the muscles relax to calm her nerves.
Man’s failure will cost his hold on her.

Manage The Ego For Happiness

Happiness results when we are at ease.
A sense of well being is happiness.
Absence of worries ensures happiness.
Good health is the yardstick for happiness.

You are happy when you concentrate.
And when you contemplate or when detached.
You are happy when sailing is smooth
Nostalgia can bring you happiness.

The pain centre and the ego centre
Are close to each other in the brain.
Ego can take care of pain for alleviation.
To manage ego is to reduce pain.

Mangala Sutra

A Mangala Sutra a groom ties a bride
Around her neck in the Hindu marriage,
Has to stay on her till he meets his death.
It is a shackle given her for life.
It shows to the public she is allotted.
It reminds her of her full commitment
To chastity and fidelity.
It gives her a status no one could usurp.
Women do not now prefer wearing it,
To show their freedom of expression.
It is safe in a purse for occasions.
Better this custom is outdated.

[Mangala Sutra is a thread or a golden chain with a pendant called Thaali that the groom ties the bride on neck as a mark of having owned her.]

Mangroves Are A Scavenger

Mangrove forests occupy inter spaces
Between wet lands and sea grass meadows.
They form a component of the surface,
The underwater and the aerial.

Mangroves are made of flora and fauna.
Fish, water birds, insects and reptiles abound.
Algae, fungi and numerous plants throng.
A supplier of fuel wood and solutes.

Mangroves are the bed of stored carbon.
The complex roots moderate current flows.
The broad canopies moderate wind flow.
The species die in water and add carbon.

Mangrove forests protect all organism
By keeping away of carbon to offset
Green house gas emission, man's creation.
They have aerialroots and aerial germination.

Mangrove zones are biodiversity.
The red mangroves are of Rhizophoraceae.
The black mangroves are of Acanthaceae
The white mangroves are of Combretaceae.

Mangroves are losing to oil pollution,
Human onslaughts and the drought migration.
Mangroves are a link between land and sea.
They thrive where other plants and animals do not.

Manners Count

It is your dress, cleanliness and manner,
Not your skin, countenance, and glamour,
That earns you a woman’s concern.

Your clean mind, clean teeth, clean habit,
Not your muscles, jewels and wallet
Are which earn you a woman’s concern.

Be your manner and calls above her reproach.
Refrain from over care and over indulgence.
Then you will have earned a woman’s concern.

You lend her your ear and not eye.
You tend her passion, not her lust.
You will have won her concern.

If you have no concern for women,
If you have no woman’s concern,
Then no use of you being born.

Marilyn Monroe.

A tragic angel of sex,
A seductive child woman,
A legendary Love Goddess,
A blonde, a beauty persona,
A voice as much voluptuous,
You, Marilyn Monroe,
As betrayed by those who mattered you,
And ill-loved by those who you mattered,
Having taken over doze of sleeping pills,
In 1962, a fateful year of sex hunters,
At the most ripe age of six and thirty,
Over the failure of much cherished
Marital bond with Robert Kennedy,
Had left us high and dry as sex starved.

From a poor soil and from a broken home,
You came out as an illegitimate child.
You were not to die as an invalid.
You found that your body was an asset,
With which you wanted to bet the world,
With which you wanted to take revenge
On all men, low and high, who fell by.
You had slept with many,
Even for a paltry sum.
You sold yourself for your need and growth,
Never for lust. You are not a man hunter.

You were deserted by three husbands.
You were belied by Robert Kennedy.
He wanted your body, not the soul.
You purred every one to lust you and burst
You used sex as a powerful weapon
To fight with and to beat with,
For the rise to the pedestal, so as to love from.

You sought love nowhere.
You lost it everywhere.
Love hungry and name hungry,
You were too fast to find love anywhere.
You had tuned up for men atop.
Had you turned down to fans below,
You could have got fountain of love.
I take pity for your sad death.
The solace is that I had my youth
Before you had had your last breath.
Your erotic profile still is in my memory.
A woman of sacrifice is Marilyn Monroe.

That fear for her husband's mood and commands.

To have sex without ownerships is rape.
To have sex without one's consent is rape
To have sex with wife against her wish is rape.
Yet marital rape goes unnoticed.

She has to offer herself when he wants.
Her body is his that he can handle
As he wishes that includes the forceful
Fetishes on her without impunity.

She is a mute sufferer in the bed.
She cannot report it to anyone.
She is not expected to reveal it.
It is time she had her space and her time.

It is time man liberated his wife
From marital rape and sexual assaults
Lest there should be a necessity

Marital Rapes

Marriage gives a license to the couple
To have sex taken as consensual.
The couple sometimes go along with sex
Even when one of them does not feel like it.
Woman consents to the unwanted sex
From the anxiety of relationships,
And man comes down to the unwanted sex
From fear of her dissatisfaction with him.
Committed partners thus commit light rapes.
Undisclosed and unreported, it goes.

Without such inhibition,
And without any shame.

Marriage Is Irrevocable Bond.[india]

Kovelon, in love and arts an acumen,
Had as consort, Kannakhi of his commune,
Won as beloved, Madhavi, a courtesan,
And left her, to return to pavilion.

Kannakhi’s love for him was devotional.
Kovelon’s in return was conventional.
His love for Madhavi was passion ridden.
Madhavi’s love in turn was emotional.

Madhavi was deserted and forgotten.
But she did not desert the ill gotten.
She stayed single against her frailties,
And surpassed Kannakhi in all chastity.

Love of passion and love of emotion
Are for harmony a better combination.
Love of convenience and of devotion
Hardly can contribute to its elevation.

Mating among animals and birds takes place
Not by proximity but by mate selection.
There is among humans mate selection.
Distant people are thus getting married.

Materialism

What is materialism?
Affluence and lavishness,
Extravagance and pomposity,
Hoardiing and possessiveness,
Or miserliness or being a spendthrift?
No,
Swindling to spend,
Smuggling to spend
and wasting the abundance.
Can’t you avoid materialism?

Passion burns to manifest fire.

Maya Is The World

An image in a mirror is not real.
For that matter it is not unreal too.
So is the image in Television.
An image is the reflection of a thing.

Me, And My Innocence

To be enamoured of, be there someone;
Be it he or she, any rank or size,
And on any foot; it is all the same.
Be there someone to admire or cherish.

To be besotted with one who holds me,
To be captivated by one who reins me
And to have one as an apple of my eye
There must be some persons for me in life.

Innocence gives life roses and romance.
'Know better' takes away your 'feel better'.
Pursue innocence and leave strategy.
Seek curiosity rather than success.

Trust has become a rare commodity.
Fear to do immoral turns a coward act.
Quilt, shame, stigma and qualm are put to shame.
Too much too soon to know breeds contempt.

No leisure time; no time to muse and think.
All time is absorbed by browsing and chats.
To adore one is a hero worship, shunned.
To be self centered is progressive, tuned.

Meaningless Is Life

Life is absurd and lived through by all.
To live is to struggle against all odds.
To hunt and compete for food is the urge.
To flee and compete for escape is the drive.

Desires and fears are at war throughout life.
Fate is the ruler, to whom all are slaves.
Life is meaningless and pursued as race.

Memory Is Basis Of Everything.

Memory is basis of everything.
Memory encodes, stores and retrieves.
Memory stores one's past; all have their past.
Memory makes individuals unique.

Memory acts from chemical, physical,
Biological and psychological
In humans and make a past for each one
That makes men different from one another.

Each one behaves, influenced by the past,
Which is stored in memory to decode.
Two identical men react differently
To a given situation at a time.

Particles too have memory of the path
They have travelled and the interaction
They have under gone. The path memory
Influences the particles in their move.

Two electrons that are identical
In all known physical properties
Need not react to an experiment
The same way due to their path memories.

There is memory for each organism,
Each organ, each tissue and each cell
With its nucleus, chromosome and atoms.
No one can be free of its past and path.

Bulls no more masculine

Bullocks are stripped of peak of sex..

Mercy And Revenge

Reward and punishment aren’t direct.
They are delivered by God through men,
Made to act from mercy and revenge.
Men are not responsible for their acts.

Mercy Is More Than A Pardon.

Mercy is higher than showing kindness.
Mercy is not just forgiving offenders.
Mercy is doing good, moved by pity,
To the offender instead of revenge.

'Save me; my enemies chase me to kill me;
All men call you good; house me for a night.'
Said a stranger to Sheik Azim Khamer
Of Arabia, falling at his feet.

The Sheik bid him enter and fed him well.
He made him his guest and gave him a bed.
At dawn, he gave him some gold and a horse.
Moved was the stranger by his benevolence.

He confessed he was the killer of his son.
He offered himself to be slain in turn.
The sheik was shocked and was agitated.
However, the good part prevailed on him.

'Go! I will not kill you.' Said the Sheik,
'You have been noble enough to confess;
I must be noble enough to forgive.
Then only will rest my son's soul in peace.'

Mercy is an act much hard to perform.
Mercy is a privilege enjoyed by those
Who have power to retaliate or
Who have power to adjudicate.

We've got by mercy that we don't deserve.
Let others get by mercy that they don't deserve.
Mercy is sweeter than the revenge
As it sweeten the offender also.

Mercy Redeems

Fifteenth June, the fatal day, besets me tightly,
Day and night, off bed and on bed, through out,
Like the hanging date for the man, sentenced to death,
And puts me in anguish, in her leaving my ambit.

I cease to exit from the day of the order for her departure
As does the man from the day of his death sentence.
At times mercy is granted. The man’s back to life.
Should she show her grace, I, too, can be back to life.

You are the part of the earth,
Off the earth and unto the earth,
Burning with food made of earth
And sending waste to form earth.

Interdependence prevails
Among living organisms
And nonliving things as well.
This is more a reality.

You exist because you responds
To all things that surround you.
You exist because you connect
With the cosmos on the earth.

Intuition is the knowledge
Obtained through this connection.
Most of birds and animals
Can predict things to happen.

The universe is a great dance
Of energy, with which are
The subatomic parts of you
In dialogue which you must feel.

The more you feel the more you rise
With the cosmos, which is bliss.
Impediments are the greed,
Jealousy and rivalry.

Metamorphosis Of Religions

There was not any monotheism in the world
At the start of First century AD.
Polytheism was practised in multiples.
By AD 500 came in full swing Roman Empire
And Christianity as monotheism.
It replaced dualism - the Good and the Evil,
Founded by Zoroaster to be Zoroastrians.
Men were made Saints and power assigned
And Christianity was to practise polytheism.
God alone cannot take Evil in war
And men must lend their support to God
And for this men call for jihads and crusades.
Religions advocate heaven and hell,
A kind of dualism to hook followers.
Heaven is the realm of the Good..
Hell is the realm of the Evil.
Buddhism was no theism at all.
Present trend is there no personal God
But only Super Consciousness is the force.
Secularism is the concept of no-religion.
Religions based on myth and hypothesis
Have given way for the scientific thinking.

Mind is the observer of time.
Mind is the instrument by which
All matter on the earth is seen.
Without mind, nothing is observed.

Every object is a bundle
Of elementary particles,
Which dwell in probability waves
Till it is observed by one’s mind.

While observation takes place,
Probability waves collapse
And a definite outcome emerges
To the sense of the observer.

Otherwise, it is a film roll.

Mirabai's Krishna (1498 - 1550)

Born a princess in Rajasthan region,
Mira fought tradition, for woman's right
To an independent life in her poems.
Mirabai formed a strong bond with the doll
Of the God Krishna given by a priest.
She believed Krishna to be her husband
For the rest of her life, refusing to die
With her husband when dead at her young age.1

To fully devote her life to Krishna,
Embittered by her in-laws in her kingdom
As she refused to die at Sati rite
And did worship of Krishna as Vaishnavite
In a family wedded to Siva worships.
She danced from village to village, singing
Love for Krishna till she died and joined Him. 2

Mirabai's love for Krishna, the Dark One,
Is the sole subject of all her writing
And differs from other Bhakti in this way.
She viewed herself as a lover of Krishna
Waiting for Him to take away as His wife.
They call you the refugeless refuge,
They call you redeemer of outcasts.
Caught in a riptide in the sea of becoming.'3

Krishna is a lover and she's His love;
All the poetry she cried would reflect the mood
Of defiance, longing, anticipation,
Joy and ecstasy of union, with Him.
'My Dark One has gone to an alien land.
He has left me behind, he's never returned,
So I've stripped off my ornaments, cut my hair;
Unless I meet Him, I don't want to live.' 4

Meera speaks of her relationship with Krishna
As her lover, lord and mountain lifter.
'After making me fall for you so hard,
Where are you going? Until the day I see you,
No repose: my life, like fish washed on shore,
Flails in agony. For your sake I'll hurt
Myself to death on the saw of Kashi.
The lord is a lifter and I am his slave.'

The love that binds Mira to Lord Krishna
Is like a diamond that breaks the hammer.
'My heart goes into you as the polish
Goes into the gold and I live in you
As the lotus live in water.', declared she
'He's playing the flute that rest on His lips;
Experiencing deep joy, He is charming
The hearts of women of Braj and me hence.'

'There is a longing, it is for his body,
For every hair of the Dark Body.
His face looks curiously like the bright Moon
And I saw it from the side, smiling.', told she.
'I am mad with love; no one understand my plight.
Only the wounded understand the agony
Of the wounded when the fire rages in the heart.'
Her desire for Him was deep, bottomless.

'Shyam, without thee I cannot sleep;
Every second seems many an age;
Every moment I'm tortured by separation;
A bed of flowers seams a bed of thorns.'
'I have abandoned the worldly shame;
Without His sight I find no rest;
And streams of tears fall from my eyes.'
She alone knows what love hers is for Him.

'For if God is angry, where can I dwell?
Thou didst send me a cup of poison and
A black cobra; in all I saw only Krishna!
Mira is drunk with love, and is wedded to the Lord!' 'Come to my pavilion, I have spread a bed
Made of delicately selected buds
And blossoms, and have arrayed myself
In bridal garb from head to toe.', longed she.
'I had gone to the Yamuna to fetch water.
When along came Krishna, stole my sari
A little monkey; I was left standing naked
In the water...', she was naked in words.
Meera Bai makes use of eroticism
With a sparing hand in her songs
To express deep, personal emotions.
Her love for Krishna is wife's for husband.10

Misery, The Shadow Of The Light

Sorrow, fear and disease you cannot avoid.
To lose your mother or child is sorrow.
To face the people or the future is fear.
To decay to pests and accident is disease.

Sorrow: Learn to live with.
Fear: Learn to cope with.
Disease: Learn to bear with.
The end is certain, anyhow.

Miss Use Of Rape Law

Woman is no longer a holy cow.
Her sexual rights are highly protected.
At a stroke of pen, she can put a man
In lock up even on a fake rape case.

There are a rising number of women,
Who file fake complaints on sex harassment
Against men, often ones they dated with,
For their personal vendetta and extortions.

No case is a fake one unless proven.
Harassment is same for the fake case too.
Man is named and shamed with his life destroyed.
He is physically and mentally hassled.

No rape case must be initiated
Before an enquiry by top police
Finds the prima faces evidences.
Man and woman are at par before justice.

Woman, found guilty of a fake case
Must be named and shamed, also prosecuted.
Like woman's, man's identity is not revealed.
Once fake, the woman must get publicity.

Beggars are diluted with fake beggars.
Women grieved are diluted with women vice.
India will not do justice to its men
Unless man is saved from misuse of law.

The length of one’s absence or association

Mohammed Ali Jinnah’s Fall

Jinnah, 40, was hard pressed to ignore
Ruttie, 16, who wore gossamer-thin
Saris that clung to her subtle body,
And who had a ready flirtatious laugh.

He was her father’s good friend and his age
And went to stay with him in Darjeeling
For a month to escape Bombay summer.
It was the summer of nineteen sixteen.

His age dissolved in his personality
And her age enhanced in her majesty.
A tendril had found a brown twig to cling to,
With proximity as the great culprit.

Jinnah was a Muslim and she, a Parsi.
He is a widower and she, still blossoming.
Sir Dinshaw Petit, a man of fortune,
Thwarted his bid to marry his daughter.

Her drive for her survived the denial.
Her fall for him survived the consequence.
They kept in touch in secret, and eighteen
Turned to, she eloped with him forever.

Jinnah and Ruttie scandalized Bombay.
A glamorous couple they became known,
Cruising down Marina Drive at sunsets
In his convertible, her hair loose in wind.

Soon she gave birth to a daughter, Dina.
Sooner she plunged into some mysticism.
The difference in age and temperaments
In them grew too obvious to ignore.

She died at 29, alone and lonely
In the Taj Mahal Hotel, Bombay,
By a collapse in a mysterious way;
Who knows it could have been a suicide.
She drove me mad; she was just a child and
I should never have married her, he told.
He packed away her jades, silks and all
And rarely mentioned her later in life.

Jinnah moved to London with Dina
And his spinster sister Fatima to live.
How successful Jinnah and Ruttie had been
In marital life is a question mark.

A teenage love that blossomed in the school
Between a shy dark sinned boy and a girl
Of his class, fair skinned and vibrant singer,
Aborted when his family shifted.

Twenty-two years later all '96
Batch students were called for a get together,
Where he and she met to their tensed passion.
A mother of a girl she loved him yet.

Both spent the day through all together,
She pouring him her unreserved love
As if they were in love without a break
And as if she was not a wife of someone.

He has remained single in her absence.
If she was happy in marriage, he asked.
'I don't know but i am content.' She said.
She separated her love from marriage.

She retained her sexual love for him
And remained her husband's corporal partner.
He renewed his love well reserved for her
And found no reason to find a partner.

Neither is he branded a paramour
Nor she is labelled as an adulterate.

Must Woman Alienate Man?

Man covets woman; it is in his blood.
Woman to him is hot food to humans.
Polygamy is man’s behavioural trait.
Man and woman are interdependent.

To desire woman is engrained in man
At every chance, he’s out to test his luck
With woman, whose love for him is his worth.
Conquest of woman is man’s ego’s boost.

Woman can accept or reject his move.
If half decent, a man will understand
A woman’s frown and withdraw from the scene.
To forget and forgive is woman’s grace.

He is a victim of proximity.
Having misread her, he might overstep.
His apology must gain the woman’s mercy.
To slap rape for that act puts men in scare.

He is a victim of temptresses.
Having compromised one’s dignity
For some advantages, if one slaps rape
On him later, it will put men in scare.

He is a victim of impulsiveness.
Having got consensual sex relations,
Expectations failing, if one slaps rape
In retrospect it will put men in scare.

Man is a victim of societies’ disbelief.
If someone slaps rape on her coach or boss
To settle her demand or any dispute,
The society’s belief puts men in scare.

The one who forces a woman for sex
By authority, threats or proximity
And one who exploit woman’s innocence,
Or helplessness must ruthlessly be dealt.
Allegations about sexual harassments,
Caught up by media and woman wings,
Will blow up faster out of proportion.
Such trends would trigger men to fear women.

Men have been put in utter confusion.
Men would be scared to have any women
As interns, trainees, maids or assistant
For fear of landing in jail by misuse.

Man’s comforts with woman must be preserved.

And to long for pleasure all the time

Then you will not rest to retain
What you have attained at all cost
And do sin after sin through out

Instead, restrict your winning thirst

Myth About The Self

What is self? Which is self? Who know?
The accumulated thought is self.
Thought lost, the sense of self is lost.
Thought is memory's expression.
Thought is conditioned by dogmas,
Convictions, customs and habits,
Also by experience and knowledge.
Thought lost, memory lost, self is lost.

Self must be an ugly product.
It wants to surge ahead in streams.
It wants to go ahead on road.
Selfishness is its character.
It's self that makes divisions
Among people, faiths and nations.
Self is the cause all clashes.
Self cannot be dislodged from heart.

Self is not the wholeness of life.
One's life is inclusive of self.
Life is the string of creation.
Creation exists without self.
Death terminates one's life and self.
Death does not liberate the self.
Keep the self under the control
More with the brain than with the heart.

The first thing to go from you is your name.
You will be called the body by your kin.
Disposal will become the main concern.
You will be removed from the house you built.

The clothes and things you used are thrown away.
The valuables are shared and taken away.
You are replaced with no remorse attached.
A fallen leaf, you are soon forgotten.

What will happen to those you'd endeared?
What is the fate to the things you'd nurtured?
How will fare your descendants in struggles?
You are destined not to know the future.

You will not know about your biography.
You will not recall the moments of pride.
You will not know how you're branded about.
You don't know that you have ever existed.

I don't think it'll be so soon to me.

Naughty And Beauty

You are a beauty;

Alive is your beauty
As I grow naughty.

Are you a beauty
Since I am naughty
Or am I naughty
As you are a beauty?

You owe your beauty
To me, a naughty.
By me you are hectic
To enrich your beauty.

My naughtiness
Brings you liveliness.
My mischievousness
Fills in your emptiness.

It pinches your heart
And induces new shoot.
It agitates your lips
To prepare for starch.

As you’re fabulous
I am mischievous.
As I’m mischievous
You grow nervous.

To have you blush,
To intrigue you,
To make you shy,
I want to be sly.

You hate me, front,
And love me, back.
You shut your eyes
When my eyes meet.
A needle pierces.
It stitches too.
A knife may bruise.
It serves you, too.

Yet leaves want it.
The fire emits heat.

Warm sun shines are in; mild winds are on flow.
Squirrels come out to rummage for fruits.
Rabbits leave the burrow for the meadow.
Birds chirp gleefully and shoot up gaily.

Can man be behind, sleeping on the bed?
For all who are on the North Hemisphere,
It is new year and is celebrated
As Navroz by Parsis and Persians.

Nearness Matters

It is not necessary that a woman should be a sex appeal or a virgin, or of some class to your desire. Your nearness and her loneliness can bring you both together soon. Given time and secret moments, The feat is accomplished in no time.

Necessity Of Gratitude

I took a holy bath in a pond built.
No gratitude to the architect rose.
No gratitude to the provider struck.
My attention was on washing of sins.

I worshiped God made in a statue;
No gratitude for the sculpture rose.
No gratitude for the builder struck.
My attention was on favour from Him.

I was served a wholesome meal free of cost.
No attempt to find who made the arrangement.
No attempt to know who is the provider.
My purpose was on meeting my hunger.

Can God bless those who lack gratitude?

Necessity Of The Truth

Truth is more than fact; fact forms truth's part.
Truth is a cohesive picture of all facts.
The partly truth is the truth mixed with lies.
A lie can be fought but not the rigged truth.
Ideology terrorizes the truth.
Prejudices antagonize the truth.
A witness must tell truth, only the truth.
False witness helps a culprit escape.
False witness makes an innocent guilty.
To lie is the first of the five sins drawn.

You are my Sun.
You are now set.
You brought me dawn
Everyday at ten.
You sent me dusk
Everyday at five.
Weekend two days,
You left me in dark.

You shone on me for brief,
But heavily, brightly
And deeply with warmth.
That referred warmth
Spread all the night.
I felt the shine of my Sun,
Off the dusk, at full night.
My night is brightly lit.

Now my sun is set.
Where is my dawn?
Where is my dusk?
Where is the sunny day?
Where is my beauty?
Who will there be to lit
My night-full day?
And dreaded night?

You be a Moon, now on.
Waxing and waning,
Be always on horizon
So that there comes
Once a while a full-moon,
To imbue me with life.
My day-less night
Is lit with Moonlight.

You be my stars, farther.
You twinkle and twinkle
At me high from horizon!
With your news, beckon!
With your heart, command!
I am in the bath of starlight.
My night-full day is lit.

My sun, though, is set,
No dark is there at night.
She is there as Moon.
She is there as Stars.
Though she is set as Sun.
I’m now a nocturnal.
She can never be set
Out of my heart and soul.

Night's Efficacy

The night brings darkness, where sets obscurity.
The day's pressures fall; the defences slack.
Sharpness in actions isn't as at day time.
Code of ethics takes on blurring edges.

Darkness gives a sense of anonymity;
Unethical behaviours get boldness.
The lesser fear of discovery prompts
Moral violence and shamelessness.

Darkness gives a sense of being shielded.
Dark glasses worn takes away one's shyness
And keep a distance from the eye contact,
By way of fencing from easy approach.

Night time is meant for rest and sleep, no more.
Eyes shut, hormone Melatonin flows more,
That lowers the body heat and alertness.
Stress goes away; rejuvenation takes place.

'In order for the light to shine so brightly
The darkness must be present.' Said Bacon.
There must be the night for the day to shine.
There must be sleep for the active wake up.

In a play, No Exit, Henri,
A member of the Maquis,
The underground resistance group,
Who fought against Nazis in France,
Is taken prisoner by the Nazis
And brought to interrogation cell.
Henri knows they would torture him
To elicit war information.

Asked of the next place of attack,
To mislead Nazis, Henri gave
False information of the place
And feared they would soon find it wrong.
He must gulp out the truth and betray
His comrades or he must exit
Fearing torture by ending life.
He leapt out of window to death.

The sacrifice of his life is in vain.
The wrong news came to be right news.
Knowing about Henri's weakness
Which might make him spell out the truth,
His comrades fed him with wrong news.
He took it as secret and spell out
Some other place which become right news.
All his comrades were gunned down there.

Sartre's play sums up the crux
Of his existentialist philosophy.
One is free to choose an action
But has no control on outcome
And cannot choose its outcome.
Henri was free to end his life
Or to betray his team members.
His self sacrifice is no avail.

To choose is inevitable.
Not to choose is also a choice.
Any choice is conscious action,
Which is based on some conjecture
Of its effect on us or others.
To that extent we cannot disown.
No escape from pressing choices.
No escape from interrogation cell.

Did not fall in love for each other

A part of it vapours, pours, runs

That is the neigbour's spirit.
Which looks a ghost to you?

No Rebirth; No Karma;

You don’t step in the same water two times
When you step in a river at a place.
You don’t look at the same flame two times
When you look at a lamp in a place.

The river is same but the water flows.
The lamp is same but the oil spends out.
Life force is same, made of energy,
From where are born and dead organisms.

Each flow is new and each flame is new.
Each birth is new, budding from the life force.
It dies like an electric bulb when fused,
And a new birth comes like a new bulb fit.

Leaves are born and leaves are dead of a tree.
Births of leaves are new births and not rebirths.
Humans are born and dead from the life force.
Every birth is new and not a rebirth.

The craving and the propensities
Come to a birth from the parental genes
And are not transmigrated from one birth
To the other as Karma of rebirth.

No soul entity remains after death.
No spirit good or bad stays after death.

No Spiritual Gurus

God is a concept; so is Hell or Heaven.
Soul is a concept; so is rebirth or ghost.
A concept is the projection of mind.
Some would vouch for it and some oppose it.

God and dogmas thrive in long discourses,
Which is a fertile soil for mind to thrive in,
And where ego’s survival urges feed.
The concept conceived is not a reality.

The only reality known to us
Is the innate experience of the sense
Of I and I’m that we are conscious of
In us in waking, sleeping and dreaming.

Focus your thoughts inwardly where exists
The reality and it is here where you must Address all inadequacies and contradictions.
Then you will need no spiritual gurus.

No Stigma To Sex

Sexual attractions are involuntary.
It is born unasked; you can abort it.
Man is not to blame when he loves women.
Woman is not to blame when she loves men.

Arousal one gets from the opposite sex
Is by nature rather than by nurture.
Some men and women in minuscule lot
Get it by nature from their same gender.

Homosexuality is much abhorred
As gays and lesbians derive pleasure
From the unnatural means: oral and anal sex,
The one not barred in the bisexual sex.

To have sex is a right given by birth.
Matrimony is human made arrangement.
Any consensual sex is in agreement.
It can be immoral but not criminal.

Promiscuity has been inherited;
Likewise has been homosexuality
Promiscuity has been tolerated;
Likewise has been homosexuality.

As long as the homosexuals confine
Within themselves and do not harass
Those outside their scope they are in their shoes.
The society has tolerated them

Remove the stigma attached to all sex
And not be a sadist to others’ bliss.
Let gays, lesbians and sex workers
Live without stigmas attached hitherto.

Non-Married Spouses

A wife does not wholly fit husband.
A husband does not wholly fit wife.
Both develop bonds with someone outside.
Such like ones are made from their own gender.

The friendly dependence on someone
Other than the spouse across the gender
Has become the need of the hour to all
Following co-employment in all fields.

Men and women have instinctual drive
To mix for a platonic type friendship
Or for a sexual undertone friendship.
They get aroused by the intimacy.

They yield to temptation and variety
And eat the forbidden fruit tasting sweeter,
Without prejudice to their family bonds.
It can be perennial or seasonal.

They come to be known as non-married spouses.
Marital discord can be avoided
Provided both are extramarital
Or the victim gets no care attitude.

Nonviolence includes violence too
If it as a duty prevents violence
Or as a norm helps win the justice
Or as a form kills the less important.

Police use violence to control the mob.
Army wage war to guard the territory.
A child is recued at a cost of a beast.

Violence was expected from Arjuna,
Who had run away from obligatory
Task of defense in the Epic War
For fear of violence he might cause
To his kin and gurus in the battle.

Lord Krishna bid him to rise to fight
As a warrior to do his duty,
With a series of dialogue known as Gita.
Nonviolence includes violence too
In minimal dose to a higher result.

That cinema theatre I visited now,
Is rebuilt with no resemblance of that
I visited with my mother at my twelve
Sixty five years back to see Tahi Ullam (Ma's heart).

Where M V Rajamma with ML Vasanthakumari's
Play back sang 'Kathayai kelada kanna.'
No more nostalgia pleasure post when dead.

Lichens, mosses, some animals and birds,
Bears, seals, penguins and falcon face threats,
Thanks to global warming that melt glazier.

Oceans adulterate, that house plankton,
Fish population, whales, corals, walruses.
Wales are under grave threat from vast fishing,

A being is non-eternal
And has got an expiry date,
By when existence will cease.
So do mind, intellect and ego.

The body disintegrates.
It follows the death of the brain.
Functions of the existence with
Mind, intellect and ego stop.

Existence is life force acting.
Mind, intellect and ego are,
In man, developed attributes.
They together take decisions.

Mind discriminates things sought.
Intellect evaluates actions.
Ego can veto proposals.
They are the brain’s functionaries.

Like a leaf that a tree extrudes
Or a bulb that a wire connects
Or a ray the Sun emanates.

Life is a marginal potency
Of the main potency, Life Stream.

The stream is there to reproduce.

In their potencies as the life
Is in atomic part of potency,
Which, with atoms, dissolves on death

No existence of Spirit;
No occurrence of rebirth;
No Karma accumulation;

Nothing Wrong

Sex is ridden with passion
When lovers come together
Or return after a long gap.

Sex is uninhibited
When the spouses make love
With mutual trust prevailing.

Sex gets cultivated passion
When a desire still tepid
Grows into passion in the proceeds.

Sex brings transferred passion
When a man works with his thoughts
On another woman he wants to mate
Or when a woman does with her thoughts
On another man she desired to get.

Sex gives host’s gratifications
When one subjects a low woman
Or one entertains a low man.

Oral sex is the peak of pleasure,
With man’s tongue on woman’s groin
And woman’s mouth under man’s groin.

Sex is met by masturbation
By both genders at their will,
They fantasizing their sexy persons.

The forbidden sex is the hottest
Where man feels the spirit of conquest
And the woman the spirit of liberty.

Sex with sex workers
Delivers an outlet for passion
For varieties and liberality.

Sex with same gender is a substitute,
Where people seek satisfaction
That they fail to get in normal way.

Experiencing sex is bliss.
Attaining it is the drive.
Sex finds nothing wrong.

Notting Hill

A beauty queen of silver screen
Of Hollywood came down to London.
Anna by name, in love she had fallen
At first sight with a guy of London,
When she went to his bookstall.
It is not her maiden love.
But it is his; he was in blush.
It was she who kissed him first.
It was she who initiated him.
They had their love and love making.
A scandal spread and she fled.

Anna repaired for an Oscar Award.
She went to see him of her own accord.
She in high pedestal, far to grasp,
He was rational to reject her grasp.
Anna was in terrible pain
From the unexpected slain.
‘Famous though she is,
She too is a girl
And stands before a boy,
Asking his love’
She said and went out.
It gave his heart a dent.

He dashed and met her in a press meet.
She was answering questions put to her.
‘I had to leave soon’
‘The English guy is more than a friend’.
It soothed her lover, who was by then there,
Of whose presence she was unaware.
The press meet was about to close,
Before which he was allowed to ask,
‘You, as his more than a friend,
Can reconcile your decision made with him? ’
‘Yes’, she said, her warmth wafting to him.
A final question from some other quarter,
‘How long will you stay in England? ’
‘Indefinitely.’
Only they both understood the significance.

Big and small, they had souls.
They had vibes to be a whole.

Nun And Monk

A nun is born to blush unseen
And waste her sweetness in the desert.
A monk is born to beam unseen

Both are ill born to wither unseen

Devadasiis a female servant
Wedded to a deity or a temple.
Devadasi system has taken its root
Before 800 and lasted till 1900 AD.

The fall of the Buddhism and the rise
Of the Priest class in the form of Brahmins
Paved the way for the birth of Devadasis,
Who were captive nuns of the Buddhism.

Buddhist nuns turned servants to Hindu gods,
And were degraded later as dancers and singers,
To further go lower to take calls as harlots
To the temple priest and the princely class.

Devadasis had been the sole custodians
Of dance and music of the regional languages,
To the entertainment of the elite
With no stigma to the girls amiability.

The greatest dancers, singers and musicians
Have come from the stock of Devadasis,
And have been treated with high dignity
By the society and the kingdom as well.

M.S. Subbulakshmi, thakumari,
T. Balasaraswathi, Dharmambal,
Rajarathnam, Latha Mangeskar et all
Have their lineage to this community.

Bharathanatyam in Tamilnadu,
A monopoly of Tamil Brahmins,
Was Dasi Dance propagated as Sathir
By Tamil Devadasis over centuries.

Tamil owes to the Devadasilineage
Its growth in arts, dance, singing and music.
Devadasis might have questionable
Characters but not the caste they came from.
The whole community is not assigned
To prostitution but only those women
Who had been initiated to the temples
By their parents, were in slippery paths.

Devadasi system during eighth century,
When Andal lived, was not put in low esteem.
Artisans having lineage to Devadasi
Even now are not looked down at for their caste.

Not sinners but sinned against are Devadasis

Nurses- Hard To Tempt

As men to pimps
Are we to nurses, they are immune to touch
Of men or vice versa.
But there is a difference.
Nurse can sense her husband’s touch
Unlike pimps,
Like a mother hearing her child amidst noise.
Men, take it for granted,
Nurses can be trusted
To be wife more than a home-in wife,
As nurses are men proof.

By nature or culture, □
Man has grown polygamous
And woman, mono-yandrous.

You had been like a dove fluttering □
Towards the nest;
You had been like a hen moving about the yard. □
You had soared sky high, legs tucked □
In husband’s hold. □
Like an angel you walked; □
Like a breeze you moved. □
You made gods of music; □
You made music of gods. □
You reared, like a mother, husband’s □

You quit the floor you’d sprung from; □
You stuck to the roof you’d clung to. □
The whole roof dripped at your exit; □
The entire floor wasn’t wet for your exit. □

O, singing queen, who were in the borrowed custom. □

Observe, Instead Of Musing

On your way when you are idle,
Don’t spend your time in just thinking,
Which might land you in anxieties.
Instead, indulge in observation
Of what would be around you there,
By which you learn new things unseen
And keeps you in tranquility.
To observe is to concentrate.

Obsession Is A Blessing

Obsession is an irrational desire,
Often occurring across the genders,
Objectionable sometimes with danger,
Affecting mostly the low esteem ones.

The unfulfilled desires cause obsession;
The misplaced affection is the result.
The change of venues and diversions
Of attentions may mitigate the effects.

To turn a writer is a good option.
Obsession will drain in catharses.
Obsession can make outstanding writers.
To have fantasy of it is a safe rout.

The forbidden or the formidable
You are obsessed with, can be brought to you
Literally by imagination
And can be enjoyed by mind and physic.

To be obsessed with the one not your sex
Is the most pleasurable experience
Which one can have even in one way path
Without prejudice to reputation.

Obsession With The Beloved

The Tanjore Tower’s shadow
Never falling on the earth
Is not a loan wonder.
Your shadow falling on the earth
Too is equally a wonder.

Whenever I come to you face to face,
Blushing you turn away your face
As if your back is less a beauty.

You walk down holding up
The skirt from kissing the ground.
What would you do saving the skirt
While your pretty soles get soiled?

We melt together,
I in writing your name
And you later in reading it.

All those statues stand still
Only one seems to be on move
When you go round the temple.

Fresh from bath you stand in front.
My mind goes back to trace
How you would have bathed?

The beauty contest is on.
The juries are in confusion.
Yes, you are in the audience.

As diabetes, I denounced sweets.
Could I shunt the kiss I implanted.

How can I teach the butterfly
That revolves around you
That she has mistaken you a flower?
White hair, black teeth,
How well you smile
Even in the negatives?

Oedipus

Oedipus was king of Thebis;
Jacarta was wife of Oedipus.

Oedipus was sincere in his duty.
‘While you suffer, none suffers more than I’,
With this, he resolved to save the city
By finding out the killer of King Lains.

Teiresias, a blind prophet, accused him,
‘You are the cursed polluter of this land.’
‘Terrible things indeed has the prophet spoken.
The killer of King Lains shall be banished’

The tension mounted, the truth revealed.
He was the son of King Lains he killed.
He married the king’s wife, Jacasta,
Without knowing that she was his mother.

Crippled with ignominy for the killing,
Oedipus preferred death but banished himself
As the banishment was the cure of the city.

Jacaste loved Oedipus and believed in chance.
‘Chance rules our life and the future is all unknown.
Best live as best we may, day to day’
She could not allow him to be doomed.

Oedipus must not know about his origin,
Which would reveal her relation to him.
She met her death, a proper end of incest.

‘Love first learned in a lady’s eyes’
Lies not idle but will fuel
The dormant lust that rests in a man
So that it burns with a double power.

Love thus born in a lady’s eyes
Falls as a spark to catch a man’s lust,
Which flames up with a double power,
And exhausts the energy stored.

Whether the love born in her eyes
Lives or dries, the man’s lust, kindled,
Will never die; instead it inspires.
He lives on the remembrance of love.

The unrequited love is one side love.
The love kept undeclared is one side love.
The loved one might be forbidden one
Or formidable or inaccessible.

The emotion cherished and undergone
In the one side love is not inferior

It’s easy to strike and free to exist.

The one side love depletes not and fades not,
Due to absence of expectation
Of adequate response from the partner.
Hence is absence of dissatisfaction.

Human is of body and mind;

Man and woman experience
Sexual energy in their union,
Which culminates in orgasmic bliss.
One can get it without coitus too.

Lord Krishna could give orgasmic bliss
To thousands of women, Gopis.
The dance dramas of Gopis and Krishna
Give the performers and the viewers this bliss.

Lot of men could get orgasmic bliss
From their heart throbs without touches.
Lot of men in their friendships across sex
Could draw such bliss in in their company

To spend sexual energy
And feel the orgasmic bliss
Without sexual union
Spares human’s starvation of sex.

And to find subtle ways to let it out.

He told her he had nurtured a gnawing wish.
What it was, she asked of him, being tense.
‘To know what stands between you and me:

Other Species Would Outlive Man

Other Woman

‘Other woman’ is an ego booster
And a sexual stimulant to man,
Though an enigma to woman, his wife.
It is past that marriage is eternal;
It is past that woman is house bound.
Both are employed; both have exposure.
The time spent by colleagues across sex
Is longer than the time spent by couples.
Proximity brings about intimacy
And intimacy leads to sexual love.

Other woman need not be a better lot.
That she is untried and hard to attain
Is itself her potent charm to tempt man.
Her presence acts like an aphrodisiac
And her nearness makes man alcoholic.
Marriage can give him a blanket of warmth
But can not keep him off from yearning.
Other woman fills the void existing
Or dig one and fill it with herself.
Other woman enjoys her quota too.

The marriages old and staid are shaken;
The marriages loosely held are broken.
Nay, ideal couples too bite their dust.
Staying separate is a catalyst.
Emotional infidelity sets,
To be followed or not by adultery.
Potent man each draws his ‘other woman’.
Who is no one but some one’s fertile wife.
‘Other woman’ is not a certain woman
But a woman of a certain period.

‘Other man’ and ‘other woman’ are drawn
To form a perfect pair by heart and soul.
They both enjoy their companionship.
She takes care of her looks and he, of his,
Which throw benefits to their spouses too.
Hormones in spate, they find purpose in life.
Husbands, by and large, have other women.
Wives shed their qualm to play other woman.
Male promiscuity is manliness;
Female titillation is womanliness.

Over Powered People

'Power is the ultimate aphrodisiac.'
A man of power has a high libido.
High level of libido supplies energy.
Powerful men are mostly oversexed.

A woman of power with high libido
Is over sexed too, and ruthless as much
In getting men of choice for fulfillment
And in discarding men subsequently.

Power opens man's egoistical arrogance,
Over sexed tendencies towards women,
Uncontrollable lust and the feeling
Of invincibility makes him lascivious.

Males of all organisms are wired up
Genetically to spread their seeds to ensure
The survival of their genes; man too is.
All personalities are weak in sex.

Over Reaching

After a yearlong sojourn
In the course of my teaching job,
I've got one object before me -
To get that student as my wife,
And as my wife she shall be Provided she's got as much, or
Half as much regards and love
As I have for her in my heart.

And would she be so docile,
So spirited and so happy
In front of me, if she had not?
Would she attend without a miss
All my classes with such solemn mien
When I was near, if she had not?
Would she then nestle to a nook
Of happiness, if she had not?

With optimism at its high,
As is to every lover,
I decoded all her movements
More than they have actually implied,
And my confidence rose so high
As to break the news of my love.
Next day I waited for her nod.
She didn't come and quit the class.

Padmavathy, The Queen Of Chitoor

The tale about Padmavathiof Chitoor Has no base of historical evidence. She is glorified for her chastity And self immolation in defiance.

The tale of Kannaki of Poompukar Has no historical events to back. She is personified for chastity And retaliation against misjudgment.

The epic around Seeta of Ayodhya Has only mythological referances. She is epitomized for her fast virtue And staunch resistance to guard chastity.

Padmavath is the pride of Rajputs. Kannaki is the pride of the Tamils. Seta is the pride of most of Hindus. All the three heroines are goddess equal.

There are many versions of these fictions. All versions uphold woman's purity. The Hindi film Padmavathy must follow suit. To stall its release by some is immature 23.11.2017.

Paganeri Episode

Over thirty years, you had been in my brain,
With teenage image in tender plumage,
So romantic, so smart, and so receptive,
In talks, deeds and walks, to hold me captive
Till I saw you, from pain and sorrow,
To only find how withered you became
So dull, so sluggish and so over aged
In talks, looks, and walks to my dismay.
With remorse I wish I didn’t see you.
You would have stayed in me what you had been.
Unromantic mate, you had fallen to,
Like a parrot perking on a thorny plant.
I know your value; yet I missed you.
I could have kindled and preserved you.
No amount of regrets could absolve me
Of the cheat that I’d committed on you.
I repent and repent for my own sake.
A diamond had been burnt to a carbon.

Pain is a given; suffering is a choice.
Pain is bodily; it's not our making.
Grief is of the mind. It is our making.
Cure the pain and reason the grief.

Grief from anticipation of pain
Anguish from the experience of pain
And agony from the memory of pain

Pain Conceals Pleasure

Is it that every one
Ever seeks pleasure, never pain?
Isn't that a woman
Courts at delivery her pain,
Or that a lad stakes his life in a battle?
Isn't that a girl
Forgoes her parental care to flee
With her boy?
Also a beggar emptying his bowl
To the one, still poorer?
Pain, embraced, leads to Joy.
Pleasure contrived, leads to peril.
Each pain is a step towards Joy
And is a yardstick to scale the Joy.

Passion Is Energy.

Passion is the strong craving for something;
It can be sexual or for other pursuits.
Passion in Latin means 'to suffer'. Yes,
Rightly so. Longing for is passion.

Antony had passion for Cleopatra;
John Keats had passion for sensualities.
Alexander had passion for conquests.
You and I have passion for many things.

Passion gives an extra sheen to one's life.
Passion gives extra energy and drives.
Passion gives purpose and meaning to life.
Passion, denied, produces acute pain.

To know passion, one must experience it.
Sexual passion is the easiest to get.
Passion can develop on anything
On which accrue desire and happiness.

Enjoying something is not true passion.
Being crazy for something is passion.
Obsession is the ugly face of passion.

Patience Is Valour

Your valour lies in your patience.
Karna in the Mahabharata
Showed it when a beetle stung him
With his Guru on his lap asleep.

Cultivate your skills in patience.
Show it when you are in a queue.
Show it when you are pushed aside.
Show it when things are in delay.

What is the merit of patience?
It puts out the fire from spreading.
It humbles those from their offence.
No hatred surrounds your merit.

Pattinathar, The Saint, And The Comfort

Attachment is the source of sufferings.
Attachment is the bond of slavery.
Love of comfort is born of attachment.
Passion for some is from attachment.

Pattinathar, a Tamil merchant lord,
Denounced his wealth and family
And all comforts from the will of wisdom
And wandered about under the blue shy.

With his arm as pillow under his head,
He lay one day on a veranda.
He heard a comment from a woman
That he hadn't left the desire for comfort.

At once he released his arm off the head
And felt ashamed of his ignorance.

Greek Philosophy and Indian ones
Are as ancient as each other.
Greek ones are evolved from dialogue
Indian's ones are evolved as discourse.

Philosophy is finding solution
To problems of life; being and becoming
Is its concern. Disinterested quest
For knowledge of life comes from philosophy.

Indian philosophy is something more.
It goes beyond the sensory world
Whereas Greek philosophy investigates
To the external world of senses.

The written discourses are dead discourses.
The writer assumes as more intelligent.
Authority demands meek following.
Speakers and listeners are not held equal.

Plato arrives at truth through discussions
In the form of questions and answers.
Aristotle arrives at truth by dialogues.
Socrates arrives at truth by questioning.

Pillayar Suzhi Is Nagarathars' Sign

Ganesha is the lord of beginning,
And the remover of all obstacles.
He is invoked before an event starts.
And worshipped for the success of events..

Ganapathi is not a Vedic God.
In Gupta period (320-600) He came to prominence.
Shankara (9th century) elevated Vinayaka
At par with Shiva, Vishnu, Devi and Surya.

The elephant headed God is said to be
Son of Shiva and Parvathi in puranas.
Four demons of obstacles, who can be
Propitiated, are joined as Vigneshwar.

Shiva is not a Vedic God but added.
Worshippers of Shiva are called Shaivaites.
They also worship Pillayar, Murugan
And Parvathias Kali and Dhurgai.

Nagarathars are Shiva worshipers.
The nine temples to which they all belong
Are with Shiva as the preciding deity.
Pillayars therein are given first place.

Pillayar is a part of all ritual acts
Of Nagarathars, who brought with them then
Maragatha (emerald) Vinayagar devoutly
In their exodus from Poombuhar city.

Pillaiyar is invoked and written in its sign
Before they start writing any letter.
Vinayaka Sadurti is universal,
And Pillayar Noinbu, Nagarathars' unique.

Pillaiyar is symbolically made
In the form of tiny pyramid, with hand,
Of cow-dung, clay or turmeric paste
And worshiped in an event to begin.
Worshipping Pillaiyar is equalling
To worshipping Shiva and Parvathi.
Without Pilaiyar is no shaivaite temple;
Pillaiyars have exclusive temples for them..

Buddhi, Riddhi and Siddhi are wedded
To Lord Ganesha; in worshipping Him
One is blessed with higher intelligence,
Prosperity and attainment respectively.

Pillayar Kovils are everywhere.
They rule in Thailand, Burma, Indonesia
Singapore, Malaysia and Srilanka,
Most of which are built by Nagarathars.

Over the death of mother or father,
One would weep that one lost one’s base.
Over the death of son or daughter,
One would weep that one lost one’s tip.
The death of the spouse will evoke in one
Pity and the feeling of losing support.
The pity is that no one would pity
The one that the one lost oneself in death..

Pity Is Superior

A street-dog is fed by you
And it wags in turn.
Your love for it is from pity
And its for you is for the favour.

Love with concern is supreme,
Which mother gives; next comes
Love with passion that lovers show.
Love for mutual is conditional.
Love from fear or fevour is bogus.
Love without respect is unwelcome.
Pity without love shown by children
To their burdensome parents is worrisome.

Play Not On Me

Mere the name of you
When someone mentions
Why should I go berserk?

The very face of you
Even after you left me,
Why should I hang on?

The seat you sat on,
Whenever I cross over,
Tells me your presence. Why?

You’re no more obliged.
I’m no more privileged.
Yet I pursue the mirage. Why?

The more you neglect
The more you titillate.
I grow desperate. Why?

You know- why?
You want to be
Merely a spectator.

You know- why?
You want only me
To play and amuse.

Play with me
But not play on me.

Pleasant To Admire

My dear Honey!
Upon you, your radiant eyes,
Sharp nose, pouty lips,
Pointed chin and raised cheeks,
I focused my look.
You were illuminated,
But I was shaded,
‘Cause beams of light
Never illuminates the part
They arise from.

My dear Honey!
Into you, your hidden ear,
Slender neck, beating heart,
Throbbing lungs and tender ribs,

Poly-Amorous Relationships

The female scorpion takes forty eight hours
To get arousal for the same partner
But is ready in a hour and a half

Gets renewed when paired with the new ones.

Sex suffers a lot from monogamy
And monogamy is undoable though.
To be desirable is the goal of life,
Which is not addressed in monogamy.
Monogamy cannot be dispensed with
For its guarantee and ownerships.

The elite struck a way and brought about
The poly-amorous relationships,
Which are enacted with the knowledge and
Tacit consents of everyone involved.
As husbands and wives they roam in the days
And go out reaching lovers in the nights.

With no intension to procreation.

It is not mere a license to have sex,
But a unity with an identity.

Live-in relationships and single motherhood
Aggravate the shortage of women to wed,
Added with women turning to be nuns,
Leaving men turning as gays or perverts.

Positive Has Strength

‘I am finished.’
In it, you lower the Self.

‘I should not have done.’
In it, you depreciate the Self.

‘It’s my fault.’
In it, you blame the Self.

‘But for she, I would have..’
In it, you have a scapegoat.

‘I am utterly poor.’
In it, you deprive the Self.

‘I should ever be first.’
In it, you make irrational the Self.

‘She should love me.’
In it, you make unrealistic the Self.

‘No use of living.’
In it, plunged to depression is the Self.

The way you think is
The way you become.

Positive Thinking Is Not Rosy.

Positive thinking has its negative side.
It breeds in-activeness and acceptance.
Accepting the negative for what it's
Can find action for the alternative.

India is batting; one after the other
 Comes to the crease and gets out and leave.
I spin hope on each batsman for runs yet.
This is positive thinking belying hopes.

He met an accident and fractured his leg.
Thank God! He has not lost his life, I thought.
He had asthma and not cancer. Thank God.
This is positive thinking to self-console.

Stop giving positive attributes
For every failure you encounter.
It will make you a seasoned receiver
And leave you to be taken for granted.

Power is a desire to dominate

Emperor Asoka tasted power
Physically by winning many wars,
Psychologically with a ban on war
And intelligently in spreading peace.

Power is sought to safeguard one's position.
The more you get it, the more you want it.
The more you want it, the more you are caught.

Prana - to be aware of

The Universe is a sea of energy.
Matter inherent with force is energy.
All inanimate things possess energy.
All animate things possess energy.

Plants, animals, humans and other lives
Are interconnected to each other
In the invisible web of energy.
All lives have inherent vibrations.

Vibration is the force that activates
Living bodies to grow, exist and consume.
Vibration of living things is Prana.
Prana is a subtle force with a drive.

It's not that there are as many Pranas
As there are lives but that Prana is force
Single that runs through all living bodies.
Prana takes the colour of organisms.

To be aware of Prana is awareness.
Then you'll be a rock in the sea of emotions.
Unshaken by greed and acquisition
And by fear as worries and panics.

Surrender to God; he is the saviour.’

It means the God is taken as personal.

Many miracles in His name are made.
People are under the spell of a god.

It’s a myth that one’s prayer is answered.
It’s not that every wish is fulfilled
Or that all who are praying are answered.
God cannot make both contestants victors.

Rational thinking demands a diversion
From praying to God as someone in form,
To praying to a phenomenon
That runs the universe, if you need it.

And to retain the nature of gratefulness
To all that happen to you favourably.

Premature Extinction

The old couple has no sex
Though they haven't lost
Their interest in sex
Or ability in sex..
Let the pair be paired
With the new partners.
They would resume their sex
As if they were lad and lass.
Sexual urge is killed
In each one prematurely
Because of staleness.

Prenayavarnam

‘Returns of many days’, my dear, you averred
on July eighth day
when my Bharany starred.

I am not the first you wished.
You are not the first who wished.
Yet, a lot I’ve been charged with
As it is the first ever
From you to me, dear.

It is the boon awaited,
That you had granted
To meet my expectation.

It is the love you tongued,
Tearing your coyness
Without any compunction.

It is the key that opened
The gerpegreha of the Goddess
In the Mandir to my propitiation.

It sounds like a prenava-mantram,
Resonating a prenaya-varnam
From your prenava-illam.

Presence Of God

Seeds are the transcendent base of life,
The capsule of life intelligentsia,
And the store house of input for an adult.
It enables life to exist and to persist.

Life power as God’s intelligence
Is encompassed in a single seed
As DNA, which is the key to life
In form, pattern, behavior and drives.

A banyan seed grows to a banyan tree..
A penguin egg gives to a penguin bird.
A human embryo grows to be an adult.
The seed stores the features of an adult.

We pit the seeds and grow the seedless fruit.
Each seed is a life store house, without which
No continuity in life, or evolution.
Let a seed remind of the presence of God.

Preserve Family

Man will put his trust in woman
For an exchange of fidelity.
Breach of fidelity amounts
To the forfeiting the trust of his

Restraints of sexual impulses
Are the outcome of fidelity.
Restraints of evil tendencies
Are the result of trustworthiness.

Trust is wider than fidelity.
A part of the trust is fidelity.
In spite of infidelity,
Trustworthiness can be still there.

Marriage is built on mutual trust.
Fail marks in one of the subjects
Should not warrant total dismissal.
Be that field improved or overlooked.

A man tends to flirt with other women
And still stands by his own woman.
A woman who responds to men’s lure
Can still be loyal to her husband.

Man’s disloyalty doesn’t hurt
Woman as much as woman’s does.
It is more from his possessiveness.
It is more from his assertiveness.

Love and trust travel beyond sex.
Wife’s status is husband’s status.
Child’s status is parents status.
Identity will take care of trust.

Preserve It To Ripen

Small but not shallow,
Placid but not tranquil,
Short-while yet worthwhile
Was our lives’ sojourn.
Admiration and inspiration,
Animation and elation
Which were witnessed
Are all gone to wind
When the sojourn came to an end.
Each birth ends in death.
But horrible is the death of youth.

To preserve to ripen and to conserve to sustain
it, is in your hand.

Elizabeth, I fell in love with you,
Without seeing you in person.
Without being born in your days,
With a figure that I carved of you,
Out of manners written in words
By Jane Austin in Pride and Prejudice.
I have cut such a figure of you in my thought.
Like of which no heroine could match
If she were to enact you in a play.

You are the epitome of pride,
The pride without vanity,
The pride without humility either;
The pride with a royal aura
Without any royal blood.
You have had such pride as forbade
You even to reveal your love
To one you were deeply in love with,
And to one who condescended to love
Till he himself laboured to spell.

Elizabeth, I fell in love with you
For your pride, poise and composure.

Prince Margaret Ever Young. (1930-2002 Ad)

As younger sister of Queen Elizabeth
And daughter of King Georg VI of England,
Margret Rose was born in nineteen thirty.
As freedom seeking and pleasure loving,
With a sematic beauty coupled with
The Lucite complexion, has she grown up.
As could be like any bohemian girl,
She was an amalgam of Elizabeth Taylor.1

A handsome world war II flying hero
Was Group Captain Peter Townsend, who was Aid to Margaret's father King George VI.
He, a divorcee, was the first person,
On whom Prince Margaret developed a crush
In her mid-twenties and much intended
To marry him, which the church didn't sanction;
The marriage of her to him, a divorcee. 2

She wanted to marry the man she loved
And didn't mind giving up her claim to the throne.
It was her mother Queen Mary who forbade
Her from marrying him and losing the grace.
Margaret sublimated her libido
In dancing till late at night in the club
And dipped into London's bohemian circles.
Townsend married Marie Luce years later. 3

She stumbled upon Antony Armstrong Jones,
A photographer, well educated
And a trendy fast living commoner,
Who dared to court Margaret instantly.
She liked his looks and admired his works.
Her mother found in her happiness and joy
After many years and gave approval.
She married him at her age of twenty-nine.4

In due course of time she gave birth to a son
And a daughter with life not much rosy.
Margaret unresolved love for Townsend
Was dormant in her heart, and her husband
Loathed all formalities of royal life.
Tony, her husband, later broke away
And invited most glamorous women
To spend nights with him in some cottages.5

Margaret felt humiliated by him
There were many suiters to Margaret.
Lord Patrick Lichfield, a photographer,
Was one of them. Another one was
Dominic Elliot, whom she knew before
She knew Townsend, and she moved close to him.
Her other friends were Derek Hart, a TV man,
And Peter Sellers, the well-known film star. 6

Margaret met in Scotland a wealthy son,
Roderic Llewellyn in ’73
When she was 43 and he 25.
She had good time with him in many ways
And he was much mad of her company.
Margaret-Roddy affair became public.
Queen Elizabeth stepped in and resolved,
‘The two mutually agreed to live apart.’ 7

Separation brought the princess freedom.
Her obsession with the pleasure of life
Did not slow down with her advancing age.
Like Elizabeth Taylor, Margaret loved dancing.
Armed by wealth inherited by her mother,
She lived a queen life, engaging herself
In various social organizations.
Even at 60, she had friends her sons age. 8

Princess Margaret

The sister of Queen Elizabeth,
The daughter of King George VI,
Princess Margaret was dead
In her seventy first year,
On Tenth February,2002,
Her mother a centurion,
Having attended her funeral.
She was not born to be the queen
But ruled as a beauty queen.
Group Captain Peter Townsend
Was fortunate to be her lover.
Princess Margaret was unfortunate
To forgo her love for the royalty.
She was more so to fit herself
With her unfit match;
She ended her life on a sad note.
Assets and beauty are not guarantees
For the success of a woman’s life.
A most covetable commodity
Had rusted, long unattended.

Privacy And Intimacy

Husband and wife are two entities,
With focus on their joint life and children.
They are more than friends, and more than partners.
Privacy and intimacy must balance.

Privacy will compliment intimacy.
Having separate pools and bank accounts
With separate channels for outside contacts
Will give them freedom for intimacy.

Snooping and prying on each other,
From insecure or possessive nature,
Is invasion of privacy and mistrust.
It will dampen the spirit of intimacy.

Husband and wife must believe each other
To the extent that each values unity,
And that their individual interests
Do not eat into their common interests.

Only to see that they are forbidden.

Flings and flirting are accommodated
To beat the monotony set in the middle age.
Pleasure in enormity is derived
In those who have love chats in privacy.
The spouses want and value privacy
More than or at the cost of intimacy.

Privileged To Pine

You’re my sunshine.
When you are gone,
Gone is the sunshine.
Also my eye-shine.

You’re my Hormone.
When you are gone,
Gone is the Hormone
Also my backbone.

You are my rain.
When you are gone,
Gone is the rain.
So is my lawn.

You are my sway.
When you’re away
There is no way.
I’m in dismay.

You are my soul.
I am your sole.
Make me not lore,
Instead, console.

Albeit your exit
Memory stays put.
If you are out,
I turn a pervert.

Spike has no pain.
But skin had pain.
My heart is slain.
How to explain?

Who is the cause
For this impasse?
And your pause?
I shall ensconce.
You rein my brain
And rule my vein.
As you abstain
I am sore to pine.

Sight is extinct;
Talk is distant;
Chance is defunct.
But you’re extant.

Be whatever they;
See me to stay
And answer my say.
That only I pray.

You fear me, near.
You hear me, afar.
Your heart is ajar.
I only am aware.

I pine and pine
And find it fine
As I imagine
You in my brain.

You may forget.
You may desert.
I can’t repeat.
I can’t retreat.

Tragedy has a melody.

Promises Of Religion

An eternal life is the stick and carrot
That religion offers as bait to people.
Follow religion; Heaven is assured.
Stray from religion; Hell is threatening.

Gone all souls either to Heaven of Hell,
Where are the new souls coming from all time?
What about the new entrants, consequent
To constant increase in population?

Holding Soul as eternal and timeless,
Could we brand souls as Past, Present and Future?
Self exists in continuum with other selves
And form consciousness uncountable.

After life is a poetic allegory
As much as those spun in mythology.
Soul of every organism comes
As extension of parental bodies.

What we call ourselves are shaped by others
And the selves of others are shaped by us.
Many atoms that circle in our bodies
Might have been constituents of the dead.

There are no eternal individual souls;
No Heaven or Hell; no incarnation;
There is only on cosmic consciousness
Which we dwell in, and which dwells in us.

Pursue For Less

Life is a pursuit; the pursuit of food,
Of shelter and mate and of wealth and fame.
Love and respect are always sought after.
The path of pursuits is fed with hurdles.
Fear, anger, apprehension and anxiety
Along with curiosity and love are out come.

The pursuit of more and more never ends
Unless you put a stop to your willing.
What you have at present will lose value
When you set your eyes on some objects new.
The pursuit for more and more tires one out.
There is no answer to how much is enough.

Self discipline is the real antidote.
To refuse to give in is self discipline,
Be it peer pressure or societal ones.
To be happy with what you've is o k.

Pursuit for less takes you to happiness.

Pyramus and Thisbe were close neighbours.
Pyramus and Thisbe were intimate lovers.
His parents and her parents were rivals.
They lived in the city of Babylon.
The houses connected by a common wall,
Both families were near and hence hostile.
Pyramus was handsome and Thisbe, pretty;
They were growing near, and hence fell in love.1

Pyramus and Thisbe were forbidden to love.
Because forbidden, they were attracted.
Pyramus and Thisbe were prohibited to talk.
She found a way to talk to her lover.
She found a crack on the wall dividing
The twin houses, and threw a stone to draw
His eyes and both whispered love each other.2

They fixed their tryst one day near Nina's tomb
Under a mulberry tree for being together,
And to transact their feelings for each other.
Thisbe arrived the spot a little earlier,
By when she found a lioness with her mouth
Bloody from a recent kill, approaching.
Terrified at the sight she fled the spot,
Her clock slipping down behind her by then. 3

Pyramus arrived a little later
And was horrified at the shocking sight
Of his sweetheart's clock, which the lioness had torn
And left the traces of the blood behind
All along the track, to instantly conclude
That the lady had been devoured by some beast.
Pyramus killed himself, falling on his sword-
A Babylonian way of suicide.4

His killing himself had caused a splash of blood
That stained the white mulberry fruits dark purple.
After a while, Thisbe came back to the site,
Where she saw Pyramus body in the pool of blood.
Racked with uncontrollable agony,
She took her lover's sword and threw her body
Onto it and ended her life with him.
The deaths of the both are the play of fate.

With her dying breath, she pleaded with the gods
That be in a single tomb their bodies
And that the mulberry trees in that site
Bear fruit in the hue of dark and not white,
In the memory of their tragic love.
Mulberry fruits turn dark when they are ripe.
Ovid's is the oldest surviving version
Of the story published in 8 AD.

Story Location Clue: The story of Pyramus and Thisbe is remembered in the mosaic displays of Paphos. This city is located west of the Troodos Mountains. This tale was the inspiration for W. Shakespeare to write play Romeo and Juliet.

Qualia, A Note

Transcendental experience is the one
Beyond normal human experience.
This experience is qualia phenomena,
Having experiential properties.

To see greeness in green, to feel warmthness
In warmth, sensing some uneasiness within,
Or even orgasm are all unique experiences, Subjective, drawn from objective stimuli.

Subjective affecting components are Formed from objective sensory data
With the input supplied by the conscious
As well as subconscious realms in a person.

Qualia are experiential properties
Drawn from experiences, emotions
Feelings, sensations, perception and thoughts,
All of which vary from person to person.

Between two sisters, one may draw your eyes.
The other may draw the eyes of someone.
Your input is the cause of output, the life.
With better qualia, one can feel life well.

Quality Of Life

Without a rise in money,
Without a rise in comforts
And without a rise in rank
One can sure ake a good life.

The true quality of life
Isn't from standard of living
Not from assertion of word
And not from acquisitions

How we experience life,
How we detach emotions
And how we overcome fear
Determines quality of life.

Cultivate a clear conscience.
Give no room to form a guilt.
Don't justify the end with means
Healthy minds needs integrity.

Live your life on your term.
Align your life to your innate traits
Don't compare others' with yours.
Healthy mind needs freedom choice.

Don't crave controlling outcome.
Do away with obsessions.
Try your best and leave it to fate.
Healthy mind needs contentment.

Radha Is An Enigma

Is Radha a person or a concept?
Is she the milk maid or incarnation?
Is she a love companion of Krishna
Or a symbol of devotion for layman?

Radha is an imaginary figure,
Known through Jayadeva's Gita Govinda
Written during the eleventh century.
No puranas prior speak of Radha.

Radha is Krishna's love in the people mind.
Radha and Krishna in romantic love
Is portrayed by dance, folklore and painting
For the people to enjoy sexually.

Radha is not a separate entity.
Radha and Krishna form an entity.
Radha is not married to Krishna though
But her pure love for Him is outstanding.

The necessity of creating Radha
And her indulgence of love for Krishna
With sexual focus in devotion
Must be from tantric sexual explicit.

No female creation was ever made
As cute as Radha, the epitome of love.
No dance can be with such sensual mood
As the one where Radha and Krishnaromance.

No other Goddess combines the element
Of devotion and love so exquisitely
As does Radha in love shown to Krishna
Spiritually and physically.

Radha-Krishna relationship is holy.
Radha is seen as an individual soul
Longing for the Supreme for a merger.
Radha is found to be the quest of love.

Rain Forming Clouds

Plants are wilting as the earth is thirsty.
Animals are dying with the earth, thirsty.
People would soon wage war over water.
The thirst of the earth is the end of life.

Water hydrates living organisms.
It softens, coagulates or dissolves things.
Water comes next to air for survival.
Without it, the heat will soar and scorch lives.

No good that three fourth surface is water.
Only three percent of it is portable.
Life evolved from water and is made of it.
Plants and animals are water by three fourth.

Water consumed for the meat production
Is at two thousand litters per pound flesh.

Duty, responsibility, philanthropy
And also justice in thought, word and deed.

Duties and responsibilities are coded
For a King, which is called Raja Dharma.
A Dharmic Raja is a Rajarishi
When he blends his rule with spirituality.

A Raja must, like anyone, gain knowledge
On Dharma, Artha, Kama and Moksha.
These are Spiritual good, material wellbeing,
Worldly and sexual desire and enlightenment.

Be Kama not at the cost of Artha;
Be Artha not at the cost of Dharma;
Be Dharma not at the cost of Moksha.

Be to the exclusion of worldly thinking
Provided it does not hurt state justice
In governance and observance.

Raja Yoga

Prana is not mere air,
Nor is it a sheer breath.
It is much more,
More than what you breathe.
Prana causes you to breathe.
Prana is in your motion,
That causes you to breathe.
It pushes you to exhale
And pulls you to inhale.
Watch it, train it, be its raja.[king]
Mastering prana is Raja Yoga.
It gives you an insight to your soul.

Raja Yoga Practical

Raja Yoga consists of eight fold steps.
Self-control leaves you harmless.
Discipline makes you not a nuisance.
Yoga exercises make you physically fit.
Breathing exercises improve well being.
Withdrawing senses from worldly objects
Ensures high level equanimity.
Concentration brings up will power.
Meditation increases emotional immunity.
Realization is absence of death anxiety.
Raja yoga can thus produce people
Individually good and not a threat.
Yet it lacks growth of compassion,
Love and service among individuals,
A must for the welfare of the society.

Ramanuja And Sankara

Narayana is the absolute God.
Soul and the universe are its attributes.
Ishwara is Para Brahman and Jiva
Is Chita Brahman and Jagat, Achit Brahman.
This is Ramanuja's Vishitadwaita.
According to him total surrender
At the feet of Narayana is the bliss.

Siva is Brahman, the absolute.
Maya is not different from Siva
Siva is Brahman and Sakti, Maya.
Jiva is part of Brahman, says Sankara.
According to him, Jiva is to realize
That he and Siva are not two but one,
And with this to surrender to Him for bliss.

Rape Law Scares.

Parties know each other;
Parties are of letters;
Parties are in friendship;
If they slip to have sex,
Could it be held a rape?
Could a feeble no spelt,
More from guilt consciousness
Or out of modesty,
Be denial of consent?
Unless disparity
In age and position
Warrant, it is not so.
A claim of rape can be
An afterthought action
For woman's face saving
From her impulsive act.
Still it can be a rape
If man has overreached
Or advanced forcefully
Provided she comes out
With a complaint so soon.
Man fears to love woman
From the scare of rape law.
Woman fears to like man
From the scare of embrace.
Love read in literature
Is not imitable in life.

Woman is a temptress, a fortress.

Not for pleasure but for a hunt.

Where affairs are congenial
And where there is no raid on sex.

Ratna Sari Dewi Sukarno (1940 Ad)

First President of Indonesia
Was Dr. Bango Kamo Sukarno,
Known for his love for women and wine.
During his foreign trips he was keen
To meet the best of women with wine.
On a state visit to Japan, he went
In the year of nineteen fifty-nine'
Where he was introduced to a lady.1

By Naoko Nemoto's exotic beauty,
He was fascinated with and fell for her.
She was a bar hostess and at nineteen.
He was 58 and got a good treat.
Sukarno and she fell for each other.
He found in her a source for his passion.
She found in him a way for fame and wealth.
He later married her as his fourth wife. 2

He renamed her Ratna Sari Dewi, to suit the Indonesian language
After she converted to Islam.
With her marriage to the President,
She became the First Lady of the land,
And moved to a palace built for her.
An oil painting of Dewi in wester clothes
Was hung on the wall of the drawing hall. 3

Ratna lead a luxurious life and enjoyed
The power of her husband in all manner.
The interest of Japan was always
There in her heart, and she made a huge wealth
And put it in the bank of Japan and Swis.
She lived in her villa like a queen
And built a bridge between her man and Japan.
She was keen that her husband was in power. 4

In the meanwhile, a military coup
Under Gen. Suharto was staged
And Sukarno was made a captive head.
His twenty years of rule as dictator
Came to an end to the plight of Dewi.
She came there to marry power and wealth,
And was not ready to wilt with her husband.
To flee Indonesia was her option. 5

Dewi was pregnant. Under the pretence
Of delivery, she left for Japan.
Her husband had built for her villas
in Djakarta, Paris and Tokyo.
She went away to enjoy the life
Of luxury in Paris for tow years.
She gave birth to a daughter in Paris
And named her Kartika Sari Dewi. 6

Once she thought of returning to her husband
But left it for fear of prosecution.
She expressed grief over the fate of him
And gave him up for good in her rest of life.
During Dewi's stay in Japan, she made
Friendship with one Masahiko Tsugawa,
The famous film star and kept his company.
She, not a divorcee, could not marry him. 7

Sukarno fell ill and his wife returned
With their child for him to see his product.
He laid down his life in their presence
In nineteen seventy, when he was sixty nine.
'I loved her as the jewel-essence. Instead
Of being the jewel-essence herself, jewels
Had become the essence of her life.' said he.
A well-known media figure she lives in Japan.

Rays Are Not Barred

You are beyond the reach.
I am behind the ditch.
Can we shake hands?

You are upon a tower.
I am on the floor.
Can we hear words?

You are in, door shut.
I am out, in wait.
Can we cross our glances?

You are in a cave.
A new moon night.
Can I search for you?

You are ashore.
I am with no oar.
Can I sail to you?

We are lamps, burning.
Lamps kept apart.
Their rays are yet meeting.

We are not separated
Our union is absolute.
Barrier has no fence.

Reading Romantic Novels

Women of today aren’t women of yesterday.
A somersault has occurred in her way.
She has come out of man’s entanglement,
With her own earnings and own involvement.
Her mixing with men is very common;
To love at first sight has come uncommon.
No longing; no tryst; no more pining.
Many men around, she is a darling
Of all and not anyone’s belonging.
She tantalizes men around with a suspense.

Yet she hasn’t changed from her past woman
In one respect: she loves reading novels
Of romance where a prince finds on his way
A damsel in distress, whom he rescues
And subsequently falls in love with her.
Yes, she still finds interest in reading
Love scenes that ardent lovers would enact,
As an escape rout from the one that she leads,
And that involves a shallow intimacy
With men, who have no sense of commitment.

Reading romance is still a fantasy

Reciprocity

Reciprocity is the link
That fastens to souls to be close.
Objective, subjective or both
Reciprocity acts in them.

Desires parental and sexual
Can intervene to an extent
To make ties last as one sided,
When reciprocity slackens.

Love offered must be requited.
Friendships must flow down from both sides.
Two equals can love each other.
Queen and maids can love each other.

Kinds to kinds can be the return.
Kinds to loyalty can be the norm.
Kinds to gratitude can be the form.
Mere love to love can't last for long.

Reciprocity can well be
On material advantage,
On emotional impulse
Or on compassion or sexual.

Familiarity breeds contempt.
Frivolity can dampen love.
Conspiracy can spoil it.
Change in space can dilute it.

Reciprocity tapering,
Animosity entering,
Or priority shifting
Relationship will strain and break.

A friendship will come to an end.
A relationship will be over.
Yet it is worth capturing it.
It gives emotional comforts.

Recriminations Curtail Freedom

The use of public humiliation
Was an instrument of social control.
Being paraded on a donkey or
Ostracization was some of measures.

Village heads were custodian of laws.
Justice was instant; shame was deterrent.
Some are repressive; some are oppressive.
However, it had curbed antisocial.

Such systems are banned though in vogue somewhere.
Only national laws are operative.
Shoddy trial, loop holes and late justice
Dampen victims and embolden offenders.

New kind of public harassment is on.
Sections outfits exercise their own laws.
Any infraction, real or perceived,
Invites their wrath that attacks infringers.

Once societal control was exercised
Through a network of people's eyes and tongues.
Women were more under observation.
Many owned ownership of woman's conducts.

Globalization of values are set
Against conventional narrow mindsets
With intolerance in operation.
Thick skin thrives; the rest shrink into their shells.

Ignore mistakes; look for wrong and blunder.
Let go of pernickety tendencies.
To be stupid is man's prerogative.

Uncle, aunt and granny,
All poured me love in plenty.
They were gone before I could repay.

There were a great many
Who lent their hands and money.
They were gone before I could repay.

Parents gave me love and blood
And guarded me from any crash.
They were done in benevolent neglect.

Cousins, nieces and nephews,
On whom I showered honey.
Had licked it and slipped away.

There were scattered peers,
Whom I pleased in all spheres.
Ere my asking, they vanished.

Daughter and son were the hopes,
Who too, as grown up, broke their rope
And had no time to repay.

I leave as much creditors
As I have had debtors in my life.
Kindly tally, my Creator.

You came clad in cotton you know I like.
But not with the stud I gifted.

‘What’s white? ’ ‘It is like a crane skin.’
‘What is crane? ’ ‘A bird with a crooked neck.’

‘What is crooked? ’ was his next query to which,
Fed up, she showed her hand with the fist bent,
For him to feel the size by touch. He did
And beat her saying, ‘How big the milk is to the little mouth!’

Consensual sex has been legalized;
Adultery has been decriminalized.

Sexual pleasure, god given, is granted.

People indulge in sex outside wedlock,
Or prior to wedlock from temptation.
Adolescent boys and girls fall from impulses.
There are cases out of sex abuses.

Accidental pregnancy is outcome.
Unintended pregnancy is aborted.
Out of stigma attached, women seek
Life risk raw means outside the hospitals.

To protect minors from sexual abuses
And rapes, the act has made provisions
To report to police about abortion
Made to adolescents in the hospitals.

Criminalization of abortion
Of adolescents obstructs the access
To the safe method in the hospital.
Girls seek life risk abortion and succumb.

Minor girls and sex abused women
Chose not hospital for abortion
And many die during rude abortion
Conducted by non-physicians outside.

Woman must have right to abort her child.

A beauty is your tail.
How ably you waggle!
When in air you sail
You are not fragile.

When you sing a song,
By your tail you clang.
You hold it upright,
Swing it down to spread

And gather it up
Like a drum beat,
Much in a rhythm
To your crooning rhyme.

Black in white is good.
White in black is good.
You’re black and white
And are superbly bright.

Chest and dorsal are black.
Ventral is velvet white.

You are white by black.

With look seductive
And voice captive.

You’re nicer by wing.

I love you, Robin.

With me, you are free.
Anytime you can flee.
I make you happy
When you are with me.

Sabarimala Is Of Upper Castes.

'Presence of fertile women would offend
Lord Ayyappa's celibate character.'
They argue and defy the court's judgment
That permits women of all ages,
Ignoring that it is customary
For all Malayalee women to visit
Other Ayyappa temples all over,
Where He's not offended by their presence.

'Menstruation disrupts the purity
Of the 40 day period of abstinence.'
They argue and obscure the reality
That the temple bars any kind of visits
By the fertile women unlike men folks,
Who can visit the temple with a few days
Abstinence or without abstinence at all
Where climbing the 18 steps is skipped.

'All religious customs are exclusionary.'
They argue, ignoring that not all of them
Infringe on the freedom of the devout.
'Security of female cannot be guaranteed.'
They argue and if it is to be true
Then Sabarimala must not be safe
For all the old women and little girls
That throng in thousands all the years.

They are the upper caste Malayalees,
Who are the custodian of the deity.
The temple has been thrown to lower castes.
Non Malayalees of all sorts make congestion.
The elite nurture resentment at having to share
With them, who are seen as interlopers.
Arguably, it is the expansion of rights
To this demographic that prompt them
To oppose the Sabrimala judgement.

God is Lord Siva.
Siva is Sat-Chit-Anand.
He is Sat: the Supreme.
He is Chit: the Intelligence.
He is Anand: the Bliss.
The basis for blessedness of the Soul.
Siva is transcendent:
Existing apart.
Siva is immanent:
All pervading the universe.

Soul- locked in the Body,
Bonded in World,
To be liberated to God.

World- the matter.
Anavamala- the ego.
Karmamala- the duty bound.
Mayamala- the sensual interpretation of World.

Salvation In Judaism

Salvation is a kind of redemption
That saves the life from the destroying state.
God is the source of salvation to man.
No other agencies can grant salvation.

'And He shall judge among nations;
Nation shall not lift up sword
Against nation; neither shall they Learn war anymore.', said Prophet Isaiah.

Messiah is not a divine force
Nor a supernatural being
But a powerful human influence,
Characterized by spirituality.

Salvation in Judaism open
To all, not limited to Jewish.
Those who follow Ten Commandments
Can very well expect salvation.

Salvation from death does not mean
That death is the real end of life.
The soul exits and return to God
And wait for the day of judgment.

Righteous souls will get resurrection
And life will be restored to such souls,
Who, however, cannot conceive
How resurrection takes place for them.

Samyam: Nonviolence

'Samyam', a profound Sanskrit word that stands
For self-taught self-restraint, must be practised.
Samyam denotes ahimsa: nonviolence
In deed, word, thought and feeling against all.

Freedom and self control mustn't contradict
Each other and must be comprehensive.
Self control itself is freedom chosen.
It is like bolting your room inside it.

Prosperity is materialism.
Self interest hunts the common interests.
Justification fuels the self interest.
One's freedom might affect others' freedom.

Greed and lust upset equilibrium,
With mutual faith thrown into the air,
From the mind untrained on contentment.
Freedom is at peril without self-restraint.

Sanskrit is the oldest language on earth.
Vedas, Upanishads, Epics and classics

It gave birth to languages in the North.
It gave grafts to languages in the South.
It is the root of European languages.
It made India proud for its heritage.

Sanskrit is written in Devanagari. (script)
Except Tamil, all Indian languages
Are proud of sanskritization of words.

Scepticism And Relativity

Anekanta is the doctrine of Jain,
As old as Mahavira Theerthakara.
It states that ultimate truth is complex
And no single statement is good to describe
The nature of existence - the absolute truth.
An (not) , eka (one) , and anta (end)
Together would connote to 'not one ended'.
Nothing happens due to only one thing.
All things are related to one another.
The Buddha taught to take the middle way,
Rejecting the extreme - it is or it is not.
Mahavira taught to accept both ends,
'It is and' it is not' with 'perhaps' added.
It deals with scepticism and relativity.

Scholasticism

Scholasticism is the philosophy
That existed in the medieval period.
The relation between faith and reason,
The relation between the will and intellect
The distinction between nature and grace
And the status of the universe are told.
Faith is confirmed by reason and obeyed.
Faith primarily engages the will,
And reason engages intellect in turn.
Man has nature with supernatural end.
Grace that confers faith comes from Creator.
Faith is gift of Grace, with which you see God.

The state of Universe is said in three ways.
Realism is where genera and species
Have real subsistence, with independent
Mind and individual in existence.
Nominalism is where individual
Only is real, and genera and species
Are having by means of which we designate
Resembling individuals accordingly.
The intermediate position is the one
Where the position shares with nominalism
To regard the individual as ultimate
And agree with realism for mind presence.

Science Identifies Soul.

Consciousness is subjective experience.
The world is two to each individual.
One is the inner world I, who is aware.
The other is the outside i observe.

Consciousness is subject's observation
On object. It's not subject or object.
It is neither matter nor energy too.
It is a third fundamental reality.

Consciousness hence is the non-outcome
Of matter energy combination.
Consciousness is to be nonmaterial
And not to be identified as soul.

The spiritual entity called soul,
Which transcends matter and is the source
Of consciousness according to religions
Is the age old belief, now discarded.

The origins of consciousness lie not
Within the living soul as we assume,
But a by-product of interaction
Of atoms and molecules of matter (tissues)

Our emotions, memory, desire
And the sense of personal identity
Are manifestations of the assembly
Of nerve cells and their associated molecules.

Consciousness isthe single identity.
All creations are its manifestations.
There is no birth and no death to soul,
Which is a single string originated.

Secret Love

Eyes talk; passions touch senses;
Silences speak; the sighs whisper.
No verbal; no tryst, no touches.
Conversation of eyes
And conveyance of minds
Only sate the hunger of love
Between forbidden lovers
In a conservative society.
Adultery can not be uprooted.

Secularism In True Sense

Religions can have a say
In any public affair.
They should have no privilege say.
All religions can have a say;
No one must have a privilege say.
One can pursue any faith to his likes.
Conversion that is organized
Has no place in agenda.
Anyone can criticize religions,
For which he's not to be taken to task.
Violence in the name of religion
To be dealt with like a violence.

Secularism Is God

The purpose of all religions
Is piece, the interpersonal,
The internal and with the nature.
Fundamentalists may abuse them
To achieve their own agenda.
Kings and rulers take into their hand
The religion and make conflicts.
Education syllabus is made
With their narrow ideology
To groom generations to suit them.
Secularism must be valued
In every political action.

Hears from favourites and swears lies

Seeta, A Pity.

Seeta, you are a noble lady,
So chaste, so modest and so graceful.
Rama is your noble lord,
So virtuous, so chivalrous and so truthful.
Ravna is your bitter lover,
So passionate, so devoted and so lustful.
Rama waged a war to redeem you.
Ravna laid his life to retain you.
Rama loved you, as you are his wife.
Ravna wanted you for what you are.
Rama tested you by fire.
If you failed, what would be your fate?
Can Ravna do so, if he were in Rama’s shoes?
Love of Rama is conditional
Love of Ravna is categorical.
Rama loves you; Ravna devours you.
You are second to none to Ravna,
Who lost everything for you and
Who could do anything for you?
Have not you committed a sin
In being the cause for killing a loving dog?
The love for keeping chastity,
More than you love for Rama,
Weighed on you to reject Ravna.
The love for your chastity,
Rather than his love for you,
Weighed on Rama to own you back.
Ravna’s love for you is pure.
He desired you more than Rama did.
You would have lived more vividly
Had you met Ravna first and married.
Instead, you were at loss to earn a sin.
I pity you.

Women at forty are vulnerable.
Beware! Your estrogen levels are dropping.
Why not make the most of it right now?
Shyness has been shed; awkwardness has gone.
It is time for you to take the lead
When it comes to your own orgasm,
The orgasm that’s eluded you thus far,
From the monotony you stuck in.

You must reveal yourself in newfound youth.
You must assert yourself with newfound guts.
Yes, you must take the control of your sex.
If not, it is you who are the loser.
At this stage you are the most attractive.
Composure added, you are in glow.
As the sex is important part of the life,
Your assets unused must not go waste.

It is true you are hungry for strangers.
Men are hungrier for women of your age.
Now a stranger only can explore you.
He only can drive you to get orgasm.
It is time you tasted orgasm again.

It is just physical gratification.

Man must shut his eyes and woman, her qualms.
He must let her get what he couldn’t give her.
If he let go of her, he’ll get such like her.

And abandon his probing tendencies.

Separated Souls

Caught by her mother, she buried our love.
On getting married, she forgot our love.
After a long pause, when I invaded,
She discouraged my appearances.
Having lost her spouse, she didn’t change her stand.
Despite lonely living of her end days,
She wants no trace of my contacts to stay.
She values her reputation with her children.
In case she precedes me I shall see off her.
In case I precede her, our friend will tell her.

Sex Differs From Love

In the concert of love,
My man’s qualification
Of birth, wealth and position,
Under a sort of subjection,
Constraints and submission,
Would lay me to my dejection.

In the concert of love,
With a lad of my choice,
I could put aside my shame,
Say to him what I please,
Do to him what I desire,
Execute every scheme of Dalliance my fancy put me on
And indulge in all frolics
My passion drives me to.

The lad cannot match my lord
In giving me the status I enjoy.
My lord cannot match my lad
In giving me the missing ecstasy..

As it does not interfere with

Who else can man love other than woman?

She enjoys the role of a benefactor.

and in contact all these years of time.
One of them hosted her daughter's wedding.
She was as charming as she was before
And as entertaining as she was then.

And the other promised to attend it,
She having been the cause of hundreds
Of love poems I have written to her.
She came but far emaciated in looks
And didn't fail to kindle me as before.
Corporal change is no bar for love to live.
Corporal absence is no bar for love to live.
My trip as long as a night journey done
With an effort did not disappoint me.

Sexual Liberation

More men are sharing their wives now a time.
When man allows other men to have sex
With his wife, he knows he is cuckolded
But is fully in charge of cuckoldry.

Man's most valued possession is his wife.
His intolerance will be the highest
When he doubts about her infidelity.
Why are more men willing to share their wives?

He wants his wife to have men he choses
Or the man, both together agree upon.
Man lets the cage open for his wife
So that he accesses other men's wives.

Repressed male sexuality in men
Might lead to wives' sexual liberation.
As the parents, deprived of education,
See that their children are educated.

You are desperate to please her,
You discard what she dislikes

Her evasion, you take as testing.
Her vision, you wait for endlessly.

Sexual Orientation

Sexual orientation takes place in one
Towards woman, man or both, any age,
Though across sex is common and natural.
To be attracted is sex oriented.

Sexual orientation is instant
Among youths and is with social sanction.
Man's robust growth and woman's skin in glow
Serve as a stimulant for arousal,

Sexual orientation is constant
Among the middle aged and cross firing.
Man's sturdy paunch and woman's solid breasts
Serve as a catalyst for arousal.

Sexual orientation is persistent
Among the aged and looks like platonic.
Man's wits and rank and woman's toned cheeks
Serve as a potential for arousal.

The old for the middle aged and vice versa,
The middle aged for the youth and vice versa,
And the old for the youth and vice versa,
Might develop sexual orientation.

Sexual orientation is not ruled out
Among boys and girls below fifteen too.
Sexual orientation is subconscious
Among boys and girls below five years.

Sexual orientation is Chronophilias,
That strikes anywhere without any ethics.
It is genes born and behaves like a dog,
To be led by a rope when not in the cage.

Sexual Thoughts To Die Last

Having lost the vigour to produce seeds,
Send out blossom and give out shoots and leaves,
With the stem turning senseless in due course,
A tree still feels the pulse of lust and life
With its roots being active to the earth.
Having lost the vigour to impregnate,
To keep counts and volume from falling,
With the stem losing its power in aging,
A man still feels the pulse of life and lust
With his thoughts responsive to women.

Sexual Void

He knows not his wife is a paramour;
She knows not her spouse is a paramour.
Illicit relations have existed
Since the time immemorial so as
To fill necessarily the sexual void
Of the repressed society all along.
Orgasm demands outright exploration,
That a stranger only can bring about.
Adultery is lovely, the urge of life,
But guilt is built and the shame is outcome.

Spouse swapping is a new phenomenon,
Which quite nicely fills the sexual void,
Without guilt and without betrayal
And without the danger of breaking home.
The non-possessiveness in a great deal
Must be mandatory to accomplish.
Spouse swapping is a decent prostitution.
Spouse swapping is a mutual gratification.
Stigma severed, acceptance will gain ground.

Shaivism revolves around Lord Shiva.
Tantric philosophy gave birth to it.
Kashmir Shaivism is with monastic faith
While Shaiva Siddhantam is dualistic.

Bhairava, Rudhra and Shiva have been
Three forms akin in ferociousness
To the Wild Bull, the Bull and the Ox.
He and his subjects profess humbleness.

As Shiva, He is potential energy;
As Sakti, He is creative energy.
Conjugation of male and female
Is symbolized by Linga, the idol.

Shiva reminds you of your destination.
Ash is what one would become after death.
He wears ash to remind us of the end
And to live observing austerity.

Followers of Shiva is in firm belief

Even love seems hopeless,
Mutual longing helps passion alive.

Shakuntala, daughter of Royal Sage,
Vishwamitra and the celestial Nymph,
Menaka, was reared by the ascetic Kanva.
Dushyanta, ruler of Hastinapura,
Was the lunar Dynasty of Poru.
Bharata, their son was the ancestor of the lineage of Kauravas and Pandavas.
The epic Mahabharata was the source. 1

Dushyanta came hunting in the forest.
As he was about to slay an antelope,
A monk forbid him and the king withdrew.
The animal was of the hermitage
Of sage Kanva, heavenly connected.
The monk blessed him that he beget a son,
Who would turn the wheel of his empire.
Kanva was away on a pilgrimage.2

The king sought to enter the hermitage,
Laying aside his insignia of kingship.
He spotted Shakuntala with her friends,
Anusuya and Priyamvatha, two ascetics.
Stunned by her innocent beauty, he thought,
"Her lips are red buds, her arms tendrils,
Impatient youth poised to blossom in her limbs."

'No mortal woman could, to such beauty,
Give birth -lightening flashes not from the earth.
Dushyantan amazed at her celestial beauty
And presented himself before the three
When they were watering the plants around.
Shakuntala was perturbed from his presence. 4
In the course of dialogue among them,
She did not respond directly to his words,
But listened as he spoke, and she didn't look
At him but her eyes could not rest anywhere.
He found her a flower no one had smelled
And a bud no fingers had plucked, so pure.
'I don't know who is destined to enjoy
Her flawless beauty.' he stayed to pursue. 5

Her feelings for him betrayed her movement.
'A blade of Kusha grass pricked my foot.'
The girl said for no reason after walking
A few steps away; then she pretended to free her bark dress from branches where it was not caught,
And shyly glanced at him. Love was kindled.
The passion of two lovers became clear.
Her friends helped her in love as catalysts. 6

Dushyanta was love struck for Shakuntala.
'I know the power ascetics have
And the rules that bind her, but i cannot Abandon my heartnow that she has taken it.'
Walking around and looking for her steps,
'I see fresh footprints on white sand,
Deeply pressed at the heel by the sway
Of full hips.' observed in a sensuous way. 7

Shakuntala was lying on a stone couch
Strewn with flowers, attended by her friends.
Caught by love sickness, she felt body pain;
Love burns young women like the summer heat
But its quilt makes them more charming at heart.
Her cheeks sunken, her full breasts lost in shape,
Her waist thin and shoulders bent, she looked pale
Anusuya and Priyamvatha knew the cause.8

'Help me to win the king's pity otherwise
You would soon pour sesame oil and water
On my corpse.' said she overheard by the king.
It destroyed the king's doubt about her love.
She wrote on the lotus leaf with her nails
A poem, 'I don't know your heart, but day and nig
For wanting you, love violently torches
My limbs, cruel man! ' and read it to her friends.9

'The daughters of royal sages often marry
In secret and then their fathers bless them.'
Saying, he caught her to kiss but she slipped.
'Why didn't I kiss her face as it bent close
To my shoulder? ' lamented Dushyanta.
Shakuntala gave herself to the king.
He married her with a promise that her son
Shall succeed him and gave her his signet ring.10

With her face resting on her hand absorbed
Was Shakuntala in the thought the king,
When Sage Durvasa made his appearance.
Her distraction offended him and he cursed:
The person she was dreaming of would forget
About her when he was awakened. However,
At the behest of Priyamvatha, he modified.
'He would recollect on seeing his token.'11

Her seed in her womb, she wanted him back.
He failing, she set out with her escorts.
On the way they had to cross a river,
Wherein she ran her fingers playfully
And her ring slipped off without her knowledge.
At Dushyanta's court, she was hurt painfully
As her husband could not recognise her.
Without the ring, she could not convince her.12

Humiliated, she returned to the forest
And settled in a part and begot her son.
Meanwhile, a fisherman found the king's ring
In the belly of a fish and it reached the king.
He recollected about Shakuntala
And went out with remorse to look for her.
He encountered a brave boy with a cub.
He was Bharata, who took him to his mother.13

He met her to be his Shakuntala.
'My dear, I see that you recognize me
Even my cruelty is transferred by your grace.'
'Heart, be consoled. It is my cruel fate
That has finally taken pity on me.'
He narrated how he recollected her.
Passion pouring, she dropped at his feet.
His cycle of rebirth, may Siva destroy. 14

(Many quotes handled here are of drama Shakuntalam written in Sanskrit by Kalidas in 3rd or 4th century. The tale has its source in the first chapter of the Epic Mahabharata, where it is narrated to establish the origin of Kuru Dynasty through the birth of Bharata.)

Shock Treatments

The brother of Albert Nobel was dead.
All newspapers by mistake had published
The obituary of Albert Nobel.
It went like ‘the merchant of deaths is dead.’
A great shock to him, who minted huge wealth
By selling dynamites for the use in war.
The shock changed him, who made over his wealth
To a noble cause: The Nobel Prizes

Kalinga War shocked Emperor Asoka
When he saw the tears of the war victims.
The shock changed him, who followed Buddhism,
And took a vow to wage no war, no killings.

The Cancer in me gave me a great shock,
Which made me quit smoking of five decades.

Shophilia Loron.

‘Shophilia Loron, the majestic, ’
To say of you, I am apologetic.
You were born low, as illegitimate.
Your mother made you legitimate.
It is your mother who made you the great.
Her love for you was total, and vital.
Carlo Ponti was, who made you the screen queen.
Older by twenty years, he was mad of you.
He couldn’t coax you to be less than a wife
He had to give up his family as prize.

In Hollywood actor, Cry Grant,
You found your love and warmth
But it is Carlo who got your warmth
You had to yield as a grateful dog.
You never changed husbands like
Monroe did.
You never betrayed your husband.
Nor did you sell yourself for wealth and fame.
Your two sons are legitimate,
By which you rank high in estimate.
Your mate is the most fortunate.

You seduced attention all over.
No worthy man could lay hand on you,
The poorest of poor, who grew the richest of rich.
You were not the queen of Rome
But you swayed as the queen of celluloid.
You were honoured with Mrs. World,
For consistency at your five and sixty.
As much you barred men as you lured.
A lover of gratitude and solitude;
A symbol of honesty and majesty.

A blend of beauty, love and culture,
You last by your inner beauty.
You still exist so no scandal is thrown.

Shraad - Homage To Ancestors

The Hindus who follow Vedic rites,
Perform Shraads to their forefathers
On the moon face (Thithi) day of their deaths
By offering to the sky sesame seeds.

Does the result reach the departed soul?
Is it a necessary rite not to be missed?
Non believers of Vedas would not do.
What about those who have faith with some doubts?

Soul liberates on death and waits for rebirth.
Accumulated karma sticks to the soul.
Karma carried over at the time of death
Would be brought forward at the time of birth.

The departed soul must live in peace.
It must be remembered periodically.
Whether or not the soul is benefited,
The performer is happy in doing it.

Every action will produce a result.
Why not Shraad? The other motive
Is so that he will be remembered
By his descendants after his death.

Married for four decades, my wife and I
Live without corporal intimacy,
Both spending our time with respective sex
And yet companionship binds us.

We would speak to each other on matters.
We would nag each other on issues.
Stale to each other, we’re particular
That the other has no one to flirt with.

She’s the only guy I could depend on
And I’m the only guy she could depend on,
Siblings and offspring having drifted off.
We would reserve what we have till we die.

The future is bleak as we both grow weak.
In case of one falling as bed ridden,
The other would be useless and yet we cling
Like one grabbing a straw, while drowning.

Smile

Smile: It is an expression of love that seeks a rapport with a loved one;
A dawn of mercy that, after coaxing and pleading, emerges from the beloved;
A sunshine that rips the gloominess of the loving one, a melody to a desperate soul;
A radiating hope, to the one wandering in dark, from the woman of one’s pursuit;
A spontaneous one, an involuntary one, more a reflection of one’s inner heart.

Smile Please.

Smile is the experience of happiness.
It is the expression of emotions,
A gesture demanding an audience.
But it is not so in most of the cases.

Now smiles are shown for social reasons.
One smiles to show that one is kind hearted.
One smiles at others to put them at ease.
Smiles fake outnumber smiles spontaneous.

Innocent smiles contrast decisive smiles.
Sarcastic smiles contrast sincere smiles.
Smiles born of blushes soothes women's lovers.
Smiles do immense good to who all who smile.

Not like one before a camera.
Smile to show gratitude.
Smile not to win a favour.

There is meaning in mother’s smile.
There is meaning in lover’s smile.
Smile is expression of one’s heart.

Neither a sister, nor a daughter,
Nor any one by blood you are.
Yet my sorrow never sleeps.
Never a tryst, nor a rendezvous,
Nor an innuendo, you granted.
Yet my sorrow never sleeps.
Glamour, splendor, or pretext,
You never played to gravitate.
Yet my sorrow never sleeps.
Formidable and forbidden you were.
Sojourn was so short.
Parting was abrupt and aborting.
Yet my sorrow never sleeps.
Every beginning has an end.
An episode should, however, end.
But abortion and usurpation?
May be, by a boon I’ll see you soon.
That can retrieve our past monsoon.
But the crop is already gone.
So my sorrow never sleeps.
Time was over before I could score.

Is a birth an absolute beginning?
Can a death be an absolute ending?

The trio of mind, matter and life-force
Constitutes man as do other beings.
Death is cessation of mind and matter.
Birth is protrusion of life-force inbuilt.

Birth and death denote a span of life-force.
A cell each from the male and the female,
Carrying psycho matter and life-force
Fuse and grow into a new entity.

Body without life-force is dead like wood.
Body with life-force is wood caught by fire.
Living is nothing but body burning.

Observation does not change the objects
Observed but would change the observer
When the observed one is inanimate
But not so when it is human being,

The knower, the known and the knowing
Are obligatory for an experience.
Experience is because of consciousness,
Which is innate in body like time and space

Spare Manu

Manu Sastre, the moral code, laid down By Manu, though outdated by time gone,

Still stands worthy of many codes drawn
And is not wise to be thrown out outrightly.
Each set of codes is set to govern a sect
Conditioned by life of the coder’s time,
With no right bequeathed to latter sects
To condemn the coder for the codes set.
The theory propounded by the scientists
Are being replaced by the successors
Without any attack on the former. Mind.

Speak To Him In His Tongue.

A scientist told a farmer
About a pesticide’s use, saying “Efficacy of it is indisputable but its residue is incompatible”
The farmer took it to mean that it is good to use and used it.

Alarmed, the scientist went to him
And warned him not to use it
And if he does, the consumers would suffer.
“Don’t use it. It saves the crop but will kill the stomach of eaters”,
the scientist told him in plain words.
The farmer understood and threw it.

Spinoza On God

God is not the creator of the world
But the world is part of God, the substance.
The God and the world is the same thing,
Which contradicts the western religion.

There is only one substance, infinite,
Absolute and self-caused eternal.
The whole universe is made of this substance.
Any part of the universe is God.

The mind is the part of the infinite
Intellect of God and any object
Of idea constituting the mind
Is body with the mind as extension.

Thought and existence are two main attributes.
Thought is how the substance gives to a thought.
Existence is how the substance extends.
The connection between idea and thing is same.

How can you be blamed if you do or say
Something out of that which God put in you?
How can you be punished for yo being
As you are if God is the one who made you?

Miracles and God's averments are wiles
To manipulate you, to control you,
To create guilt on you and have a hold,
In the name of God made for this purpose.

Stop praising God; stop offering Him things;
Stop asking favours; stop asking forgiveness,
Ten commandments aren't made by God.
Scripture are man-made; sins are man coined.

Hell and heaven are born of imagination.
Sins and punishments are made as a threat
To the people to be bound by the religion.
Don't waste time and money for religions.

'Rape is a crime but trying to seduce Some persistently or cack-handedly Is not, nor is being a gentlemanly Macho attack.' Affirmed she further.

In the name of sexual harassments Men have been punished, sent to jail and forced Out job, ruining their family and future Because they suggestively touched women.

Women enthusiastic ones, often sadists, Do more harassment to women and love Than what women experienced from men's acts As sexual harassment, to their resentment.

Spring-Turned Autumn

Love between you and me
Knowingly or unknowingly
Budded before we blossomed,
But blossomed after we withered,
Having gone onto hibernation,
Fortunately or unfortunately,
In our spring of animation
When we branched severally.

Love between you and me
Belatedly or befittingly
Unfurled its stored fragrance
And permeated our inner sense
Only in our autumn of emptiness
When we headed for senescence,
And yet gives us a new sensation
As though we’re back to spring.

Love between you and me
Uniquely or uncommonly
Bloomed, not like a flower
That in spring opens with vigour
And ends with bearings in summer,
But one, seeded before carnal sphere,
Still out-living our carnal desire
To bring to the fall the eternal Spring.

Love between you and me
Intently and intrinsically
Is a Jasmine in its emergence
That exudes to us only fragrance
Which we breathe with all innocence
Without disturbing others’ balance.
Love for each other gives us all the vibes
To feel ever springs and no falls.

Blossomed in autumn
Our naïve love,
And brought to autumn
Ever spring now 03.1999

Such like acts in reality

A stalker can be anyone:
A friend, a former boyfriend,
A colleague, a close neighbour,
Or a stranger getting crush on her.

He is a rejected stalker
Who nurtures his love failure.
He is a love obsessed stalker
Who hopes his love to be requited.

He is a predator stalker
Who gets mental high in chasing.
The grudge stalker is the one
Who acts from the unfair treatment.

Stress Management.

Stress affects one's mind and body as well. Connection is there between mind and body. Many diseases are stress related. The bottled emotion can be the cause.

When one is in anger, hormones are set To release to prepare one's body To face the situation by fight or flight. Containing anger is the cause of stress.

It does not mean that anger is let out. It can be sublimated in other ways. It can be reasoned and pardon granted. Intolerance can be the cause of stress.

Stupidity Of Flirts

One loves and the other lets one do so.
Some infatuated swains in their course
Mistake insensibility of women
For modesty, their dullness for reserve
And their vacuity for bashfulness.
Thus a man loves in a fool’s paradise.

A slim, fair, tall, young maiden on the stage,
Singing Karnatic music for an hour,
Struck my chord with her grace and modern looks.
Save her head and limbs, no skin was visible.
The seventh day moon was her close forehead.
The nose, neither broad nor sharp, was in place.
Her lips, by width and breadth, were fabulous,
So charming that the eyes never took off.
The chin, a Cape Komarine, is nice to watch.
Her neck, a peduncle, betrayed blue veins.
The hair, hung in style, was a crown on head.
She was such a beauty as could be felt
And pleased without any vulgar thought
Even by men of passion, to say the least.

Subjects Of Sukran [venus]

He remembers, beside his and of his children,
As a ready reckoner, only her birthday.

He would celebrate, though in visualization
And imagination, only her birthday.

He reckons her acceptance of his memento
As the most precious moment ever to occur.

He values her hard-to-come comments of him
More than any laurel that came to him.

He prides himself on her subliminal love
As a conquest, supreme to any won.

His relation with her, first of its kind to her,
Is soul grinding, with no parallel.

His win over her heart, that of the coyest
And the modest with no flirts, has no equal.

He feels absence of a memento from her
As vacuum, hard to fill with any valuable.

Had there been a touch between them
More memorable could it be than his consummation.

Is it all because his star and her star are ruled
By same Sukran, the Lord of love and comfort?

She strikes not, out of fear.
As age grows, withers fear.
As age grows, desires dare.
I shall wait till thee.

Tamil Culture Liberation Day

Not for water, not for justice,
Not against high level corruptions,
Not against honour killings and rapes,
Not on drought-hit farmers suicides,
And not against organized looting
In education and medical

But for sporting Jallikattu,
The overpowering of bulls,
Which most of us don't witness,
And which none of us patronize,
We, the Tamils, more ancient
Than the stone and the sand of the earth,

Surged ahead all over the world
And staged a massive protest for a week.
We have thus captured the mouse
By uprooting the mountain.
Let 22nd January be the day

Tantalizing

I have seen that her eyes are sharp.
Her eyes are sharp and attentive
But still I dare not encounter them.
They hold my head captive.

I have seen that her nose is stern.
Her nose is stern and aiming
But still that nose I cannot pinch.
It torments my eyes, straining.

I found that her lips are of flesh.
Her lips are fleshy and amorous
But still the very lips I cannot caress.
They render my lips nervous.

I like her face being slim and slender.
Her face is slim and passionate
But still I cannot claim that of her.
It keeps my brain desolate.

I wonder how nimble her limbs are.
Her limbs are nimble and at hand
But still to touch them I don’t dare.
They set my belly to grind.

I understand that her vibes is strong.
Her vibes is strong and resonant
But still me she chose to tantalize.
She left my soul poignant.

Total reticence from her
Might have been better
Rather than raising hope
And then belying it.

Tantra To Boost Energy

Tantra literally means to weave.
Interweaving of the soul and body.
Interweaving of the sex and body.
Interweaving of the life and energy.

The most primitive religious thought
It being, it finds place in the Hinduism,
Jainism, Buddhism, Kashmir Shaivism
And even in the Taoism of China.

Yoga, mantra and mudra now practiced
Have their origin from Tantra practices.
Man gets energy to grow and reproduce.
To tap that energy is happiness.

Deep awareness is the key method used.
Be it rhythmic deep seated love making
Or meditavely doing yoga practices.
Liberation of basal energy is the goal.

Swadhishthana chakra at the base of the torso
Is the seat of sexual energy.
Awakening it by constant yoga practices
Can bring you higher level of consciousness.

Tantra practice generates sexual energy.
To spend sexual energy is not Tantra.
Swadhishthana Chackra must be tapped
By mudra, yoga and meditation.

Tantrayana Philosophy

Tantrayana fifth is a mixture
Of Tantra and Mahayana.
Nirvana of Mahayana
Is reached through Tantra's practices.

Tantrayana found its existence
When Mahayana Buddhism declined
In India in seventh Century BC.
Now it exists only in Tibet.

Human body is the gross and the subtle.
The subtle body gives energy
To the gross body to ensure life.
The energy that lies low must rise.

Tapping this energy to reach
The higher attribute is feasible
By observing Tantra practices
By yoga, union and mantras.

With the advent of Vedic Philosophy,
Tantra Philosophy which taboos not sex
Had been given a burial by Brahmins,
But not by Jainism and Buddhism.

‘Love is at the first sight’
Is of William Shakespeare.
‘While the one eludes

I came, I saw, and
I fell in love with you,
And set myself to pursue
While you chose to elude,
With no end in view,
Till you yourself were to allude
That you were neither free.
Still I am crazy in pursuit
As no one can substitute you.

Love is blind
That strikes not virgins alone;
Love is insane
That strikes not maidens alone.
So is that
Of mine, that stumbled upon you
With no look
On your antecedents, and
No way less
Is it in passion and emotion
Than the one
That hits any virgin. But
It is crippled
In the web, the society has woven.

As passion grows
I cannot but love you.
As emotion thaws
You cannot but give in.
You are elusive,
Weighed with moral glare
While me, assertive,
Charged with carnal dare.
Let your fear wither
And valour gather.
To sever your life-mate,
And to end my stalemate.
Let you unlock your wedlock
To end my deadlock.

Wisdom would grow with age, like wrinkles

Wine would improve with the age, it’s true,

The Age Cannot Dry The Sexual Taste..

Sexual thoughts excite the brain,
Which stimulates sexual organs,
Which activate sexual glands.
Lust is felt all the three stages.

Organs failing, glands can act.
One can still feel about sex.
Glands failing, brain can act.
One can still feel about sex.

No wonder, men and women
Past seventy or eighty,
Are turned on by persons
Direct or in photos or screens.

The Age Of Image.

The people who know you
Are the canvas on which
Your image, good or bad,

Don’t we desire leaving

It is past that I practice flattery

The Anonymity

Who hasn't looked at women without lust?
Who hasn't done adultery in the heart?
The capable ones indulge in adultery
And the incapable dream of adultery.

Everyone lives hiding his sexual self.
He keeps close to his heart his sex secrets.
He fakes innocence; he moves cunningly.
No man is exempted unless impotent.

How long can one burry the inner self?
One develops an itch to let it out,
Which one does from anonymity.
A cleaning agent is anonymity.

When we want to be inside out,
We are some ones others cannot know.
We hide our real and appear as if real,
We pretend to be what we aren't.

If at all we want to be what we're
We do it through the route of anonymity.
It is applicable to both genders.
Internet is a good window to vent.

The Bond Of The Couple

Women are appearance conscious.
Education and earnings make them free.
Employments bring them to men’s company.
They spend more time with them than with husbands.

Women are not house bound, not village bound.
They live and float with their roots elsewhere.
The society has become permissive.
Infidelity becomes de rigueur.

To have a boy friend is the girl’s fancy.
To have a lover is the wife’s fancy.
Most of men and women are sinners.
Others may, given opportunities.

Close your eyes where light is unwanted. Close your ears where sound is unwanted.
Let possessiveness be torn; be light.
Or what else can one do to changing women?

A woman in love is a candle;
Her love and the candle’s flame are to burn.
Her pining is the candle’s burning.
They pine and burn and exhaust themselves.

A man in love is like a fly;
Both are in flight towards their targets
Of love and flame, to which they succumb
By one longing and the other by falling.

The man and the fly end as the charred.

So you will let me love my beloved.
Get anything by whatever means and
I disturb you not and you disturb me not.
‘Alas, alas, who’s injured by my love?’
My sighs haven’t drowned any merchant ship.
My heats in veins haven’t caused any plague.
‘Call us what you will, we are made by love’
Call us candles or flies; both die at their cost.
‘We can die by it, if not live by love.’

The Case History Of The Kiss

Is kiss invented or natural?
It is an improved licking
Pracised by most mammals.

A kiss can be artificial,
Emotional or sexual or
An expression of victory.

Kiss can be on any part
But most expressive
When mouth to mouth.

Judas kissed Jesus;
Yudhistra kissed the dice;
Romeo kissed Juliet.

A friendly kiss, a loving kiss,
An emotional kiss, a lustful kiss,
An erotic kiss, a kiss of authority,
A kiss of victory, a kiss of vulgarity,
A kiss of prosperity, a kiss of nobility,
A stealing kiss and a kiss of adultery.

Rival kisses artificially.
Mother kisses fondly.
The beloved kisses passionately.
The lover kisses eagerly.
The last one is the greatest.

Kissing is a subconscious return
To suckling at mother’s breasts.
The lips resembles labia,
Which is long hidden to men’s sight.

Kissing is a way of sniffing.
Kissing is just for a whiff.

Lips could not have been
An erogenous zone
As there was no hygiene
Practiced in mouths in the Stone Age.

Said the man in sorrow.

At birth to set out on a race
To run fast in growth and progress.
They run with no concern for the trailers.

When their parents are no more
And when the partition is over.

For those moments kept in the focus
And will roll out easily without bore.
If you don’t have one, create such moments.

Lunch and dinner are my two moments
Which I anticipate for the pleasure
Of smoking cigarettes, a constraint imposed.

The Concept Of The Birth

What is birth? Why is it? Who causes it?
The birth is the fusion of matter and force
That came into being by accident
And since then evolves like planets revolve.

As the wind blows and the water flows
In accordance with the external force
The living things grow and reproduce
In accordance with the external force.

The fire is to burn; the life is to burn.
The burning is growth, which both of them do.
Both must feed the matter to live and grow.
Both must get the favour of wind to burn

The conversion of matter into life
Is the action of the internal force.
The conversion of life into matter
Is the action of the external force.

The external force is the Supreme
And the internal is the soul, you may say.
They are not separate nor opposite.
The soul is the outcome of the Supreme.

The life is like water in rivers.
The body is like banks in rivers.
The water extends the river course
The banks regulate the river force.

The air fans the flame and put it out.
The God flames the life and put it out.
What happens to the flame when it is shut
That happens to the life when put to death.

The living kingdom is just like a tree
The growth of each bud is the growth of the shoot.
It grows aided by the external force
And dies thwarted by the same force.
09.01.2008

ugam Chettiar.
The Concept Of The Death

What is death? Why is it? Who causes it?
Living things are animated objects.
The dead are so when unanimated.
Cessation of animation is death.

Who terminates the animation:
The soul or the body? Neither of them.
The soul leaves not that the body decays.
The body decays not that the soul leaves.

Neither the body nor the soul promotes
The death nor do they desert each other.
They together succumb to the pressure
Exerted by the force present outside

Death happens when the matters break down
By accidents of the external force,
Or when they weaken from the external stress
Or when they are eaten by the predators.

The flame is to burn till the matter lasts,
The life is to run till the body lasts.
The flame is to die with no more matter.
The life is to cease with no more addition.

Degraded and disintegrated
By saprophytes at different stages,
The dead matters turn basic elements
And settle as inorganic matters.

The elements add to the growth of plants,
Plants to the growth of the herbivorous
And the herbivorous to the carnivorous
With the participation of the life force.

The drive of the life force is to survive
Against the pressure of the external force
The life force builds up the matter in growth
And when it could not, it dies with the matter
The plants and animals form a network
Trough which runs the life force, which is the soul,
Whose drive is to feed, grow and procreate.

ugam Chettiar.
The Concept Of The Soul

The candle is shut and the flame is out.
The candle is left and the life has set.
Before shut, the candle must have been lit.
The unlit candle can never be shut.

The being is dead and the life is out.
The body remains lifeless and sparkles.
Does the death mean the exit of the soul?
The soul to exit, when did it enter?

Is it that the soul has entered at birth?
No, the embryo has life before the birth.
Is it that the soul has entered at zygote?
No, the sperm and the ovum have their life.

Hens lay eggs, which turn chicks; they all have life.
No stage is void for the souls to enter.
The souls are the extension of the chicks
And the chicks, the extension of the hens

The child is the offshoot of its parents,
Who in turn are of their parents and so on.
The body and the life have struck to form
A unit when the first life was born.

Death is no more than the death of a shoot.
The death of the shoot is not the death of the tree
Nor is the death of the tree the death of the seeds
Nowhere else is broken the chain of the life.

When one begets the other, the other
Is of matter and life put together.
There are no such things as soul and body
To fuse at birth and depart at death.

Germs multiply by fissions and budding
Plants diversify by seeds and cuttings.
Birds by eggs, mammals by kids, they all spread.
Germs to mankind, the life is an extension.
The soul is a single string that has run
Through all living bodies, alive or dead:
Through germs, reeds and plants, through flies, worms and prawns
Through fish, snakes and birds and through. Cows and man.

Candles and flame are not bodies and soul.
The candle is lit before it is shut.
The body is not lit with the soul
For it to be out at the time of death.

Then what is the aftermath of the death?
Isn’t that the life is soul that went out?
Yes, the life goes, the soul goes, not as a whole.
The extended part of the life/soul dies.

Should the life be the soul, then there must be
Only one soul to have come with the first life.
The whole living kingdom has evolved
From the origin of life by evolution.

The plants imbibe the inorganic salts
And grow and the animals eat the plants.
When plants and animals exhaust themselves
The worms and germs eat them and release salts.

That the soul enters the body is a myth.
That the soul exits the body is a myth.
That the liberated soul reenters
Or is redeemed of rebirth is a myth.

In every birth the soul will protrude
And on each death the protrusion is off..
It is not that there are as many souls
As there are living things born and dead.

The whole universal life is one soul
That travels through the different branches
Of the matter in growth and adoption,
And is off when the branches meet their death.

The Core Fuels The Crust

A nubile nymph or a beauty care is absent.
Dusky skin, blunt chin, masculine nose
And the very queering lips are well present.
Yet to my heart her every part is piquant.

In her is there no aesthetic or romantic sense.
Reticence, reserved ness and timidity,
With coyness to the core, are there in evidence.
Yet she is so seductive to my every sense.

She acknowledges but refuses to requite.
Passion smoulders, which her blush betrays.
An earthen pot with water in, that the dampness
Betray. She is my 'Cape of Good Hope'.

A hard nut and an elusive fish is the stuff.
A taciturn woman, with no semblance of proof.
To admit or to exit is her bewilderment.
Nevertheless, towards her I go vehement.

I fell in love with her for her core and soul,
That led me to love her crust and profile.
I relish and cherish her for her inner fire.
As she eludes in fear I pursue in vigour.

Answered or not, one prays with hope.
Ushered or not I love her with heat.
Maybe she is less to others but to me much.
So much is there in her that my heart beats fast.

Her every part is a tonic to me because
That every part derives juice from beneath.
A flame takes intensity from its contents.
It is her contents that make her amorous.

“A thing of beauty is a joy for ever”
To think of her in bounty is my fervour.

Into deep sea plunged
For their solitary Princess,
In their do or die game
And were swimming in a race
Across the sea to the Arc,
Where she had waited with grace,
All the way to reach their monarch

In millions the Princes
In their struggle sank
On the march to the Princess,
Save a few hundreds in rank,
Who maneuvered through the gulf
Neck to neck; the fittest,
Past the rest, broke the nest
And shot the Princess; the rest dead.

The Creation And The Recreation

Desire across sex is sex.
The sexual desire is the peak.
The sexual pleasure is the strongest.
Sex is the trunk giving out branches:
Love, lust, interest, wit, awareness,
Curiosity, venture, poise, renown,
Sacrifice, empathy, recreation,
Without sex, one is purposeless.
We condemn sex, craving secretly..
Sex is creation and recreation.

The creation theory says
That God has made the world

The evolution theory says
That random chance creates the world,

And genes into living things
With varieties over millions of years
From natural selection
And mutation under compulsion.

The creation theory, would not have done
Had they been born after Charles Darwin.

The Creative Destruction

How big banyan tree comes from a tiny seed
And how a crocodile comes from an egg.
Thus has the Universe come from a tiny mass.
Matter, dark matter and dark energy
Is the composition of the Universe.
Where the dark energy accelerates
The Universe is said to be expanding.
The eventual outcome of the expansion
Is the return to the initial settings,
The extreme density of the matter
From which is born a new generation.
This is known as Creative Destruction.
Every death is the creative destruction,
From where is originating a new set of rules.

The Universe originates and ends
And regenerates and in each process
The evolutionary betterment is brought.
Lord Shiva is the perfect example.
His annihilation is for generation.

Evolution is consistent
With the notion of creation;
Evolution requires creation
Of beings that evolve duly.

And man manifests these in a high degree.

Things that are devoid of consciousness
Cannot be the cause of consciousness.

From whom all things are created, by whom

Is Supreme, the base of consciousness,
From which originates the single life line

Which are as the result of evolution.

I picked a seed on my way side
From a worthy yard of a lord
And put it safe in my lonely heart.
I watered it with love and passion.
I warmed it with care and concern.
A hard coated, it took long to burst.
Under the shade, it struggled to emerge.
By rain of lust and draught of guilt
Was the plant beset but not upset.
It grew to a bush with the entire blush.
Came in the spring; Went out the Spring.
No bloom. No blossom. No flower.
Yet leaves are rosy like petals.

The Crowd Is The Catalyst.

Whenever you are in the crowd
There I get you by sensual aid
As eyes are swords, more than words.
You are at ease in the crowd,
So private and so shrewd
In your approach to my side
That no one can suspect.
Enough. That only I expect.

That binds us with no exits.
You are so sophisticated;

Whenever you are in the crowd

It was telecast the worldwide.
It was watched in rapt attention
By the patriotic all over,
Helping revenue from advertisements.

The team was theirs only by name.

After the regions to sell tickets.

In multitude of eyes,
Away from parental views,
With pride given by foes,
Calmly, solely, she rides.

Abyss low, the fort beside,
Her soul wanders and slides.
In cold currents, the bride
Calculates her tides.

In the parental pouch,
Ornaments and riches
Pile up as heaps to catch
For her a better match.

‘Jewels by joy designed
To ravish the sensuous mind’
Lie in vain, fully blind,
Gloss and glamour to end.

Men of her clan, afar,
Stand, trimming collar
And query, ‘Who wins her
Hand to be lucky ever?’

Yes, while design and plan
For eventual act remain,
The Immanent Will gains
His sport for mortal pain,

With a sinister mate
For her- so gravely great,
A product of alien creed,
Low in breed, not in deed.

As the girl mutely grew
In stature, grace and hue,
Far down below there grew
A lad, earning her love.
Alien in match they seem,
No one could see pair’s aim,
Their blend in tying arms
That drifts them in still stream,

Or, the sign significant
That they are squarely bent
By paths coincident
To slip, anon, intent,

Till ‘the Spinner of the Years’
Nodded. To the bridal cheers,
Chased by parents’ jeers,
Elopement explodes near.

Man sorts; God sports.

The Disbelief

Disbelief in status quo is the cause
Of an action directed for a change
In the established, existing, system.
'To know' replaces 'to believe' in it.

Disbelief in the status of Christianity
Has brought out Protestantism.
Disbelief in the dogmas of Hinduism
Has given birth to the Buddhism.

Bigotry and extremism we face
Is due to misplaced beliefs and brain wash.
Violence is the conflict of beliefs.
War is nothing but the conflict of beliefs.

To know is the result of the disbelief.
The principle cause of bondage is belief.
The bondage is the cause of all worries.
Handle your beliefs so as to relieve you.

By which things move from order to disorder.
Time follows from order to disorder.

Living matter forms macro molecules
Which grow into many organelles.

The earth is set to move to entropy.

The Ember Of Love

When we were close
We missed to disclose
What we had close to our chest.

When we discerned the sign
We missed to refine
As I had abruptly for ever left

The ember was kept alive;
Minds were kept captive.
Distance gave boldness.

I returned by miracle
But occurred a debacle
In your sore earlier exit.

Fate didn’t play havoc,
Sometime blowing air,
Sometime springing water.

Ember of love is still alive
As you are not as far off
As I had been earlier. A boon.

How firm we grow in mind,
Away though we live!
Distance blesses in disguise,

However thick we are
We are no more suspects here
As we are now not under one roof

It is time to fan air
Before the time sprinkles water
On our hard fanned ember.

We regretted the missing past
When we were separated.
Not to repeat, let us hasten.

The Extasie

Sat we two, one another best,
Bodies were left; souls rose and met.
They transacted their love at best.
Struck by the sight of their bodies,
Motionless, the souls asked themselves:
‘Our bodies why so we forbear?
They are ours, though they are not we.’
We are flames and they are matter.
‘We owe them thanks because they thus did us, to us, a first convoy yielded their forces, senses to us.’
The souls returned to their bodies,
And declared in solemnity:
”To feel love, we live in bodies.”

Some were recruited in the morning,
Some at noon and some in the evening.
At the close, all were paid equal wages.
There was hue and cry among the aggrieved.

The Faith Of Baha'I

We cling to multiple identities;
Such identities impel us to show
Loyalties based on identities.
Multi-loyalties bring conflict in us.

Loyalties propel us to side or fight.
Religions and politics take much toll.
Language and territories are not behind.
Racial identities still raise their heads.

Leave identities; leave loyalties.
Both tell that you are led by prejudices.
A world community formed without them
Is what Baha'u'llah preached as his faith.

The False Necessity

Bras are a false necessity.
A recent study has found it.
Denied gravity by the bra,
Breasts get no escapes from sagging.
Rather, they are eager to sag.
No anatomical gain comes.
Yet bras are a necessity
To man’s eyes trained in that bracket.

The Fate Line Of India

Poverty is the fate line of India.
It runs all along from the Cape Comarine
Through Deccan Plateau and the Ganges Plain
Till Kashmir valleys and the Himalayas.

So fertile has been this fate line for long,
It has been the base for the Lord Buddha, Mahavir and Sankara to take births.
By this, M.K. Gandhi turned Mahatma.

Rulers would surrender the border line
But not the fate line, which is their life line.
The kingpins aided by the world outside,
Repair it and maintain it and use it.

Poverty is the fate line of India.
It has been the pet of the invaders,
Rulers, religions and the immigrants.
It must be there to make many sages.

The First Love

No night is equal to the first night;
No love is equal to the first love.

Soft with youth’s dew and hot with youth’s fire.

The first love develops no wrinkles
When bones turn brittle and glands, sapless.
The first love has no age in one’s mind.
The withered one returns to its spring.

It’s in eyes where the first love is born
And in those eyes it would live its life.
Confronted even after decades,
These eyes would bear the same dew and fire.

The conversation of eyes is a form
Of communication that eyes alone
Can translate and to replace it,
No language is yet born anywhere.

The Fragrance Of Love

Man's love for woman is instant;
Woman's love for man is latent.
Man's pursuit makes her love potent;
Woman's image makes man's love vibrant.

Woman takes time to build her love.
Till such time she delays courtships,
With pretence of ignorance and
Indifference and connivance.

She takes time to study the man
In love and verify his worth.
She needs time to sheds her shyness
And say love to the man of her choice.

Her response to love is blossom.
Knowing it gives the man a thrill,
Which is the peak of sexual pleasure
Got in the episode of love.

Since then the love may grow further,
Come to a standstill or abort.
Regardless of the result, stays
In lovers' memory the feelings.

Blossom has fragrance; so does love.
Failure of fruit kills not fragrance.
Lovers reminisce at their past love
And beam at their worth for the other.

Unknown for sexual agitation,
Only known for love of twin kids,

A thing being a beauty,
The thing may be someone's
But the beauty is common to all.
When it is destroyed the loss
Is to all the perceivers as well.
When a man is under attack,
He may not be anybody's
But his helplessness affects
And generates pity in others.

The Growth Driven Set Up

Pushed by one behind, I push one in front.
Nudged by one beside, I nudge one beside.
An effect made is carried over in chains.
The borrowed capital must be returned.
The rental on things hired must be paid.
The bribe paid must be recovered somehow.
Recurring expenses must also be met.
The burden is transferred to consumers.
Unscrupulous earning is hence let loose
At the cost of ethics and honesty.
This is the growth driven economy,
Where means are sacrificed for the end.

I was sought after wherever and whenever I went.
I was loved and desired more than by my parents.
It was a credit, I felt, men’s eyes on me.
I pleasurably got wounded. They groped me
Under the pallu, beneath the blouse and the bra

Erotically. I fed on the grains men scattered
On sand. Now no man is around. No flesh abounds.
I starve. They vented me out but yet haunt me.

The Horse Is To My Liking.

Even before going to school by cart
Drawn by the horse, I know you as a child,
As you did dance to the tune in the circus.

Ever since I saw Queen Jansi with her child
On her back in the picture, I felt riding you.

Reading characters in literature
As riding, and seeing on the screen heroes
Riding about on horses with singing,
I rode you in mind with passion built up.

Your sight of side views blocked by side screens,
You behave obeying to your controller.
To the versatile women being house bound,
Societal outlook beyond home is denied.

Your moves designed to a few squares in Chess,
Far from your windy speed in the horse race,
Reminds me of my moves between the kitchen
And the bedroom, which strengthens my feelings
That you and I are in a bind by all,
And dear horse I love you still more so much.

The unobtrusive is his desire charged.
A ponderous, to put in a nutshell.

Driven by tides of time,
Perfidy stares at her face,
Fanned by the firebrand.
She is half ripe and he, fully ripe.
She is a cold candle set aflame.
A portrayal of sensuality.

With her poise and grace,
She makes him yawn and pine.
With his pen and words,
He makes her wean and lean.

She lets go of her inhibition
And collapses like waves
Splashing against old rock ashore.
He lets go of his reservation
And sweeps, like whirling wind,
The whole olive tree, semi ripe.

Both entangle themselves
And dismantle each other.
All in a hostile typhoon.

The Inner Voice

Intuition is inner voice, an instinct
That helps us strike an opinion
About a future event hard to foresee.
The subconscious mind is the breeding ground.

Intuition is the product of one's brain,
Faith, wisdom, knowledge and perception.
It is no more, no less than a prediction,
Based not on any known valid factors.

Intuition is not a guaranteed one.
It takes its strength from the faith reposed.
No intuition springs from the herd mindset.
Some have rightly predicted their end time.

Intuition is anchored soundly on faith,
Coupled with a strong mind and intellect.
When the odds are heavily against one,
One falls on intuition, which may see one through.

The Innocent

She was his captive and, hence, defenseless.
Chaste by habit and royal by blood though,
She can be raped and treated as a whore.
She must guard herself more by heart than limbs.

She addressed his areas unattended.
She mended his tunics and cared his food.
A captive to show kindness, not hatred!
He found in her a mother, not a whore.

Innocence and kindness was her asset,
For which her husband had been after her
And for which the bandit was kind to her.
Eleanore was set free to go unscathed.

The Innocent And The Wicked

Targeted by a hunter down below
And charged by an eagle high above,
A pair of doves, panic, perched on a bow,
With each ready to die for the other.

Stunk by a trodden cobra on his heal,
The hunter missed his balance and his aim,
The arrow went past the birds to the sky,
Where it hit the eagle hovering there.

The hunter was killed; so was the eagle.
The birds liable to die had been spared.
God saved the innocent and punished the wicked.
Are they wicked when they aimed for their food?

Lust means luxuria, lechery, lasciviousness and sensuality.
Lust means intensive desire for sexual pleasure,
A taboo of the sixth commandments.
Lust is nothing but power, most aphrodisiacal.
Lust is carrying women in thought.
Lust is substituting prostitutes.
Lust is marrying and sustaining a family,
Putting up with children crying,
Overdoing themselves in explanation of lapses,
Looking at women they like to move around,
Buying expensive clothes for themselves,
Gifting valuables to women they have crush on,
Paying attention to woman other than their wives
To make up what was missing
Without knowing what it is.
In a nut shell, lust is in every action.

The Menace Of The Crimes (India)

Some are beaten to death in public places.
Some are robbed at gun point in public places.
Women are stalked, assaulted and murdered.
Murder is the outcome of revenge or rage.

People watching a crime taking place
Chose to ignore it and don't try to stop it.
This gives much confidence to the doers
To commit crime without fear of the public.

Some crimes are committed by criminals.
Some crimes happen on the spur of the moment.
Some crimes are paid and some against wrong person.
Some from anger blown out proportion;

Victims are hard hit undeservingly.
Offenders are bold alarmingly.
No empathy from the state or people.
People feel unsafe and the State reaps sins.

The Mistress

Mistresses save men from bad marriages.
Mistresses break marriages that are smooth.
However, the word mistress still suggests
A sleazy liaison devoid of respect.

To have mistress stems from carnal desire.
A triumph or extravaganza can induce.
Desire to conquer a new territory
That lets them sow wild oats there, rules in men.

Mistress is branded as other woman
And is hated by all other women,
However worth she is or however
Beneficial her connection is.

However, the society gives lineage
To the mistress who is popular or
Whose custodian is all powerful,
And hails their relationship, dumping wives.

Affluent mistresses aren’t branded
As a man stealer or a home wrecker.
Rather, their power of being a temptress
Gathers more charm and wipe out wives’ presence.

A modest woman differs from an Immodest one in that the modest one withdraws the moment she feels her passion for a man is detected by him. Whereas the immodest one prolongs her affairs till others also detect it.

A demure lady was near my sight.
I could not sleep, try as I might.

I was beset; my heart in a glow.
I sent out my measured look, saw

Her unobtrusive, serene face
Cast down at work in phase.

Cognizant of me though she is,
She refused to court my eyes.

Her triplet: modesty, reticence,
And timidity coalesced to the incense,

That drove me out of sense,
My passion for her lurking tense.

Never rested my perverse look,
However resolute she might prove.

Her triplet by its nearness was my plight.
I could not retreat, try as I might.

I am tired; have I to retire?
Mute Lady, the care can you spare?

Why should your triplet me only excite
And leave others from the orbit?

Flinch not. My ingenious act,
I could not resist, try as I might.

Why should your aura assail my soul
What no one else but I can feel?

You’re not mute, subliminally hot,
Mute Lady, my acumen can spot.

The Need And The Greed

Need is a desire; greed is a desire.
Desires denied, sufferings surface.
Need is met at ease but not the greed
Which is boundless with sufferings profound.

Need and greed aren’t in water tight cells.
Need might restrict to physical wants.
Greed is for ego’s gratification.
Possessiveness is the sign of the greed.

To earn by wrongful means is from greed.
To exploit and hoard is an act of greed.
To garner and flaunt all you have is greed.
Greedless, though penny-less, you’re loveable.

To sedate the pride is to tame the greed.
To kindle the pride is to fuel the greed.
Having got money, power and possession,
As the result of greed, you will lose peace.

Remove the greed; jealousy is gone.
Remove the greed; no feeling of revenge.
Hail the poor and condemn the greedy.
Then the tendency to grow rich will wane.

Live simple; live humble; then need is less.
Be proud to own a bicycle, not a car.
Value one who owns a bicycle, not a car.
You will have saved energy and the nature.

Don’t embrace comforts, which will weaken you.

Unlike the cheat, being poor is not a shame.
Less wants; less sufferings, more happiness.

The Old Are The Waste Cotton

As cotton, I was dear to the farmer,
And then to the spinner. Becoming yarn,

Torn out, I was thrown to disintegrate.
As old, everyone would be thrown out..

William Shakespeare has been wrong
When he coined the old age

Whose fault is it to grow

that would never yield anywhere?
Or is it like one who smokes with

There was a time when I was proud of my beauty. Men were around me, young and old, on one pretext or the other, surveying me behind and then in front. They occasioned to touch me, press me and kiss me. They emboldened to hold me and to grope beneath. They fed me like doves on grains. I was lavished on. The Path Is Fear Ridden

My path: how long; how far; how good; who knows?
The path seems clear yet there seems fear.
Vultures circle while chicks are on pecking;
Tigers prowl while cows are on grazing.
Fish, big and small, swim in the same lake.
Food is sought but dangers interfere;
Rest is sought but hunger demands a break.
Love is sought but bindings do throw a fright.

My path: how up; how straight; how wide; who knows?
The moon and stars dispel dark, so fear
But in my birth chart, they rule to my fear.
The God will save you, , the god men promise.
They did not take me to Ethiopia
Nor did they show me El Dorado.
I could find a place a pool or ditch
Only when I reach there, guidelines failing.

My path: how safe; how smooth; how live; who knows?
I fear animals and walk with men
In rows or as a part of caravan
And find animals better than men.
Phobia struck, I still wander with men,
Who I hope can be my companions,
losing them as out of sight or drop outs
In the course of my walk, fear undying..

My path: how rich; how cool; how free; who knows?
Set in a journey, I move as I’ve to.
The journey was born without my knowledge
And it would end with out any notice.
I move to prey and not to be a pray,
Hoping that I could succeed in my stay.
Each foot I set with hope along with fear.
Cheers or tears, I move as I’ve to.

The Pity Of Pities

In a year,
You brought me
Ten years younger.
In a month,
You sent me
Ten years older.

In a year,
You exuded my
Hormones to that of a lad.
In a month,
You defused it
Far less to one older than me.

In a year,
You kindled me
To soar to the peak.
In a month,
You bundled me
To plummet to the ditch.

But in a year,
You activated in me
The finest faculty.
It is in a month
That you motivated
It to result in fruiting.

In a month of setting,
Impulses suffered a lot.
Intellect reaped a lot.

Stress breeds in one
The best
Though in the process,
It upsets
Him, the pity of pities.

Can you put me back
To saddle high in the track?

With the blame squarely resting on her part
As she was misguided with false events

She must meet him and get his pardon.

Whether she shed shame and ran after him
Because her lover was irresistible
Or because the wrong she did was so grave,
Or because of both in variant scales,
She was at loss and had no time to think.

The Ramayana's Sita (Bef 2nd Century BC)

Prince Rama* and his brother Laxmana
With Sage Viswamitra on their way back
After killing Demoness Tataka,
Who had disrupted the sacrificial works
Of the sage, entered the fort of Mithila,
To attend the sacrificial ceremony
Convened by Mithila's King Janaka,
As per the design of Viswamitra.1

On the outskirt stood a woman as stone.
Which turned a beautiful woman as soon
As the dust of Rama's feet fell upon it.
She was Ahalya, wife of sage Gowthem.
Indra*, out of lust on her sexy beauty,
In husband's absence went in his disguise
And had union with her. The sage cursed her
To go stone till Rama came and redeem. 2

King Dasaratha of Kosala Kingdom
From Solar Dynasty, without issues,
Got four sons delivered of by his three wives,
Who consumed portions of consecrated food,
That came through a being from the sacred fire,
Consequent to the sacrifice performed,
As Rama to Kousalya, Bharathan to Kaikeyi
And Laxmana and Satrugna to Subatra. 3

The princess and the sage went through streets,
Littered with garlands and golden ornaments,
Thrown away in reckless abandon by women,
Exhausted after sexual combat, in the town.
As they stood before the maidens' mansion,
Looking up, Rama saw the wide-eyed Sita*!
It was hard to define Sita's beauty
For Laxmi herself was incarnate Sita.4

Rama gazed long and so did she in turn!
Into his powerful shoulders her look drove
A pair of spears, while his large sharp eyes,
Rested on the charming breasts of Sita.
Her eyes met Rama's and, stunned, they feasted
Upon each other. Their souls, no longer in their own possession, became one.
Love at first sight- they fell for each other.5

Distressed in mind, Sita pined and stayed mute.
Kama* shot his arrow and kept her sick.
'Who is this cruel man, barging into me
And melting my steadfast mind of womanhood?
The womanly virtue of bashfulness
I was born with has now deserted me.'
Thus, in her mansion she lay on her bed,
Her mind aflame with unrequited love.6

Love-struck Rama was at bed in deep thought,
'Though heartlessly she has devoured me
With her terrible, venomous eyes, I see in all things moving or still, only her image.'
'Two long sword-eyes, and two arrogant breasts,
A smile held back tight in the mouth, my God,
—does Death need so many missiles? ' he mused,
'How a bow of sugarcane* had vanquished me! '7

The massive bow handed down from Siva*
Must be lifted by whoever wanted
To marry Sita, daughter of Janaka.
The bow was brought there for Rama to try.
Putting to shame bulls and elephants,
Effortlessly Rama lifted the bow
And held aloft as if it were a garland
With which to wed the coveted Sita.8

No one saw the toe pressed or the string fixed.
The lifted bow they saw as a flash
And only heard the thunder of its crash!
'Our lady needs a thousand eyes to see him
And he will need a thousand eyes for her.
How blessed is our world! ' all the people hailed.
'It must be he, that has done this, the one
I saw yesterday, ' Sita thought and wished.9
Rama was taken in a procession.
Those who saw his shoulder, his shoulder only saw;
Those his foot, only his foot; those his arm,
Only his arm. Which of those saw his full form?

Sita was adorned and ornamented.
Her vermilion breasts, full and surging,
Were a burden to her slender waist.
Her slender shoulders had, as rivals, bamboos. 10

The wedding took place in a grand manner
In Mithila in the presence of sages,
Dasaratha and his family and troops.
'Firm with my daughter may your union be,
Like Vishnu's with his consort, Lakshmi.'
Said Janaka to Rama, pouring water
And placed Sita's lotus palm in his hand.
After some days they left for Ayodhya.11

To set Rama, the first born, on the throne,
Dasaratha declared, which was thwarted
By his second wife, Kaikeyi, by means
Of two boons once granted her by the king:
To have Rama exiled for fourteen years
And to have her son Bharata the crown.
Rama quit willingly, with whom volunteered
His wife Sita and brother Laxmana.12

Soon Dasaratha succumbed to his grief.
Bharata declined to accept the kingdom
And with Rama's sandals placed on the throne,
As proxy to Rama, he ruled from the outskirt.
Journeying southward, the trio met many rishis
And went deep into Dandakaranya forest
And later to Panchavadi, where they put a hut.
Surpanaka, Ravana's* sister, sighted them. 13

Marveling at the beauty of Rama,
'No tree or mountain can ever match his hands,'
She thought. The flood of love in her heart,
Greater than any tide in river or sea,
Submerged her sense, and she fixed her gaze
On Rama's shoulders and couldn't pull it back.
'A Demoness fanged he will reject her at once;'
So Surpanaka impersonated Laxmi.14

Rama was surprised to see before him
A blowing figure with burgeoning breasts.
He suspected her form and intention.
'As a woman I cannot declare my love.
Enamoured, I pine; save me from Kama*.'
She was adamant in her sinful attempt.
Laxmana with rage cut her nose, ears
And breasts, and she left with deep pain and grief.15

'What was your fault that made them cut off
Your ears and nose? ' asked brother Ravana,
Who once lifted Siva's mountain, to his court
When Surpanaka bleeding came, and reported.
'The fount of my dire fate, ' she said grimly,
'Is one who is beyond compare, Sita.
When I attempted to spirit her away
To bring her to you, I was deformed thus.'16

'She lives with him, Rama, in the forest,
And Laxmana, his brother who cut off
My nose, ears and nipples with his sword.
Sita's body is of burnished pure gold,
Her breasts a pair of golden urns, her eyes
Spears, teeth pearls, lips coral and forehead a bow.
You, the great, must acquire this lovely woman
And get me Rama for my pleasure.' Said she. 17

Ravana forgot his sister's nose cut,
His own dishonour and only remembered
The words spoken in praise of that maiden.
Ravana approached Maricha* for her.
'Tell me what witchcraft I should employ.'
Ravana said, 'Turn into a golden stag
And rouse the greed of that golden maiden.'
Agreeing to this plan, Maricha left. 18

In the form of a golden deer, he went
To the place where Sita would yearn for it.
Plucking flowers, she spotted the golden stag.
She wanted the stag; Rama obliged
Against Laxmana's caution and pursued.
He shot at last the elusive golden stag,
Which fell in real form, yelling in Rama's voice.
Sita mistook and urged Lexmana to go.19

'It is not Rama's but Maricha's,' said he,
'If the Protector himself is in danger
As you seem to fear, all the three worlds, the gods,
The sages and the righteous, would have fallen'.
'Go now or let me set myself on fire.'
'Rather than stay here and cause Sita's death,
I'll leave it to Dharma to protect her.'
Saying Laxmana left, obeying her wish.20

Ravana came to lone Sita as a monk
And saw her, the epitome of beauty.
'She has not come from any woman's womb.
If her face, filled with sorrow, can be so bright,
What will it be like when she smiles?' he mused.
He revealed who he was and wanted her
To be his queen, which she spurned with rage.
Not to touch unwilling woman is his curse. 21

Ravana hefted the earth with the hut,
And went away in his flying chariot.
On his way, he was way laid by Jatayu,
The king of eagles, which, fighting him
To save Sita, lay dead losing his wings.
Laxmana, sent by Sita to find Rama,
Returned with him to see to their dismay
The absence of the hut and their Sita. 22

'You came to the rescue of my wife
Abducted by a rakshasa and, slain.
The killer is still alive and so am I!'
Lamented Rama at dying Jatayu,
When the two began their search for Sita.
From him they knew who had abducted Sita
But before their query as to which way
Was replied the wounded bird left its life. 23
Two sons of Kosala resumed their quest
For Sita, traversing through many hills,
And reached the hill where troops of monkey lived.
A friendship was forced with Sugriva, the head.
Rama beat Vali in a dual by hiding
Lest he should get half of strength of his foe,
And redeemed the kingdom and Sugriva's wife
From Vali and got Hanuman to help the search. 24

Hanuman, son of the Wind, was deputed
To search for Sita towards southern side.
Rama took Hanuman aside and said,
'Should you see her, this is how you can identify:
Her thighs are lovelier than banana stalks.
Her banded breasts more beautiful than
The chakravahas*. Her waist is the vanji
Creeper, and her gait is that of a swan; 25

Her middle is the hood of Adisesha*
The tender mango is her complexion.
Remind her of what she said in Mitila,
"If the man who broke that mountainous bow
Is not the one who came with the sage,
I'll give up my life." Here is a ring to prove
You are my messenger. Farewell, wise one.'
Hanuman had left on his journey to Lanka. 26

Hanuman located Sita in Ashoka grove,
Where she was being wooed and threatened
By Ravana. and his rakshasis to marry Ravana.
Hanuman reassured Sita, and gave
Rama's signet ring as his credential.
He offered to carry Sita back to Rama,
Which was declined as she was of a firm view
That Rama himself must avenge the insult. 27

He got from her the hair clip worn by her
To show Rama that he had seen Sita.
Hanuman then wreaked havoc in Lanka
And killed many Ravana's warriors.
When he was caught, and his tail set on fire,
He went round and burnt Lanka's citadel,
And made a giant leap back from the island.
He told Rama that Sita was safe, unsoiled. 28

Rama, Laxmana and their allies crossed
The sea with apes putting stones across.
The war between Rama and Ravana
Took many days that saw Ravana dying
With his kin. Rama made king of Lanka
Vibishna, Ravana's brother, who sided
Rama and helped him to win the battle.
Hanuman played a major role in the war. 29

Sita was informed of Ravana's death.
Her breasts, always a burden to her waist,
Swelled. Drunk with joy, she thought of her return.
Her breasts grew damp with dewy drops of sweat,
And her garment loosened and slid low too.
Vibishna led her to where Rama stood.
She descended from the chariot with grace.
Her body ached for reunion with him. 30

Rama had not received her with open arms.
He doubted Sita's womanly virtues.
'To whom shall I declare my chastity?
There is nothing better for me than to die.
That is what you have ordered too.'
She plunged into fire lit then and came out
Unscathed and proved to the world her innocence.
Who knows if her wounded heart has ever healed?31

(Indra - God of rain and pleasure, Kama - God of lust, Siva - God Supreme, the terminator of beings, Ravana - King of rakshajas meaning demons as against Rama the God Vishnu the protector of beings and of Devas, the good. The story is said to be spun by Sage Valmihi in 1st or 2nd Centuri BC in Sanskrit about the happenings before 20th century BC, probably in erstwhile West India where Aryans migrated in with Sanskrit as their tongue about 4000 years ago, and it was recreated by Kamban in Tamil in 12th Century AD, which is taken as base in line with P S Sundaram’s English translation to write this poem.

The unfortunate one was dead in her nineties,
In utter poverty and neglects.
She had fed me with stories,
One among them was Parasakthi
Which was later copied in celluloid
By M. Karunanithi as his own.
She told it and kept me to wonder;
She had led me to an imaginary world.
A steel framer and an estranged wife,
She was dear and near to a rich
Neighbour of my kin.
She had two butterflies as daughters,
The younger one was my playmate,
Later, as a woman, once my bedmate.
The elder one, who had many fans,
Retains her glamour even now.
The old woman was dead.
I never repaid my debts;
I never aided against her poverty,
I never cared to see her
While she was ailing and failing.
How ungrateful I am!
Ungratefulness is inborn.
When I am in deathbed,
None of my fans will be by my side.

You aren’t great being just in matters

The Role Of Conscience

Conscience is built by conditioning,
On the base brought by heredity.
Conditioning is the result of the known,
From which the knowledge has been formed.

Knowledge, the accumulation of knowing,
Consists of ideas and opinions
And a sense of continuity of the known,
Influenced by the values nurtured.

Human conscience built is not alike
Among the people across the globe.
Its subtlety is the cross reflection
Of the value the society commands.

Conscience pricks one at the first instance,
And in subsequent recurrences thereon
Will go to sleep like one’s nose that reacts
When one has entered a fish market.

The Role Of Kama

Kama primarily means sexual desire,
A potential energy embedded
In every individual alike
By way of pleasure reward to exist.
Any form of desire has its tap root
From Kama and any activity
Ardently pursued is the modified
Or the sublimated desire of Kama.

Kama is the root of the chief pleasure.
But for Kama, where are the erotic
Arts and poetry viewed with interest
Across generations and territories?
But for Kama, where could be jealousy,
Revenge and anger in operation
With such passion and energy in life.
Sacrifice also is Kama's tendency.

Kama is the other side of Dharma. [virtue]
Kama is a duty one does for oneself.
Dharma is a duty one does for others.
Kama is looked upon as an obstacle
To spirituality by all religions
And is permitted within marital frame.

The Seed Of Desire

Kama is the seed of desire
In the mind of the One
Which gives birth to Cosmos;
Thus says Rig Veda (10.129)

Kama is the source of creation,
Procreation and, nay, all action.
Kama is one of the three goals,
The other being living and virtue.

Kamasutra is the scripture
For sex, physical and psychological.
Gupta Empire and Harsha Dynasty
Glorified Kama with erotic arts.

Khajuraho and konark temples
Exhibit images doing sex.
Anything about sex bore no stigma.
Consensual sex was a Dharma.

Kama does not read monogamy;
Kama does not obey monogamy.
Fantasy is the rule of the game.
Erotic art is an entertainment.

There was even a God for Kama
In the Hindu Mythology.
Libido is the basal energy
From which spring all energies.

Monogamy was introduced
But prostitution was permitted.
Ancient people valued Kama
And had seated it on the pedestal.

Anything about sex became bad
In the wake of cultural invasion
And the rise of fundamentalism.

Ripples in Space-Time are caused by black holes. And produce gravitational waves. Space-Time is a fabric these waves disturb. Massive acceleration of black holes Would disrupt Space-Time with ripples or waves. At the speed of light, these everlasting waves Would course the Universe with amplitude Diminishing as they travel distances. Space-Time is the Universal web That knit the Universe into one continuum. A conscious observer is the need For any event that has occurred. Effects tell the existence of causes. The Separation Looks Like Death.

On the shore when we were,
We were close, across the boat,
Visions of us not blurred.

Now the boat carries me east.
From my view you drift,
Fading in phase your face.

I have to lose you forever.
Reunion, revival and renewal
Out of sight, I can’t digest.

What one feels in death-bed,
I felt when I left you.

The Septic Tank

Receipt, Reaction and Response
Are the phenomena of life.

Receipt of stimuli from the environs;
Reaction in the mind and intellect;
Response produced from stimuli.

Mind is accumulation of experience;
Intellect is accumulation of knowledge.
Mind and intellect form a unit,
Where input is churned and output is made.

Good water comes out as dirty water
When the unit is a washing machine.
Dirty water comes as good water
When the unit is a septic tank.

One earned ‘a penny’
For every pound of rice sold
And the other ‘a sovereign’
For each horse, traded.
Who reaped a greater profit?
I am at a loss to know.
It depends on turnovers in a given time.
The one who earned in penny
Could in no way be behind,
With his turnover matching.
Petty services in multiples
Take one to Bliss as well.

The State Should Keep Away

Love for sex and love from compassion
Are the basic drives with which one is born.
Love for sex is meant for procreation.
Love from compassion is for caring the young ones.

Love for sex has branched into two levels,
Thanks to chastity and sexual taboos.
Love where mind and body meet to have sex.
Love where minds alone enjoy sexual love.

Love that is physical, emotional
Or from compassion releases energy,
Out of which immense pleasure is derived,
Resulting in sedative exhaustion.

Attractiveness across the gender
Is the cause of sexual desire in both,
Which leads to flirting and infatuation,
Where corporal union is not sought.

Love from compassion is the holiest.
Love from passion is the purest.
Love with mind and body is the fairest.
Love for body is harmless recreation.

No kind of love is ever lasting.
Love skipping for someone is not ruled out.
Visual sexual enjoyment is not bad.
The State should keep away from love arena.

The Stigma Of The Widowhood

When you strip a woman
Of her costumes and cosmetics
And clamp on her widowhood,
She might well turn to be
A mother, sister or daughter.
Doing it on an open yard
As a part of funeral
Is an injury inflicted
On a mother, sister or daughter.
Let her be free to do when
And let it be a private affair
What sanctity has it got
In the changed scenario,
Where widows are getting
Married as freely now?
Must she be bound with thali
And metti by the bridegroom
To be usurped in his death?
The stigma attached
To being a widow be torn.
Be she as free as a man
Before and after her marriage.
It is grace that man grants
Before woman demands.

The Strongest Emotion

Anger stops not and erupts unaware.
To block it and brew with it is destructive.
To divert it away is less harmful.
Finding an antidote to anger is good.

Anger like a spark in the straw can burn
To any extent or fetch anger in turn
To any extent, with unexpected
Damages. To be unprovoked is good.

Anger is the strongest emotion,

Anger will cloud one's reason and judgment.

Finds not that she thaws
Though she virtually takes side
In her stand to the tempting man.

To put on move the hour hand
Twelve times runs the minute hand.

Wedding was over;
Brought home was the bride,
With whom came a maid,
To serve her as an aid.

Days rolled;
As honey, appeared the bride;
As savour, moved about the maid,
As a rule, in a household.

Time lapsed;
The bride shed her charm
And the maid ruled calm
In their wait at the groom.

Event happened;
The groom went blasé
With the honey in use
And the savour was in wait for use.

Fate played;
The bride in the race ran first
But the maid ended first.
The bride was aghast.

It is a game;
The diminutive waxes;
The gigantic wanes
In the field of time.

The Time Heals And Peals

Love at first sight is a full moon;
It will wane in subsequent days.
No love at first sight is a new moon;
It will wax in subsequent days.

The one who appeals instantly
Will sure fade subsequently.
The one who lacks appeals early
Will gain acceptance in due course.

The Time Helps

A frame that stood the test of time
Stands as a monument.
A thing that stood the test of time
Stands as an antique.

Stands as a classic
A name that stood the test of time
Stands as a great.
There might be numerous
More valuable than them,
As casualties of accidents.

The Time Is Yama

A grandmother and her teenage daughter
Had been in my observation for sometimes.
The girl was in bloom like a green shoot.
The lady was with wrinkles like a dry bark.
I mused with pity for the lady
And valued with merit for the girl.
Once the lady must have been a green shoot.
One day, the girl would be a dry bark.
The time is the cruelest Yama, ha.

The Trend Of Marriage

He and she are lovers and in dating.
Neither to them is this, a maiden love.
They aren’t like Romeo and Juliet
To long or pine in the course of their love.

Falling in love is not one time affair.
Hooking up and breaking up grow common.
One is dating till one finds a new one
Or dating one with one more in the offing.

Boys and girls take light the relationships.
They come together as detachable
So that in case they part the company
They can do without damage from the parting.

Lads and lass later settle in marriage
With some ones they have not dated at all.
Tired of shifting love, they cling together,
With least thirst to stray ever after that.

Where there is fear, there will be no love.

The Valour Of Gambling

One bets on horses, another on cards,
The third one on stocks, thus they push their tides.
Nor for food do they wage for they are rich
It is ego’s urge that propels them to do.
They want to see their prediction come true,
And when they come true, they beam,
With bearing for failures in between.
Hunger for ego is stronger than
Hunger for love and hunger for bread.
The valour is sweet, with loss though.

The Value Of Morals

I know it is bad to tell lies
Yet I do as a face saving.
I resolve to bridle my tongue
Yet I let it go in right time.
I know it is a shame to steal
Yet I do if undetectable.
I vow I should not take revenge
But do so as to heal the wound.
I ought to burn the jealousy
But find it the fire that ignites.
I have learnt I must be honest
But practise when convenient.
I shall eschew all sins of sex
As long as I have no access.
I have guilt about adultery
But fall a prey to proximity.
What is the use of morals learnt
As they are slaves of instincts?

But doubt your undue faith in her virtues.

The Vital Essence

I stare at the placid Moon,
Who by no way is my own,
And love her womanly face,
By which she isn’t in disgrace.

I watch the twin moving Stars,
Who are afar from my bar,
And pursue well their sharp eyes,
By which they are not blurred.

I scale the Rainbow’s contour,
Who looks near, yet miles away,
And relish her tints of costume,
By which she is not stained.

I observe slow rattling Ducks,
Who I am in no mood to hug,
And enjoy their rhythmic tongue,
By which they are not ruffled.

I smell the tender Jasmine,
Which blossoms in other’s domain,
And sense the feminine perfume,
By which she is not dethroned.

I feel deep the soothing Breeze,
Which eludes my every embrace,
And absorb her sensuous touches,
By which she is not blemished.

I would see you too likewise,
Whom I have no plan to invade,
And am vitalized by your spell,
By which you won’t be in distress.

The Wrapper Has No Use

How fully wrapped you appear!
How wholly draped you are!
However, you are to me naked.
Your pallu round the lean arm
Hides from me your flat belly.
Your pallu thrown over shoulder,
Close to neck gives me a clue
How deep your cleavage beneath is.
Your pallu brought backward
Covers the blouse with bra cut.
Your pallu brought forward over shoulder encloses deep armpit,
And the dimple of elbow.
Your pallu never runs over the head,
Which gives me all the clue
How you will look where you’re hidden.
I can see your long face, long nape,
and long hair and long fingers,
By which I can sense your hidden parts.
However fully you are wrapped,
However wholly you are draped,
You are to me fully naked.
To my passion or to my acumen-
To which should the credit go?

You can shut to my eyes.
You cannot stop my eyes.

So is my wife to me.

Where let me strip you of your shyness

And pubes to be followed by tongue.

Thomas Hardy

Thomas Hardy wrote best about women,
Their passion, sentiments and attitude.
He equally sucked out of women,
Their energy and warmth in his own life.
Emma, his first wife, turned an object of pity.
Florence, the second, a young fan of his,
Turned an object of humiliation.
He understands women he invented.
And undermined women he dealt with.
He has glorified all his heroines
And mortified both women he married.
Content with the treatment to his heroines,
He felt no need to be so to his wives.
A lamp does not illuminate its base.

Those To Be Easier With

Who are those easier to be with?
Who are those i am at ease with?
Who do i look forward for chats?
Why does someone's presence soothe me?

Not that in some thoughts and beliefs
They are like me, i go to them.
Not that in some skills and talents
They are like me, I take to them.

They listen to me that i like.
They appreciate me that i like.
They are nonjudgmental that i like.
They're my well wishers that i like.

Am i such person to anyone?
No use of seeking such persons
Whom i can feel at comfort with
Unless i am one such person.

Thoughts Are Physical

Thoughts are formed while thinking takes place.
Not mere micro-electric impulses,
Or neuro-chemical energy,
Thoughts are matter, objective,
Physical made of molecules.
Thoughts form consuming energy.

Thought molecules formed in the brain,
With the help of hypothalamous,
Convert to amino acids
And are released to the blood stream,
Where they together with the thoughts
Trigger certain cell membranes.

Thoughts, that are intangible though,
Have a tangible effect on cells.
Conscious thought process is proactive.
Negative thoughts might alter
The cell molecular structure.
Trust and hopes is the antidote.

Three Channels (A)

Love and marriage are in a bracket.
Having sex is separate from them.
Emotions lead to love and marriage.
Carnal pleasure demands variety.

Sex can be had without prejudice to love.
Both are not counterproductive.
Marital happiness can sustain
When sex outside as a game entered.

A man goes to different strangers.
A woman gets different strangers.
No love, no affection; only passion.
No adultery; no more perversion.

She received that day three men on bed
And took them in, one in her anus,
One in her mouth and one in her part
And got locked in sex as four in one.

She satiated all the three alike
And got satiated unlike before.
All the four got the sensational end
When she received juice in her three channels.

Time and Space are two primary entities. Vedic and Tamil philosophies say. Out of Time and Space, which is ancient? It’s like of soul and body, which is the first?

They together form four dimensions. Space is objective and Time, subjective. Only Space has got special dimensions. Time is not independent of Space.

Time has two dimensions in human's view-
The horizontal and the vertical.
The clock will scale the time horizontal
And the mind will value the time vertical.

The horizontal is quantitative.
The summation of physical time
Available to one is termed as life.
One has no control over its function.

The vertical dimension is qualitative.
The moment of emotion determines it.
Pain & pleasure, joy & sorrow, love & hate
Hope & fear and fate & luck oscillate it.

Time is ephemeral in character.
It slips without any moment of pause.
It runs fast or walks slow as we take it.

To Allure, Need Not Be A Nude

The mere imprint of your bra belt
Beneath the tight-fit voile blouse
That I had scanned on your back,
While sitting behind you in a bus
Was so much to kindle my lust
That even a cabaret dancer at best
Can’t emulate with her naked breast.
Where is the validity of nudity?

The mere sight of your covered breast
That I stole from your robust chest
As you, to serve me tea, stooped,
With your sari end no sooner slipping
Than your hand upon it restoring,
Had so much current to conduct
Than could a girl, exposed in a bath suit.
Where is validity of nudity?

The mere sight of your knee made me mad
When you waded across a brook,
Lifting your sari to the raising water,
Your legs being visible up to knee,
The sight even a circus woman can’t beat,
With arms and thighs fully naked
And the body springy and supple.
Where is the validity of nudity?

No need of nudity
to produce acidity

Hunger blinds you; hatred blinds you.

But, for your passion and mute love
I loved you
Because you dared and braved to love
I loved you.
Because you were far and high from me
I loved you.
Because I found beneath you a spring
I loved you.
No matter if you proclaim it or not
I cease not loving you.

To Be Desire-Less Is Pleasure-Less

Dream is born of desire;

Desire is born of lust;

Lust is born of jealousy;

Insecurity is born of neglect;

Neglect is born of contempt;

To be good in sex,

To Be Longed For And To Long

Why must a woman flaunt her beauty,
Even after having secured her mate
If at all that was her strategy,
And why must she still pursue it
Though not at all to procure one,
And carry it past menopause
When her cyclic urge settles down?

Why must a man long for a woman,
Even after having hooked his mate
If at all that was his acumen,
And why must he still sustain it
Though not at all to replace the one,
And carry it past his menopause
When he is rendered as a straw?

To Dilute Divorce Law

Marriage is a defunct institution
Unless one of the partner accepts
Being unequal to the other.
Marriage is heading to be outdated.

Marriages have so far been successful
Because the woman partner accepted
Being unequal from their dependency
With the male partner as the bread winner.

Marriage is a social obligation.
Marriage is a legal compulsion.
To stay in marriage is more important
Than being happy in the marriage.

Partners, independent of each other,
Hardly find reasons to remain together.
It's time the need of marriage was gone through.
It's time the divorce law was diluted.

It's got a high rate of education;
It's known for a high female literacy.
It boasts for a progressive feminism.

Kerala sees more crimes against women
Than before and than the national average.
Modesty is outraged in all formats.
Violence in sex once rare is now rampant.

A sure sign of a liberal society
Is how its women are safe on the streets.
Working women feel unsafe to commute.
Kerala is losing its characters.

Virile bulls are stalking docile deer.

And set your preferences for vocation,

And exhale with left nostril.

With your thumb and ring finger
Alternatively to let breath.
Be the breath slow and deep.

Close both nostrils with your middle fingers,
Eyes with index fingers and ears with thumps
And gulp air to hold in buccal cavity
And release it as if blowing a balloon,
Slowly with a force from the filled mouth.

Do ten cycles minimum of each

The crowd dispersed without a word.

‘Father, forgive them.’ Said Jesus,
‘For they know not what they do.’,

At every fall of hammer

To Fresh Up The Brain

Human body is a pair of scissors.
Left brain and right brain function as handles.
Left and right sides of the body act as blades.
Brain sides operate opposite portions.

Left lobe operates right hand and right leg.
Right lobe operates left hand and left leg.
Breath through left nostril activates right brain.
Breath through right nostril activates left brain.

Inhale through left nose slowly and deeply,
Hold the breath and leave it through left nostril.
Do the same process through the right nostril.
Breathe through each nostril not less than ten times.

Inhale by left, hold and exhale by right.
Inhale by right, hold and exhale by left
This is a cycle; do ten cycles least.
Be exhale time twice that of inhaling.

Left hand at work, right brain spends energy.
Right nose at breath, left brain gains energy.
By deep breathing, the brain is pacified.
Anxiety is removed; so is the stress.

By doing this, you keep equilibrium
Of the body and the function of the brain.
The sedative feeling you experience
Will shed greed, anger and jealousy.

Is giving a birth unloading or bearing?
Is getting a birth gaining or suffering?

One might want to avoid giving birth,
For the burden that comes from happiness.

though true it might be.

No woman will show

Opaque may be her clues.

You have to elicit it.

More is she reserved
if she happens to be

To requite love for love
she is not fear-free.
She cannot be so.

The love you made of her is as hard as making thread out of a stone.

You want to preserve
your love as believable.
You seek from her proof.

The proof must not weaken

It’s her fear-born concern.
What is the consolation

stayed the stunted bud.

Life stays by burning the food.
Ego stands by swaying others.
Where is fire if there is no fuel?
Where is life if there is no food?
Where is ego if there is no second person?

Ego keeps you and propels you.
Ego spares you and rescues you.
Its action is gaining power,
With which only it’s effective.
To beat or evade the rivals,
To snatch or catch for livelihood,
And to corner and keep sex mates,
The ego seeks to have power.
The ego keeps you viable
To fight to get or possess.

To get power is of instincts
That manifests in child’s action.
Playing toys, it manipulates them.
Fighting pears, it finds its strength.
Fighting foes, it asserts its right.
To imitate is to feel high.
To cry is to get back the lost.
To explore is to train its skill.
Loving mother is feeling safe.
Fearing is guarding the self.

Every act done, right or wrong,
Every skill learnt, good or bad,
Every show made, worth or worse,
Are all towards gaining a hold.,
Be it an act of friendliness,
Where you seek to spread influence,
Or an act of love and courtship,
Where you strive for an acceptance
Or of service and sacrifice,
Where you reserve ground for future.

Sports are the substitutes of fight,
Where you test your killing spirit.
Indoor games are mental conquests.
To forgive, forget and patch up
Is to have eyes on the future.
To surrender to the might
Is to be a part of the might.
The poorest of the poor
And the richest of the rich
Would find their way to stand afloat.
To kill ego is to kill the self.

To Kill Restlessness

Whom can you trust? Whom can you blindly trust?
If not a mother, a wife or a father
Or a daughter or a son, then whom?
Can one live then in the state of distrust?

Trust is a natural survival instinct
Of humans and as much of all mammals.
Animals herd together to be safe.
Humans too feel more secure in groups.

Man deviates from this phenomenon
Even with in his family to his peril.
Be trustworthy to inmates at all cost.
You can’t live in a state of restlessness.

Your inmates must be such that you trust them
Blindly, assuredly and voluntarily.
You must be such that to them in turn.
Then see how in rest your mind is seated.

You must know all about the people around,
Of the days gone by- who have traversed,
Of the paths you tread- who have erected,
The temples and the public places you use,
Whose hands were the cause for the fruits you eat,
And what bygone scenes of love, jealousy,
Revenge, treachery have been enacted
In the huts, the forts, the streets and the fields.
You must know the past and the people
As you expect to be known by days to come.

To Learn From The Mythology

Moses led his people from their captivity
In Egypt to the God’s land for safety.
Moses ascended Mount Sinai to get
The Ten Commandments in tablets from God.

His return delayed, his people got confused.
They made a god of gold in the form of a calf
And were around It when Moses returned.
Disgusted, he broke the set of tablets.

God was unhappy; Moses pleaded for them.
He ascended Mount Sinai once again
And brought from the God a set of tablets
With the Ten Commandments inscribed in them.

Along with the second unbroken set
Of tablets, the first shattered set also
Were stored in the Ark of the Covenant,
Which gives a message about brokenness.

Burying our sin, burying our wrongs
Would serve us nothing good in a long run.
Let us have the whole and the broken of us
Side by side as a reminder to guide.

To Not To Waste Life

Man to explore; woman to be explored.
The eagerness with which he explores her
Determines satisfactions that both get.
Strangeness between them plays a vital role.

Familiarity sets in due course,
With his eagerness to reach her drooping
And her thirst for sex lacks exploration.
This happens to all middle aged couples.

Dictated by the culture they are in,
They sublimate their sexual energies
In child rearing, works and entertainments.
Some fantasize to answer their libidos.

Eagerness existing in sexual acts
Ensures harmony in family life.
Monotony experienced in sex
Is reflected in the family bond.

Having started to separate sex off love,
Husband and wife mutually get privacy
And seek pleasure from contacts outside
Or swap their spouses with the connivance.

Every call she answered
And kept you enthused.

You had been in her land.

In the time of the Prophet and Abu Bakr,
Uttering the word Talaq three times
In one sitting for divorce was in vogue.
However, it was not settled in one instant.

Pronouncing talaq three times in one go
Was endorsed by Umar Farug later.
Ibn Taymiyyah didn't favour in one go.
But only a section followed his fatwa.

Be it that Umar's decision is not ijma
And that that of Ibn Taymiyyah is too.
The decisions of both are executive orders.
Banning the practice will not fringe ijma.

By banning the instant talaq practice,
Muslim women in India would be freed.
With that they should be safeguarded in full

To Wander, Missing The Goal

The king had a halt to pass out the night.
The charioteer had to guard the horse
For which he must not sleep through out the night.
The king suggested thinking on something.

The king woke up a few hours later and
Found him awake thinking about something.
Questioned, he told he was counting the stars.
Complimenting him, the king went to sleep.

The king woke up after a few hours and
Found him awake with something in mind.
Asked, he said that he was watching the clouds.
Patting on his back, the king went to sleep.

The king woke up in the early hour and Found him still awake and felt quite assured.
'I was thinking if the horse left itself
Or someone chased it.', he said candidly.

Travel Back.

Till I saw that cinema, very old,
It didn’t come to my mind that I’d seen it.
I could recollect the tune and some lines
Of the song and the actress I had liked then.

Many such sweet memories once experienced
Can be experienced anew if revisited.
An experience beyond recollection
Is as good as a nonexistent one.

Towards the end, travel back to visit.

Who had created the God as the first?
There's always a problem with a beginning,
A puzzle human minds cannot solve.

Tristan And Isolde

A high tale of Love and of Death is here
Of the knight Tristan and the queen Isolde;
To their full joy and to their sorrow too,
They loved each other and died together.1

"Little son! I've longed a while to see you,
And now I see you the fairest thing born.
In sadness came I hither, in sadness
Did I bring forth, and in sadness has gone
Your first feast day. And as by sadness
You came into the world your name shall be Tristan; that is the child of sadness, ho"
Said Blanchefleur, sister of King Mark, Cornwall. 2

Then she kissed him and soon after died.
She was left behind by her husband
On his way to wage his war and was killed
By Duke Morgan. Marshal Rohalt brought up the child that grew well in fight and music.
Fate made Tristan reach King Mark through huntsmen.
Tristan took the harp and played it to Mark,
Who was pleased and took him as his liege.3

Marshall Rohalt introduced to King Mark,
Tristan as his sister's son much later.
The king of Ireland sent a champion
Morholt to demand tribute from Cornwall.
'Lord King, by your leave I will do battle.'
Tristan fought Morholt in single combat
And killed him, whose wound bore his sword's piece.
Morholt too wounded Tristan, his wound bleeding.4

No doctors could heal and he lost all hope.
He allowed himself to drift in a boat
Across the sea and in a week got the shore.
It was the same place where Morholt lay
And their lady was Isolde the Fair,
Who alone could save Tristan but wished him dead
When she discovered that he only killed Morholt,
But yet took pity and made him recover.

Anguish, King of Ireland, offered his daughter
In marriage to any knight who would slay
The fearsome dragon that was tormenting.
Tristan accepted the challenge not for himself
But for his uncle King Mark and killed it.
Isolde was coaxed by her father King Anguish
To go with Tristan to marry King Mark.
She set off with Tristan for Cornwall.

Isolde's mother had prepared for Isolde
To share with Mark a potion; they who drink
Of it together love each other forever
In life and day in the voyage
Triston and Isolde were served the potion
By the maid for their thirst, thinking it wine.
They were drawn close and he planted the first kiss.
Tristan and Isolde consummated their love.

'Yet she is hopelessly in love with him
The King's Nephew, knight and heir to his kingdom!
Forlornly she walks... her ermine and velvet
Cloak gathering the remnants of broken shells.
Oh God! She is sick from love... ravished by it!
Tristan's scent, the taste of his lips upon
Her tongue, a remembered touch... Oh God!
She'd swoon if she recalled more of him.'

When they arrived in Cornwall, Branwen, her aid,
Was introduced as Isolde and taken in marriage
To King Mark. The threesome managed to fool King Mark for some time but Mark found it out.
He challenged his nephew to a duel.
His nephew willingly lost in the duel.
As the treason should not go unpunished,
Tristan was sentenced to banishment, not death.

Tristan began a new life in a new land,
But remained faithful to Isolde for some time
After a time, he met a beautiful woman who also bore the name Isolde, of the white hands.
He married her but never forgot his Isolde.
In a fight with six men to rescue a woman,
He got brutally wounded and sounded his wife
That only queen Isolde could cure his wounds.9

His wife's brother was entrusted with the job.
Tristan asked him to use white sales upon return
if King Mark released Isolde for this voyage,
And black sales if he did not. He agreed.
Moved by affection, Mark sent him his wife.
Not to lose him to his old love, Tristan's wife lied
That the sail was black. Hearing it, Tristan died.
Arriving late, Isolde collapsed and died.10

(This story was much circulated during 12th century, with different versions.
Romeo and Juliet of Shakespeare must have been inspired by this episode with a background of history as far back as 7th century.)

Two In A Tower

Viviette, Lady Constantine, tender
Even at her thirty, was a splendour.
Her husband had no time to engage her
As with other women he was merrier.

The tender vine lady, stake less, wandered
And, on a lad in a tower, stumbled.
She endeared the lad to explore her
While he was there to explore stars elsewhere.

Her age and dignity held Swithin.
His age and purity held Viviette.
Death of her husband rescued her from guilt;
Warmth of her lover was free to travel.

The Bishop, a widower, was enchanted
With the company of Lady Constantine,
And was desperate to secure her hand,
Her young widowhood taken for granted.

Viviette had loved Swithin for her shake
And more for his shake; she subjected her
Self-love to his benevolence, and made
Her motherly love shade her sexual love.

She coerced him to set out for his future
And forced herself to desert his gesture.
She made herself marry the widower
To be father for her expecting child.

Viviette again became a widow
And for Swithis’ return, she stood in glow.
The joy of reunion took her life;
The child got him, the bona fide father.

Her first husband deserted her
Her lover could not marry her.
Her second one is not her choice.
She thanked her lover with a child.
“tis in the mercy of her eye
If poor love shall live or die;
A silver line is her child,
In her life, full of cloud.”

Two Opposite Poles

Spaciousness of sky while in sail
And compactness of a car on road,
Multitudes in town and solitude in bedroom,
Richness of tower and humbleness of hut,
Sturdiness of floor and softness of woman’s flesh,
Freeness of valley and restriction of classroom,
Freshness of flower and coldness of toddy, and
Command of leader and request of invalids
All are two extremes. Yet, I enjoy both. 10.07.2001, Pkg

Two Opposite Things

Man cannot conceive like woman.
Is he equal to woman?
Woman will not rape as man does.
Is she equal to man?
Man is plus and woman, minus.
They aren’t equal.
Man is a positive and woman, a negative.
They aren’t equal.
Equality is not the need of the hour.

Two Types Of Love

Two types of love man is longing for.
To love someone by a surrender.
It can be a mother or a God.
To love someone from sexual urge.
It can be a wife or a beloved.
By both ways one feel secure,
By holding above and footing below.

The more insecure one is
The more greedy and selfish
Or the more mean or possessive

To feel secure, as a child
One must adequately be Held, hugged and nestled
By its mother for two years.

Her palms on its head sooth it
And give a secure feeling,
Which determines its aptitude.
Grant a long maternity leave.

I can’t spell it out
So I say you’re nice
In your clothes and jewels.

I long for your love.
To get it, I love
Everything you love
More than you do love,
And explicitly.

I cannot please you
With cares and words
So I shower them
On your children
And see your eyes’ nod.

I cannot reach you
So I reach your kids
Taking them on arms
Or holding by hand
And see your lip’s stretch.

You have approved of
All my acts and deeds
Fully knowingly.
It is quite enough;
I feel we’ve joined

Let it continue
Till it continues,
As by it we’re fed
With the food of sex
That kept hormones in spate.

Urvashi, The Nymph

Urvashi is a celestial nymph
In Indra's court and was held to be
The most beautiful of all apsaras.
She is perennially youthful
And infinitely charming and yet elusive.
She is a source as much of delight as of dolour.
Sage Nara-Narayana struck his thigh
And created Urvashi the most beautiful.

Pururava was the first king of the Lunar dynasty.
He is associated with the Surya (Sun)
And Usha (the Dawn) and had his abode
In the middle region of the cosmos.
He was born as the son of Budha and Illa.
He was made the sovereign of the whole earth.
The Asuras were his followers and the Devas, his friends.

Urvashi with other nymphs was returning
From the palace of Kuber on Mount Kailash;
She was assaulted by Demon Keshin,
Who abducted her and nymph Chitrelekha.
Responding to the loud wail, help, help,
From a group of apsaras, King Pururava,
Then on his chariot in the air, rescued
Urvashi and Chitrelekha to their delight.

Urvashi for the first time heard the heartbeat of a mortal when carried in the chariot;
Their physical proximity, though short,
Ignited the passions of King Pururava.
'From the chariot jolt my shoulder brushed
The shoulder of this nymph with hips like bows.
The touch of our bodies made my hair stand on end
As if the God of love had sprouted within me.'

Practicing monogamy, can he love her?
Being celestial, can she love him the mortal?
Leaving her heart, she returned to the heaven.
Preoccupied by her love for Pururavas,
Urvashi uttered his name in answer
To a question about her choice of her husband
Which should be Purusottama as per script
In a dance drama in Indra's court.

This invoked the wrath of the sage Bharat.
He cursed her that the man who was in her mind
Would come to her life and bear him a child.
The moment the father would see his child
She would have to return to the heavens.
She sent her friend Chitralekha to find out
Whether Pururava reciprocated her love
In the garden of 'Gandh Madan'. He was love struck.

'She doesn't know the ceaseless pain in my heart;
She may know it by magic and scorns me.'
He said to himself that Urvashi overheard
Being invisible to him and melted for him.
Because of him, she was banished from heaven.
Because of her, he forgot his queen, Ausinari,
Urvashi and Pururava united,
And lived in the garden of 'Gandh Madan'.

The king was watching a sylph on the bank
Of a river, that irritated Urvashi.
His appeasement of her was of no avail
And she slipped into the grove of Kumara,
Son of Siva, where woman is forbidden.
She was transformed into a creeper soon.
The king went mad searching for his beloved
In the grove, passing many days and nights.

'Peacock, I beg you to tell me this thing:
While roaming grove did you see my love?
Listen! A wild goose gait and a face like the moon-
By the sign that I've told you, you'll know her.'
'Cuckoo, sweetly chattering, tell me
If you've seen her in Indra's paradise garden.'
'Goose, if you didn't see my curve-browed love
How have you copied the gait of her walk? '

'Ruddy drake, were you splashing in the lake.
Tell me' you didn't see her splashing in the lake,
'Bee, you'd say that her eyes are bewitching
But you cannot have seen my love's body-
Had you tasted the honeyed perfume of her sighs
You'd have found no pleasure in this lotus.'
'Elephant, did you see my love as she passed
In this grove? The moon with scars can't match her.'

'Lord of every earth-bearing mountain,
Have you seen the woman I deserted,
A nymph, a beauty in every limb,
Dwelling on the edge of your lovely grove? '
'Crookedly the river surges forward
Roiling in the wake of my neglect-
Surely this is the jealous Urvashi
Transferred into a raging river.'

'Deer, have you seen my love in the grove?
I will tell you the mark that betrays her-
As she softly blinks her large brown eyes,
My blessed love has the look of your doe.'
Some omniscient sage took pity on the king
And said about the gem he found on the rock,
'The man who wears this jewel accomplishes
Instant reunion with his beloved.'

Pururava spotted the creeper there
And embraced it, wearing the gem, to see
Urvashi enter, stepping into the creeper.
Her emergence appeased his soul and body.
'Peacock, cuckoo, goose, ruddy drake,
Bee, elephant, mountain, river, deer-
While wandering, weeping in the forest
Was there anyone I did not ask about you? '

For the first time Urvashi went on to live
In the royal palace. She never parted with
The jewel there on. Sixteen years passed.
One day Urvashi was taking a bath
In the palace pond; a crow dived over
Urvashi's jewel and carried it to the sky
In its beak. This was the jewel Pururava had rescued Urvashi with in the grove.

The chased crow fell in the courtyard on its own.
The guards fetched it and an arrow that killed it.
Pururava read the name etched on it,
"Ayu, the son of Pururava and Urvashi."
He summoned the youth who was his replica.
Ayu's guardian sages broke the truth to him.
'When the king sees his child, she must return
So, she postponed it by keeping the child away.'

Urvashi entered and acknowledged the truth.
'I was afraid of being separated
From you so as soon as he was born I did
That he was brought up away in a hermitage
So that your seeing your son, which is linked
To my departure to Indra in heaven,
Could be postponed and our living prolonged.
She had kept her conceiving invisible.

It was a time of gain and loss for the king.
He gained an heir but lost his beloved wife.
Urvashi tearfully bid him farewell
And left for the heavens. The king resigned.
He crowned Ayu the next king and took refuge
In Gandh Madan. It was where he had spent
His best years with Urvashi as lovers.
The sufferings of lovers never go in vain

Vacuum And The Field

Electrons, the elementary particles,
Are identical all over the earth.
The amount of the mass and electronic change
Are all same in the natural or otherwise.

Empty space devoid of any matter
Is vacuum but vacuum is not empty.
It is the seat of all dynamism,
Which is possible due to quantum fields.

A field is a physical property
Of space itself and space cannot exist
Without a field. The property of the field
Is that it keeps the fidelity same all time.

What keeps the fidelity of the fields
Intact for all time when they fluctuate?
The self interacting of the fields
Is the cause of universal coherence.

The vacuum, the quantum field, electronics
And matter are all the very oneness,
Which is Brahman, universal consciousness-
Creator and the created included.

Her husband is dead.
Tragic or pleasing news!
That too in a car accident.
She was my love five decades back.
Our sojourn was a month
In her village where I chanced to stay.
Loveliness and gracefulness
Combined, she was a lotus.
No wonder, I loved her.
It is wonder, she loved me.
She loved me more
Than I loved her, the poor.
Her love was pure and genuine.
My love was daring and fast.
Our eyes crossed and then talked.
Our lips talked and then touched.
It is the virgin love for the both.
She sanctioned my visit once
To her house and to the room
Where we were closeted.
She believed me to such extent
That she conceded to be undraped
And surrendered to my trust.
Too tender in age, I deserted her.
It took three decade for me
To trace her and meet her.
Then she was not a lotus
But reminded me of a cactus,
Aging being prominent.

Now she is a widow.
I am not a widower.
Otherwise, I would have wiped
The sin I committed to her.

He and she fell in love at seventeen.
It was their maiden love and maiden kiss.
Such a graceful girl he hadn’t seen before.
She fell for him in a total surrender.

An oval face, yellowish skin so soft,
A smart walk, intelligent talks so sweet,
And a simplicity turned modernity,
She made him her slave to become his slave.

Seven years later, they married severally,
In the same year, unknown to each other.
She went out of trace and out of pursuit.
Twenty two years off, he’d an itch for her.

As a detective, he located her,
By when she was a mother of four kids,
A girl and a boy yet to be married.
Revival of contact was established.

At sixty six she lost her husband killed
In a car accident, and her widowhood
Didn’t encourage shortening my distance.
Later she fell to a kidney failure.

She died at her home at her seventy four.
A light that kept him on constant focus
With delight and regret was off yesterday.
He felt he’s a widower at her death.

Her mother was the only eye witness
To the episode and no one else since then.
The episode was unborn to her spouse
Or any later; be it so forever.

She herself that day called me up,
That she never did hitherto.
She got my number from one,
Being her confident and my friend.

Given to know about my health
Affected by deadly cancer,
She was tempted to contact me
Which she never thought of doing before.

She was at ease as much as she was
During our sojourn of love
Enacted when we were sixteen,
About fifty seven years ago.

I gathered courage that I couldn't
In earlier opportunities
To confirm the news that was gnawing
At me all fifty seven years.

'She fell into well from love failure',
The next day after we were caught
Red handed in her room by mother,
Was the news I heard when I left.

She confirmed it as true in a tone
To show me how deep she was hit
By the failure I inflicted.
Her suicidal attempt put me dry.

She consented to my offer
Of visiting her in her abode,
Which she's never encouraged so far.
It shows she couldn't put down her urge.

The spark of love I ignited
In her as a maiden love has stayed
In her for the past forty years
Of family and her widowhood.
She is a widow but I am not.
Even if I were a widower,
We cannot reunite by body,
In front of our descendants.

It took place about three years ago.
Now she is free of encumbrances.
Hence I could talk to her as freely as
I did fifty two years back in her village
Where I met her, where we fell for each other.
I managed to get her phone number.

The last meeting of us was in her house
With her spouse, some twenty years ago.
She has married seven years after
Our episode, in the year I married,
Both being unaware of each other.
I saw her there after thirty two years
By when a lemon skinned beauty queen
Has turned into a dry skinned wrinkles.

I got her over phone and shared her grief.
She was upset, implying her bond with him.
She declined my offer of any meeting,
However incidental it might be.
‘Let us forget ours as a child game
With no renewal at this stage and age’
She said. Anxiety driven, she enquired
About me and family and my life.

Now she is seventy and weak as she told.
She is as old as me who am still robust.
It means we both were sweet seventeen
When we loved each other that went to Being together with clothes stripped of
In her bolted room with a resolution
To elope, till we were caught red handed.

Visalakshithethe End

On a visit to that tiny village,
Whose name is always romantic to me,
I relocated the house to my thrill
After the lapse of sixty long years.

The girl of this house was my maiden love.
The love that blossomed was just a month old.
In the first visit she entertained me
With warmth that culminated in kisses.

In the last visit we were closeted
With the freedom of being without clothes.
She gave me herself governed by the trust
And yet refused to lose virginity.

We were in the small floor led by a flight
Of stairs bound by doors from the verandas
That encircled an openyard inside the house.
The cell had a window throwing light on us.

Intimate chats took us for many plans
Till the stair door was knocked at to our shock
And we were caught red handed by her mother.
Her mother let me have a quick exit.

Next day i was sent to my native village.
The same day morning she fell into the well
And was rescued, i came to know later.
Both were seventeen then, i knew far later.

Seven years later in the same year
Both were married severally
Without knowing by either of of us.
I met her in her house thirty years after.

She died as a widow from kidney failure.
Till her death she was cautious at all cost
That her children get no iota of doubt
About our relation by keeping me out.

Vision Ever

I shall see you by daylight,
If not, by moonlight,
If not, by star-light,
If not, under the roof by lamp,
Or at least by a candle,
And none coming to my rescue,
In my own dream,
Which none can usurp.
To me you’re never shut.

We’re Not Apart

You and I by fate
Now fell apart,
With rendezvous
Becoming rare or never.

If I needed you
Would you come to me
For to soothe my pain?
May not. You are tied.
If you needed me
I would come to you
All along from anywhere,
Even risking my pride,
For to soothe your pain.

Still if I needed you
Would you send me
At least kind words
For to dress my wounds?
Doubtful! You’re afraid.
If you needed me
I would come to you,
Even braving the storm,
For to dress your wounds.

Still if I needed you
Would you call me,
The least, with queries,
For to cure my ills.
Perhaps! You are shy.
If you needed me
I would come to you,
Even staking my life,
For to cure your ills.

For not to come to me,
To soothe me, to dress me
Or to cure me is not
To have no love, no heart
Or no soul for me.
I know pretty, dear.
You are the cause;
You are the balm;
For my every spasm.

Tear the fear, my dear.

Wealth In Atharva Veda

Money gives
Independence, ownership and security.
Money buys
Needs, comforts and luxuries.
Money breeds
Arrogance, greediness and crookedness.
Money
Money dampens
Compassion, friendliness and relations.
Money comes from
Works, business, inheritance and fraud.
Money cannot replace
Food, water and air.
Money cannot buy
Love, sleep and health.
Money is
On paper, on value and imaginary.

Learn what Atharva Veda says on wealth:

Keep away from me that wealth
Which brings about my fall
And results in my defame,
Which entangles me
From all directions
And withers me like a parasite plant
That withers away the supporting tree.
Bless me with that wealth
Which gives peace and joy.

Wealth Is Not The Tool Of Love.

With wealth,
You can buy a dog,
With it, can you, its tail?
Showing wealth,
Woo not a woman.
It makes her poor.

Mind,
If you adjust to a set
You cannot adjust it.
If you move to bend to one
You cannot bend the one.

See,
You find a way
Or you make a way,
Otherwise, sooner
You are out of way.

Recall,
Only for two things
Do you worry:
To get is the one.
To get rid of, the other.

Weed The Greed.

We earn for the need, beyond the need
And more than the need that we increase.
We earn for rainy days and raise wealth
For many generations to fall on.

Greed is the basic instinct like sex.
Modern economy fuels it.
Luxury and vanity demand it.
Honesty and ethics are buried.

Ceiling on the salary is the need.
Ceiling on the properties is the need.
To treat the greedy with due contempt
Must be the goal of the society.

A bath in a river is soothing to your skin.

So the well has no reason to fear the river.

The one who swims in a river

Philosophy is knowing existence

Western philosophy comes from Greek thoughts.
Indian philosophy comes from Vedas.

Socrates' philosophy deals with human
Whereas the Indian's deal with divine.
Western philosophy is off religions.
Indian ones are blending with religions.

Christian theology is not philosophy
But Upanishads are philosophy.
Christians are to have come from Palestine
While Western Philosophy is from Greece.

Western philosophy philosophies
Only on waking state of consciousness
Unlike Indian philosophy which speaks
From the state of waking, dreaming and sleep.

Western philosophy speaks on ethics;
It sharpens one's faculties and awakens.
Eastern philosophy speaks on virtues.
It refines one's consciousness and enlightens.

Coyness, swiftness and smartness

To attain wisdom, remove things everyday.'

True knowledge expands
By reflection, observation and introspection.
'Compassion, frugality and humility

From doing something significant,

And mustering courage when called for.

But will tell how to respond to it.

To marriage, to be tried as a rape?

Sex has been yoked to marriage by culture
And outside sex is a stigma to women.
Now sexual autonomy is available to them.
She can live in a live-in relationship.

Breach of to promise is no rape;
Failure of marriage is no rape.
Divorce of marriage is no rape.
Sex by force or threat alone is rape.

To try a man for rape for failure
Of marriage following consensual sex
With a knowledgeable woman is bad.
The rape charge is a last stab of justice.

What Is Real Charity?

A beggar came to me and begged.
I offered food that he declined.
I offered clothes that he declined.
I offered coins to be declined.

Puzzled, I asked him, "What else would you prefer to receive from me? "
He asked for my lust and greed.
He asked for my fake and jealousy.

I then sent him empty handed.
Nor did I know that it was God who had come to me in disguise.
Is what we give a charity?

What Is Real?

A velveteen rabbit, a Christmas gift,
Had been real to the child for an hour
Till he dropped it for an electronic toy
Presented to him by another guest.

The child played it as if it was Real.
A stone is a god when it is believed.
An art is real when it is endeared.
You are real to one you are loved by.

It's what happens to you that makes you real.
It's not what you are that makes you real.
You are real to one who loves or trusts you.
Love and trust do not come without a cost.

What Woman Sees In Man.

A woman is sharp to find man on bed,
Which others will fail to notice at all
And which man himself is not aware of.

The way you appear naked tells me a lot -
The chest leading to belly, to pelvic,
To thighs and to the back and their firmness.

The way you smell in close tells me a lot -
The body odour, the sweat emitting,
The freshness, the very breath and perfume.

How you weigh while on me matters a lot.
The more you weigh the more I love to lie.
The weight pivots me and makes me feel light.

The way your tongue employs mine matters a lot.
How it tastes, how it draws mine and responds
And how it takes charge of my bosom.

The way your fingers play on me matters-
Their dexterity in running over me
And their cleverness to catch my response.

The way you thrust in the heat of moment-
The intensity of it, the gravity of it
And the ability of the sustenance.

All things I notice and observe in you
Get registered in my brain and comes out
When I am alone in muse with eyes shut.

Are the fundamentals of matter
That the existing space houses
Along with time, to be the Universe.
The universe is nothing but
Subatomic particles and
The intervening space together.
Space and time are thus ancient.

The most fundamental units
And the most primitive entities
Seem to be only space and time
Held together as four dimensions.
Space and time must be absolute,
Which they are not as is confirmed
By the Einstein Relative Theories.
Space and time are not absolute.

Anything which changes with respect
To circumstances is not reality
According to the Vedic axiom.
Then space and time aren’t realities,
Beyond which nothing is to perceive.
There is nothing which’s absolute
To be considered as Supreme.
Where is God, the true reality?

Where Is Virgin Bride?

The concept of bride and her virtue
Over the time is diluted.
Be her mind as virgin.
Be her heart as virgin.
Be love not leading to courtship.
Be courtship not leading to contact.
Be contact not leading to touches.
Be touches not polluting corporally.
Be she just spoilt in bed.
Be she utmost unfertilized.
Be she without mother hood.
Be she not at any cost a whore.
Be she to ensure her chills as mine.

Delivered and moulded by my mother,

Who, delivered and moulded by mother,

From the memory line of the family.

And of father behind it to the world.
Let me have the names of the grand mothers
And grandfathers on both sides in record.

Wherefore Is Dharma?

Dharma is a Sanskrit word, ancient,
With no common root word, unlike many,
In the archaic Indo-European languages,
And has exclusive Indic origin.

In Rig Veda, Dharma is used to mean
Something foundational to rituals.
In Manu Shastra, Dharma is handled
To refer to people's code of conduct.

In the Ramayana, Dharma refers
To human character forming virtue.
In the Mahabharata, Dharma holds
As the one that precedes power and wealth.

Dharma is foundational principle
Of the world and Life according to Buddha.
Dharma means the principles of movement and Adharma means Stillness from Jainism.

Kautilya states Dharma is humanity,
Which will suffer without a just king.
Its translation in Greek is 'eusebeia':
Religious behavior to keep God happy.

Republic of India records Dharma
As religion in true sense as it is.
Dharma in a nut shell can be defined
As the righteous human character.

He must have come from this barrack,
The desert of moustaches and uniforms
And parched skins of soldiers.

The Sahara of women-less.

With surging melancholic romance.

Lust is the root of love.
With out woman where is love?
No woman in sight, we are in hell.
We dry. Glands dry. So does our heart.

Who Is My God?

At a new moon in the jungle
Was brought to an altar
A roaring goat, fully black,

By an awesome peasant
To the fearsome Kali,
Made of granite, red in cloak,

Under arbour of a peepul,
Who before stood
At dawn of death, the poor goat

Like a bull in a fight,
Arresting the attention
Of everyone, unknown of his fate.

The beast was put to rites,
Smeared with sandal paste
And fully drenched in water

Till he shivered a jerk,
Which was taken as token of nod
By grace of Goddess for her feast.

The peasant was pleased;
The priest was pleased;
So were all, as though they’re blest.

One held his hind-legs,
Stretching them well behind,
The other bending up his front one,

The third locking his head
Hard onto the altar
For the priest to accomplish.

The act was done at a stroke
By the learned priest, merciless,
For the Goddess, all merciful.
Many-wards squirted the blood
Like a carpet, red,
Before the Goddess, her tongue dripping.

All felt that they had met
The thirst of Ma, full
As did a mother her child, ere asking.

The agony that was undergone,
Murder they committed,
And pathos that prevailed, who noticed?

The beheaded beast went straight,
To the feet of the Goddess,
“Ma, am I not your child?

If not, who is my Mother? ”
Her lids dripped,
She cursed for having been chiseled

Why Do Women Turn Away?

Most of women would turn away
From a man’s advance for reasons:
Concern for family members,
Fear of being thrown out by members,
Desolation built up from grief,
Absence of opportunities,
Proposition being an insult,
Indecision of man’s motive,
His intention being too blatant,
Doubts of his holding secrets,
Suspicions that he’s not serious,
Diffidence that he’s too grand,
He taken as a brother,
He being too large or too small,
And too urbane or too dull,
Reulsion that he has no sense of time,
Lack of respect in his status,
Contempt about his sensitiveness,
Sympathy that he may land in trouble, disgust at her bodily wanting,
Scorn the he has gone gray,
Doubt that he is his husband’s spy
And the last as she values virtue.

Why Is Sexual Harassment?

Man pursues and woman eludes in love.
Man advances and woman slips in love.
If she resents him, he must stop with that,
Failing which, she can run away from him,
And put such nuisance under the carpet,
Fearing disgrace to her and her family,
Or can shame him by exposing his acts.
Man is hungry yet to follow woman.

Stalking woman comes from perversion.
Perversion comes from starvation.
Starvation comes from deprivation.
Deprivation comes from stigmatization.
Stigmatization comes from sexual taboos.
Sexual taboos come from patriarchy.
Consensual sex must gain acceptance.

Why Is Sexual Harassment? (India)

Man by nature is polygamous.
He made woman chaste to get his heir.
To meet his polygamy desire
He married or kept many women,
And let women to be harlots
With dignity to address seekers.
Wives were house bound with no proximity
To men indoor or in public places,
Ensuring well women's fidelity.
There were no rapes, no molestation,
No incest relation and no sort
Of any sexual harassment to women.
No honour killing and no moral police
To chase pairs in consensual love.
Women were safe; men weren't pervert
With their libido finding moral outlet.

Such systems have been abolished.
No more harlots; no more multi wives;
Proximity is high; contacts are easy.
Police are sadists; State is stringent.
Porn is banned; man is driven to the wall.
It was news that at midnight a man went
Desperately to a transgender for sex.

A husband is, as it should be, the first
Immigrant of his wife’s flesh.
He believes, as it should be, to be the only migrant to her soul.
A prowling lion in him dies as she turns a stone flower.
When he strokes her chin, his mind wanders elsewhere.
When he disturbs her morning sleep it is for his bed-coffee.
He treats her the way a seasoned priest does the idol.
She is not a deer to a lion, to lie as soulless, listless.
Maybe some prowling lion would step in to plunder her.

Ask her why she takes a libertine,
Whether his are palms or claws,
Whether his fingers fork or hoe, how she,
A mouse, bears him, a lion.
To assuage the world and herself that she is
Not a stone flower, she does so.

To lift a kite above the ground
There must be, close to the ground,

Winter Is Cold

Books in volumes are still unread;
Movies in reams are still unseen;
Places in tones are there un-trodden.
What, if I miss like one? Resigned.

People sought after are left behind;
Women won over are comets burnt;
Things got with a crush are snake-skin casts.
What, if I leave like one? Resigned.

Knowledge bought and got went to rust;
Skills learnt and stored are mere waste;
Goodwill sown and grown were left behind.
What, if I skip like one? Resigned.

Desires recede; no hunger stays.
Value retreats; no regret rests.
‘I count’ tires; depression dies.
Obsession-less is blissfulness.

With greed at naught, no appeasement;
With needs at ebbs, no need to beg;
All seem alike, I take no side.
Obligation-less is bliss state

Once calves bullied; now I dare bulls.
Beggars were seers, seers now beggars.
Stones then were gods; now gods seem stones.
Fear shedding is happiness.

Craving for the best, seeking the high
And searching for identity
Turn puppet plays to my stale eyes.
Disillusioned, I am cheerful.

Parents are gone; heart’s seasoned.
Siblings are left; heart’s hardened.
Children have left; heart’s frozen.
Detachment assures blissfulness.
Leaves in autumn shed without pain;
Lives, the leaves, must shed in autumn,
When they turn green-less and wet-less.
Unshed leaves are unwanted guests.

Seasons are to everything;
Time is there to everything.
Be ready to leave in autumn,
By when turn green-less and wet-less.

To live in winter
Is to pass through hell.

What is wisdom?
An accumulation of knowledge:
the practice of ethics and codes,
intelligence or intuition?
Not so.
The ability to see the seed

To live, to act, to feel and to attend,
You should employ wisdom, wisdom alone.

Wisdom Must Evolve

Knowledge is the outcome of information.
Wisdom is the outcome of the knowledge.
Factual information is not knowledge.
Knowledge built up is not wisdom either.

The knower of the text, sutras and scriptures
Is not a man of wisdom till the time
He applies the theory into practice
And logically synthesizes both.

Wisdom lies in knowing the right from the wrong
And finding the good from the bad.
Wisdom says that there is no uniformity
In things and unity is warranted.

Wisdom brings head, heart and hand together
To blend knowledge, emotion and skill
So that one conducts oneself perfectly
In thought, words and deeds to better others.

Woman Is Clever As Man Is Fool.

Love is a pool□
Where, who so falls never rises.
Love is wine□
Which, who so drinks never sees.
Clothe a woman, ornament her, □
Bathe her in perfumes,
Inflate her wallet, □
Offer her everything of yours, □
And one little twist of temper, □
Alas, she who has lain years on the bosom
Forgets in no time and throws you out,
Turning for the best in wait.□
Yet the wounded dog relishes the licks.

Woman Is Cleverer Than Man

Her future is in his hand;
Her figure is in his mind.
He wants her: body and soul.
She hates him: body and soul.

She must neither reject him
Nor encourage him in love.
She must tread a rope with care
And come out without a scratch.

To hate him will anger him
Or turn him away from her.
To pretend passion to him
Will make her docile to thim.

She would pretend affection
While resisting his move still.
She'd make long enough his hope
That getting her is possible.

Thus man is fooled by woman
Whom he loves from position.
Thus man is fooled by woman
Whom he believes to be true.

Woman Is Conditioned To Be A Feast

Those rapacious eyes of men,
As they are in and around,
Over my curves and contours,
I detest not and repels not,
Rather would prefer them
And yet choose to ignore,
Set to fear the tongue of scandal.
I am content to be a feast.

Those rapacious eyes of men,
Much in for-aught-I-mind,
Nevertheless have their food.
Man lives on his eyes;
Woman lives from his eyes.

Woman Is Fed By Men's Eyes

Woman is thirsty to be beautiful.
She gets fed when men turn their eyes on her.
On looks rather than for stomach, she spends
And falls a prey to anything fancy.

For her feminine desirability,
Not denying this, she puts her efforts.
By attracting men, she attracts herself.
Under her rouge, she gets her confidence.

It is her asset to have men at their feet.
It is her repute to keep them at bay.
No woman desists from being ogled
By men, no matter what rank they fall to.

And she is barren without man.

Woman for woman is a hell.
Two men together make a hell.

Man and woman must cross over.

Heaven cannot be a heaven
If it has no inhabitants.
Woman must understand this fact
And accommodate man with love.

War was bought on Chittoor Rani Padmini.
Rani Gayatri Devi of Jaipur swayed by her beauty.
Marlin Manro, Shophia Loron, countless women
Stood by their beauties and made havoc on men.

To beautify Indian women, were prescribed sola [sixteen]singara.
Bindi- on forehead to point out the third eye.
Necklace- to bring to view neck down.
Eardrops- to tantalize the viewers.
Flowers- to contrast the hue of the hair.
Bangles- to demand a hold of the hand.
Armlet- to invite an embrace.
Ring- to invite to clasp.
Waistband- to narrow the waist.
Anklet- to vibrate lustful sound.
Kohl- to catch the eyes by the eyes.
Toe-ring- to make one look from below.
Henna- to take to one’s lips.
Atter- to retain the embrace.
Turmeric paste- to velvetize the skin.
Upper garment- to contour the breast.
Lower garment- to project the belly.

Woman’s Liberality Rises

Woman’s Love

Woman does not give love to man.
She only receives it from man.

Woman’s Love For Man

Women are not mad of men
As men are after women.
Writers being mostly men,
It’s their version of woman.

ugam Chettiar.
Woman’s Love For Men

A woman loves being loved by men
Without letting herself love them.
She would encourage men’s love for her
Irrespective of her liking for them.
She would part company with men
Without sustaining any wounds or scare.
Men would take woman’s love as true
And pine life long for them since parting.

Woman’s Love Is Special

Man’s desire for woman is casual.
Woman’s desire for man is special.
Woman responds to man from gratitude,

Woman’s Nature

Every woman knows every man
Who sets his eyes on her with a design.
She gives her audience as she likes it.
She will resent it if told, ‘I love you’.

Woman’s Needs

Cuddling; pampering; chivalry;
The child expects; parents provide.
Woman, any age, too from men;
The art known, men win over her.

ugam Chettiar.
No woman could have ever been
Without flirting with some men.
Somewhere for sometime
Expressively or latently
At least in their middle age.
They do so instinctually
As they feel they are still sexy
And want to verify if they’re so,
Not that it should result in corporal mix.
Man must understand this parameter
And refrain from any jeopardy.

Woman’s Pity

As a puppy is put to love the master
When she is brought from her mother,
Even so is the woman from her parents.

As a cow is free to follow the cowherd
When she is let out from the cowshed,
Even so is the housewife from her yard.

As a hen is set to ignore the cock
When she hatched her chicks,
Even so is the mother with her kids.

A woman poses on a pedestal

She is up on a mount

Therein, her pride is at stake.

ugam Chettiar.
Woman’s Resoluteness

Guilt, qualm, shame, stigma or repercussion:
None of them will weigh with a woman as much
As her feelings that she is not that cheep

Even to the man of his choice outside.

Womanhood

I want a woman
Akin to a tendril,
As fragile as it could be,
To fondle and humble
The way I did with my doll
When I was a child.

Also I want a woman
Akin to a wood,
As sturdy as it could be,
On who to rest and recline
The way I nestled onto
The lap of my mother.

In the company of the former
I feel I have conquered.
In the company of the latter
I feel I am secure.
The one who lacks either of whom
Is the one led astray.

Womanhood In Tantra

The nudity is not an obscenity.
The nudity either in arts or in person
Is neither moral nor immoral.
To be naked is to be unashamed
And is in the realization of
The bodily perfection and no more.
There must be no shame in the viewers’ eyes.
Femininity and sexuality
And motherhood are the female’s identity.
It is the male’s gaze that shapes a woman.
Breasts are motherhood; hips are fecundity.

Observing without Being observed

Attending without Embarrassing
Is the manliness.

Responding
In concealment

Advancing
Without bruising

Yielding
Without showing

Reaching
Without betraying

Getting caught,
As if by coercion,

Sudden jump
With a pretence
Is manliness.

Their love
Though fruiting
Is accidental.
Mere flowering too
Is fragrant!

Woman's Love For Man

Woman is in love with man
Till she gets a child of him,

With love for man not waning.

Woman's No Is No.

Woman's 'no' is not 'yes'
As man'd willingly assess.
It's not from her shyness
As man believes for himself.
Any friendship is platonic
To her and it comforts her.
Any friendship is sexual
To him that he wants to be.

Even in a courtship,
She can say 'no', the real 'no',
To push him back to a place
Where she can be in comfort.
Relationship can be
Mutual, spiritual,
Emotional and corporal
In a consensual way.

Cross not the level she grants.

To widows and divorcees
Has been removed.
Men are officious to choose them.
The stigma attached
To errant women, premarital
And extra marital, will soon go.
Women then are free
To get freedom of sex.
No man can then cage them,

Women’s Attitude Towards Men

Women do talk as much about men as Men do about them and as much in satire, unlike that of men.

Women value men as much, for their Sincerity, as men value women for their honesty.
Women are drawn to men as much
For cleanliness as women to men for confidence.
Women want men to revolve around them
More than men want, and desire to be Seen by men as womanly rather than motherly.
Thus a survey indicates for men to take some clues from.

She has raised the bar for men too,

Won Are The Battles

I like you to my heart;
I can’t spell it out;
I won’t let it out.

Our sojourn is so short;
Our relation is so subtle;
We both know it to be futile.

Sir, why should I care you,
Whom I can’t carry with me,
And with whom I can’t journey?

To love you is a scandal;
To have you in bed is a brothel;
To own you my own is illegal.

Neither single, nor youthful,
Nevertheless with powerful
Spirit and mind, me you rule.

Of what wood was it made?
How old was it in use?
To know you, I have no mood,

For the spear that you pierced
Into my heart is so venomous
That I lost all my senses.

Sojourn is over forever.
It is time for you to depart
For home which is too remote.

Without knowing, you go,
That you punctured my whim
And that you committed a sin.

In a war one alone can win;
Only in courtship can both win.
Still why did you let me lose?
Maybe I lost you in war;
Maybe I lost to you in war.
Still I had won many battles.

Meaningful glances and gestures,
Heartfelt talks and tacit touches
Are those battles to my credit.

Let me be content with the lost war
In that many battles that I won
Stand sweet memories ever as my own.

Writers Need To Say.

Writers are assaulted in many ways.
They are persecuted, whipped, tortured,
Incarcerated, exiled and murdered.
It is a case in democracy too.

Freedom of speech is the freedom to say
What you intend to, though hated by some.
Those who never hurts others' sentiments
Needs no freedom of speech from anyone.

Writers wage war not against the rulers;
They write against the fundamentalism.
They write against rites and superstition.
They write against oppressive tendencies.

If someone dislikes what I have averred

Yoga Is Not An Exercise.

Body, senses, mind, intellect
And the essence of the beings
Rise from the Supreme consciousness.

Consciousness is in the body,

It is in the whole universe.

Yoga is the conjoining
Of the micro consciousness
With macro consciousness.

Satya, Ahimsa, Asteya,
Aparigraha and Brahmacharya
Are fivefold observance of Yama.

Shauch, Santosha, Swadhyaya
Tapas, and Ishwara pranidhana
Are fivefold observance of Niyama.

Yama and Niyama are two sets
To be practiced diligently
To reap the benefit of Yoga.

Else, Yoga is an exercise.

(Satya = The truth, Ahimsa = Nonviolence, Asteya = Non-stealing,
Aparigraha = Non-hoarding,
Brahmacharya = Celebacy

Shauch = Cleanliness,
Santosha = contentment,
Swadhyaya = Selflessness, Tapas = Austerity,
Ishwara pranidhana = Surrender to Supreme)

Yoga Practice In Jain

Pathanjali yoga delineates
The path to liberation.
Jainism resorts to yoga
As the means to self realization.

Pathanjali spell out eight steps.
Yama, , , niyama, asana, pranayama,
Pratyahara, dharana, dhyana
And Samadhi in that order.
They are vows, observance, postures,
Control of respiration, control of senses,
Fixation of mind at a point, concentration
And cessation of mind respectively)

Yamas are five in both scriptures.
Ahimsa, satya, astteya
Brahmacharya and aparigraha.
(they are nonviolence, truth, nonstealing,
Celibacy and nonaccumulation respectively)

There five nyamas as known:
Sauch, santosh, tapas, swadhyaya
And Ishvara pranidhana.
(self purification, contentment, penance
Study of scriptures and surrender
To the devine or self realization Respectively)

Yoga and dhyan are insisted
By both to spirutal advancement.
Pranayama is not found in Jainism.
Samadhi is motionless state
Of the mind and bodt, the state
Of trance in which unity takes place.
For jain it is self realization, a state
Of being known, not union with God.

Jain is not antagonist to Hinduism
But denounces Vedic rituals.

Dear, you, who once had made
In me a permanent impression,
Cannot altogether deny your image
By denying your love and concern.

Dear, you, who once had made
In me an ever lasting vibration,
Cannot outright wipe out your image
By denying me ways and access.

Dear, you, whose striking image
Had become an integral part of me,
Cannot bar me from acting in what way
I want to deal with you in my brain.

I can catch you where no one can watch you.
I can hold you, where you can kill your fear,
On every part from head to foot
Without any scar to your modesty.

With you in me, I turn a bisexual.
Self fertilization takes place with in,
With your elusiveness notwithstanding,
Without prejudice to your chastity.

Dear, you, with such impression as the ones
That you had made in me for a long time
Cannot forbid me from feeding on you
In my memory, no corporally.

Man from the Mars and women from the Venus
Talk Greek to each other and find rhythm.
He says to her. ‘You don’t understand.’
She says to him, ‘You don’t understand.’
Not understanding is not for language
But for lack of emotion and concern.
She yearns for him to empathize with her.

They say you are dark,
And yet would care
Their lashes and lock
Ever to be black.
They like to their heart
The Koel and the Tusker,
Dark though they are,
And would rather admire
The dark horse in race
And the black bull in fight.

To me you look no dark.
The solitary diamond
That radiates on your nose
Is far shining –
Like a lonely star –
From your new-moon face.
Whenever you grin
There forms a crescent
Across your cheek,
Flashing like a lightening

From the rain-cloud sky.
Your teeth are far milky.
Draped in lime-white voile,
With jasmine weaving your tress
And silver anklet
Circling your limbs,
You are a snow-clad peak.
No more are you dark.
I like you to my heart
Only because you are dark
And not though you're dark.
Be assured you have a taker.

But not a festered one.

Your Woman

No woman is yours because you got her love.
Nor is she yours for body contacts.
She is not yours despite conjugation.
She must be ready to conceive for you.

Your Woman Is A Chestnut

Any woman, once you have owned
Is since then your old Chestnut
And yet is treated as hornet’s nest
When someone had her stirred.

Yours Is Not The Sole Cause

Winds makes straws fly.
And brings down trees.
Breeze and storm are winds.
For up and down of yours.
Your force is not the sole cause.

Yours Is The Basic

The kite flies.
Its lightness is its merit.
The tree breaks.
Its stubbornness is its merit.
You are the basic cause
For the effects you produce.

Yours Not In Your Hand

A seed must fall,
Sooner before it dries,
On a soil, duly fertile,
With enough moisture,
To germinate to plant.
If not so, whose fault is it?
You are not the cause
For your rise and fall,
For your up and down,
And for your birth and death.
Pride and regrets, put aside.

Youth Covers Up Immaturity

It takes ages for one to become famous
In her arts by when she will have lost
Her youth and charm, slowly sinking.
Budding artistes bloom with their youth.

Youth is power; youth is vigour;
Youth is initiative; youth is revolutionary;
Youth is dedication; youth is freedom;
Youth is love; youth is passion.
Yes, because youth is blind
Out of them elders make winds

Youth Is Temporary.

‘Youth’s stuff will not endure.’

Love is not beyond life and youth.
Be happy to be in love now.
In delay love goes to the grave.
Dear, be bold; be quick to act.
Regrets won’t bring it back, if lost.

Youth, Not Dance Is Watched

A damsel dances; we enjoy.
If it is an old woman,
we men simply watch.
If it is a man, it dissipates.
A show is to feed the lust of eyes.
Who cares the grammar of dance?

Youthfulness Vital

Seek company of younger ones.
Work with the other sex and flirt.
Cultivate likes for music and art.
Keep alive lust and passion.
Your mind of youth is preserved.

Be appearance conscious.
Do yoga to keep you supple.
Diet on balanced plant food.
Indulge in love act in continuity.
Your corporal youth is preserved.

Youthfulness to life is
Like nectar to a flower.

Youths Are Castrated

Not preparing, he comes to teach.
Not prepared, they come to learn.
Easy questions; poor answers;
Liberal valuation; easy pass;
The body is for money.
The students for degrees.
Students come out as unemployable.
The country thus castrates the youths.

Zen Binds You Not

No mantra, no rituals, no scripts,
No assembly and no congregation,
Zen Buddhism exists with devices
For you to know and find the truth yourself.

Zen Buddhism Advocates...

Sound disturbs silence; noise assaults silence.
Silence is stillness; silence is calmness.
Dhyan is of silence; bliss is from silence.
Zen Buddhism experiences in silence.

Experimental of wisdom takes
Precedence over scripts and sermon
In Zen Buddhism and people are taught
To observe Buddha reigning in themselves.

Zero, The Shoonya

Zero (Shoonya) is not Nothing but much more.
It varies as the product of equations.
Zero = +5-5
Or +5-3-2 and so on.

Zero is not Nothing but is equal
To such infinite equations made.
Zero is like no profit and no loss,
Income and expenditure varying.

There is no perceived without perceivers.
The sense of touch gives the feeling of heat.
Hot and Cold aren’t opposite to each other
But temperature is opposite to perceiver.

Perceivers and the perceived have existence
Only relative to each other in life.
Perceiver and the perceived are opposite
Of each other like +5-5.

Every action has an equal reaction.
Each object has an negative object.
Creation and destruction form a pair.
Birth – Death = 0.

The universe has come from zero;
Into zero will it go at the end.

Zygotic Death

It is tragic and a pity to witness,
Even in the sight of preface,
A budding love falls as a prey
To the scorching eyes of the spies,
And withers as dues under the sun.
Yet, it does not deter the spring of new lovers

An aborting lady has a solace
That she is not infertile.
