Yassar Ali
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive
Yassar Ali(23-05-90)

Add me on facebook, my email ad is yassar1290@
A Heartbeat Away

It seems like an eternity since I last saw you
But somehow I have barely made it through
Through the suffering and pain
As I fall in the dirt in the rain
How do I explain to you
Everything am going through
Living in this so-called real life
With my body pierced by a knife
A knife called love my friend
Which brings your life to an end
If you don’t cherish the moment
To get over the unreal torment
But if you don’t truly appreciate it
The fire goes out that was once lit
Setting aflame two hearts to beat as one
To make sure all the aching pain is gone
Why fight true loves power
Let it blossom like a flower
Your my aid when my heart skips a beat too many a time
When am lost for words you help me end this rhyme
Baby why does there have to be such a distance
You know I would be by your side in an instance
Yet am left here in a nightmare of my own
Waiting for you in order for me to be reborn
Then in honour to you I will take bow
But that’s a very long time from now
How’s the early morning breeze treat you
Does it make you question whether the moment is true?
Well that’s how I feel when am around you
I just freeze and don’t know what to do
If you get this and don’t reply
I will understand that it’s all a lie
Please wherever you are My special shining star
Just give me a sign
Or else I will resign

Yassar Ali
A Moment Like This

All my life I have waited for a day like this
A day with only you, me, romance and bliss
Reality continued to betray me
Until only you I could see
Your the spark that lights my fire
Your deep inside me like a burning desire
Without you am incomplete
Together our hearts beat
Your on my mind every second, minute and hour
Together we blossom like a beautiful flower
Your my ice in the burning heat
I wonder whether you were born sweet
I don’t care what happened in the past
Because I know this is going to last
Whenever I don’t know what to do
I just do what you would do
You brought me hope
When I couldn’t cope
Your the apple in my eye
And that truly isn’t a lie
I promise you I will never let you cry a single tear
Whilst I am alive with my heart beating right here
Its getting late so I might as well call it a night
Sweet dreams my love and sleep tight
Forgive me if I have ever done you wrong
But you know you can’t fight my love it’s too strong

Yassar Ali
A Mothers Pain

Some rejoice as news of fatherhood reaches their ears
Others mourn and walk away leaving mothers in tears
The heartless believe they have got a better life to live
Whilst the foolish believe they don't have anything to give Mothers left to show up on their own for the baby scans
Tears rolling onto the baby images trembling in their hands
Nine beautiful months carrying the precious little stone
Feeling blessed as you feel there is life inside your own
Yet deep within you there's a need for a hand to hold onto Cravings for a shoulder to lean on and a scaffold to support you
Then the baby kicks in order to let you know that you aren't alone
Whilst you walk the lonely road towards a broken home
There are some who cried rivers to have a partner by their side
Praying for someone special to take them as their bride
The day you find your special someone let them know
How you're life is now that you're embraced with a halo
No more darkness in your life as you step into the light
With a better future for you and your children in sight
Heartless parents who prayed for an abortion don't perceive
That there are so many unlucky people who can't conceive
Heartless people aborting by distorting the harsh facts
Facts like they were too drunk to remember their acts
I support abortion when the reasons behind it are fair
But I protest when it's a one night stand without care
How would you feel if your parents thought about aborting you?
Plz furnish me with an honest answer & remember this when you think of starting a family

Yassar Ali
A New Beginning

It’s killing me deep inside so please just press play
And hear me give this heart of mine away
I know I don’t want this new year to start
Without telling you a few words from my heart
So let me somehow get this though to you
With every second more and more I Love You
It feels like am falling in love all over again baby
I want to experience this feeling for eternity
It’s like I was wishing upon a star
Because that’s what you truly are
A diamond from the skies
That fell before my eyes
I wrapped you in my arms where it’s safe and warm
Now you call these arms of mine your home
My dreams become reality
Whenever your with me
It feels like am drowning in your love not just today
But every second, every moment and every day
I cherish every single memory of yours from both the present and past Trying hard to maximise each moment in order to somehow make them last
It feels like watching a perfect sunrise
Whenever am watching you open your eyes Maths am not good at
But I definitely know that
You and me
Equals love baby
But you do have to understand
That you’re the only one on demand
A new day and a new year but this love story of ours will surely go on
With a new chapter in our life which will continue even after we’re gone
I have been living in the belly of the beast
Until I found you and joined you in lovers feast
What do you make of my prediction
That forever you will be my addiction?
Reply and tell me your thoughts on my prediction
If you agree with me or you found a contradiction

Yassar Ali
A Rebuilt Haven

Her safe haven is broken yet she walks with grace
Broken promises have left their trace on her face
Her smile cannot disguise the aching pain in her eyes
Rivers of tears flowing beneath her as she cries
Judgement clouded she's impersonating the rain
Her pleas for help are in vain as she feels the pain
She crept into solitude and for a lifetime she wept
For those promises that were never kept
She'd sleep with thoughts of a better day in mind
Yet she'd wake to find hell beginning to unwind
As disaster slowly but surely began to unfold
Nobody offered her a hand to hold as she called Shattered dreams with so much pain in the air
Living a nightmare with monsters everywhere
A nightmare from which she waits to be woken
Every promise ever spoken was soon broken
Curling up on the cold floor like an innocent girl
Knowing she's my world and truly a precious pearl
We met in the moonlight with nobody else in sight
I looked into her sparkling eyes and knew It felt right
Love as strong as ours could never be wrong
Such a beautiful moment that we waited for so long
You take shelter under my wing and ignore the storm
For we're preparing our home for the newborn
The life kicking inside you baby will soon breathe
Our seed will proceed to feed those people in need
No more pain baby it's over I promise you a fresh start
You're a part of my heart and never will be torn apart
United beneath the bright stars we proudly stand
Lovers destined to be together hand in hand

Yassar Ali
A Safe Haven

As the night begins to fall
I hear a sweet luscious call
Is my fragile heart to blame
For melting with her call of my name
She walks past turning on her groove
Leaving me paralysed and unable to move
If only she knew how long I have waited for this moment
I met her after all the pain, sorrow and torment
Life had so many questions that I couldn’t answer
Yet she came like a cure for an incurable cancer
I don’t know how to explain this feeling
Its my heart and soul that she’s stealing
Love is when she isn’t there
Your lost and in despair
Out in the cold you reach her arms and fulfil your cravings
Only in her arms you reach the safest of havens
Her hair feels like the softest silk
Her skin white as the purest milk
Her voice so soothing to listen to
Her words full of wisdom that are true
Her slightest touch tells me it isn’t wrong
Her love for me beating ever so strong
Her face staring at me, I see at the beginning of the day
Our love will remain when all else will fade away
Your my love, my life, my other half and my identity
I promise you my love our love will stay for eternity

Yassar Ali
Absence Makes The Heart Grow Fonder

Oh beautiful one how are you
Read my poem and tell me if it’s true
At the end of the long tunnel your my light
When it’s cold your my blanket for the night
Your my hot water bottle when am not well
Your my secret diary to whom my secrets I would tell
Your my medicine to take away all the pain
Your the only one whom I would dance with in the rain
Your my map to help me find the way
Your my energy to get me through the day
Your my drug to get me high
Your the one to whom I can’t lie
Your my only true addiction
Lead by your seduction
She stupefies me when she walks into a room
Taking out all of the darkness and gloom
Others might have estranged each other
But we both know we love one another
She’s conquered my heart
And now we can’t be apart
Your in the sky like a shining star
Don’t deny it love you know you are
Before I met you I always used to ponder
Why absence makes the heart grow fonder
But since you went away
Though it was for a day
My heart bled and drained the love out of me
Until you returned to me and then set me free
I sat out in the pouring rain
Until I saw your face again
I realised why absence makes the heart grow fonder
The very second you returned to me in your Honda
It don’t matter about the distance
I will be by your side in an instance
I hope we never lose touch
For I love you so much

Yassar Ali
Am Walking Away

Am not going down that road again
With all the suffering and pain
What more could I do
I gave all I had to you
Why couldn’t you just see
That you meant the world me
You were meant to be my soul mate
But I soon met my own fate
You brought my world crashing down
After I thought true love was found
You never did consider what I had felt for you
Damn it’s so hard to realise that it’s true
True that I will never again be able to hold you
True that your gone and I don’t know what to do
I was there to stop you from falling
Yet you don’t reply to my calling
My heart skips a beat at the mention of your name
It makes me wonder could I have been to blame
But I can’t think of anything I ever did wrong
I was truly yours with love beating ever so strong
I can’t understand how you do it
Walking past me thinking your fit
You stole my heart
Then tore it apart
Leaving my fragile heart to bleed
Though it’s you not my heart that I need
I thought our love would never sink
Yet it was over before I could blink
Sometimes I cry alone at night
The pain in my heart I can’t fight
My pillow receives my tears
After you brought to life all my fears
You dragged my love through the mud
Now my tears are left to cry rivers of blood
Do you actually enjoy seeing me hurt
Laying there helpless in the dirt
You had defected my love
And push soon turned to shove
I don’t know how to explain how
But she’s scarred me for life now
I won’t learn to love again
Because it all ends in vain

Yassar Ali
Angels Walk The Earth

The Prophet is so beautiful he is beyond compare
The people passing by had no choice but to stop and stare
The most beautiful man ever to have walked the earth
Every inch of His life was beauty at its best starting from birth
This heavenly man is true beauty personified.
Few denied the deen but the beauty wasn’t denied
You will never see beauty like this in any fairytales
This man’s beauty goes off beyond the scales
Like the night turns into the day
He made falsehood fade away
Newcomers whom he left in awe
Were both from the rich and poor
He preached the deen till His death
This man prayed for us with His last breath
He prayed very long hours at night
And prayed again till the morning light
He is the one who recovered Ali’s sight
And healed Abu Bakr from the snakes bite
His beauty is beyond measure
His presence is the real treasure
He lived and died for the beautiful deen
Yet we unworthy people aren’t even keen
Even though we might have the title of haji
We stay at home when it comes to taraweeh
People haven’t seen us and think were hibernating
Instead were on bebo or msn speed-dating
Lets change our ways
Before end of the days
The least you can do is try
Before you even die

Yassar Ali
At First Sight

Clouds have cleared to colour the sky blue
Whilst leaves have turned red since I last saw you
The seasons have changed yet am still the same
Same man, same feelings and still the same aim
The aim of being in your presence once again
For without you I question whether or not am sane
The sun has risen from the east and set in the west
Yet these eyes of mine never did want to rest
As I walk in the midst of the crowd all alone
I walk with aches in my body as I have grown
I guess I get better with time just like fine wine
A million miles away from reality I appear offline
As I see a pearl amongst the crowd in all white
Like a firefly she's filled my empty life with light
The smile that sets my heart ablaze is here
Our hazel eyes meet and sink in love as we near We're face to face as I look into the eyes of grace
Tears in her eyes as she touches my aging face
I close my eyes as I begin to feel her tender touch
Inexplicable feelings as my heart she begins to clutch
Pulling me near as I hear a symphony crystal clear
She whispered her thoughts into my ear
'After we parted I felt completely empty
But now you've come and completed me'
Praying this embrace will last so that we never part
For she's the only remedy for this pain in my heart
I feel her lips on my neck for the very first time
With hearts beating faster her lips then met mine
It was as though as we had a lack of air
As I ran my hands through her fine silky hair
Old age reflected on my weary face
But with her age apparently left no trace

Yassar Ali
Biggest Regret

Why couldn’t I have said those three beautiful words
Which are sweeter than the song of the morning birds
I LOVE YOU
I truly do
Yet our eyes never meet
But I can’t take defeat
Until you tell me you don’t love me
Or that am not the one you want to see
I wonder when was the last time I saw your precious face
Or you walking into my empty life with grace
But why the coldness in your eyes
Though it can’t be because of family ties
You look at me in a cold way
To which I don’t know what to say Another day goes by
And I don’t know why
The sun never brightens my day
Instead the sky looks kind of grey
You were my sun, you were my earth
We were destined to be since birth
Yet you left me here alone in the cold
Waiting for your presence till I grow old
I always fear
When you’re not near
With you not by my side anymore
My hearts draining straight from the core
Girl you blow my mind away
Yet you think it’s all play
I love you from the bottom of my heart
And never want us to be apart
I seal this with a kiss
Because you might be reading this

Yassar Ali
Broken Dreams

These tears tell a story of mine
With my so called little miss sunshine
Your tearing me up deep inside
And the pain inside me I can’t hide
I can’t hold back the tears
After witnessing my fears
Then you and him shot me down
And scattered my wings all around
These wounds of mine won’t heal
Leaving me unable to love or feel
You’ve drained the love out of me
At the cost of me being free
At least you’re not in sight
As I walk into the cold night
First you left me dying
And now you come back crying
You bit me like a venomous snake
Leaving me to cry out a lake
The venoms mixed with my vein
Leaving me broken and insane
Its too little too late I have gone
After realising you’re not the one
I don’t care what you say
Please just go away
No need telling me you can change
I have left now and am out of your range
Your not the one and never were Don’t try blaming him or her
You haven’t got no one to blame
You brought me sorrow and shame
Can’t you see the anger in my eyes
After listening to all your stupid lies
Why do you keep denying it
After cutting me up bit by bit
You have cut me up with a knife
Now just stay out of my life
You tell me that you need me
Yet your with him when I can’t see
Never will I be able to fly again
Its too much trouble and strain
You’ve somehow broken my wings
Now I can’t focus on other things

Yassar Ali
Broken Relationship

It breaks my heart
Knowing were falling apart
Your on my mind every second of the day
So how did we somehow drift away
It doesn’t seem fair
We were a good pair
You were with me every day of the week
Just goes to show that our bond was unique
You used to come to me five times a day to pray
Now you have forgotten me and started to stray
No matter what I do
I just can’t forget you
What if you never get a chance to meet me again
You know am your cure through all the suffering and pain
Come back to me before it’s too late
Before you meet your fate
The devil wants to separate me and you
But you know you can’t forget me no matter what you do
Forget what the disbelievers do or say
Am open to you every second of the day
Inshallah sum day you will be led on the path that is right
Then once again someday we will soon become touch tight

Yassar Ali
Call For World Peace

The scream of the innocent pierces the silent night
Their loved ones snatched before the morning light
Their homes broken and burnt to the ground
Whilst the babies sleeping inside were never found
Across the battle field a mother blindly runs wild
No worry about her life for life to her is her child
Yet day and night the bombs continue to drop
The innocent wonder if they ever will stop
They ask The Witness to be taken away
Away from the bloodshed to a better day
Ever wonder why the casualties of war
Are usually those people from the poor
Homes destroyed before our very eyes
Their justification is nothing but lies
They claim the end justifies the means
Though nothing justifies the innocent screams
They leave prophet for profit and keep lying
The truth hits them in the face yet their denying Right now they are drunk with power
But all will change in the final hour
Death truly is just around the corner
If you beg to differ ask the mourner
Whilst chasing the riches we forgot about the strife
For we have to strive to succeed in the afterlife
Will it be our 'final hour'
Or will it be our 'finest hour'
We have been too busy living life on the fast lane
That we forgot all those in the world who are in pain
There are people all over the world dying
Leaving few survivors to spend life crying
Pray that Palestine will soon truly become free
Free from merciless bombings by the army
Yet some want to spend on lofty buildings for show
Over the relics of Blessed people that we know
Spend wisely especially in time of need

Yassar Ali
I become stronger when I am in her presence
For even she knows that she is my quintessence
I watch her sleep trying to unveil her identity
As those pretty coloured eyes open to greet me
A smile forms on her beautiful face
Unsurprisingly sleep hasn't left it's trace
My lips met her lips to greet them to a new day
Eyes lingering on her wrists as I pull away
I can feel her heart beginning to race
As I see the aching pain on her innocent face
Fresh scars that I never knew exist
Have taken their place on her fragile wrist
Taking her hands in mine I kiss the scars on her wrist
Tears rolled from her eyes the moment I had kissed
I whisper in her ears that everything will be fine
Whilst wishing all of her pain becomes mine
Watching her suffer continues to tear me apart
Will her childhood memories ever depart
She cuts herself to ease the unbearable pain
No matter how hard she tries it's all in vain
My mind asks how long will this pain go on for?
Common sense tells me I can't take no more
Instinct reassures me that I will make it through
After all the advice I still don’t know what to do
I wonder when the healing process will start
So that her past and present can drift apart
Will pain take mercy on her innocent soul
Or will it crush her wings causing her to fall
I wait for her pain to be washed away by the rain
So that she can forget her past to start all over again

Yassar Ali
Chosen For A Purpose

A beautiful man was moulded from clay
Adam was the one born on this memorable day
He was the first to set foot on the face of the earth
Without a mother or father came His birth
Whilst many years later a beautifull baby boy was born
Yusuf was His name His beauty many wish to own
The women had no choice but to stop and stare
For their bleeding hands they had no care
Nuh came to the people on His Lords command
The worship of One God was His only demand
Day and night this man was in worship
He ordered the people to board the ship
Musa came with His dear brother
Both feared The Almighty and no other
With swift movement He threw His blessed stick
Destroying the evil pharaohs magicians trick
Zachariah was sent to Maryam the blessed
He was protective like a bird protecting her nest
Isa was then born under a date palm tree
On the Creator's order He was born father-free
He was the one who blew life into the clay bird
By The Lords command to easily spread the word
Finally the world was sprinkled with light and with it came a bundle of joy
The world blossomed and a carpet of light spread to welcome the beautiful boy
Muhammad is this beautiful boys name
The spreading of The Lords command was His aim

Yassar Ali
Common Sense

Do they think the sun rises from the east and sets from the west on its own accord
Let it be known to them that the sun rises and sets by the will of its Lord
Whilst those who say the earth harms the Holy Prophet and the bodies of the Blessed
Do they forget that the sun is weaker than Them in all aspects yet it always looks its best
The One who separates the water with the salt from the one that is clean
Has faithful believers reciting the Quran who read not to be seen
Man thought that this world was flat until to them the knowledge of its true shape came
Yet in the glorious Quran which was written hundreds of years ago it told them the very same
Man can’t even feel the earth moving and is weak in each and every way
Yet expect The Creator to have body parts like ours of clay
Don’t they ever stop for a single moment to think
Why the titanic which guaranteed survival did sink
Each and every test in the world they can take
In the end the choice is for the Creator to make
They cannot fight their personal desires yet go to fight an unjust war
They attack all in sight whether male or female, young or old, rich or poor
They say the sisters with the beautiful veil are causing division
Yet only peace, unity and working together is our sisters vision
They ask why our sisters dress in their respective way if they did but know
Whilst their image of the blessed Maryam is always covered from head to toe

Yassar Ali
Escape From Reality

Memoirs and broken dreams lay at her feet
She approaches them but they continue to retreat
She tries to pick up the pieces one by one
But as she reaches out they appear to have gone
Will she ever be able to move on to a better life
So one day she can make a man happy and be his wife
Moving on so she can start all over again
To a life where there’s no room for pain
But for now this burden of hers she has to bear
Nights spent in solitude but she doesn’t care
For endless nights she thinks about the past
Each memory fading as she tries to make it last
She gives up hope and begins to cry
Wishing she had wings so she could fly
If only she could fly to a faraway place
A place where nobody knows her face
A place where nobody knows her voice
Her burden she has to bear for she has no choice
Unless her special someone comes along
Telling her what happened to her was wrong
Showing her that love doesn’t feel that way
She can feel true love if with him she wants to stay
I wonder if she will ever allow herself to love again
Or will she continue to believe it’s all in vain
She has sleepless nights without the love of her life
Damaged by memories who pierce her like a knife
Deadly wounds of hers will never truly heal
The aching pain inside her she will never reveal
She tries but can’t seem to make a fresh start
Because her love is lodged in someone else’s heart
She cries every night like a downpour of rain
One day I hope she will be free from this pain
For now her hearts on fire
For her love is a deadly desire

Yassar Ali
Falling Stars

I fail miserably to see a reason to live
This broken life has nothing to give My breath is wasted every single day
No one has time to hear what you have to say
You can have a bond filled with love or hate
Some day soon it will slowly terminate
People don't hurt when you say I love you
Even though they don't feel the same way you do
There isn't a single star in the sky
That doesn't mock you for living a lie
You've changed the way you act
In fear of the way people will react
Your words aren't what they used to be
I guess you're slowly losing your identity
I fear the day is near my shining star
Where I won't know anymore who you are
Your message will be a relic for the time ahead
Memorising every word you ever said
I can't even call you my own girl
For nothing's to keep in this world
I guess we're all chronic liars in life
Every man for himself in this bitter strife
Watch your step in this world because once you fall
You stay down because no one will hear your call

Yassar Ali
Grasping Love On Valentine's Night

Walking blindly in the darkness I saw a light
In graceful human form it lit up the dark night
My eyes couldn't even perceive her identity
But for familiarisation we had the rest of eternity
Illuminating my hollow life with bright fireflies
She looked at me through caramel brown eyes
Dark brown hair covered the sides of her face
Not a single strand of her hair was out of place
Destination reached as we were now face to face
I looked in her eyes to find her past had left it's trace
So much pain was visible in those pretty eyes
Losing control I see my hands begin to rise
Delicately touching her face I see a smile form
Relief visible in her eyes as I bring an end to the storm
Infatuating me as she looks at me in that way
Drunk with love my senses are simply blown away
Looking deep into my eyes she pulled me near
I love you and her name whispered in my ear
Those words were then imprinted on my heart
Holding her body close to mine hoping we never part
Such a flawless body that I give up predicting her age
She looks perfect, I guess the world is her stage
They say that true love at first sight is impossible
But love at first sight on valentines night is possible
Walking with grace to start a home of our own
Each step weaves those dreams that were once torn

Yassar Ali
Heavenly People

Dearly Beloved to You I make a pledge
The evil within I will fight and push off the edge
When all else will fail
Your memories I will inhale
Your unique sunnat a hope for me I will try to practise
With the call for prayer I will ignore the devils hiss
Surely after every hardship our Lord brings for us ease
A time will come when the devils reign over us will surely cease
Why don’t we end the devils reign sometime soon
By following the one who split the beautiful moon
The moon remembers the Prophet’s blessed finger
Which truly split it and apart it surely did linger
Blessed is Khadija who in time of need brought peace to the Prophet’s mind
Can Her rank be raised any higher? A pious wife like Her you will never find Blessed is the pharaohs Wife
Only for Islam She gave Her life
Maryam whom no man had touched, yet She was a mother to a Prophet
She is known throughout the world though some carve her 'statue' for profit
These Blessed Women did so much for Their deen
Yet some of our sisters worry about how their seen
The hijab you have been ordered to wear
Which casts away the perverts glare
The hijab is not optional nor tradition
Instead it is a must and part of religion
They might ask why you dress that way
Whilst the rest of the world gives it all away
Say you are a Muslim and God fearing
Your name from hells list you are clearing
Fingers alone have no power, rather alone they could pose a flaw
But when they unite to become a fist, it breaks the enemies jaw

Yassar Ali
Hoping For The Moment

We hope to enter from entrance number seven
Leading straight to the good life in heaven
But how on earth can we enter from any entrance
When we haven’t fallen prostrate in repentance
Even in the time of Musa the magicians fell prostrate Faith had entered their hearts whilst removing the hate
We need to raise our hands towards the blue skies
Asking The Creator of the heavens and the earth for paradise
Not a single day goes by
When we haven’t told a lie
You and I commit sin every single day
For eternity on this earth we cannot stay
These days people sin in public all the time
Without regret or repentance for their crime
Thinking their thugs from the hood
With the drugs in their blood
The Almighty puts a veil over the sin most commit during the night
Yet the shameless boast and unveil the sin committed into the open light
The moment He lowered His hands from supplication
Rain gushed from the skies to the thirsty nation
Yet many people have ignored The Prophet
In order to find a life of pleasure, power and profit
Beware the consequences of that will be severe
You will try to make a change when death is near Whatever we have been given we need to cherish
Before death overcomes us and we perish
Through the pain and sorrow
Look for a better tomorrow

Yassar Ali
In Sickness And In Health

After all those years I now know it’s true
I want to spend every second with you
I want to make you my beloved wife
In your arms I want to spend the rest of my life
Every step through the struggles of life only with you I want to take Every breath you and I take will be for each other’s sake
Every step we take together in life
Brings me closer to making you my wife
Words cannot explain what you mean to me
Images of you cannot reflect on what I see
Without you and your love am incomplete
With you our hearts join to form a single beat
I would walk a thousand miles from place to place
Just for me to see a smile on your pretty face
With each embrace
My heart begins to race
With every touch we make
My heart begins to ache
Your the happiness to fade out my sorrow
Being my yesterday, today and tomorrow
Me without you is like the earth without the sun
Or the spider with silk that cannot be spun
But either way
I cherish every day
All my life I’ve been praying for a moment like this
An embrace from grace itself and a kiss
By your side id make you my wife
And by your side id watch you give life
I hope you forgive me for saying this
But every moment with you is pure bliss

Yassar Ali
Keeping It Real

Were up quicker than the drug dealers before the sunrise
Standing in prayer and hoping for paradise
Every second we ask the One in whose hands lies all the power
To aid us in this life and relieve us of all pain in the final hour
Knock knock can you hear it?
The call from our blessed Prophet
Calling us to eternal paradise
A place where one never dies
We need to mute the devil so that we hear and obey
For we all know in this cold world we cannot stay
I say that we raise the flag of Islam
Taking oath to reject the haraam
We need to pump jihad in us like a blazing fire
A jihad against every unlawful burning desire
Truly our faith gets worn out like our clothes tend to do
Thus we must always ask The Almighty to keep us true
To the heavens above we all need to call
Asking The Almighty to purify our body and soul
Knowledge is light and ignorance is darkness
Concealing knowledge is evil and teaching it is kindness
Committing sin brings about a disease
Whilst doing good brings about ease
A life spent in sin seems incurable like cancer
Until you realise the time in prostration is the answer
The companions are like the stars shining ever so bright
Follow them and you will be guided to the path that is right
The Prophet is the bright light full of kindness
Follow Him and you will never be in darkness

Yassar Ali
Learning From Our Mistakes

Man uses history books to keep track of the past
Yet how long do you think it’s going to last?
Who’s keeping track of all YOUR bad deeds?
The One who knows all your desires and needs
The One who told us to judge ourselves before judging others
Verily we ourselves are mislead at times and judge our brothers
Look at yourself before judging another brother
And before eating yourself offer your mother
For those who think that there isn’t no wrong or right
Why do you think some are in darkness whilst others are in light
We make new year’s resolutions to lose weight
Yet we haven’t made resolutions regarding faith
What about praying a lot more
And giving more money to the poor
Paradise invites us inside
Yet we think it’s a free ride
Entry to the paradise requires a very small fee
If inside paradise is where you truly want to be Yet we don’t want to pay any kind of fee
We think being born Muslim is the key

Yassar Ali
Life's Sweet Embrace

I'm surrounded in flowers as I lay in a coma
Embraced like a halo by their sweet aroma
Whilst the sun slowly rises to illuminate the sky
Streaks of the sunlight visible from my third eye
Birds singing as though there isn't a tomorrow
Whilst the mocking bird sings a song full of sorrow
Interrupted by the dark screeching of the crow
Which is matched by the nightingale down below
Not so far away I can hear innocent children play
Without a care in the world they play away
I can hear the prayer of the patient beside me
Asking to be delivered as he calls to a higher entity
A few visitors showing their support and leaving
Whilst you remain seated beside my bed grieving
Your tired eyes reflecting your undying love for me
Showing what it means to love each other for eternity
You continue to talk to me with eyes full of tears
Continuously whispering our dreams into my ears
The time and place we would finally get married
The time of birth of the baby that you carried
The beautiful home which one day we will own
The first word and the first steps of our newborn
So much to live for yet I lay motionless on this bed
Our dreams repeatedly running through my head
Even in my current state you make me humble
Without your love and support I would crumble
You're like a scaffold supporting me in life
I can't wait to awaken and make you my beloved wife
With every second being a moment of clarity
I rest under the watchful eye of a beautiful entity
I love you for waiting for me. I promise you one day I will hold you in my arms

Yassar Ali
Losing My Way

Lost was I without my imaan
Sitting beside me was shaytaan
Seeing as I never used to pray
I slowly started losing my way
I was leading the life of an idiotic cursed fool
Not remembering the Almighty and His blessed Rasool
Until I saw my brothers united in the remembrance of the Almighty
I suddenly realised my mistakes and grasped my imaan tightly
Music has become forbidden to me
A true believer is what I aim to be
He who fails to see the Almighty’s signs
Will surely pay for each and every one of his crimes
The Almighty truly is the king of the righteous and fair
The All-Knowing hasn’t placed a burden upon us that we can’t bear
What you wish for yourself is what you should wish for others
Remembering that we are all Muslim brothers
Whilst we walk around in lacoste and Armani
Our brothers are dying for droplets of panee
We have shelter, food and clothing yet we complain
Whilst our brothers have neither and are in pain
The devil has covered our eyes
And whispers in our ears only lies
When we read prayer he sighs
Trying to keep us from paradise
As a clear Warner our Rasool was sent Lets give up our bad habits and repent

Yassar Ali
Midnight Rescue

With my every waking moment I would break
It wasn't physical pain but mentally I would ache
Standing up was painful and considered a curse
Yet every day I still rose hoping to transverse
Something deep inside me would slowly torture me
Mentally imprisoned I waited to be pardoned and set free
I thought I’d face my fears and move on but I couldn't Thinking I was truly ready for change but I wasn't
The very night I decided to put an end to this pain
A blessing showered upon me like a downpour of rain
She came like a shooting star in my darkest night
Setting every particle of my hollow life alight
Her hazel eyes brighter than the stars above
Her beautiful skin softer than that of the dove
Like the first streak of sunlight she hit my face
Her warmth radiating over my body with grace
In that moment it felt like pain had never visited me
For the first time in my life I saw what I wanted to see
The truth before my eyes in graceful human form
Her distinct uniqueness and beauty is out of the norm Showing me a beautiful future worth living for Forget the butterflies I’m feeling it in my core
The periphery promising no more cacophonies
Just the vows uttered by both of us at ceremonies

Yassar Ali
My Lonely Star

I sit in solitude in this dark room praying for you
You said fate cannot be avoided and it's true
For now you lay in hospital in such unbearable pain
My tears cannot help but impersonate the rain
If this is meant to be your fate then I cannot accept it
For your fate isn't to be torn up inside bit by bit
My tears building up as I remember the past
Memories flashing before my eyes ever so fast
The days we'd lay under the stars on the dry grass
Patiently waiting for a shooting star to pass
We were destined to move to the countryside
Fanatical ideas but we could've made it if we tried
We used to talk about having two boys and two girls
They'd have your hair but for eyes they'd have pearls
The romantic walks in the middle of the night
No sound or people with only the moon in sight
You would wake up to find breakfast beside our bed
'Forget breakfast I want only you' is what you said
Our relationship was based on love and trust
Filled with romance, pleasure and lust
I miss those precious moments so badly
My heart wasn't stolen for I gave it to you gladly
My love I know I have little time to ask for this
But before leaving would you give me a last kiss
Drowning in my sorrow so give me the kiss of life
I guess this time it really is goodbye my dear wife
Time has left true loves side on this dark night
Whilst I find comfort in these words that I write
Confusion surrounding me that I need to break free
I find solace in my mind for its a sanctuary for me
Goodnight my love close your eyes now and dream away

Yassar Ali
One In A Million

I gaze at the stars and think
Why is it that every time I blink
You somehow pop into my head
Whilst I wish you were on my bed
I would hold you the whole night long
Because in my arms is where you belong
I sit here in the dark all alone and think of the past
Thinking about how you were my first and last
You're there to heal the wounds when I bleed
When am refused oxygen underwater your what I need
Every time I try wiping you out of my mind
I feel an emptiness till it's you I find
Some say love is blind
But to me it's only kind
Because love helped me find you
They say true love is found by a few
That's why I consider myself lucky
To have found such a sweet cookie
Am a diabetic and your sugar to me
Though am dying you set my heart free
Your better to watch than a perfect sunrise
Your my love and only your touch is my prize
In the darkness of the night
I would use you as my light
In life people come and go and you begin to ponder
Why absence makes the heart grow fonder
Am only an addict and your my addiction
You seduce me with your way of seduction
I don’t know what I would do without you
I wouldn’t be able to cope and wouldn’t make it through Baby you’re a hope for me
And a treasure to see
Baby I know this is going to last
Because your my present, future and past
You and me are similar in every way
When am down you know what to say
Am lost for words now
So I think I would take a bow
Orphan Child

He's out in the cold
With no-one to hold
Its just another day
Without a place to stay
Barely covered from head to toe
Knocking for food door to door
Without food and water he’s dying
Sitting on his own he starts crying
Nobody there to comfort the poor guy
They probably wouldn’t notice if he did die
Thinking of the past he silently starts to cry
Still doesn’t catch the attention of the passer by
His life became a nightmare overnight
Yet he still stands for what’s right
He’s never looked at nor taken what’s not his Neither does he crave gossip or showbiz
He’s not the only one, there’s many of his kind
Yet most of them aren’t noticed by mankind
Who’s going to hold him when he cries?
Who’s going to be there when he dies?

Yassar Ali
It’s been a long time since we’ve seen eye to eye
But my heart aches to look into your eyes before I die
One last glance at you with all your beauty
A chance to fulfil my life’s only duty
Ageing doesn’t seem to affect you at all
Your my life, my identity, my body and soul
I can remember the taste of her lips
The long nights and romantic trips
The long hours after school
When I tried to play it cool
But then later on I couldn’t help it
I poured out my heart bit by bit
How do I explain to you
What am going through
You turned me down
Now am wandering around
Without you I lose hope
Leaving me unable to cope
I hear the echo of your voice
Leaving me no actual choice
But to run till I find you
With love that is true
But why do I feel an emptiness in my heart
Whenever my baby and me are so far apart
What can I do to make you see
That the key to your heart is me
If you’re looking for me look in your heart
When you and me are far apart
Am not like the other guys who just play
Am here girl and am here to stay
Baby give me one more chance
Only for you I saved the last dance
You were my sun and you were my earth
We were destined to be since our birth
But then again who am I to tell you all this
You knew I was the one after our first kiss
I want to share my life with you
But you know what you got to do
Its getting late so might as well call it a night
As I lay in bed holding your precious photo tight

Yassar Ali
Pray For Change

I pray for changes in this harsh world of ours
I dream a dream that if I had the powers
Id make sure the earth never again felt a teardrop
Making sure the poor were never out of crop
Id aid the abandoned child and wipe away his tears
Bring a smile to them and overcome their fears
Change her name to princess rather than witch
Given to her by those cruel people trying to get rich
The pure evil parents who smashed their babies jaw id bring to trial
Sentencing them to life for snatching from the world their baby's smile
Id embrace the orphan child out in the cold
With a lifetime of warmth his ironed clothes id fold
But it’s just a dream nor do I have the power
We just have to wait till the final hour
When the parents who used their baby as an astray
Will feel the flames of hell on judgement day
A babies smile brings out the twinkle in your eye
Whilst a babies innocent tears make you cry
Every child is beautiful especially straight after their birth
Yet some evil parents snatch them from the face of the earth
Without giving the innocent a chance
To look at the truth with one last glance
Around the globe millions are dying
Meanwhile those in power aren’t even trying
Whilst others around the globe are fighting over the colour of skin
People are being cut up the same way you would cut a tin
They tell you it’s nothing just a bad dream
Then why do we still hear the innocent scream

Yassar Ali
Preparations For The Afterlife

We cannot deny that death is coming
Sooner or later our hearts will stop drumming
The spark that lit our lives will cease to burn and will eventually die out
We will question the choices we made in life and will be in doubt
Like every other moment we will beg for paradise
As we watch our whole life flash before our eyes
Showing the moments of happiness and pain
The paths we crossed only for personal gain
Every single word we ever spoke
The promises we made and broke
The da'wah to those around us we never did
Those shameful secrets on which we put a lid
For every single bad deed we committed we will be accounted for
And for every good deed we will be brought closer to paradise's door
When all hope seems lost hope for the Prophet to intercede for me and you
I pray for you and me to form love for the Prophet only which is true
This life of ours is but a test
Top grades are for the blessed
Failure is not an option for you and me
That is if we want to be hell free
During all the intolerable suffering & pain
We hope to meet The Prophet at His fountain
Blessed are the eyes that welcome prayer before the morning light
Blessed are the feet that feel no pain when standing in prayer at night
Some of the rights given by The Almighty to our sister's is denied
They are forced into a loveless marriage even though they cried
How can one watch their own feel such pain
Due to being abroad her attempt to escape is in vain
Oh Creator, bring ease to those brothers and sisters who are in hardship and pain
Give the needy crops by showering the dry fields with blessed rain

Yassar Ali
Prisoner Of Love

Why do I care whether you’re here or not?
You were my everything and now you’re not
You were the sun that gave my day light
You were the moon that brightened my night
Like a scaffold you were my backbone
You healed me like the skin when it’s torn
You were my mind providing me a vision
With memories serving as a fuelled provision
You were the feeling that I never felt before
Now you’re gone I won’t feel it anymore
You showed me someone who’s marriage material
But it turned out your existence was surreal
I used to feel at peace with you by my side
But now I feel something inside me has died
I can’t take a step forward in this broken land
Without you there to hold onto my hand
I used to wake up with only you in mind
I guess it’s true that love really is blind
You were my lover and also a friend
It’s a tragedy that it’s all come to an end
You gave a hand to hold and a shoulder to cry on
You were the best thing in my life and now you’re gone
Knowing that I still love you is the worst part Because if you ever returned I’d still give you my heart

Yassar Ali
Reminiscing

I sit here all alone in this dark room
Wondering how you made my life bloom
When life blinded me
You helped me see
Yet now am left in the darkness of the night
Thinking of the past and holding my memories tight
No matter how hard I try
I cannot help but cry
Why do my ears ache like mad for your sweet voice?
Every second I would hear your voice if it were my choice
Why do my eyes ache for a meaningful glimpse of you?
If it were up to me looking at you all day is what I would do
Why does my nose ache for a whiff of your scent?
I would smell you all day if it were my way that things went
Why does my tongue ache for a taste of you my sweet?
If it was up to me I would taste you till you felt the heat
Why do my fingers ache for your touch so smooth?
If it were up to me I would touch you all day and give up on food
Why does my heart ache for your hearts beat?
If it were up to me I would give my heart to you on a silken sheet
Why does this poem ache for your acceptance tonight?
Its pleading to you till the early morning light
I have no choice but to love you always
Am going to have to love you till my dying days
Even though were both so far apart
Your memory is imprinted on my heart
My heart will cease to burn
The moment you return
Hurry back to me quickly my beauty
So that I can fulfil my promised duty
The duty of a lifetime friend
Who promised it will never end
Every breath I take in calls out your name
Every step I take wishes it’s still the same
The same as things were as before
Waiting for you to knock on my door

Yassar Ali
Seconds To Go

If today was going to be your last day
What would someone like you do and say?
Would you spend your day with family and friends?
Putting the past behind and making amends
Talking to each of them like never before
Whilst the angel of death waits at the door
Would you shake hands with your enemy?
Telling them it’s your fault and that you’re sorry
Would they accept your apology or decline?
Blatantly refusing and pulling out the nine
Would you spend your last day in silence?
Watching the deaths due to the senseless violence
Men killing due to the colour of ones skin
Passing on bitter hatred to the next of kin
Would you spend your last day trying to preach?
Finding the deaf, dumb and blind to teach Showing them that life isn’t about disbelief
Guiding the people towards the holy road to relief
Would you spend your day before a higher entity?
With the call for prayer you’ll listen intently
Reading the holy verses that melt your heart
Decide what you’re going to do before you depart
The next breath isn’t promised to you and me
They’ll smite thee and begin to write your obituary
An elegy to depict to the people your life?
Showing your reaction to this bitter strife
On one bedside a mother rejoices at the first breath
Whilst on the other a mother cries at her sons death

Yassar Ali
Shattered Dreams

Walking into the darkness of the night
With only the sweetest of memories in sight
I tread on the autumn leaves
Wondering whether she grieves
Or could she have moved on from me
Did separation from me set her free?
I ponder over the truth with an uncontrollable feeling of rage
For too long these feelings of mine have been kept inside a cage
I guess it’s time to unleash the beast and set him free
Yet why are memories of her flaws hidden from me
Only her sweet side is visible to the naked eye
As I realise she’s the only one for me I begin to cry
All these thoughts keep running through my mind
Slowly but surely one by one they begin to unwind
These broken dreams will never be repaired
As I remember every kiss we ever shared
Every word that she had ever said
Is continuing to echo in my head
I stumble during my walk in the park
But not because of it being pretty dark
I stumble because of this burning pain in my heart
Which started when I realised we had to part
This broken heart of mine will never heal
Nor will these empty arms of mine ever again feel
The flame that once lit my life has been blown out
I guess this time it really is goodbye without a doubt Without her beside me I can’t bear another day
My time has finally come to be taken away
Either the waves or the wind take me away
Else I would remain in this weak body & slowly decay
This hollow body of mine is too old to go on
Will I be remembered by many or none?
It bothers me not as long as she knows my name
For it’s only her love that I crave not fame

Yassar Ali
She's Like A Star

Beautiful girl you’re like a star
You seem so near yet so far
What I wouldn’t give to bring you closer to me
Just for you to be able to see what it is that I see
Seeing from my eyes when looking at my love, you would only see light
For that’s how you appear to me even in the darkness of the night
Your skin feels so soft and looks as white as milk
Your hair so silky to touch better than any silk
I gaze at your beautiful eyes and think are they brown or green
I must admit they are the most beautiful pair of eyes I have ever seen
Girl you’re so damn perfect that you set me free
Am lucky your mine though your too good for me
I hope my love is enough for you
If it’s not I don’t know what I would do
Loving you is all I know
Everything else must go
You make my world beautiful in every possible way
I want to grow old with you together our hair will turn grey
I would give my whole life away
Just to be with you for a day
For you I would take a life but only mine
You know if I was a cat I would give all nine
Forgive me if I have ever hurt you
But remember, everything I do is for you
Every breath I take
Is only for your sake
You are my sun and you are my earth
We were destined to be ever since our birth
But why do I feel an emptiness in my heart
Whenever my baby and me are so far apart
What can I do to make you see
That the key to your heart is me
If you’re looking for me look in your heart
When you and me are far apart

Yassar Ali
Slowly Drifting Away

I ask you with searching eyes what you would do
If one day true love had decided to give up on you
Would you write your true love a love letter
To somehow try to make things a little better
From an outside view I look through the scope
Seeing our relationship scattered I lose hope
Maybe our relationship is broken beyond repair
The scaffold that held us together has begun to tear
This failing relationship cannot stand its ground
I fear one wrong move could bring it falling down
I could lay out a safety net for us to safely land
But your instincts would refuse my helping hand
I tried but I couldn't explain to you how I felt Education wasted as my vocabulary began to melt
You didn’t understand my words so I gave you a kiss
For a kiss speaks every language to translate this Today was the day the kiss of life failed me
The life has left your lips leaving them empty
Your lips felt cold as though love had took flight
Soaring through the wind into the hollow night
I tell you that it hurts me more than it hurts you
Yet you disagree saying there’s nothing you can do
When you will feel the burn you will compromise
For you will know you're seeing through my eyes
I don’t want to let you go but I know I must
As our relationship burns into scattered dust
I search these ruins for a relic to keep
None in sight I lose control and begin to weep
You don’t need to give a testimony for me to hear
A witness like a broken heart made the case clear
You watched our relationship fall apart
I wonder was it all a lie from the start?

Yassar Ali
Spellbound

Hazel eyes colour my black and white view
I see the enlightening colour so rich and true
Dark hair shimmering in the moonlight
Setting my fragile heart of glass alight
Without her aid the colours begin to fade
A smile dat snatches my heart in a midnight raid
I consume the air that's filled with her perfume
Pain's greeting it's doom as she enters the room
Our eyes meet and the world stops instantly
Our lips slowly begin to greet simultaneously
I can feel the heat radiating off her face
As she runs her hand along my back with grace
I gently kiss her and take her hand
Showing that she's the only one in demand
We then stare into each other’s eyes
As though we're waiting for a sunrise
The first to break the spell as she checks the time
'It's getting late so let's go back to mine'
She's promised me she'll make us a meal
Dinner at hers and dessert at mine was the deal
Hand in hand we walk towards her residence
A small cosy cottage awaits our presence

Yassar Ali
Sweet Memories

After everything that’s happened why do I still care
Is it because her femme smell lingers in the air
But why did it have to come to an end
Now this broken heart of mine will never mend
If you were to take a second to read my diary
You'd see what each day without you does to me
This poem for you I wrote
For you are my antidote
If one morning you wake up and feel something missing
Whilst having a flashback of us two in the woods kissing
Realise that am the one for you
And every promise I made was true
I wonder how your coping without me
Realise that without you I cannot see
These eyes cry a river for you
I wonder how I will make it through
With every blink
My hear begins to sink
When I close my eyes you appear
When I open my eyes you disappear
I don't want you back
I need you back
Here’s a White Rose for the friendship between me and you
Here’s a Red Rose for the love we had so true
If reality betrays you and leaves a stain
Am your rubber, use me to erase the pain
Do you still dream of me in your sights
For without you its sleepless nights
How will I carry on
Now that your gone
They say time heals all wounds I doubt its true
I have waited a lifetime and am still broken without you
If you were to press your ears close to my heart
You would surely hear the oceans waves part
I guess I will have to wait for your reply
Whilst bit by bit I slowly begin to die
Please be quick and hit send
Before my life comes to an end
'Laugh and the world laughs with you, Weep and you weep alone' Imagine how I feel
This pain of mine is real

Yassar Ali
The Harsh Reality

Perched on the edge of my dreams as I pray I don’t fall
Under my feet I can ever so clearly hear realities call
What makes reality think that I want to return
Why return to hardship after feeling the burn
A smile on my face but it’s nothing but a disguise
These people don’t even see the pain in my eyes
If they took their time and focused for a second on me
Their hearts would be petrified at what they see
My mind is rich whilst the body I possess is poor
One small cut and the blood begins to pour
People ignore the fragile sign across my heart
Though they should handle me like Picasso’s art
Nobody cares about those feelings deep inside
They just want what’s visible on the outside
They can try their utmost to inflict upon me pain
But they will never be able to bring me down again
Only she my pearl actually knew the real me
I was caged like a beast until she set me free
This heart of mine was broken and old
Until she touched it and turned it to gold
Our time together was just like a dream
Slowly but surely we drifted downstream
Now you are so many miles away from me
That my vision is lost making it hard to see
I can’t see the difference between day and night
Whenever my beautiful pearl isn’t in sight
I guess I will never see her pretty smile again
From now on its going to be a life full of pain
I thought it would be wise using this new disguise
But still it cannot conceal the pain in my eyes
My eyes wander onto the vultures flying overhead
Could it be that I am dying or am I already dead?

Yassar Ali
The Jewel Of Creation

He is the one who is the twinkle in Abdullah's eye
He is the one who in the final hours will respond to our cry
And He is the one who is Amina's little treasure
Who's praise gives our fragile hearts pleasure
At His birth came from all directions light
Bringing us blind people back our sight
Oh what a day and what a birth it must have been
A baby without an umbilical cord and also clean
On His birth, the first flash of noor He gave out allowed Amina to see as far as Syria
Imagine the sight of the one who's light it is and think about how far He can see and how much clearer
The one who called us towards the light
Spent hours standing in prayer at night
He has been where we haven’t been
And has seen what we haven’t seen
He declined the wealth and the life of ease
For His Lord’s sake who He tries continuously to please
Some people say that He is just another
And that we should treat Him like a brother
If that is so then why aren’t we any greater
With our names besides the True Creator?
We unworthy people can’t even compare to the companions even a bit
Yet we want to compare to whom They follow the last and final Prophet
We are pleading for His intercession
With His praise a prized possession
Oh Halima you are honoured for raising the Praised one
Your memory lives on though you are gone but never forgotten
A little longer in this cruel world I’d linger
For a glimpse of His blessed finger
Inshallah we will rectify our mistakes before
Before the angel of death will knock on our door

Yassar Ali
The Saviour

The earth was in chaos with the people being lost
The people would kill for money no matter the cost
The devil was happy at that current time
Then came the one who brought an end to the crime
He who was sent by the Creator of the heavens and the earth
Illuminated the entire world with His miraculous birth
At first the message was spread to a few
But then the number of followers grew
Then they marched the streets saying that GOD IS ONE
And that besides the true King of the kings there is none
Why fear the kufah when He had The Almighty on His side Islam was victorious no matter how hard the kufah tried
Our Prophet prayed for us Muslims with His last breath
Yet we don’t mention Him unless we think were close to death
How does man sleep without praying?
What image do you think we are portraying?
The Messenger calls us to paradise
Where true luxury and pleasure lies
Yet we don’t respond to the call
Instead we arrogantly walk tall
Without His remembrance worship is to no avail
When all else will fail only His intercession will prevail
We wish to be able to remove our pain
By drinking from His blessed fountain
I wonder what the Almighty will say
When we will ask for another day
Another day on the earth
And start again from birth
Either way then it will be far too late
By then we will have met our fate
Stand in prayer at night
And you will regain sight

Yassar Ali
The Trustworthy

The morning sun rose and blinded the people with its bright light
Yet in shade was the one who split the moon during the night
The cloud shaded Him wherever He walked
Whilst only truth came out whenever He talked
With His movement of the finger the moon itself split
With it the sun returned and the world once again lit
With the boycott against the Muslims the kufahs did act
But by the Almighty’s command the ants did extract
Only God's name was left on the written boycott whilst eaten was every other letter
The written boycott was in favour of the Muslims and their situation became better
This man made us love each other
Whilst making us sister and brother
When He was a child the animals would rush to stand by His side
Only to have His blessed hand touch them and recover those who would’ve died
The one who’s presence changed the condition of the blessed Halima's ride
Also changed the whole way of life and changed the minds of those who denied
Known to be truthful and trustworthy even by His foe
He was a God fearing man and truly humble to the core
A mountain of gold and a life of ease would knock at His door
But He refused and chose to give His wealth to the poor
His companions are like the stars shining so bright
They will guide you towards the path that is right

Yassar Ali
Ultimate Safe Haven Finally Reached

The smell of our tradition lingers today in the street
Whilst new shoes cover young ones feet
Don’t forget the qualities you gained in Ramadan today on this day of Eid
For I warn you the urge to sin has risen for the devil has now been freed
The Prophet Hud warned the people they will be raised on Judgement Day
The people denied saying their bones won’t return after they decay
It is not right for you to bear a grudge
Against those whom you wrongly judge
Make peace for love is the only answer
Whilst hatred is like a spreading cancer
The Prophet Noah warned the people of their ways and to follow the right path
Yet they mocked Him until the water drowned them and they felt Allah’s wrath
We Muslims need to control our desire
Lest we become of those who will burn in the fire
This life of ours is a test and will end soon
You will be judged equally be it poor or a tycoon
The Prophet Jesus spread the word of God and too many His message did reach
Those thought to be holy from the Jews didn’t even practise what they preach
Those who are righteous shall walk humbly towards the right path
Whilst the infidels shall walk arrogantly on the path to God's wrath
Before welcoming death
Cherish your every breath
The Prophet Muhammad was sent as a mercy for mankind
His beautiful face we crave if only we could just rewind
Though mankind was weak and broken
It felt whole again once He had spoken
What’s the fine smell that lingers in the air
Is it from the relic cherished in the form of His hair?

Yassar Ali