Searching For You

Wondering around aimlessly
Changing from different arms without souls
I try to find you

Smiles and tears come and go as I continue my journey in different roads searching and searching

With each new experience
I loose hope of ever finding you I dropp to my knees and wonder where are you?

Hope escapes me and I find myself at lonesomes home giving up the dream of you

My days come and go cold nights without hugs and not a hint of light shining in my heart

Till my dear friend Morpheus whispers; go towards ancient land you will find him there waiting with warm kisses and smiles.
