I never know what brought me here and what made me to use this pet name. All I know is I do love poetry that much and this is the best place for me to share my inner thoughts, experiences, triumphs, feelings, frustrations, achievements and my compositions.

Happy reading.

A Song

A song comes to mind
An old, beautiful song that is
Makes me reflective of the past
Makes me sing a little bit of the piece
Am not a singer for that matter
Nor have a golden voice
Yet my heart feels the same
To sing 'till my heart is out
To burst my emotions
A passion I suppose
A gift to cherish

jan fuentez

A Wish

How I wish I could see you once more
How I wish I could talk to you like before
How I wish you were here with me right now
How I wish you could ease the pain somehow

Years have passed, you're still here
Your smile, soft voice still linger
How could I accept the truth that you're gone
How could I give up, you were my man

Please help me do it
'Cause I've been yearning to forget
To forget not the memories and the jest
But for me to move my life for the best

I know you're happy now up there
Watching over me from afar 'till here
Sensing your embrace so warm
An angel who guards me from harm

Am Free

Am free again
Free from untruthfulness
Life has to go on Nothing to moan
The future is in my hand
No matter how dark
Or how uncertain it maybe
I will trudge the pathway slowly

Beachwalk

Following the need to take a break
My paces bring me to where I love the most
The beachwalk is still awesome, unexplainable
Under the brisking sun that's about to set
My thoughts drifted that almost left me empty
Empty of the world where I was standing
Pictures of the yesteryears appeared, sparkling
What a nice scenery!

Being In Love

Being in love with someone is
The most wonderful
Feeling one could ever feel
It makes you laugh, without Saying a word, smile with Nothing to gain, just the thought of it
Uplifts your inner soul
Boosts your energy
Makes life really beautiful and meaningful
It's a wonderful gift GOD has ever given
And more than enough to be grateful

jan fuentez

Destiny

I was wondering what would be my destiny
'Cause it's unknown to many
I can hear whisper from afar
But not clear enough to Comprehend what it would be
I dream to reach my goal
To have a family on my own
To be contented in any anyway
But it seems too close to dream
But too far to grasp
Life's complicated, life's full of surprises
And sometimes it goes beyond
What you have expected it to be
So that destiny is always a destiny
A mystery, an unknown to many

jan fuentez

Devastated

This is my reaction to the recent war between Gaza and Israel.

I was devastated of what I saw
Children, women, elderly people were crying and dying
Innocent lives caught in the crossfire
How it will end, when it will stop
I believe everybody's right to live
To have a descent living peacefully
But with this war, it's hard to understand
It's reason, it's uncomprehensilbe
I never saw images like these
So vivid, and the message is clear
Senseless fighting must come to end
And it has to end today
Not soon but now

Dream

I dream of you and I do'nt know why
Your face seemed so real
The message I do really feel
Questions hanging on me
What does it mean to be Can't actually predict nor tell
But deep inside
I was happy to see you
Even only in dreams

Everything But Music

I wrote this piece during my birthday last year (April 15,2008) .

My thoughts drifted so far away, like vivid old photographs in my mind. Even now, I am speechless of the way things in my life. Moment by moment, here I am still holding on to memories of the past.

Come what may, I told myself. Deep in my soul, clear reflection keeps on burning like the flame that truly hurts.

How could you do this to me? How I wish I could say "I know him so well" but I was in vain. You left me all alone in that terminal, wondering if somebody will rescue me from reality. What an insensitive gesture of you!

"My beautiful girl" used to be the words you said to me, flattering word maybe and yet I was happy. Words of love or was it for compassion? I don't want to know, a move you may call something stupid.

Many days slowly came to pass, this angel has been through with that careless whisper of yours, and steadily love begins to fade.

I have regained my life, and I am back, thanks to my friends. This is my life and I know it is God's will.

I could stand up once more, I never thought of that 'till I said "hey, stop fretting my dear".

Impossible dream? No, now I am born free! ! ! !

Failure

They say love is the greatest Like when you feel it to the highest Everything's cool, everything's happy
But when failures come
To end that big smile
Slowly wonders fade away
You start to ask why
Searching for positive response
And yet when it comes to end
It has to end
No matter what happen

Fly

I wanted to fly
Fly to the highest degree
To a place of nowhere
Where I could act freely
I wanna be free, let go
Of something and I wanted to do more
To act on my own, without hesitation
Without reservation
Independence is hard to achieve
I feel like being deceive
Being restricted, being locked up
How excruciating

jan fuentez

Frustration

Frustration engulf my whole being
Wanna cry out loud, wanna shout
Oh how poor you are my dear
What a pitiful sight
Shame on you
Stop lingering on that thing
And don't do it once more
Poor girl, poor little girl

jan fuentez

Happy

Everyone can see
The things happening in me
That was not used to be
They say am now happy
Unlike the past days, so gloomy
A face of smiling one, not a
Single frown that bore
That was the past, now no more
Rain now stops, sunshine starts
And flowers bloom
I love the feeling!

How Could I

How Could I

I don't know why I feel this way
Simply because it's not right
Can't hold on the way it was before Am I going to shun it and Shut the whole world without the "angel"
The earlier, the better, it's a cliché
And I think it's the best way
Every time I do it, it pulls me around
I must do it but I how could I?

I Know Him

Dedicated to Michael
June 11,2009

I am saddened by the news I heard
He's in the limelight once again
I know he is confused
Perplexed and exhausted
With all the altercations
And unstoppable invalid arguments
But I know he can face it squarely
I know him for years now
He is a good man
Real gentleman
Dedicated, kind, serious
All the nicest traits I know
You can see in him
He really is.

I Miss Him

I miss him, his face
His scent, his laughter
His loud voice, his being gentle
His being he
He makes me special
More than every woman
He cares for me and I really love the feeling
I realize he admires me
And it goes smoothly that way
Until a player comes in
And spoils the force from within
He was taken, grabbed by someone else
Worst he vowed to that I suppose
The feelings became irrational
And slowly faded away
In my arms and strength
Can't hold you anymore
And I must set you free
No matter how painful would that be

I Saw You

I saw you this morning
Wearing your blue shirt with a smile
The hair so black, the same muscular body
Still your smile fascinates me
An unexpected encounter between us
Two people who came from the past
In silence, it can not be mend forever

It's Christmas

The lights are on
Green, red, yellow, white
In a dark room
The air is gentle
Slowly whispering and Dampening one's skin
It's Christmas and music fills
The heart, softens the listener
Lovely night indeed and I
Remember a story of a child
Who loves presents
But nobody gives
She longs for that Enviies her friends
But she has no choice
Still Christmas comes
And she sings the carols
Minus the presents she likes
But with her family and friends
She feels more secure, delighted and complete
It's more than she wants and

Journey

The journey in life is full of mystery
That even my inner self can't figure it wholly Varied thoughts registered in my brain
How is it like to be happy without in vain

Every problem they say has a solution
It keeps going on, and going on and on Unstoppable and recycled as they are, the chain of life
Impugn not for it may hurt like a knife

All these strifes are burdens to endure
To be carried on gloriously for sure
Focus mainly on the rough road
For this unending exodus, that is so bold

Up there somebody great is watching
Every step we have, every breath we are taking Each hair strand is accounted for
So be it, silence is the armor

Just Say No

Just say no
If you don't care
Be prudent to say it
To tell the truth
Rather than hide it inside
Be brave to admit
Practice saying it
Otherwise you'll be
Like a coward
All throughout

Let Go

Why you're here again
I don't know why really
You've been gone for years
You disapper without a trace
Of no whys and hows
Still acceptance is in my heart
And now you try to haunt
My peaceful life
I have move on
My life's in the right path
Please let me go this time finally
And I will let you go forever

Letter

Got a message one fine day
A letter coming from a friend
I opened it with enthusiasm
So eager to flip the pages
Simply because I missed it
A smile turned into grin
Followed by cryin'
Without saying a word
Crushed the paper into pieces
It was not a happy note
Why is this happening
Can't answer
My dreams shattered at once
I must say goodbye
To this liar guy
The innocent, the unborn
Must bloom on its own

Looking For Something

I know that I was looking for something
That did not exist for the meantime
How could I find it so soon?
Ah, what a frustrating desire of mine
Suddenly I remember
That things are not in the right track
What a waste of time!
I should have been more careful
The way I move, the way I decide

jan fuentez

May I Love You

May I love you
From afar, from a distant
Without your knowing, I do care
For you a lot, no matter what I've strive to stop this Feeling, this emotion
And yet it it keeps burning
Like a flame
So hot, and I don't Know the consequences

Mistake

Everything is a hoax
Not for real, not sterling
No genuiness, a mistake
If only I could make it possible
I would turn back the time
To have peace of mind
Accepting what's real or not
And I will be totally free

Moment

I found this piece on my notebook when I cleaned my closet. It's been a while that I did not bother to write a piece and post in here for some reasons I only know myself. This could be one way once again to get back on poetry. Hope you're still there to read my piece! ! ! !

I'm all alone this moment
But I guess I'm not lonely
I just enjoy the solitude
Being solitary for a time being
Is not that hard for me
In fact it gives peace of mind
Minding my own business
Am on the right track I suppose
Sometimes I really feel awkward
In the sense that I feel nobody
There for me in terms of fulfilling
My desire, passion as well as My dreams in life
Probably that forms part of life
And I have to abide with that Just the same I'm so bless
With my family and friends
Around, how I can ask for more
It's more than enough I think
The job that I have right now
It's more than a blessing to me
Thanks to him
He gives me the opportunity
Of importance on me
I will be grateful of it
For the rest of my life!

Morning Rain

I woke up in the morning
Delighted by the echoes
Of the rainfall that brings Comfort and coldness
Upon my body
Every dropp of it emerges
A certain feeling of longing
For someone's not there
Anymore to grasp
The gloomy sky, the coldness
Of the surrounding Sum up to the loneliness
Suddenly felt by the heart
Will you ever be back
Where you belong
Or stay where you are now
Queries kept flowing
Like floods of emotions
Desired hope of eternity
Still emerges upon
This lonely creature
Someday happiness
Will be granted and it will Be forever.

For my Aunt Patricia who recently left us forever

Music

The music keeps on playing
'Cool Change' is in the air, quite soothing
For a while it relieves my whole being
From the humdrum, so intriguing
Won't allow to eat me up
Fighting down to the very core of me
I know what's reality
And am not that easy to give it up

jan fuentez

My Heart

My innocent heart succumbs
To him and plead guilty
Guilty of being in love with him tenderly
My world became bright and colorful
I'm looking each day as a gift, and I'm grateful Nothing compares the beautiful feeling I have
For this moment I gave you my love

You're a gift, I said to myself
You're the man I'm dreaming so swift
You made me convinced that I'm special and real I will keep it, the rest of my days, this is what I feel

jan fuentez

Need You Back

I need you back
In my arms
Longing for your embrace
Yearning for your caress
And now it's not possible
Anymore and you're gone

News

A news rings on my ear
Telling me that it's officially over
You have made your sacred vow
With her 'till the rest of your life
Honestly it was no shocked at all
Not even a surprise gesture
Perhaps I've been through With that chapter and i will not intend
To open it back once more

jan fuentez

No Regrets

You're here again to disturb my peace
For I see your face
Not once, twice but countless times
Like a rugged mountain I wanted to climb
Am starting my life without you
I know I can do it so true
There's no turning back the way I was
I have had enough with the past
If you care for me, you'll bear me
Accept my pleading, please leave it to me
My miseries may unbearable
No regrets, not at all

Not Again

When I go to bed
I soundly asleep as expected
Then a shadow from afar came Perplexed of what I saw
I suddenly get back to the norm
Can't bear the scene
Unforgotten face of yours appeared
Why? I asked myself
Bygone should be bygone
And I don't want to have you again
Not again.

On Paper My Shield

Secretly I admire you
Slowly it grows into love so true
I ca'nt stop myself not to feel this way
Wonderful feeling, I experience everyday

Day by day, I cheerish life
Amidst all these heavy strife
You alone inspire me to live
In a distance, I see you, I feel relieve

I know you will not be what I wanted to be
I beg you to permit me to feel this way
On paper, my only shield to heal my heart
I retain my sentiment though we stay apart

Only A Memory

I saw the past the day before
Such a photographic scene came into mind
Do I need to remember everything
I must stop this, I have to Such was just a passing scenario
That can never be push through once more
Seem to envelope my inner self
Such a lovely memory to reckon

Party

I had my dress for the party
Simply because you will there
And I will be there
We talked, met at the gym
Chatting about the event
We're happy along with friends around us
You and me will be okey
Thinking it will never end
That day with you
Nothing more I could ask of that very moment
Unfortunately there came she Suddenly destroying the moment
I was hurt, I left you
You came after me
Trying to stop my leaving
I can not pretend anymore
I have to leave you and I can't figure why it happened
Everything was ruined
The plan, the party, the game
I cried, really cried more than I could
In bed I felt betrayed, dismayed
But you never heard a word from me
How could that be
I have to stop it before it's too late

November 26,2008

Perhaps

Perhaps am on the verge
Of forgetting the heartache
I have been through
I need to move on

Life is too short
To complicate things
Beyond the norm
Life is beautiful
A cliché always heard
I'd rather go with that I really will

Princess

(I wrote this piece when I was still in college (August 17,1999) while waiting for my professor. I wrote it in one of my books and just recently I was able to dig it up while scanning my old stuffs in school.)

I would have wanted
To be your princess
But fate is so cruel
Taken by the arms of somebody
You're now unleashed from me
Must take it though painfully
'Cause that's how I'm used to be Someday I'll be reaching my stars
With the added sunshine from afar
'Till the rest of my days

Radio

The radio is on,
Music is in the air but I can't relate
What it brings
Thoughts drifted without Stopping and that
It reaches to never-ending
Paranoia of mixed feeling
Alas it's communicating
And I found the real meaning
My world evolves with you
Such a wonderful sight for us two Suddenly it crashes, shattered
Into broken pieces
Can't be disguised
Nor mending
My eyes glow
I woke up wondering
Still the radio is on
And music is still in the air

Release

Every dropp of rain that falls
Seems like years that gone before
A face seemed unclear to Slowly starting to appear
Now I freely see what is it
Watching from afar, now I get Hearing the voice of the past
With birds singing a lullabye
There you were in the midst of goodbye
Shedding tears I managed to keep Dropping one by one, the aching so deep
Can't hold you anymore, not even the tips of your finger
So smooth that was, wanting to linger
I need to accept the fact in me
You're no longer be mine eternally
Just a mere wish I long to have in my dreams
And in my sleep the thought gaily beams
Simply can not hold you tightly
May now release you fairly

Sad News

I was so sad to hear the news
My friend Willy is gone without giving any clues
A week ago he was there to lend me a hand
When we had an outing in the upland

I remember he was there to help me
Everytime I do need a hand on that very day
He made me laughed, all of us there
Without knowing his fate will soon be over

And we will miss him certainly.....

jan fuentez

Sadness

Behind those brown eyes
Are sadness unfathomable
No one knows except her
Her pain excruciating
Misery engulfs her aura
How sad, very sad

Send Her A Flower

This little lass has a dream
Long time wish to be fulfilled
Not a single moment she Loses her hope, for hope
Springs eternal
The color, the scent, the manner
Yet there is no one
Not single profile has ever done
It will remain a wish
Till the day reckons
This girl will hang up to that
Very soon she'll have it
Send her a flower instead
Would you?

Sleep

I can't sleep tonight
Though it's almost midnight
Drifted thoughts fly to nowhere
Can't even figure why I'm here
In bed I laid down my head
Pillows so soft, is all I need

jan fuentez

Stars

The stars flicker like tiny bulbs
What a lovely night I said
But is it really lovely night?
Can't find the real answer
Maybe I'm half awake of the moment
Maybe I'm not also
As I try to pinch my fair skin
I could feel not an ache, but Rather, an emptiness within I'm bored and exhausted
With my daily life, daily routine
Quite monotonous, very lonesome

jan fuentez

Stripped

I feel like Being stripped
Of something within me
I was so embarrassed
Then I could not say
A word, even a single one
I managed to smile
To protract, to say something
Is never my game
I never dare to reply
I simply can not
I managed to bear
Everything, and everything

The Child In Me

I found my reason to go back
To where I long before and want
My childhood days were unsatisfied
How I wish I have lots of it
Everything that a child loved
I wish I have a Barbie or even visit Disney
But time and space never permit me
Made me feel no good desperately
Uncertainties and resources are beyond reach
How unlucky, so unlucky
Unfortunate for the others maybe
Yet the child in me keeps burning, lingering
Slowly vows are now fulfilled
It's never too late, I never failed

jan fuentez

Thoughts

Drifted thoughts engulf this mortal without any reason
Here I am hoping to have you this season
Alone in this dark, cold room, am wanting you near
To get home, to where you belong my dear
Then I woke up, it was just a dream to reckon
Your face slowly faded away for me to hold
Convincing myself you're not real anymore
Started to weep with tears, dropp little by little

jan fuentez

Torn

You torn me apart
By breaking my heart
Am I to blame for loving you
The question holds so true
Maybe we're not really meant to be
As long as I intend to keep it within me
The more the grasp is impossible
With that I am now unable
What else can I do now
I need to let go that vow
I should and must somehow

Truth

I feel disgusted at the workplace
So annoyed of my colleagues talking
I never thought they would say
Things that were unproven, untrue
For an innocent creature, a neophyte on the line
Who is eagerly trying
To be gracious and friendly
To be affable to almost everybody
We're just having fun, enjoying each moment
Bonding like siblings, just for a while
'Cause we seldom have the time to do it
And yet there are stories, mere stories
Albeit it's not me their pointing
Find it strange to notice
Fabricated, totally irrelevant, very disgusting
Seemingly loathsome, simply irritating
Ah, they are not worth even a single moment of despair
'Cause the truth will always set us free

jan fuentez

Until Now

Until now I hang on
To that very promise
On a night so full of happiness
Love is in the air, am so blessed
Time is not the essence
We spent the whole night without hesitation
No hang ups, just the two of us
Confessing each other's feelings
A wonderful sight to behold
And I locked it inside my heart

Voice

The phone beeps in a second or two
A message is in the process
Either from a friend or a foe
Didn't take a glance, not a chance
Unmindful of what's in store inside
So weary to get up in this bedside
Suddenly a voice softly dictates
Hey, stand up
Take time to listen, to care, to stop
Which proved out exciting and Beyond imagination
The world becomes clearer now
With that alone somehow

jan fuentez

We Meet

We meet today
And I don't like the aura
I've sensed something no good
Straight from your eyes I see
Never ending queries

What If

What if
Impugns my heart
Does it make sense at all

Words

As I heard you speak
Your eyes shines like stars
In the night
Every word you said
I listened, I absorbed
Down to the very core of me
I embrace all of those
And I feel the truthfulness
Every single of it
I can't let my day be taken
Away from this moment
Simply because words are Now spoken and I
Know it will come

jan fuentez

You Are My Star

You're my star
That guides me through the path
Of my every dealings with life
You shine so brightly with a wink
You're always there to give light
On this broken heart of mine
I will cling to that alone and always
And I promise I will be
There if you need me
Be my star forever
And I will be yours, I care

Your Face

Your face suddenly haunts my person
And I don't know the reason
Memories have been laid down behind
But it seemed to affect my mind
And I remember a story of long time ago
Such was a childhood tale, so true
Between a boy and a girl
Who were separated by time and space
Not even a single word was spoken
Just to close the meaning of partnership
Perhaps it needs to end for good
And maybe no more nightmares to be told
I can now rest after this piece unfold

jan fuentez

You'Re Not Here

If you're not here
I don't know how to linger
Such hopes of eternity to be with you forever
I can't manage to go on my life
And I can't accept this heavy strife

Why did you leave me in love with you
Will you stop clinging my mind, please do
Let me set my own freedom to embrace
No matter how difficult, I will face
