

Poetry Series

jeree ferguson
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

jeree ferguson(March 11,1987)

I love to write poems but i have never wrote a poem inless it rhymns. I have been writting them since i was fourteen years old. I get my inspiration from things that has happened to me or things that are going on in my life. Someday i plan to pursue them further.

Been Feeling

Down and out dont know what to do cant shake this feeling of being blue Some days im happy and some im not try to calm down but still im hot I wish it was easy but it aint cant go a day without having a complaint Dwelling on the past wanna let go it's tearing me up, cant let my emotions show I really do believe you, you sound sincere hold on to me cause i want you near I know in my heart you i cant be without now you see im yours with no doubt I'm sorry and yes accept your apology Baby im yours you can have all of me Have let you down want do it again
I agree with you, cant be your friend
We have crossed that line could never go back praying i find the trust i lack Im so in love, that i cant change your respect, love and honor is what i want to gain These are things i uually conceal Just had to let you know how i feel.

jeree ferguson

I Brokedown Then Brokethrough

Everything is going wrong so i fall to my knees
The things i set to do i really cant achieve Feels like a burden on me weighing so much All i need is mercy, grace and his healing touch Everything is so dark cant see very clear Been through hell but know my blessings near Cant think straight thoughts are made of clouds
When I make it through gone praise him out loud Im all cried out theres no more tears to cry Yes I've been broke down but my soul will never die
He heard my prayers even when I didnt know There were things that were stressing me I had to let go Thanking him through the good and the bad For everything that I have ever had

jeree ferguson