

Poetry Series

Karen Thomson
- poems -

Publication Date:
2006

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Karen Thomson()

A Liberal Nother

I'm a liberal mother
I steal my daughter's claes I wear wonderbras and mini skirts she wears vests and leggings I go partying till all hours she goes to M74 meetings and lectures me on late nights and early mornings I roll a joint and slam doors she shakes her head and hopes that i'll grow up eventually she's merr sensible than I'll ever be but still i'm buying her a handgun and a lifetime's supply of bullets for her 16th birthday

Karen Thomson

When I Love

when I love
its hard its nails
and
teeth
an legs
an howling like
an biting
the heads off
bluebells
an bombing
Bride of Glasgow
an
its
its
its its been so fuckin' long, I cannae remember what it is

Karen Thomson