

Poetry Series

Kassie Selders
- poems -

Publication Date:
2010

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Kassie Selders(10-19-1980)

Dreaming Of You

If i only knew what to do cause all i can do is dream of you.
I have never seen such beauty before then when I saw you walk through that door.
You have amazed me in so many ways thinking of you i am always in a daze.
Watching you and everything you do i just wish i knew, you felt the same way too.
I want to touch hold u kiss you but that is something i dont know if you want me too do.
In your arms is where i melt and i will always remember how that felt.
So for now i will just keep dreaming and remember those moments that i am keeping.

Kassie Selders

My Rainbow

I have this rainbow that no one can see
It is planted right inside of me it is made of all bright and beautiful colors.
the first is bright yellow and just like me beautiful and bright making the best of what can be.
the next color is blue bold and strong never wanting to let anyone down and yet always stands his ground and after that is the deepest of purple the passion, a lady's man yet sensitive and artistic to everyone around the next color to my rainbow is pink she is beautiful in every way seeing the world in the beauty that we have lost, and picturing it the way it should be, with castles and princesses all around.
at the end of my rainbow is a strong orange he is brave and strong and makes for sure all see's with a double look and all of these beautiful colors in my rainbow make the most perfect combination i could have ever imagined when i look to the rain and see this little sparkle
i know there is nothing that could ever compare and i know i will never feel despair.
for through rain snow sleet and hail i will look at my rainbow and find my happiness there

Kassie Selders

The Prison In My Head

Here I am again inside locked doors,
Waiting on the day when i can be free of these floors.
This place in here is not so bad,
There are things we get that some have not had.
Three meals a day, a shower and soap,
A place to sleep and most are free of dope.

But in these walls there is a prison inside my head,
And every time i close my eyes-it is something that i dread.
In this place there is no way to cover up my tears,
And my cry's of shame no one shall ever hear.
If I could turn the clock back and not be so lame,
Then for once maybe my head could rest without shame.
I know I can only change my present and my future,
But the memories inside my head make it a daily torture

I hope you all know i never meant to hurt you,
And I can only pray someday we can start again fresh and new.
My family, your love, friendship and support are all the things I will need,
Without them I dont think i will be able to proceed.
My dreams are of you night and day,
And with that I will just say.
I love you more than words could ever say,
And from now on I am starting a new day.
I will never escape the memories in my head,
And I will have to face them every night in bed.
I want to change and be someone new
But for me to accomplish this I NEED YOU.

Kassie Selders