

Poetry Series

keytrona johnson
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

keytrona johnson()

'B'

The letter 'B' is the second letter in the alphabet but number one in my heart.
The way you walk the way you talk is like a platinum song, hit right of the chart.
The sound I hear when I say your name,
Oh 'B' it drives me insane. It's no shame in my brain. The love I have for you feels like a diamond chain. People who loved you once probably feel the same.
So who's to blame. They let a precious jewel get away. But I have to preserve you for a rainy day when situations change.

keytrona johnson

Before I Let Go

To let go something you love feels like your being punished from above.
The skies used to be pretty and blue, now leaving you is hard to do.
There is no more lies no more tears, just alot of pain and regret from the time I waisted in those years.
My heart skip a beat, my eyes well up with tears from thinking about all the love we shared in those three years.
To be complete is happy and free. Not baby I promise I am going to leave. The time has come to say good bye I promise you baby the love I have for you will not die. Sincerly yours through it all but now its time to take charge. Im leaving you.

keytrona johnson

Deceptive Love

I fell in love with you. The person who knew all my biggest hopes and dreams. I guess that was my point of view. One day you promised me they will all come true. Instead I recieved and empty card with sorry I missed you. But in reality you knew what to y brown eyes you were full of lies and I never seen it coming before my make me feel like no other has made me feel but in reality it was all not real. Took a chance on love now lost without words. First time in my life I let go and thought I was flying like a dove. Funny how it makes you feel that four letter thing called love. You stole my heart you were a liar from the start, Now loving you is hard from a far. The distance between us is so hard to bare, but I can find deceptive love anywhere.

keytrona johnson

My Tears For You Are All Drying Up.

It hurts so bad to see you leave me all alone again. For the last couple of months in the three years we have been together I have cried myself to sleep. I asked you to please stay you said you have to go away. Time has passed, feels like the pain wont last. Now when its time to sleep no tears fall. I just rock myself to sleep now. If leaving me this way continue, eventually one day the pain is going to fade away. Someday my love for you will fade away. When that day comes when I fall asleep no tears, no rocking just get in my bed and go to sleep. I will be leaving you behind to figure out, You messed up you ran out of time. Just to let you know loving and leaving you is not a crime. It feels like a punishment for a man who has no time.

keytrona johnson

The Door Left Open Behind

As time goes by I realize that loving you was painful and full of lies. Somehow I wonder where time went trying to remember how time was spent. Through it all I loved you even more trying put away the hurt never closing that door. I left it open just so you can see how much you mean to me. But now the wind is blowing the rain poaring and the door is slowly closing. Will time allow you to remember what is left behind or due to the rain and wind you will never come back to that door again.

keytrona johnson