

Poetry Series

lala duran
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

lala duran()

Tears

I came into the as an innocent child,
And every thing I did I smiled.
Throught the years I grew even stronger
From all the tears I shed and all my agonizing fears.
All the pain and sorrow I went through, committing crimes
I tryed not to follow my parents footsteps.
The older I got the more i would try to fight
Untill one day when I turned 14
I asked God 'why is this happening to me? '
Then he said to me
'My child to live you have to suffer don't ask why this is happened to you, ask me why you choose to suffer and make your live even more rough then it already was.'
Hearing this made my heat hurt so much, already knowing that I had already touched the dirt.

lala duran