

Poetry Series

Luke Garner
- poems -

Publication Date:
2006

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Luke Garner(I shall not tell)

Born a third child.

The soul of a poet and a story writer....But engraved with horror and drearfulness.

I, Luke Garner, is a person borned into his own astounding world..... Worried about things, and yet never afraid to try it.....That is how I am and I will always be just me.

Heart

Everyone needs a heart.

To feel feelings....

To feel happiness

But most important, to feel love....

Love can only be a small thing, but to the person that is actually loving,

it is their whole world.

Loving someone is great.

But remember, love can be dreadful, but it will always be good...no matter what the occasion.

Luke Garner

Ice

Ice.....

everyone says it's cold, dreadful and unforgettable. But at this time, the time of love, Ice will not strike.....

For it strikes at the heart like a stab in the heart. But with love, the Ice melts into all but a small piece of material.

And all that material is....is love....

Love is really all you need. Love is magnificent when great and Ice can never melt that, only at darkest times. But for now...

Love over powers ice.

Luke Garner

My Hollow Heart

He stared at the person that was the most beautiful person he had seen in all of his life, so good looking, so kind and so happy looking....
He inched forward to take a closer a look....
And the wind came, flying her away into dust.....

How he wished, he could see her again, but now....the girl is dead....He felt so hollow....
Like his heart was just empty, he sang a sad song to cheer him up, but he couldn't resist...
He was in love with the girl, forever and forever on....

Luke Garner

The Glass Door

The door he couldn't get pass....
It was the glass door....
The one he could never go pass,
not even if he tried....
He tried to get pass it.....
But it wouldn't open.
But when his love came along...
The glass broke and he was free...
Free from his fears and worries....
Now he could become a soul that was happy and fun.
'Good-bye glass door, forever! ' The man said.
He walked freely out and he held his lover's hand and together they smiled.

Luke Garner