Mlungisi Radebe()

Mlungisi Radebe is a poet, novelist and freelance editor who draws inspiration from streams of nostalgia. He is a painter who paints with colours most people never knew even existed. His poetry is often traditional, and borders mainly on love, captivating hope, life and death and atheism; iconoclastic in most. He is from South Africa, Durban.

He's performed all over the world, instilling the seed of poetry through spoken word and poetry readings. He's won a lot of poetry slams, and gained fans who've given him the sobriquet 'smooth-as-silk-poet'.
