

Poetry Series

Nonye Chinagorom
- poems -

Publication Date:
2012

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Nonye Chinagorom()

All I Ask

All that matters the love we share; the pain and sorrow that i can bear.

All i ask is to hear your voice, that which says in my time of trouble 'smile my love because after winter comes spring'.

All i ask is to see those eyes that look at me like i am the only person in the world.

All i ask is to smell that indescribable scent of yours that assures me of your presence.

All i ask is to feel those hands on me, those hands that hold me like am a precious jewel.

All i ask is to taste that lips once again, those lips that kiss me with so much love and passion.

All i ask for is you my love, you alone

Nonye Chinagorom

Love Is Just Like The Seasons

Sometimes it is cold, harsh and can bring ill-being just like the winter.
On the other hand it can be warm, soft and can bring fulfillment just like summer.

It can also lose its charm and may decrease or wither away, just like the leaves in autumn.

On the other hand it can be beautiful, blooming and rises just like the plants do in the time of spring.

Nonye Chinagorom

What Happens

What happens,
when you feel love and hate?

What happens,
when your love uses you as a bait?

What happens,
when you love someone too much to care?

What happens,
when, because of love walk on glass with your feet bare?

What happens,
when your love bails?

What happens,
when your dream fails?

What happens,
when you think all hope is lost?

What happens,
when you take forgetting the past as a must?

What happens,
when you wake up and scream?

What happens,
when you wish it was all a dream?

Nonye Chinagorom