Rajendra Panicker NG()

I am a teacher by profession. I was in the idyllic islands of Republic of Maldives for for a decade delivering lessons for naïve natives in two different schools under the Ministry of Education. I am retired from my teaching profession and engaged in supporting elderly people with dementia in an NHS hospital in the UK.

I used to write poem in English for a magazine called 'The Monday Times. I have had written quite a lot of poems on an online Platform named Helium.com which published form United State of America which is now not in action due to financial liabilities to run the website. I am keen on writing poems in English and in Malayalam, my Mother tongue, one of the popular south Indian languages
