

Poetry Series

Samantha D. Ciraldo
- poems -

Publication Date:
2011

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Samantha D. Ciraldo(June 17 1988.)

She's Gone.

If you think of what if, You've stopped living.

If you live with why, You'll question everything.

Thinking of misery, Brings misery.

Thinking of happiness. Brings happiness.

The girl she was, Dissapered.

The girl she wanted to be, Arrived.

She didnt let the past break ber, It made her.

She depened on a man, He left her in tears.

She depended on herself, It filled her with joy.

She wants to explore, Finding herself.

She wants that old girl to dissappear.

Now she's gone, When you left she found her true self.

Samantha Danielle Ciraldo.

Samantha D. Ciraldo

Together.

If this life is rough, We made it that way.

We let that feeling take us over.

We gave it the power to destroy your dreams.

You and I, we've turned into something were not.

That life has got us on a leash.

Lets break it, Show them that we can.

Lets start with the past, By saying goodbye.

Lets set it free for you and I.

Lets feel that touch, Lets see that change.

I want to feel the strength that we let run dry.

I'll face this life, But without you I can't.

If you'll take me by the hand, I'll hold on tight.

Samantha D Ciraldo.

Samantha D. Ciraldo

Wishes.

This person she was has been hiding for far to long.

The person she was, Has been a make believe.

The girl you see is what she is.

The child you knew, Now knows what is real.

The past set her free, The future will make her see.

As she closes her eyes she wished for smile.

Today is hers to keep, She gave you yesterday<3

Samantha Danielle Ciraldo

Samantha D. Ciraldo

Yourself.

Feeling lost is only human

Finding your way is strength and being found is faith.

I've depended on more than one man for happiness

I've given my innocence away.

I was lied to and I had believed

I've lied and i've also hurt them.

I've felt that fuzzy love feeling

But i've also learned that for now it's poison.

My past is not at all perfect

But it has set my boundaries.

It shows me that I am strong enough to face it.

I can now see what I did and who i was

There's nothing that can hold me back.

The future is for the taking

I will not give up until I feel i've won success.

The past has lead me here

therefore i shall leave it behind<3

Samantha D. Ciraldo.

Samantha D. Ciraldo