

Poetry Series

Sapphire Nesseil
- poems -

Publication Date:
2010

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Sapphire Nesseil(September 12,1994)

I was born on September 12,1994. Being the first in my family. Only two years later my only sister. Growing up we really didn't get along, even though we loved each other dearly, we just couldn't stay in the same room for 5 minutes before we started arguing. But my sister is the reason I started writing poetry. I got so mad at her that i needed a way to express my feelings with hurt anyone to i turned to poetry.

Confused Thoughts Under A Moon Lit Sky

May 23,2010

I left to wonder
To find my own way
To with this world to ponder

Dark canyons I cross
Rushing waters I greet
Mountains I've climbed and almost loss

Meeting people on the way
Finding friends
Wishing for me to stay

I cry
Wishing I had a place to call home
Under the stars I lie

If only i could end
What i began years ago
And finally make amend

A shooting star pass by Interrupting my thoughts
Like a rocket in the sky

Happily chirping away
a cricket in the night
One can only wonder why so gay

Sapphire Nesseil