Hard working man trying to make it in poetry i want to be published.

Don'T Worry Child

Child, God counts every tear dropp that falls, he hears his name when ever its called, in all ways he will bring you joy after weaping in sorrow don't spend today worrying about disasters that may happen tomorrow.

Child, God knows the trouble that the days of your life bring, just lift your hands and rejoice giving god praise with your heart you sing, when you wake up tomorrow you'll be walking in prosperity.

Child, the enemy only laughs when you cry, he bring trials in your life so your soul can die, yet you blame the One who can lift you high, just rest in the lord, His name you magnify, don't ask why, don't cry, wipe the tears from your eyes, don't let your thoughts run wild, believe me Don't Worry Child.
