An author of four books.

A writer for more than 25 websites.

A digital marketer.

Pursuing MBA from India.

Petrichor

And then, it rained again

Which helped me to wash away my pain! !

It took me to the old golden age

I felt like someone set me free from a cage! !

I came out from four walls

I didn't know how many times did I miss the calls! !

I was so indulged in the moment,

That nothing seems me more urgent! !

And the cozy day was showering love on me,

I enjoyed a lot that I realized pain in my left knee! !

And then, the count of droplets started decreasing,

The moment that brought lot of joy was so pleasing! !

It was not enough, I wanted some more,

Those roads, street dogs and petrichor! !
