The Day I Died

have you ever imagined that one day you died through a hole in the coffin lid you look for who cried you realize it's you then you start to scratch and you start to scream all around you
thinks it's a dream as the earth piles in in darkness you're consumed you panic and yell with all your might you suffocate and choke to no avail will this come you see the light you're end has come
