

Poetry Series

Syed Hemaad
- poems -

Publication Date:
2011

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Syed Hemaad()

Looking For You

I keep searching for you in the crowd,
seeing your face at every turn.
I keep looking for that smile on your face,
i keep looking for each day to return.
I keep hear your heart beating,
listening to that sound, to which i am so fond.
I look up at the sun and i can see you,
i look up at the sky and see my angel!
With every breath i whiff for your scent.
The skin is so cold just waiting for you touch
to put the warmth back in it.
I feel like i am falling, living in the dark.
Across a vast frontier with only you in my mind.
Waiting for you and be in your holy grip.
I am looking for you everywhere! !

Syed Hemaad

Your Desire

I look at your picture and see my Angel!
Those soft crimson lips whose moist wetness i ache to feel,
those eyes that i price so much, whose sight i wish to see.
The hair as it falls down your forehead and almost brisiking you lashes like a goddess to me you are!
Just wish to be your devotee and feel every ounce of your warmth.
That bosom, that lovely bosom like heavens peaches they so tender and warm.
That beating heart whose sound i wish to hear and that smile for which i would forgo a thousand breaths.
My life you are, my love you are!
The desire for you is what drives my every day!

Syed Hemaad