

Poetry Series

Tina Marie
- poems -

Publication Date:
2012

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Tina Marie()

Heavenly Father Full Of Grace Please Protect This Precious Place

Heavenly Father Full of Grace please protect this precious place Look out for our mountains our skies and our air protect our world Father that cries out in despair Please provide us the knowledge to attend to the cries of our Earth's desperation coming deep from inside Bless all that have suffered by Earth's constant distress shelter comfort and love them and may their children thee bless Forgive us dear Father if we have sinned in your eyes by not attending to Earth's needs Earth's changes
Earth's cries
Please give us the guidance so that we may provide the Earth with the tools Earth needs to survive
I thank thee dear Father for sharing the Earth its wonders its beauty and all of its worth The planets
the stars the skies and the Sea the mountains the rivers the flowers and the trees

May all of thy good will towards us be done and may your spirit protect us always In the name of your son.

Tina Marie

The Garden

Through my window I can see, my garden smiling back at me, my cabbage seems to try and say,
'Thanks for the water, it helped today'.
My potatoes leaves are green and strong, this is where they all belong.
I throw the seeds from fruits I eat, into my garden as a treat, the seeds are saved and kept below, so when its time they sprout and grow.
I think that all should share the wealth a garden gives us to ourself.

by Tina Marie

Tina Marie