

Poetry Series

Victoria Teal
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Victoria Teal()

I am a senior in High school, i love to write and want to become an author, for poetry and novels. i have many siblings, and two perfect parents that love me. i am a very happy person. i strongly believe that there is a God and that he saved me

2010 School Year

As the last days of a year begins
I sing joyful is this?
Coming forth to share memories
And the pasts of school years
It been a long winding road
And one more year to go
What will I do?
What will I become?
How will I spend the rest of my life?

It starts your senior year
The tears, the fun
Mostly trying to make it to the end,
Because you know you are there
You're almost done,
But can you make it?

You have to decide what you want to be
And know what's planed
For me it's a writer can't you see?
The talent as I write
And planning to go to college,
To be what I want to be
This is how it goes
The start of something new
Begins with school

Victoria Teal

Night Mars

The Stars are brightly lit
In a glaze of thought Monica Lays a sleep she screams
As she Ponders on her hidden past
The truth Unfolds

(opening to my story thats prackickly about the poem above)

Victoria Teal