

Poetry Series

Walid SOLIMAN
- poems -

Publication Date:
2006

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Walid SOLIMAN(11/04/1975)

A Tunisian translator and writer, born on April 11,1975. Has many contributions in numerous newspapers and magazines. Among his translations in poetry: Shakespeare's sonnets, The Illuminations by Rimbaud and an Anthology of Surrealist Poetry etc..

Serial Kisser

They put me in jail
They say:
I am a serial Kisser
What am I in fact?
I am but a life-enjoyer!

They put me in jail
They say:
I am a criminal
What am I in fact?
I am but a joy-seeker!

They put me on the electric chair
They say:
I am a criminal
In love and in sex
But electric chair is nothing for me
He who was electrified by love
Will feel nothing
on the electric chair.

Walid SOLIMAN